PICKS ALL-STAR CAST FOR "MONTT CRISTO."

Fox Giant Production of Dumas' Immortal Romance Interpreted By Stellar Lights.

To find oneself lifted from utter poverty, defeat and misfortune, into boundless wealth and consequent power, is something which is certain to delight the average Canadian. This is the theme of "Monte Cristo," the famous tale of romance from Alexandre Dumas, which will be seen at a screen drama at the Royal Theatre, starting to-day.

It is another of the big William Fox productions. It has retained all of the beauty and intrigue of the original story, and the scope of the screen permits the director to show in detail the many exciting incidents in the life of the famous fiction character, Edmond Dantes, who later becomes the count of Monte Cristo. The love theme furnishes the background for the story, and the entire story is crowded with dramatic incident.

W. V. MONG IN MONTE CRISTO

William V. Mong, the veteran character actor, who scored a personal triumph in the comedy-classic, "The Connecticut Yankee," will be seen here in another splendid character part in the new William Fox production, "Monte Cristo." This famous story by Alexandre Dumas has been heralded as the greatest dramatic screen attraction of the year and will be seen at the Royal Theatre to-day.

FIVE GERMANS SHOT AND KILLED BY FRENCH

DORTMOUND, June 11—(United Press). — Five Germans were shot and killed by French troops here during the night for violation of the state of siege provision forbidding civilians to be on the streets after dark.

The killings followed closely the assassination of two French officers by three German civilians here on Sunday. The acting Mayor of the town and the head of the civil police have been arrested. The centre of Dortmound is swarming with French troops in an ugly mood. The French account of the incident last night is that the Germans who were killed refused to halt at the command of a patrol.

NO DOCKET FOR COUNTY COURT

Virtue and Justice in So Far as Judge Huycke's Court is Concerned Affords an Index.

The June sittings of the County Court to-morrow afternoon will be a mere statutory formality. It was reported to-day that there is no docket to be laid before His Honor Judge Huycke that the civil list is a virtuous immaculate blank white and likewise there are no criminal cases set down for trial.

In such circumstances it probably remains for the Judge simply to adjourn the court without the usual features of the Grand Jury's special duties.

ANNUAL MEETING I.O.D.E. AT QUEBEC

Quebec, June 11 Canadian Press. —Aproximately two hundred delegates representing chapters in cities and towns throughout the Dominion, attended the 23rd annual meeting of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, which had its formal opening in the Chateau Frontenac this afternoon. The registration up until noon showed the delegates from the eastern part of the Dominion vastly in the majority, although each of the four western provinces are already represented.

Provincial presidents who arrived in the city over week end included Mrs. A. U. De Pencer, of Vancouver, Mrs. Geoffrey Morrow, Halifax, Mrs. Colin H. Campbell, Winnipeg, and Mrs. David Balfour of Regina.

The majority of the delegates arrived yesterday, each train bringing in numbers from points east and west. Many are expected to arrive during the day, however, and by to-morrow the delegates should be complete.

450,000 FARMS DEVOTED TO RAISING TOBACCO

WASHINGTON, June 11 (Associated Press).—A comprehensive picture of the American two-million-acre, half-billion-dollar tobacco industry is contained in the 1922 year book of the Department of Agriculture which has just come from the press

Although the tobacco crop covers only about one-half of one percent of the acreage devoted to all crops in this country, it has a high value to the acre and requires a great deal of labor both in the growing and manufacture. Most of the crop is grown in a few states. Kentucky, North Carolina and Virginia being the leaders, but some tobacco is grown in 42 states. The three named produce nearly two-thirds of the output, while Kentucky alone produces a third of the total.

In 1919, the latest year in which the figures are complete, tobacco was grown on nearly 450,000 farms. North Carolina stood first in value of the crop. Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, was the leading county in acreage and production, and Hartford County, Connecticut, was second. There were 10,291 tobacco manufacturing establishments employing 183,000 persons. The internal revenue from tobacco amounted to nearly $300,000,000 yearly.

The work of the Agriculture Department has had an important influence in improvement of the industry, and in the last 25 years because of new methods, better varieties and greater use of fertilizers, the yield from each acre has been increased. The growing of cigar wrappers under shade, which has been become extensive in Connecticut and Florida, has made it possible to produce a high grade leaf which formerly was imported. The crop advances little into new territories because each type of tobacco is closely limited to certain localities on account of soil and climatic conditions.

The outstanding feature of the growth of consumption in the last quarter-century has been the great increase in the use of machine-made cigarettes. From 1895 to the present time the manufacture of cigarettes has risen from 4,000,000,000 to 60,000,000,000 a year.

NEW BRUNSWICK IS MENACED BY FIRES

FREDERICTON, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—Fanned by heavy west winds, New Brunswick's forest fires, which have been burning throughout the past week have again assumed serious proportions and the general situation in the Northern Part of the Province was admitted this morning by officials of the department of Lands and Mines as being bad. That section of the Province is extremely dry, the last rains of the past week not having extended into Northern New Brunswick, while the valley of the St. Lawrence River and the Gaspe Coast is experiencing similar conditions.

ABLE ADDRESS BY J. A. M'KONE TO ROTARIANS

Business Training of To-day and Its Growth a Subject Which Held Interest.

WEEKLY LUNCHEON

Business training in the Business Colleges of to-day and a review of the growth of this class of training formed the subject of an able address by John A. McKone, Principal of the Peterborough Business College and President of Kiwanis Club at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club to-day.

Business colleges were formed on this continent in 1823, Mr. McKone said, the first being in New York. Penmanship, book-keeping and arithmetic were the subjects taught at that time when big business was unknown and men ranging from 20 to 40 years of age were the only pupils. After the civil war when business began to expand a demand grew up for book-keepers and the colleges expanded accordingly. Shorthand and typewriting followed in the curriculum as these came more into general favor. Mr. McKone read an extract from a catalogue which was sent out by a Business College, in which it was necessary to explain just what shorthand was — some people thinking that shorthand was a new method of writing ordinary letters. In this catalogue it was stated "In New York there are at least 800 stenographers."

When Mr. McKone entered business college work there were 70 p.c. of the pupils studying book-keeping and the remainder studied stenography. To-day the condition is changed, and 80 p.c. study stenography while 20 p.c. take the book-keeping course.

In Canada to-day there are about 200 schools with an attendance of 30,000 pupils. The Peterborough Business Colleeg places upward of 100 000 puipls. The Peterborough Business College places upward of 100 students every year. The College was established here in 1885, and Mr. McKone mentioned as students who had made outstanding successes following the training there: Messrs. Glover, Sullivan, W. Hill, Bradburn, Staples and J. C. Anderson.

Enumerating the different courses prepared for the school, the speaker pointed out the modernity of the curriculum and the actual business practice which is taught every student. Examinations are set by the Business Educators' Association for all colleges which are members of the Association, and these papers are marked by examiners who have no knowledge of the pupil, ensuring that students pass on their merit.

Mr. McKone closed his interesting talk with an extract from the Examiner of October 26, 1888, describing the graduation of a number of pupils, including W. H. Bradburn, who was present at the luncheon.

Education Means Character.

In a short talk on educational matters, Alex. Mowat described a recent meeting of English, French and Canadian representatives, where the problems of education were discussed, not from the standpoint of the educationist, but from the point of view of citizenship.

Education, he said, is not confined to three or four years' schooling, but is a matter which extends through life. Good citizenship can only come through education. The aim of education should not be the acquiring of information or the storing up of knowledge, but the end of education is character. Lord Robert Cecil said: "It is better to have second-class brains than second-class characters."

Touching on a matter which he said should perhaps be left until after election, Mr. Mowat advocated the bringing in of speakers from the rural districts in order that the city dwellers might get the rural viewpoint. "The farmer," the speaker said, "is in a critical position, and the people of the city should understand that."

Congratulated Club.

E. C. Bull, District Governor of Rotary Clubs, wrote the Peterboro Club, congratulating the members on the attendance record for May, which was 90.7 per cent., with one day, May 21, 100 per cent.

The attendance to-day was 80 per cent.

A duet by Dr. J. C. Smith, of Lakefield, and Asa Huycke was much enjoyed. John Crane played the accompaniment.

V. J. McElderry, President of the Club, was chairman, and Mr. G. D. Carlyle was a vistor.

WILL INCREASE THE C.N.R. GRAIN TRAFFIC

LINDSAY, June 11. (Special.) — With a view to increasing the grain handling facilities on the C.N.R. Midland to Belleville route, a test train has been tried out between Lindsay and Midland, with satisfactory results.

On Tuesday last a big engine (No. 3285) hauled 52 carloads of grain (3221 tons) from the northern terminal to Lindsay.

A cross-over has been contructed on the C.N.R. west of Beaverton for the purpose of handling grain from Depot Harbor to Montreal via Lindsay and Peterboro instead of via Ottawa. When heavier rails are laid in the fall on a section between Lindsay and Belleville, bigger hauls will be made through the Electric Sity to that point.

The man who bombed Wall Street in 1920 has been caught again. He is rather early this spring.

The largest part of the trading was in railroad issues, with Atlantic Coast Line up 7-8, Baltimore and Ohio up 3-4, Norfolk and Western gained 7-8, while New York Central was unchanged at 102 3-4.

Equipment stocks showed strongest, American Locomotive being up 3-8 and Baldwin 3-4. Steel Common was 1-8 under Saturday's last at 96 5-8. Standard Oil of Cal. opening was at 53 1-2 up 3-8. Sentiment in the financial district was favourable on the announcement of the rapid sale of $25,000,000 of the Austrian bonds Active dealing in loan bonds occurred on the bond market, and the issues gained a full point in the early trading, receding to 90 1-4 later.

Retails continued to outstrip the industrials in stock market activities up till 11 a.m. Atlantic Coast Line led the standard rails, making a new high on the move 121 3-8 in response to the remarkable rate of current earnings which indicate a balance of over $31.00 a share this year, allowing for season at variations.

Southern Railway featured the low priced group, and made a new 1923 high at 36 1-8. Indications point to earnings of close to $9.00 a share for common this year.

Continued strength of rails will go a long way toward stimulating the general stock market confidence. Current demand for rail issues has been more sustained than at any time in several years. Bankers believe a real bull market is under way in the carrier stocks.

THINKS FRANCE SHOULD LESSEN MILITARY GRIP

Until She Does So Britain is Not Likely to Demand That Germany Cease Resistance.

SITUATION GRAVE

LONDON, June 12. — Special).—Despite the hopes that are expressed that some way out will be found for the Anglo-French deadlock over reparations, such solutions are obviously impossible until the Allied formulate a united reply to Germany. While Britain is sympathetic to the desire of the French for adequate guarantees, the Cabinet is not likely to be disposed to join the demand for the cessation of German passive resistance in the Ruhr in view of the belligerent and almost provocative policy pursued by France in the occupied area.

Should France now consent to a slight loosening of the firm military grip on this region, England will probably be disposed to join in a note demanding that German workers return to work and speed up industry in the Ruhr. While there is little hope that the French are likely to change their policy, nevertheless Britain will have every possible effort to continue the conversations in the hope of securing a joint conference of Allied experts.

It is generally conceded that the present situation in the Ruhr is becoming impossible. German labor leaders realize the explosive condition of the atmosphere and are beginning to throw their influence against passive resistance in the hope of getting France to relax her military grip. Should France consent to return to her original policy of "invisible" occupation the tension would no doubt be immediately relieved and work would be recommenced, but the possibility of such an event would be exceedingly doubtful.

Statesmen Pessimistic.

Premier Baldwin's determination to force France to discuss reasonable terms of payment may result in Britain's suggesting to Berlin that Germany repudiate her Ruhr passive resistance if France will embark on serious negotiations for a reparations settlement.

The belief that an honest investigation must be made of German terms, coupled with the desire to avert a direct break in the Entente turned Monday's British Cabinet Council to the discussion of this step.

Statesmen are frankly pessimistic however, fearing that France does not wish any terms that could possibly be met by Germany.

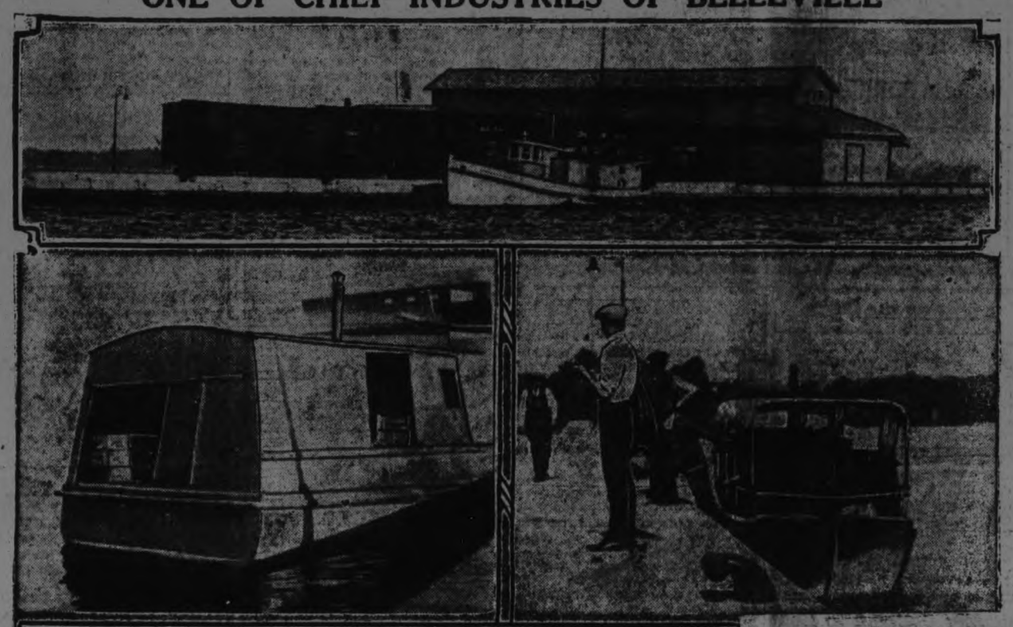
ONE OF CHIEF INDUSTRIES OF BELLEVILLE



Belleville Is Export Centre For Rum Trade to States.

The city of Belleville is one of the leaders in export of whisky to the United States, gaining this distinction through its proximity to the town of Corbyville, where are situated the Consolidated Breweries, Ltd. Top picture shows the Government dock at Belleville with freight cars filled with "Corby's" waiting to be unloaded. Left centre is a rum-running boat with its cargo of whisky cases stored, the ends of the cases being visible through the doors. Right centre is a motor launch being loaded with whisky. Bottom is the office of the Consolidated Distilleries at the Belleville dock. So great is the export allowable under Canadian law that a regular staff has to be maintained at the wharf, with watchmen night and day guarding the railway cars which bring the liquor down from Corbyville.

ANTI-UNIONISTS WILL CARRY ON

PORT ARTHUR, June 12.—(Canadian Press).—Following the decision on Church union last night, the committee named to consider the various items in connection with legislative enactments of union, including the manner of selecting 150 commissioners to the first meeting of the United Church Council, was in session this morning and is expected to report some time to-day.

The Presbyterian Church Association, composed of commissioners opposed to union, again met this morning under the chairmanship of Rev. Dr. D. J. Fraser. It was announced during the session that no injunction would be sought from the courts to check the movement towards organic union with the Methodist and Congregational Churches. Committees will be named for each of the provinces to formulate a future policy and arrange for a campaign to gain support for the continuance of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

The press was excluded from the gatherings of the Anti-Unionists, but it is stated that determination was expressed to continue with organization.

SAVAGE HILL TRIBESMEN PENETRATED INTO SOFIA

Reign of Terror Dominates Capital and Counter-Revolution Against Newly-Formed Zankof Ministry Gains Strength

ATHENS, Greece, June 12.—(Special.)— Seven thousand Bulgarians and Macedonian comitadjis, fierce hill tribesmen, have penetrated into Sofia and are conducting a reign of terror in the capital, according to unconfirmed advices from Salonica.

The peasant, Alexandroff, leader of the armed bands who are joining the counter revolution against the newly established Zankof ministry is said to be master of the situation in the Bulgarian capitali.

Civil war is reported to be in full swing, with supporters of the deposed Premier Stamboulisky everywhere victorious.

Serbian troops are reported to have engaged in a border clash with the Comitadjis in the Secomnitza district, where 15 casualties resulted.

SOVIET REPLIED IN CONCILIATORY VEIN

Russia Consents to Pay Indemnities Demanded by Great Britain.

LONDON, June 12 (United Press). — Russia on Monday capitulated to Great Britain, answering Lord Curzon's note on the indemnity and propaganda questions in an entirely conciliatory vein.

Mrs. Davidson will receive $50,000 compensation for the Soviet murder of her husband, while Mrs. Stanley Harding, imprisoned in Russia as a British spy, receives $15,000 compensation.

British trawlers will be permitted to fish within the three-mile limit, pending the decision of an International Conference.

SIX LIVES LOST.

WICHITA, Kansas, June 12. Canadian Press. — Six persons are believed to have lost their lives in the flood waters of the Ninnescah River, near Wichita, according to reports reaching here this afternoon. The water is said to be 16 feet deep over the entire valley at that place.

Timothy Shea, his wife and two sons, and two small children of Mike Kane, are believed to have been the victims.

BULGARIAN KING MAY LOSE THRONE

Counter-Revolution in Boris' Kingdom Assumes Serious Proportions.

BELGRADE, June 12. (Special.)—Sweeping down on Sofia from the northern fields, fierce peasant bands, numbering between ten and fifteen thousand are launching a strong revolutionary movement against the new Zankoff government, according to despatches from the Bulgarian capital.

Roughly clad, hard riding hill tribes have joined the standards of the deposed Stamboulisky, and threaten to topple the three day revolutionary regime before it is firmly established, reports indicate.

Jugo-Slav political circles understand that the counter-revolution is likely to succeed. Already Stamboulisky's followers outnumber the small forces of the Zankoff government, and the peasant premier appears due to return to power.

King Boris, the youthful Bulgarian monarch, who gave the new ministry his approval, is likely to lose his throne, and possibly his head, if the peasant drive reaches the capital, for it is now understood that he connived with the conspirators who overthrew Stamboulisky.

SMUGGLING IN CANADA GROWS

Operations That Are Creating a National Scandal Viewed With Alarm by Legitimate Trade.

TORONTO, June 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Smuggling of manufactured goods into Canada has reached alarming proportions and great smuggling organizations with heavy financial backing is in existence and engaged in operations that are creating a national scandal, according to the report of the Tariff committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the annual meeting of that organization, which is continuing to-day. The report says that silk fabric and silk garments are especially involved in these smuggling operations. It is remarked that despite the efforts of government authorities only a few of the offenders have been convicted and those, generally speaking, have received very light punishment. Co-operation of all law-abiding citizens in an effort to end this smuggling is advised.

In the discussion of the tariff committee's report to-day, particular attention was given to the matters of sales tax and customs and trade treaties. General endorsation was given by various speakers to the sentiments expressed by President Shaw yesterday, that higher tariffs were necessary, to protect Canadian industries. This morning the association heard addresses by Sir George Foster. This afternoon delegates attended a reception at Government House.

WOULD REPEAL PREFERENTIAL TRADE RATES

CLASH IN HOUSE

LONDON, June 12.—(Special).—"Insults, balderdash, rubbish" — these were the words flung across the floor of the House of Commons last night when Joynson Hicks, Financial Secretary of the Treasury, and a newly appointed member of the Baldwin Cabinet, declared: "We justify Imperial preference as the spiritual recognition of a spiritual union." Both Liberals and Labor members joined in supporting Commander Kenworthy, when he declared that it was an insult to the Dominions to state that bribery was necessary to keep the men in the Empire.

A clash occurred following the moving of an amendment to repeal the Imperial preferential rates, which occurred during the discussion on the Finance Act, the Liberals claiming that the policy of Imperial preference was nothing more nor less than disguised protection, and that it only benefitted importers at the cost of the consumers. Joynson Hicks enumerated various Empire products, importation of which had greatly increased since the adoption of the preferential tariff. He quoted cocoa, which had increased fifty-nine per cent., coffee twenty-five per cent., sugar seven hundred and twenty-two per cent., and other products in varying degrees, such as Australian wines, Australian dried fruits and tobacco, although it appeared from the figures that Australia and India were the only two Dominions in which trade had greatly increased.

JEALOUSY PROMPTS SLAYING OF WIFE

Thorald Township Man Killed Wife and Shot Himself.

ST. CATHARINES, June 12 (Canadian Press). — Mrs. Ronald Stewart, aged 21, is dead, with a bullet through her stomach, fired, it is believed, by her husband, who is in Welland County Hospital from wounds.

The husband's parents, with whom the couple resided in Thorold Township, near the Black Horse Tavern, were awakened at five o'clock this morning by the second shot, and summoned Dr. Herrod, of Thorold, who found Mrs. Stewart dead, and a wound in the husband's side.

Stewart was immediately sent to Welland Hospital, in care of a police constable named Jorgeson.

Jealousy is the motive accredited by neighbours and police for the murder of Lillian Stewart of Allanburgh by her husband Herschell, 24, who shot her to death as she lay in bed with her three-weeks-old infant, and made an unsuccesswul attempt to end his own life.

The infant was uninjured.

The husband, according to the Thorold police, had been so jealous of his wife that he declined to leave the house, only a few days ago pressing her back into the house when the grocery waggon driver called.

He had refused to go to work, and his parents had complained to the police about his idleness.

RAIL SHOPMEN SEEK A PARLEY

Canadian Body Would Discuss Wages and Working Conditions — Thousands Are Affected

MONTREAL, June 12.— (Canadian Press.)— Rail shopmen on the Canadian lines have notified the Railway Association of Canada of their desire to open up negotiations on the subject of wages and working conditions. Altogether around 350,000 men are effected. The wage schedule committee of division four of the railway employees, department of the American Federation of Labor, has been summoned to town, and on their arrival will go into committee to formulate proposals to be submitted to the Railway Association.

COMMONS DEBATE VOTE ON PENSIONS

OTTAWA, June 12.—(By Canadian Press). — That the ex-service man and his dependents were entitled to something more than a rigid interpretation of the Pensons Act has asserted in the House of Commons last evening by members in discussing a vote of $32,500,000 for European war and active militia pensions. The debate which started early in the afternoon and continued throughout the evening sitting of the House was productive of a number of suggestions by members regarding features of the Pensions Act which were inadequate to meet present conditions. In view of the fact that the government proposes to introduce amendments to the act at an early date, many of the speakers spoke briefly reserving their more lengthy speeches until the measure is brought down.

Various speakers voiced the opinion that the people of Canada were opposed to anything which savored of unfairness in the treatment of the men. "We should," said Hon. S. F Tolmie, Conservative member for Victoria "make an effort to the extent of our last dollar to do justice to these men and to restore their usefulness." If it was not in the power of the Pensions Board to deal more sympathetically with cases, the Pensions Act should be amended to give it this power. Other speakers, while not blaming the board, advised more leniencey in dealing with applications for pension. Numerous cases of injustice were cited, and emphasis was placed on the widespread dissatisfactions which existed among ex-soldiers and their dependents.

VAGRANCY CHARGE ENDS DESIRE TO SEE OTTAWA

OTTAWA, June 12. —(Canadian Press).—Walking gaily into police court to-day Miss Goldie Ehrlic, 18 years old told Magistrate Hopewell, that she had ran away from her home in Newark, N. J., because she wanted to see Canada'r Capitol City. She is held on a vagrancy charge, pending the arrival of her father.

MRS. L. DUNNETT WAS ARRESTED THIS MORNING

ACCUSED COMMITTED

KINGSTON, June 12.—(Special) —The case in which Dr. A. W. Richardson is charged with having committed an illegal operation on Miss May Dunnett, formerly of Peterboro, took another sensational turn to-day when Mrs. Louise Dunnett, mother of Miss Dunnett, was taken in charge by Provincial Inspector Hammond and Provincial Constable Roy Clark of Kingston on a charge of having "on or about November 28th 1922 with the intention of procuring a miscarriage, unlawfully used an instrument on May Dunnett."

Arranged before Magistrate Farrell in the police court this forenoon the accused pleaded not guilty, but after the evidence of three witnesses had been taken, Mrs. Dunnett was committd to stand trial and will come up at the same time as Dr. Richardson at the June sessions before Judge Madden. The court opens this afternoon and the two cases will come before the grand jury during the afternoon and will be heard on Wednesday or Thursday.

T. J. Ridney, Crown Attorney, conducted the prosecution at the Dunnett case in the police court and A. B. Cunningham appeared as counsel for the accused.

The witnesses called in the case were Horace Wilson, a young man, who lived in the Dunnett home, Inspector Hammond and Dr. W. H. Young of Peterboro. Evidence was given to the Dunnett girl undergoing certain treatment and in view of all the circumstances in the case Magistrate Farrell stated that he would put the accused on her trial, although her counsel Mr. Cunningham put in a very strong protest claiming that there was not sufficient evidence to commit the accused.

MORE UNREST AND SABOTAGE IN RUHR

Four Explosions on Railways—French and Germans Slay Each Other

PARIS, June 12.— (Canadian Press.)— Two Germans and a French soldier were killed in the Ruhr to-day and another German died of wounds.

Four explosions occurred on railway lines and sabotage and unrest appeared to be growing.

A French sentinel was shot and killed as he walked his post at Recklinghausen. Later a German civilian is reported to have been slain by French troops at that city. Another was killed at Dortmound, where one died of wounds received when the French shot thirty-five persons who weer out after curfew.

Country's Payroll in United States

NEW YORK, June 12 (Associated Press).—Collapse of the last boom reduced the total pay of the wage and salary of earners the United States $7,292,000,000, according to figures made public today by the National Bureau of Economic Research Inc., of this city.

From the year of prosperity to the year of depression, annual payrolls shrank from $39,888,000,000 to $32,596,000,000.

These figures are taken from the advance sheets of a report entitled "Employment Hours and Earnings in Prosperity and Depression." In this report discovered in its study of "Business Cycles and Unemployment" recently completed for President Harding's conference on unemployment.

The figures covering payments for wages and salaries in each industry have beencomplied by the bureau for each quarter, thus permitting an examination of the progress of the boom, its culmination, collapse, and the beginning of recovery. They show that total payments for wages and salaries to all employees by all enterprises of whatever size dropped from $10,472,000,000 in the third quarter of 1920 (peak of boom), to $7,743,000,000 in the first quarter of 1922 (through of depression), or a maximum cyclical decline of 23.16 percent.

The industries showing the most striking declines in amounts paid to employees were: first, factories making metals, metal products, vehicles and miscellaneous goods; second steam railways; and third, concerns engaged in the extraction of minerals.

Enterprises rendering public and professional service actually increased their payments to employees. Concerns classified in the hand trades finance or tretail merchandising reduced their total wage bills but slightly.

Although there are numerous exceptions the average employee, when working for the large concern, puts in fewer hours at higher pay an hour, but in return of this extra compensation he sacrifices much of the security of employment which he would have if he worked for a small enterprise.

The average earnings in 1920 of persons who, in that year, worked in plants employing over 100 workers, was $1,544. In 1921, because of unemployment, their earnings had fallen to $1,112, a loss of $432. Those persons employed in enterprises having fewer than 21 employees received $1,121 each in 1920, but in 1921 their earnings had declined to $1,077, a diminution of $44. Workers employed in concerns of intermediate size earned on the average $1,354 in 1920 and $1,222 in 1921.

Female employees in general earn about three-fourths as much as males.

The business depression of 1921 caused a material delcine in rates of pay an hour actually worked only in the fields of agriculture, manufacturing, mining and steam railways.

The average rates of pay an hour in various industries cover a wide range —the highest figure in 1921 being 76 cents an hour in finance, and the lowest rate being 25 cents an hour in agriculture. The average for all industries at the close of 1921 was 51 cents per hour.

German Police Issued an Order

BERLIN, June 12 (Associated Press).—Once more, after a ban of nearly six months, the Germans are permitted to hold open-air demonstrations in Berlin, without special permission.

The chief of police issued an order early this month lifting the prohibition he instituted late last November. It was then decided to forbid out-door meetings and processions because plundering of shops was regarded as a likely result of the hard times facing the populace during the winter.

A few open-air meetings have since been specially authorized, such as a demonstration against the occupation of the Ruhr district and the labor assemblies staged in celebration of May Day.

NEW BRUNSWICK FOREST FIRES ARE A MENACE

Many Dangerous Fires Are Burning in Both Maine and New Brunswick—Woods Are Very Dry.

VILLAGE BURNED.

CARIBOU, Maine, June 12 (Canadian Press). — Serious forest fire conditions existed last night throughout the northern part of Aroostock County and the New Brunswick border country.

Fanned by strong winds, fires are spreading through the woods, dry as tinder after a prolonged drought.

A force of 25 men was sent from Stockholm late yesterday to fight a fire in the woods at Blackstone Siding, Westmanland Plantation.

A call for help was received for a big fire that started at noon at Daigle Brook, at the head of Cross Lake; section men on the Bangor and Aroostook Railway are battling with a blaze at Mud Brook, halfway between Van Buren and Stockholm, along the railway line.

The Presque Isle Fire Department had seven calls from country districts for help yesterday.

Fires are burning in Chapman and Maysville.

Dangerous fires are reported at Kedgwick, between St. Leonard and Edmundston; N.B. Men have been sent from both places to fight the flames.

Committee to Probe Wembley Arrangements.

LONDON, June 12 Canadian Press Cable.—The authorities are apparently determined to avoid a repetition of the recent Wembley stampede at the Asociation cup final when the turnstiles were wrecked by the rush of the crowd. The Home Secretary has appointed a committee to inquire into the arrangements made to deal with a large attendance especially on the athletic field and to consider, in view of the increased facilities for rapid transport, the necessary steps to ensure the safety of the public.

Edward Shortt will be chairman of the committee, the personnel of which will include representatives of the police and railways but not the football association though officials of the associaton are expected to give evidence.

TRINKETS OF "DIVINE SARAH" PASSED UNDER THE HAMMER

PARIS, June 12 (Canadian Press) —Sarah Bernhardt's stage jewels went under the hammer at public auction yesterday. While the shining stones that glittered so brilliantly behind the footlights appeared much less impressive in the pale light of day, the spirit of the "Divine Sarah" hovering over the multitude of prospective purchasers made the sale a complete financial success.

A total of 96,760 francs was paid for stage trinkets, whose intrinsic value, experts said, amounted to less than one-tenth of that figure.

So spirited was the competition for the various pieces that many who had instructed their agents to bid certain articles up to specific prices will be disappointed, and few of the jewels that joined Sarah in her favourite roles played in the United States will revert either to United States collectors or museums.

The total absence of leading stage representatives was noticeable. It had been expected that many of these would attend, but only a few minor lights were on hand.

Two decorations of Austrian origin, which Mme. Bernhardt wore upon her uniform as the Duke in Rostrand's "L'Aiglon," placed on placed on sale by the auctioneer at 40 francs, were finally knocked down, after spirited bidding, at 1,310 francs. A bracelet, worn in "La Soiriere," offered for 300 francs, brought 2,720 francs.

The highest price of the day was for two bracelets, cheap tinsel affairs used by Sarah in "Theodora," which brought 2,900 francs.

THE FRENCH RIVER

The term is new to many, but as summer season follows summer season, the words spread and their meaning is passed along. Two hundred and fifteen miles north of Toronto, on the Canadian Pacific main line to Sudbury, the mighty French River rushes on its way to Georgian Bay, there to lose itself amongst the Thirty Thousand Islands that dot the bay. From Lake Nipissing and adjoining waters, it takes its course for sixty miles through one of the most beautiful camping and sporting countries to be found in Ontario.

The country appeals to all those looking for the big, open places. There is wonderful fishing to be had—bass, maskinange, pike and pickerel. In season, there is the finest of deer hunting, some bear, and good bags may be obtained of the smaller animals and game birds. Boats, canoes, all equipment and guides, can be obtained for excursions to the head waters of the river and Lawe Nipissing.

This year, the Canadian Pacific Railway is building a Bungalow Camp, convenient to the Railway, which will be conducted along similar lines to the Bungalow Camps which the Company has been operating for some years in the Canadian Pacific Rockies. The descriptive folder 'Bungalow Camps in Ontario' contains full information. There are also other camps, conveniently located, privately owned, with accommodations for large or small parties—all camps are well conducted. Accessibility to the Railway provides the camps with fresh food.

"The French" should receive your careful attention when planning your own, or your family's vacation. Any Canadian Pacific Agent will be pleased to quote you fares and assist you in making arrangements. A concise, descriptive folder on the French River District, quoting rates at camps, and hotels in the town, will be gladly mailed on request. Write W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent Canadian Pacific Railway, Toronto.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Meetings Continued at Alderville Indian Village —Improving Property.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 12. — Rev. R. Bloye, pastor of the Free Methodist church, states that the open air services at Alderville have been resumed and are being carried on more vigorously and successfully than ever. Last Sunday the crowd in attendance was numbered by hundreds and many of those in attendance professed conversion.

As stated in the Examiner last week, these services, which were started some time ago and were under the direction of Mrs. Julia Smart, a well known mission worker of the denomination, came to an abrupt conclusion when a complaint was made against Mrs. Smart on a charge of trespass. The complainant was Frank Dodson, who teaches the school and also preaches at the Indian mission, maintained by the Orthodox Methodists at Alderville. Mr. Dodson invoked a Dominion statute which provides that a member of one tribe of Indians cannot locate on the reservation of another. Mrs. Smart is a member of the Mowhawk tribe and the Indians on the Alderville reservation belong to another branch of the race. The contention of Mr. Dodson was sustained and Mrs. Smart was compelled to remove her tent from the reservation.

The services are now being held on the land of a white man situated just over the boundary line of the home of the Alderville Indians.

Improving Property.

Several residents of the town are making extensive repairs and extensions to their residences. Ernest Abernethy is adding a new kitchen and also a storey to part of his brick dwelling on Sebastapol street and when these are completed, Mr. Abernethy will have one of the handsomest homes on that thoroughfare upon which so many new homes have been put up this spring. W. M. Runnels has the contract.

John I. Adams has added to the appearance and value of his brisk house on Ranney street by building a spacious and handsome verandah on two sides of it.

Wesley Montgomery, ex-M.L.A., accompanied by W. S. Strong, one of his supporters at Brighton, was in town yesterday on business connected with the campaign. Messrs. Montogmery and Strong left last night for Hastings.

The only absentee from the meeting of the town council last night was Deputy Reeve Wilkinson, who is confined to his room by a serious attack of illness. His condition shows some signs of improvement.

LEARNED HOW THE ROADS ARE BUILT

Representatives of Every Province Meet at Good Roads Convention.

HAMILTON, June 12. — (Canadian Press). — Representatives of every Province in Canada were present yesterday when the Canadian Goods Roads Association held the opening session of its tenth convention.

Addresses of welcome and short talks from members of various governments in the Dominion featured the morning gathering, and in the afternoon delegates inspected new roads and those under construction. Under the guidance of Hon. F. C. Biggs, they learned how Ontario roads are built.

That the organization was non-political, was strongly emphasized in the address of President Hon. J. L. Perron, Quebec. He told the delegates that he "did not wish that any discussion during the meeting shall have bearing in regard to the local situation." Lieutenant-Governor Cockshutt, in opening the convention, referred to the great development of highways in Canada, and attributed much of the popularity of good roads to advances in motive power.

NO POLITICAL INTERFERENCE WITH RAILWAY

Sir Henry Thornton Says Politicians Will Not Be Allowed to Interfere With Plans of C.N.R.

TO MAKE IT PAY.

QUEBEC, June 12.— (Canadian Press.)—"Our object is to transform the Canadian Railways into a source of revenue and a subject of pride for the people of Canada. Whatever the politicians may attempt to do to prevent us we will continue undisturbed and do what we think will make us reach our ends." Such was the declaration made by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways in commenting on the much debated Scribe Hotel deal. "In the course of my last visit here, I stated that I had placed a private car at the disposal of His Eminence Cardinal Begin. I thought that the Canadian National Railways owed the courtesy to the Primate of the Catholic Church in Canada. I have been criticised in this connection. I must add that these critics did not change my decision in this respect. I have already told you what was my ambition regarding the National system and no politician will make me change my course to reach this end. I want to deserve the confidence the Canadian government has placed in me."

Sir Henry Thornton added that he was very pleased to be in Quebec and hoped that at least for that declaration he would not be criticized.

CLAIMS THE HOLY PLACES.

GENEVA, (United Press)—The Secretariat of the League of Nations has just received a communication from Ras Taffari Makoumen Addis-Abeba heir to the throne of Ethipoia, requesting that at the opportune moment he be allowed to send a representative to explain to the League Council and the League's Permanent Mandate Commission the claims of Ethiopia on the holy places of Palestine and Arabia. This is the first official communication to be received in Europe from the successor of the late famous King Menelik.

Four original verses by Robert Burns were found, written in pencil in an old book recently offered for sale at second hand in London.

LEGAL POINTS TO BE SETTLED BY U.S. COURTS

$7,000,000 INVOLVED.

WASHINGTON, June 12 (Canadian Press). — The Canadian Commission, sent to Washington to negotiate with the United States Government relative to Canada's claim to certain enemy alien bonds seized by the Alien Property Custodian of the United States, has decided to return home, leaving the matter in the hands of Attorney-General Daugherty.

The question involved, it was explained after the Commission had conferred with Secretary Hughes, and called on President Harding yesterday, is purely a legal one, and the next step cannot be determined until the Department of Justice has completed its study and rendered an opinion. It was regarded as probable that the Courts would be asked to make final adjudication.

The property involved is understood here to represent a value of approximately $7,000,000, and include certain holdings of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, as well as the bonds of other important Canadian corporations.

At the conference at the State Department yesterday no counter-claim was presented by Washington officials for any property held under similar circumstances by Canada, and it was indicated that no such claim would be presented.

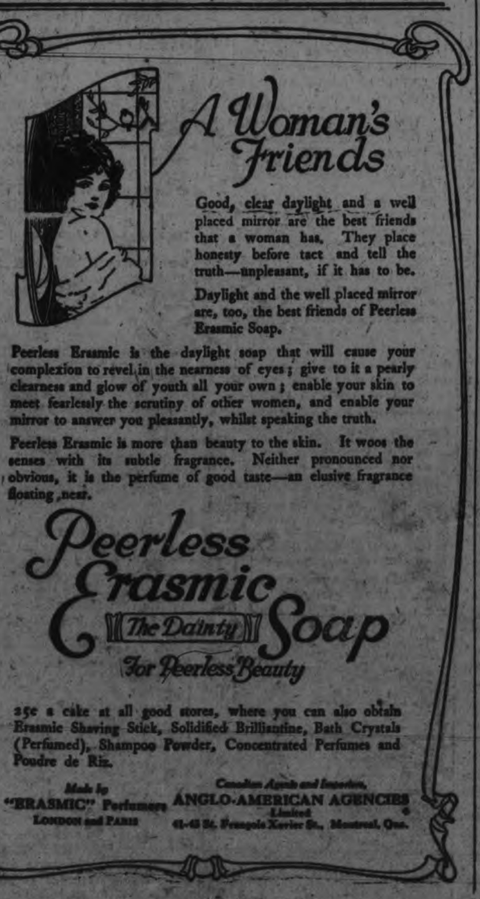
It was explained that the legal questions involved are of a complex nature, and that there was not a wide field of similar or even relatively similar cases in international practice upon which a decision could be found as a matter of Governmental policy.

Bracken on Good Terms With Sir James Aikins.

WINNIPEG, June 12.— (Canadian Press.)—An absolute denial of reports that there existed a crisis in relations between Sir James Aikins, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, and the Bracken ministry, which might force the government's resignation, was made yesterday by Premier John Bracken on his return from The Pas.

"There has never been a deadlock between the Lieutenant-Governor and the executive council," said Mr. Bracken, "and I wish emphatically to contradict the statement that the government considers the Lieutenant-Governor is unduly interfering with the administration."

"There has been no crisis over investments by the Manitoba Savings Office or anything else. The suggestion as to the possible resignation of the miunistry is too ridiculous to deserve consideration."



GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF PRESBYTERIANS VOTE CHURCH UNION

Dr. Drummond's Amendment for Delay Rejected by 415 to 187—Report of "Union" Committee Adopted by 426 to 129

STRUGGLE KEEN

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 12.— (Special).—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church has declared its position. It favors union. At six o'clock yesterday evening the Assembly, on a vote of 426 to 129, adopted the first clause in the Union Committee's report and decided to proceed forthwith to the consummation of union with the Methodist and Congregational Churches of Canada upon the terms of the draft bills presented. The vote on this clause was taken by roll call on the demand of Judge Forbes and Dr. Pringle. Dr. Scott, of Montreal, who had presented a motion to have the voting by ballot, appealed from the ruling of the Moderator, Principal Gandier, that the unanimous consent of the Assembly was necessary for a ballot vote, and that two members could demand a roll call. The Moderator was sustained with only one or two dissentients, and Dr. Scott thereupon entered a formal protest, declaring that the ballot was universally recognized as the only absolutely fair method of voting. "The Assembly," said Dr. Scott, "in refusing to allow the vote by ballot, will create the impression throughout the Church, the country and in the civil courts and parliaments that its desire to carry a certain measure is greater than its desire to face, just and right."

Cries of "No" and "Shame." The Moderator informed him that a committee would be appointed to answer his protest and, amid applause, Dr. Gandier added that in sustaining his ruling the Assembly had decided its own method of voting.

Dr. C. W. Gordon, Winnipeg, appealed to Dr. Scott to withdraw the words which "cast a serious reflection on the integrity of the Assembly." Dr. Scott replied that he could not conscientiously withdraw anything. He announced that the document would be at the Orange Hall at the adjournment for any who cared to attach their signatures.

"You have no right to make that request," said the Moderator.

Dr. George S. Pidgeon, convenor of the Union Committee, wound up the debate at four o'clock. Dr. Drummond's amendment, calling for a halt, pending further conferences, on being put, was lost by 415 against 137 for.

No Demonstration.

There was no demonstration when the vote recording the Assembly's decision to consummate union was announced.

A commissioner had previously requested that none give vent to his feelings when the momentous decision was made known, and this appeal was strictly honored. The remaining clauses of the report were practically unanimously agreed to by a show of hands at the evening session, but the adoption of the report as a whole was held over until to-day, at the request of Dr. Pidgeon, in order to consider a suggestion of Principal Murray.

The latter desires that the committee to be appointed by the Assembly be empowered to use its best efforts in conferences with similar committees of the other negotiating churches and in conferences with representatives of those opposed to union to secure a satisfactory agreement with the opponents of union with reference to the name and status of non-concurring churches and in respect to the division of their property without recourse to litigation. It is possible that something to this effect may be added to the report when finally adopted.

Fight to Last Ditch.

The Antis appear determined to fight to the last ditch. Thomas McMillan, of Toronto, filed a statement signed by seventy ministers and elders, recording their dissent from the Assembly's decision, declaring it was beyond the power of any Assembly to approve of the general draft of legislation and that the majority had, by their action, seceded from the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Principal McKay, of Manitoba College, had circulated a printed amendment to the amendment, in which he stated that while he was heartily in favor of union, he thought very grave injury would be done to the Church if it were proceeded with now, and in which he outlined a scheme calling for more conferences with the view to effecting union eight years hence.

As this amendment had not been formally presented he asked leave to withdraw it after stating his case.

The Moderator pointed out that it could not be withdrawn until it had been presented.

Principal McKay voted with the Unionists.

Judge McKay of Port Arthur made several unsuccessful attempts to carry the following amendment to various clauses of the union report:

"That a vote be taken of all ministers, members of session, and members in full communion of the Presbyterian Church, in answer to the following questions at as early a date as possible, but not under the Barrie act, but for information to all concerned therein:

"(a) Are you in favor of the proposed legislation incorporating the Presbyterian Church in Canada into the United Church of Canada?

"(B) Are you in favor of the maximum cooperation with all evangelical churches, where advantageous to the cause of Christ, in preference to

CROP OUTLOOK FOR THE WEST IS EXCELLENT

Good Growing Weather Has Prevailed in the Prairie Provinces For the Past Week—No Soil Drifting.

GOOD FRUIT CROPS.

WINNIPEG, June 12. Canadian Press. — From a crop development standpoint the weather throughout the Prairie provinces has been excellent during the past seven days, according to the weekly statement issued by the Agricultural Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway here yesterday. There is some danger however of the grain crops making too rapid progress and not rooting deeply enough, which causes them to become too soft to stand adversity.

Very little soil drifting is reported in any of the provinces and the crops are now considered saf from damage by this cause, while the grasshopper situation remains unchanged from last week with no new outbreaks reported.

Ample moisture combined with heat is promoting rapid growth in Manitoba. The crop looks well and is practically as far advanced as the average year in spite of the late seeding. Early wheat is up to eight to ten inches.

Seeding is completed in Saskatchewan, where ideal weather has been experienced during the past week. Prospects have seldom been better at this season than they are at the present time.

Rains have been general in Alberta, particularly in the southern districts. Moisture and heat have brought vegetation along rapidly.

On the Edmonton, Dungevan and British Columbia Railway crop reports have been improved by precipitation during the past week. The rainfall however has not been sufficient to provide for more than immediate needs.

Desirable crop weather has prevailed in British Columbia with fine rains over many sections of the province. The apple crop will exceed average with the exception of the Northern Soy, which seems to be light. Strawberries are still showing some bloom and the movement is slightly earlier than last year.

With seeding completed through the prairie provinces, the report states, the labor situation is about normal.

BANDED CAPE

Small bands of rabbit fur spaced about two inches apart completely cover a summer evening cape of white crepe, which is designed for wear over thin frocks.

How about bran? Is it a food?

Bran is the outer coat of the wheat grain. It is not present in white flour, or even in whole wheat flour. It is woody fibre. It is found in celery, spinach, lettuce and other vegetables. It is not digestible, hence is not a food. It supplies the "roughage" that is needed to stimulate bowel movement and keep the intestinal canal clean and healthy. All the bran of the whole wheat is in SHREDDED WHEAT. You need a certain amount of bran in your food every day, but you don't need any more than you find in Shredded Wheat Biscuit. Two of these crisp, tasty, oven-baked whole wheat biscuits with milk make a complete, nourishing, satisfying meal, supplying all the nutriment you need and all the bran you need. It is ready-cooked, ready-to-eat.

THE PLAYGROUND OF THE CONTINENT.

One feature of the report of the President of the Trent Waterway Association is the reference to the recommendation made by the Special Hotel Committee of the Legislature that $150,000 be included in the appropriations for advertising Ontario as a summer resort.

The Examiner agrees with Mr. G. K. Fraser that it is a matter of regret that the committee's suggestion was not acted upon by the Government.

Money spent in this way would earn rich returns in the result upon business of the influx of tourists that would undoubtedly follow a publicity campaign on the scale that would be possible with an appropriation of that size available.

Ontario offers unique advantages to the tourist, fisherman and hunter, but, unfortunately, the fact is not yet as generally known as it should be.

To advertise this Province as the summer playground of the North American Continent would be to attract an army of visitors, people who are anxious to try out a new district and who would undoubtedly fall in love with the scenic charms of the lake and river sections of the Province.

The whole Province would share in the benefits that would inevitably follow such an invasion, and it is to be hoped that the next session of the Legislature may see some action taken in regard to this particular section of the Special Hotel Committee's report.

"Ontario, the Playground of the Continent," is an excellent slogan, and it can be made 100 per cent. true with judicious publicity.

SLOVENLY HABITS.

The public conduct of many people cause natural wonder as to the conditions under which they live at home.

The reference is to the manner in which the public parks in Peterborough are continually littered up with newspapers, cigarette boxes, banana peels, peanut shells and the fragments of al fresco luncheons.

Although receptacles for such refuse are provided in several of the parks there are far too many individuals who pay no attention to them but throw their remnants over the grass, careless of the direputable appearance imparted to the lawns by such rubbish and of the fact that unnecessary work is being piled upon those encharged with the care of the parks.

After every band concert at Victoria Park for example the hillside is strewn with old newspapers and various other souvenirs.

It would be little hardship upon the offenders if they had to carry their papers home again or if they used the receptacles provided for waste paper and other rubbish.

A little thought in this regard would keep the local parks in immaculate condition and give the caretakers time to do their work for which they are really engaged—at present they have to spend too many hours in the role of garbage collectors.

The authorities might help the movement along by seeing that a few more receptacles are provided in the parks most frequented by the public.

It is a minor matter perhaps—but it is illuminative nevertheless in the revelation of character that is made by this careless disregard of cleanliness and order.

TIME TO WAKE UP.

The revising officers have finished their work and the voters' lists are ready for the battle of the ballots, a week from Monday.

They had ample warning and undoubtedly the majority of them do not care whether they have a vote or not.

Unfortunately, however, the number disenfranchised in this way does not come near equalling the number of those who deliberately disenfranchise themselves by remaining away from the polls.

From all parts of the province, save in sections where local issues or personalities are having an effect come reports of lack of interest on the part of the electorate.

For some reason or other large numbers of the people are refusing to take the election seriously.

And yet it is a most vital decision that Ontario must take on the 25th.

The government that is elected then will have a great deal to do with the interest of every individual for the next four years.

We may pretend that it makes no difference which party is in power — but it does make a difference and a very real one what kind of an administration we get at Toronto.

Every elector should realize that fact, should study the records and the platforms of the various parties, and should be prepared a week from Monday to go to the polls and use the franchise intelligently.

Indifference to this duty is a very serious thing for Ontario and so far as the Peterborough ridings are concerned the electors should be ready to discharge their responsibility as worth while citizens.

THE FATTED CALF IN CHICAGO.

"Fatty" Arbuckle went to Chicago for an engagement at one of those "gardens" which Chicagoans like in summer, probably because they are well away from the lake and the fresh air, and was received with overwhelming enthusiasm. Probably four-fifths of the people who cheered his "come-back," and displayed so much of that Christmas spirit which Mr. Will Hays prematurely emitted last year, were among the brick-throwers when Mr. Arbuckle was arrested and indicted, says the New York Times. Then morality was the thing that had to be upheld; now it is charity and forbearance.

There was doubtless as much insincerity in the general outcry against Arbuckle as there is in the present rush to welcome him to the sheepfold. But the present constitution of the human race insures a majority interest of "bunk" in most of such affairs. Nor is there anything surprising in the about-face of those quite ready to shout on either side. War feeling and post-war feeling show the same antithesis. There are Americans who for political, business or personal reasons profess to be dissatisfied with all of the results of the war, yet who wouldn't concede that it would have been better to hold on to a prosperous neutrality. Gentlemen who favored the German side until prudence counseled silence came out of their holes when the war was over and began peddling the same old arguments with a considerable degree of success. From the way in which some of these persons flourish like a green bay tree, one would have supposed by about 1920 that America regarded the war as a vast and total loss.

Yet all these arguments had been duly set forth in 1917 and earlier, without success. After the war was won the public seemed to want a change. The pro-Germans say that now the public understands the truth; the radicals assure us that the service men know that they were deceived. But nobody believes this hard enough to go to a meeting of the American Legion and propose three cheers for the Kaiser. These vacillations and alterations prove little more than that the public soon forgets.

THE HEBRIDEANS LAMENT.

It is a hopeful sign that any disappointment or dissatisfaction arising among new immigrants should so promptly find expression in Parliament. No more important question can come before that august body than the successful settlement of immigrants. This is the big problem before Canada today. Parliament can well afford to drop all other business at any time, and consider carefully and sympathetically the grievances—even the imaginary grievances—of immigrants.

This is especially true touching immigrants of so superior a class as the hardy Hebrideans whose arrival into the country we were all loudly welcoming only a few weeks ago. To get a company of four or five hundred North Scotsmen to come to Canada in a body and settle on the land, was a stroke of good luck which we cannot expect to happen our way very often. Naturally we would have expected our Immigration Department to have taken special pains to see that these promising new citizens secured the best possible chances of success from the very outset.

It would have been worth while to make sure that their first "letters home" rang with paeans of praise of this new Canada to which they have come in the budding days of spring. Those first "letters home" will be eagerly awaited, closely scanned—even between the lines—and passed from homestead to homestead. If they paint Canada as a young paradise, many an ambitious heart will be turned this way. But if they are burdened with disappointment and disillusion, those at home who may have been looking with growing hope in our direction will turn finally away and seek opportunity elsewhere.

Canada spends good money on immigration literature. It could have secured far better propaganda than any paid pen can write, at a cost which would be trivial when compared with the machine-made stuff we are now buying, if she had spent a few thousands in ensuring that those first "letters home" overflowed with optimism.

* * * *

Mr. Stewart's statement in the House was a good debating defence—if a debating defence is what the country wants. Mr. E. M. Macdonald's thrilling reminder of the hardships so courageously faced and overcome by the settlers of a century or two ago and his biting question as to whether "immigrants today are made of the same material," would sound well on the platform; but it is hardly the attitude in which this country should be—with its great and imperative need for new settlers—toward strange farmer or fisher folk who have come to us in doubt relying on golden promises for which certainly the Government are not directly responsible, but who assuredly would have gone elsewhere if they had thought that eighteenth century conditions prevailed here.

It is not a case for partizan criticism of anybody. The present immigration machinery is probably as good as any we have had. But where the fault lies is that far too much of our effort is devoted to getting immigrants on shipboard, and far too little to making them feel at home and happy when they reach this country. Another thing that should be done is to make sure that candidate immigrants have not been promised anything which cannot be fulfilled. If irresponsible agencies make promises that go beyond the facts, then the Government should instruct its agents in Great Britain, or whatever country these people are leaving, to look into the matter and officially contradict the false statements before the immigrant sails. There is a sense in which the country—for which the Government acts—is really responsible for whatever may be told these people by agencies ostensibly Canadian. We should take the utmost pains to make very certain that they are not being deceived or deceiving themselves.

To bring out a disappointed immigrant is the worst investment we can possibly make.—Montreal Star.

REGULAR MEET CAMPBELLFORD TOWN COUNCIL

TAG DAY AT FAIR

CAMPBELLFORD, June 12.—At the regular meeting of the town council last night a by-law was passed appointing polling places, deputy returning officers and poll clerks for the special election to be held on 28th of June, where the following question will be submitted to the people: "Are you in favor of granting the Board of Education an additional $28,800 for the purpose of completing the High school in accordance with the original plans?" The votes will be recorded at the following places:

Ward 1—At the town hall; Matt. Mulhearn, deputy returning officer and V. J. Hay poll clerk.

Mayor Myers rules that as the matter at issue is not a money by-law, but merely a move to get the sentiments of the people, that all those whose names are on the list can vote at the special election .

I.O.D.E. Tag Day.

Mrs. W H. Ashton, president, and Mrs. A. (Dr.) Hay, secretary of the senior chapter of the I.O.D.E., appeared before the council and asked permission to hold a tag day some time during the fall fair for the purpose of raising money for the soldiers' memorial fund. This request was unanimously granted on motion of Councillors Cole and Dorie.

Inkerman Street Sewer.

Councillor Dorie brought up the matter of the Inkerman street sewer for which a petition, signed by every resident of that thoroughfare, has been received. The petitioners are becoming impatient over the delay and several of them were on hand last night to urge action. Mayor Meyers explained that it would be impossible to make a move until a survey was made so as to ascertain the proper outlet. Reeve Anderson also told the interested property owners that the council was only anxious to avoid a mistake and that as soon as the proper levels were found by the engineer something would be done.

Scales to be Overhauled.

A farmer brought a load of hay to town and his wagon weighed over 1,300 pounds on the municipal scales. He had it tested on the scales at the depot and there it went a trifle less than 1,100 pounds. W. G. Fraser, who recenutly overhauled the depot scales, will look over those belonging to the town to endeavor to ascertain what is wrong and to give an estimate of the cost of making necessary repairs.

Red Cross Appeal.

An appeal for aid for the victims of the typhoid fever epidemic at Cochrane was received from the Red Cross. This was referred to the Inquiry Committee.

To Meet Surveyor.

Surveyor James, of Toronto, wrote to say that he could come to Campbellford on the afternoon train on the 15th of June, and it was decided to hold a special meeting of the Council on the evening of that date to discuss with Mr. James the question of a new plan of the town.

Hens Cause Trouble.

C.Bayes has a neighbor who raises chickens and maintains them in a building only 13 feet from the residence of Mr. Bayes. The latter has long declared that this constituted a nuisance, and has asked the Council and Board of Health to suppress it. He renewed this complaint at last night's meeting, and demanded that something be done about it, producing a legal opinion to the effect that the Council had the power to regulate such matters.

On motion of Councillors Dorie and Burke, Councillors Cole and Meiklejohn were appointed a committee to investigate and report whether the henhouse in question is a nuisance. Police Chief Duncalfe, in his capacity as sanitary inspector, looked over the ground some time ago and came to the conclusion that Mr. Bayes had no grievance.

The Ogilvie Lease.

Mayor Meyers and Clerk McGregor were authorized to sign the lease for the Ogilvie property which the Government has leased from the town and is fitting it up as a home for the local company of the Northumberland Regiment. The rent is $120 a year, to be paid quarterly in advance, and the lease is for three years, with the option of renewal for a like period.

It was decided to insure the building for $2,000, the premiums on which will be about $4.50 a year. The property cost the town $3,500, and as the Government is putting over $1,000 worth of improvements upon it, it was considered that the amount of insurance was not too high.

The Recent Law Suit.

Councillor Carter asked for a report of the law suit in Belleville last week, when Mason and Hawkrigg were given a judgment for $1,050, with costs, against the town. Mayor Meyers stated that a transcript of the evidence could be obtained for $35 or $40.

Councillor Carter asked if, previous to the hearing, the plaintiffs had not offered to settle the case for $600, but the Mayor or no other member of the Council ever received such an offer.

Sidewalk to Cemetery.

J. M. Arnold called attention to the fact that the town is building a sidewalk to the corporation limits on the Havelock Road and asked that the walk be extended 600 feet into the township of Seymour so as to bring it up to the Mount Pleasant cemetery. This he said would be a great convenience to the residents of Campbellford who visit the cemetery especially in wet weather. The matter had been brought to the attention of the Seymour council but that body did not feel inclined to take any action, preferring to let the Town Council make the first move.

On motion of Councillor Allan and Reeve Anderson, the Seymour Council will be notified that the town is willing to pay ½ the cost of the sidewalk asked for if constructed.

Councillor Allan suggested that the water pipes be laid to the cemetery so as to give the owners of the plots a chance to beautify the place by the raising of flowers. Under present conditions it is next to impossible to do anything in this line, and Councillor Allan says that the cemetery does not compare favorably in appearance with the burying grounds in other parts of the district.

Theodore McWilliams and family motored from Peterboro on Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs J. C. Birmingham. Mrs. F. J. Smith returned with them to Peterboro for a short visit.

RURAL DEAN CLARKE RESIGNS RECTORSHIP

Highly Esteemed Anglican Minister of Christ Church, Campbellford, Leaving for Belleville Next August.

MINISTERS REGRET

CAMPBELLFORD, June 12.—Rev. Rural Dean C. E. Clarke, rector of Christ Church here has sent in his resignation to the wardens, to take effect 5th August, having accepted an invitation from the wardens and lay delegates of Christ Church Belleville, to the rectorship of that parish. The change has been approved by the Bishop of the Diocese.

Mr. Clarke's departure for a new field was announced at the regular meeting of the Ministerial Association, of which he was a charter member, held yesterday afternoon and general regret was expressed although he was congratulated upon what must be regarded as another successful step in his career. Two of the most popular clergymen in Campbellford, Revs. Kenny and Clarke, are by a strange coincidence soon to be transferred to the same city and both will leave carrying with them the respect and esteem of all classes in the community without regard to denomination.

REV. C. E. CLARKE,

Came Here in 1917

Mr. Clarke came to Campbellford in January 1917, succeeding Rev. Charles Carpenter He is an Englishman by birth but of Scottish descent and graduated from Emanuel College Cambridge University. His success as a clergyman has been marked from the outset of his career and every change that he has made has been in the nature of a promotion. When the Archbishop of York and Canterbury called for young clergymen for the mission field in Alberta Mr. Clarke was one of the first to volunteer. From the mission field he went to the rectorship of the parish in Coldwater, where he remained until coming to Campbellford. He has been successful in all departments of the work is popular as a preacher and indefatigable in his duties as a pastor. Christ church parish has flourished under his administration and special attention has been paid to the young people. Mr. Clarke was prime mover of the Men's Club, one of the strongest lay organizations of any church in town and the Sunday School has grown until it now has a membership of upwards of 200. He has proved himself a broad-minded and public spirited citizen and one who was always ready to help in any move designed to benefit the community.

Resolutions of Regret

At the meeting of the Ministerial Association yesterday, Rev. M. L. Hinton introduced a resolution expressing regret of the loss sustained by the organization by the going of Messrs. Clarke and Kenny. The Association, he said, was noted for the fraternal spirit that prevailed among the members. It was first organized in the year that the flu broke out and this calamity seemed to unite the members in the bonds of brotherhood.

The resolution was seconded by Rev. C. F. McIntosh. There might, he said the Ministerial Association where the relationship between the members were more ideal than in that of Campbellford but, he knew of none. He hoped that Messrs. Clarke and Kenny would find conditions just as satisfactory in their new charges in Belleville.

After other members had spoken the resolution was unanimously carried, Messrs. Kenny and Clarke speaking briefly in reply.

Religious Teaching in Schools

Those at the meeting yesterday were Rev. H. B. Kenney, president, Rev. J. E. Glover secretary, Rev. C. E. Clarke Rev. C. F. McIntosh Rev. M. L. Hinton and Rev. W. A. Pippen of Hastings, Rev. J. J. Black of Burnbrae and Lieut. Hawkins of the Salvation Army. There was no paper but the time was spent in discussing the question of religious teaching in schools. The opinion was unanimou that little can be done until text books are provided for the purpose these to be taught by the teachers, as it was felt that this would be a better plan than leaving the work to individual ministers. No trouble is anticipated in getting access to the school and in enlisting the cooperation of the Department of Education provided some specific course can be agreed upon by those behind the movement. Mr. Hinton reported that the School Board at Hastings are willing to have the Ministers of the village visit the schools Revs. Black and Glover are already giving religious instruction in the schools of Seymour township.

Change of Date

The date of the annual picnic, which will be held this year at Trent Bridge was changed to 28th of June to suit the convenience of some of the members. All are expected to meet at the picnic grounds at 2 p.m.

No Meeting Until October

No more meetings will be held until the third Monday in October. At that session an attempt will be made to have a prominent divine deliver the opening address and this year the choice will fall by relation upon a member of the Anglican church.

Rev D A Thomson Ill.

Rev. D. A. Thomson of Hastings was not present. Rev. M. L. Hinton brought word that Mr. Thomson was suffering from a slight illness which resulted from an auto accident in which he was injured some time ago.

Police Chiefs Holding International Convention

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 12. — (Canadian Press). — The International Association of Police Chiefs, in session here yesterday, unanimously approved a report of the Committee on Pensions for a uniform police pension system in all cities. The standard reported by the committee was half-pay at the age of sixty-two and after twenty years' service.

A feature of the evening session was an address by Isei Otsuka, Chief of the Home Section of the Police Department of Japan. Criminals, he said, are probably more easily detected in Japan than in countries of mixed populations, languages and customs.

"THE HOUSEWIFE'S PRAYER."

Dear Lord, give us patience to dust once more
Things dusted a hundred time before,
Give us the calm that naught can shake—
Not broken china, nor fallen cake,
Give us the patience that won't "see red,"
When Johnny puts eels in the guest-room bed.
Then give us the patience to hunt for another.
Not for riches or power do housewives pray
But for grace — the manna — fresh each day;
For the greatest gift since time began—

Splendid laxative properties of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin proven by test

A SCIENTIFIC test has now proven what Dr. Caldwell of Monticello asserted many years ago, that constipation will slow you up fully 25 per cent. The test was made by Dr. Donaldson of Loma Linda upon four men in the prime of life who deliberately went without a bowel movement for four days. Within 48 hours the men had coated tongue and foul breath, cankers in the mouth, no appetite, restless sleep, indigestion, headache, depression, nervousness, cramps. The blood pressure was up 28 per cent. It is just this that Dr. Caldwell has preached to his patients in private and to the public through the printed word ever since he began the practice of his specialty, diseases of the stomach and bowels, back in 1875.

After observing for years the satisfactory effect of his prescription for constipation, he placed it in drug stores in 1892, a simple vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, now known as Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. That was 30 years ago, and today over 10 million bottles are bought annually, the largest selling family laxative in the world. You will find it in any drug store you enter, a generous-size bottle costing you less than a cent a dose.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try my Laxative Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 52 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. Do it now!

Every member of the family from the infants to the grandparents can use it with safety. It is gentle and mild. The formula is on the package. Miss Gertrude Steeves of St. Stephen, N. B., says her mother will use no other laxative for her little sister, who is two years old, and Miss Jennie McDonald, of Parkhill, Ont., declares it is just what her mother needed. Try a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin for constipation or any of its symptoms. The results will delight you. And the cost is only one cent a dose.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

the proposed organic union with the Methodist and Congregational Churches in Canada?

Aggressive Campaign.

"That a very aggressive campaign be carried on in all the Presbyterian churches in Canada prior to or simultaneously with the taking of such vote to secure if possible sufficient contributions to have the Gospel of Christ preached to our portion of the world in home and foreign mission fields within the next twelve months, such contributions to be payable in twelve monthly instalments.

The Moderator ruled it had not been brought in until after the Assembly had decided to close the discussion, and his ruling was sustained by only 20 dissentients on an appeal to the house.

Then Judge McKay moved that the bill be placed on the table so that legal lights could look into it. "Because it is a most vicious piece of legislation."

The Judge came in contact with the chair when amid cries of "order' he continued to speak. "Is it fair for you to stand there when you have no right to the floor?" asked the Moderator.

In Hot Water.

Dr. Banks Nelson, of Hamilton, got into hot water in supporting Judge McKay's last effort to carry his amendments. The Hamilton minister had stated that the Assembly should realise the amendment had commonsense in it, and after Dr. Pidgeon had replied, he jumped up again and questioned Dr. Pidgeon on a matter of law.

The Assembly thoroughly approved of the Moderator's stand, and by vigorous hand-clapping prevented Dr. Nelson from continuing.

"I consider you owe me an apology," he said to the Moderator, when the demonstration of disapproval had ceased. "I asked Dr. Pidgeon a question. You said something about me I never would have said about you."

Altogether the day's proceedings were quite exciting, and Dr. Gandier was kept busy ruling out improper motions and amendments.

Say Beyond Powers.

Immediately following the vote, those opposed to organic union issued a statement which said that eminent counsel were of the opinion that the vote of the Assembly, which transferred "ministers, members, property, and trust funds of the Presbyterian Church" into the new organisation was "beyond its powers, unconstitutional, and illegal."

Concluding, the statement said: "In any event, the Presbyterian Church is to continue in Canada. We count on all who value civil and religious freedom to bind fast in this hour of crisis. We heartily assure all who may be called on to make a personal sacrifice for our Church at home and abroad, of our organised comradeship, encouragement, and practical help.

The statement was signed by "D. J. Fraser, chairman, and J. W. McNamara, secretary."

A Small Split.

Leaders of union in the Assembly stated that the effect of the vote would be immediate. A great effect will be the amalgamation at once of a considerable number of congregations, especially in Old Ontario and in Western Canada, which are already co-operating in church work, and were waiting for the decision of last evening

The Supreme Court in the United Churches will be known as the Council, to which the Assembly will elect 150 members, and a committee named by the present Assembly will consider the manner in which these members will be named.

The date at which the General Council will hold its first meeting cannot be predicted, as it will depend on developments.

Non-union commissioners seemed to take a reasonable view of the situation after the vote. Legislation will be threshed out here, and there seems to be a possibility that the difficulty may be solved without litigation.

There will, of course, be a split in the Church, but the amount of friction may be reduced to a minimum

Election News

TORONTO, June 12. (Canadian Press. — As nomination day approaches there are signs that the present list of nearly 300 candidates unofficially named by party conventions and committees for the 111 seats in the Ontario Legislature will be considerably reduced when the official nominations are put in to the returning officers at the various ridings next Thursday. Several prospective nominees have signified their intention of withdrawing from the contest .

All the party leaders are edging closer to their own constituencies for nomination day. Hon. Howard Ferguson and W. F. Nickle, K. C., of the Conservatives, returned from the North Country to-day to speak this afternoon at Cobourg and Orillia respectively. Wellington Hay, the Liberal leader, was in Stratford yesterday and will devote his time for two or three days to campaigning for his own re-election in North Perth.

Premier Drury and other government leaders are busily espousing the cause of U.F.O.-Labor administration in the neighborhood of their own ridings.

Northumberland County League.

Baseball is getting strenuous in the Northumberland County League. A protest has been entered by Harwood in the game played there on May 30th between Harwood and Hastings. Crushed Strawberry Jam

For this jam it is necessary that each berry be broken up. Therefore, crush about 1 quarts ripe berries in separate portions, so that each berry is mashed. This allows fruit to quickly absorb the sugar during the short boil. Measure 4 level cups (3 lbs.) crushed berries into large kettle, add 7 level cups (3 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard for one full minute, remove from fire and stir in ½ bottle (scant ½ cup) Certo. From time jam is taken off fire allow to stand not over 5 minutes, by the clock, before pouring. In the meantime skim, and stir occasionally to cool slightly. Then pour quickly. If in open glassy paraffin at once. If in jars seal at once and invert for 10 minutes and while boiling. Boil hard for 1 minute, remove from fire and stir in ½ bottle (scant ½ cup) Certo. Skim and pour quickly.

Use same recipe for Raspberry, Blackberry or Loganberry jam.

Pineapple and Strawberry Jam

Crush well about 1 qt. ripe berries. Put pineapple through food cutter, or chop very fine. Measure 1 level cups (1 lb.) of each into large kettle. Add 7 level cups (3 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard for 1 minute, remove from fire and stir in ½ bottle (scant ½ cup) Certo. Skim and pour quickly.

Fishes That Walk and What They Teach Science

How the Newly Discovered "Land Minnow's" Success in Living Out of Water and Traveling Long Distances on the Ground Shows the Way Our Own Arms and Legs Developed From the Fins All Animals Once Had

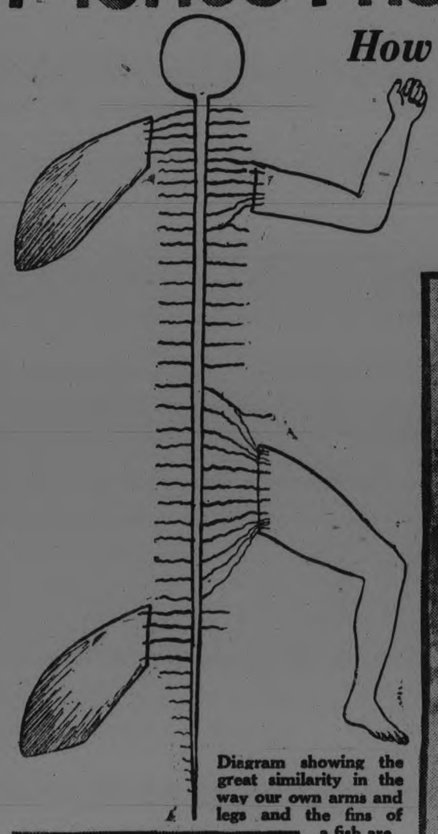

Diagram showing the great similarity in the way our own arms and legs and the fins of a fish are supplied with nerve power from the spinal column

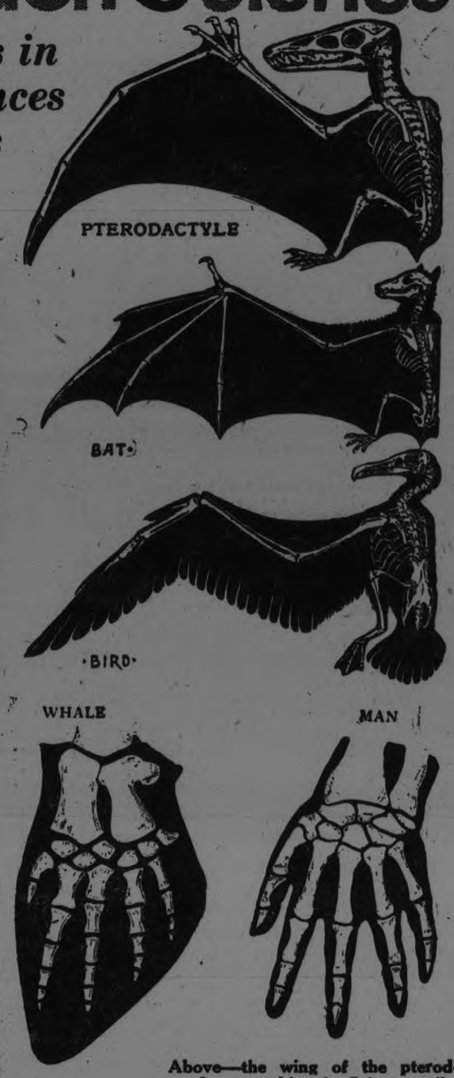
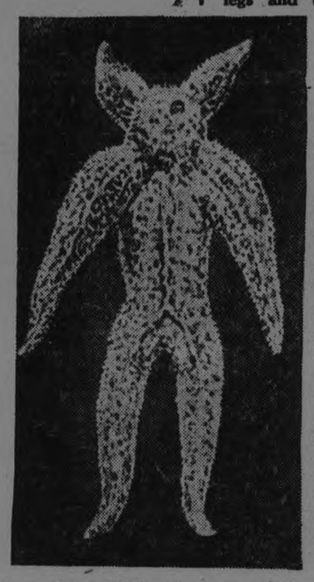
The mud-skipper which was, until the discovery of the "land minnow," the most remarkable of the walking fishes. It gets over level ground very rapidly, jumps from stone to stone and even climbs the roots of trees
(From "The Outline of Science.")



Above—the wing of the pterodactyle, a prehistoric flying reptile, compared with those of a modern bat and bird. Their likeness of structure, science believes, shows a common ancestry. Below — the "hand" which the whale uses for a fin and the human hand, showing a resemblance which science regards as strong evidence that man's limbs developed from fins



A starfish with four long arms that are placed much like the limbs on the human body and that may help him some day to abandon his home on the beach and move further away from water

On the left, Australian frilled lizard which is just learning to stand up on its hind legs and walk as we do

The eight-armed octopus devouring a crab and showing what an amazing pedestrian this creature might be if it should ever learn to use all its limbs for walking purposes

DOWN in the trackless jungles of British Guiana, where few white men outside himself have ever gone, Professor William Beebe, the distinguished American naturalist, has discovered a fish that can live on dry land almost as well as it can in the water.

This extraordinary creature actually rears itself on its fins and covers long stretches of ground with an erectness and speed that furnish a very creditable imitation of the way human beings walk.

This interesting discovery is more than a mere curiosity of jungle life; it is something which science regards as important new evidence in support of the theory of evolution, now being so vigorously combatted in some quarters.

The little creature which Professor Beebe's keen eyes have found in the South American wilds and which he has named the "land minnow" is believed to lend the strongest kind of support to the theory that all land animals originally lived in the steaming waters that covered the earth ages ago and reached their present form by a slow process of evolution from very different types of creatures.

The curious way this minnow uses its tiny fins as arms and legs is believed to be exactly the way countless other creatures used them when they began their desperate struggle to get out of the water and make something more efficient of themselves on the land. It goes far toward showing us how very probably our own limbs and those of other creatures that can now live only on the land began to develop.

Professor Beebe has long been known as one of the leading authorities upon bird life, his weighty volume on "The Bird; Its Form and Function" being considered one of the standard works on the subject. During his recent visit to British Guiana he gave months to the closest observation of the land minnow and its peculiar habits of life.

Professor Beebe says that the minnow seems quite content to wriggle along the earth like a worm until it reaches an obstruction. Then it makes a frantic, concentrated rush up into the air and clings to the obstruction with its adhesive tail. Its next move is to rise on its fins and use both its fore and hind fins to push itself along the ground.

Its progress is an odd series of jumps and wriggles. It is usually aiming at some spot where it can lie under a leaf and wait for some unwary insect to come along, which it snaps up avidly. Professor Beebe reports that some of these minnows have lived as long as nine days without going back to the nearest water, which is sometimes as far as 300 or 400 feet away.

The land minnow is by no means the first fish science has found that can live outside the water and make quite a creditable attempt at walking with its fins. In certain African waters lives a fish that has been seen to climb a tree in search of some food it craved. But the land minnow seems to have achieved more wonderful things on land than any of the other varieties of walking fish.

This remarkable minnow lives, when not traveling over the ground, in the back waters of the swampy jungles. It is a near relation of the four-eyed minnow that is so common in this region, but the latter fish, in spite of its double set of eyes, has never been known to undertake any pedestrian expeditions.

Science thinks the minnow probably took its first step on land millions of years ago. At first it could doubtless manage to live only a brief time outside the water, but gradually it learned how to breathe through its gills. Now it can live for nine days and perhaps a great deal longer without feeling any necessity for a plunge into one of the jungle pools.

The human mind can hardly realize what a long time and how many millions of experimental ventures on the part of countless generations of minnows were necessary before they adapted themselves to breathing through gills and traveling over the ground.

On Dr. Beebe's latest jungle journey he and his companions found something like 150 forms of animal and insect life which were hitherto unknown to science, and which they studied in their natural habitat.

It is when scientists get at the lower forms of life amid their natural, primitive surroundings that they surprise some of these secrets of evolution, and are able to trace the development of one species into another. This party was able to study here the iguana and hoatzin.

When they saw the iguana, which is a reptile, spring from the branches of a tree and trust itself to the air, they understood the instinct that lifted so many reptiles to the bird-stage of life.

The hoatzin is almost a connecting link between reptile and bird, for it is part one and part the other—very plainly a holdover from the time when animals emerged from the sea.

Professor Beebe and thousands of other scientists firmly believe they have traced the evolution of man back to the fish and that there can be no doubt of the process, even though every link has not yet been found.

The discovery of a fish that walks somewhat as we do, even though it has fins instead of arms and legs, is thought to be one more proof of the contention that man has developed, in the course of millions of years, from the lower animals. The fish has left traces of his structure upon man, which are so marked as to be unmistakable.

It sometimes happens that a child is born with the spaces between the cartilages of the trachea not entirely grown up. Here even the layman can see a close resemblance to the gills of the fish, of which the trachea is a development. Scientists have traced carefully all of the development of the gills and find that these have become the basis of the jaw of man and of many important parts of the head and throat, as well as of the ear.

Why should nature go to all the trouble of making parts of the gills in man which are of no use to him whatever if they were not rudiments that have been preserved from earlier and lower types of animals?

Professor J. Arthur Thomson points out that there are over a million species of living animals, about half of them insects, and that it is very wonderful how these animals can be arranged in a very plausible genealogical tree, and how structures fundamentally the same appear with varied form and function.

The pelvis of man is first found developed to a similar shape in the whale. The seal and whale, which many think of as fish, but are really mammals, must have come from four-legged ancestors. In the seal all the bones of the hind legs are shortened up and directed backward, until they seem to form a tail. Many persons call it a tail, but it is the remains of the hind legs. The seal and whale both have well formed hands, covered by the fin-shaped sac.

"We know but little," says Professor Beebe, in his recent work on birds, "of the direct change from a fin to a hand or foot, although there are some fishes living at the present day with large finger bones in their pectoral fins.

"However it came about, it is certain that when the fish-amphibians of olden time, venturing into shallow water, felt more or less solid mud under them, and tried to move about upon it, their fins must have become pressed downward, and before they could safely push themselves about on dry land or lift their bodies clear of the ground the stiff fin-rays must have become split up into a few, thick, bony rays or toes.

"We know that these were originally five in number on all four limbs, and whenever among living creatures we find a lesser number the reduction has been brought about by some subsequent change in the life of the animal.

"The requirements of flight demanded a fin-like stiffness in the wings of birds, and therefore many of the smaller bones of lizards, counterparts of which we find in our own wrists and hands, are in the bird fused together.

"The upper arm-bone, or humerus, corresponds exactly to our bone of that name, and when we feel the two long bones of forearm and look for them in the bird we find both very plainly represented, the large one with notches, where the great wing-feathers are fastened, being called the ulna, and the smaller, straighter bone the radius.

"In our wrist are eight little bones which are joined to each other so delicately that we can move and turn our hand in every direction. But when a bird's wing is extended, if the wrist was at all flexible, the pressure of air on the great wing-feathers would turn wing-tip around and make flight impossible. So but two of these small bones are free in our chicken's wrist, although in the small chick several more (six in all) are separate."

When we study the leg of other animals and of birds we are sometimes puzzled at their apparent difference from the human leg, but this is because we generally mistake the place of the knees, and in that way lose the resemblance.

"The leg of a chicken," says Dr. Beebe, "is attached to the great bone of the thigh-girdle. The foot is not very different from that of a lizard, but there seems something very strange about the leg. Can it be possible that a chicken's knees bend backward?

"Much of a bird's leg is concealed by the feathers, and when we see the bones as far up as the hip joint we understand our mistake at once and see that a bird has knees which bend in the same way as our own—that is, forward in an opposite direction from the elbow. The knees of a bird are usually concealed within the skin of the body, as in the short-legged ducks, and are never visible outside the plumage. For this reason the femur, or thigh bone, is in birds relatively very short, even in the long-shanked herons and flamingoes, the extra length of limb resulting in the elongations of the next two lower joints."

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 12.—(Canadian Press).—Port Arthur is to be the scene of another big Church Assembly, this one covering even a wider area in the matter of jurisdiction than the Presbyterian General Assembly, now in session here. The Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church of America has selected this city for its meeting place in July, 1924.

The manifesto adds that measures are being taken to regain possession of the office.

A cleavage in Irish Labor has been predicted ever since Larkin's return from the United States.

J. W. MEYERS HELD 2 GOOD MEETINGS

(Contributed.)

Two very successful meetings were held yesterday at Rockcroft and Buckhorn in the interests of J. W. Meyers, the Liberal candidate. At the former meeting Mr. Allen acted as chairman and in the evening at Buckhorn ex-Warden Robt. Shaw presided.

Ex-Mayor J. J. Duffus and Capt. John Dewart were the speakers who accompanied the candidate, and the enthusiasm which was shown indicated the strength of the Liberal candidate through the townships of Smith and Harvey.

Mr. Duffus in a plain, businesslike speech introduced Alderman Meyers as a man who had farmed for 35 years and then had engaged in the grain and milling business. He had made a success of farming and also of all other things to which he had turned his attention and was the type of man most needed in our public life to-day—a plain man who, through years of experience, had learned the needs of the country as well as the city and was admirably suited to represent a riding like West Peterborough, which was composed of both an urban and rural population. He showed how the late government had been elected on the platform of economy, but the result of their four years in power had been an increase in the public debt from 97 millions to 241 millions, and their estimates called for a still greater expenditure for 1924 than in 1923.

He pointed out that the Liberal party had run the province on 5 million dollars in 1904, but that in the 19 years since they went out of power the Conservative and Drury governments had steadily increased expenditure until last year 37 millions were spent on cost of administration.

He urged the electors to get behind Mr. Meyers, a self made man, who had been successful through hard work and intelligent effort and who would give the people of the riding the value of his experience and ability if elected.

Mr. Meyers, the candidate, was given an enthusiastic welcome and in a concise and comprehensive speech reviewed the many issues of the day. He particularly stressed the importance of rigid economy at a time when revenues were decreasing and the public debt at such an alarming height. He promised the people that if elected he would do everything possible to look after their welfare and promote the best interests of the riding if honored with election.

Capt. John Dewart dealt in detail with the extravagance of the Drury government. He criticized their road policy, whereby enormous sums were being lavished on trunk roads to the exclusion of the sideroads and concession lines which the farmers used to bring their produce to market.

He took up the sale of 16 million provincial bonds in 1920 at $92.34 to a syndicate of Toronto brokers, whereby the province lost $1,225,600. This was due to inexperience on the part of Hon. Peter Smith, the provincial treasurer.

He claimed that the Drury party had been elected on the grounds of economy and had increased the debt in four years by 144 millions.

He went into the infamous Shevlin-Clarke deal in which G. Howard Ferguson, the leader of the Conservative party, sold berths 51, 45 and 49 of the Quetico park reserve without a proper valuation of the limits and without public competition. Mr. Mathieu, Conservative member for Rainy River, was vice-president of this company and, through him, the deal was made. The Liberals obtained the details of the deal and a commission was appointed to investigate. As a result the Shevlin-Clarke Co. is being forced to pay back to the province about $1,250,000.

He showed how Ferguson was attempting to get both the wet and dry vote and would not take any definite stand on a public question. He contended that by making Mr. Ferguson Prime Minister it was lowering the standard of public life in Ontario.

He showed that Wellington Hay was a plain, experienced business man, above reproach and admirably fitted for the position of Prime Minister.

He made a plea for the electors to support Mr. Meyers and a business administration for the province.

WHO FIRST FELT "LIKE A FIGHTING COCK"?

COCK-FIGHTING was born with the cocks.

But it is only 80 years ago that the first man felt "like a fighting cock!"

Now he has brothers, sisters, nephews, nieces, all over the world —all feeling "like a fighting cock!"

It happens this way: A person half sick with bad stomach, dull and heavy headache, takes Beecham's Pills just before going to bed. Immediately the Pills begin to harmonize the digestive and eliminative organs.

Consequently, this person has a good night's sleep and arises in the morning with clear brain, bright eye, keen appetite, and full of energy for work and play.

It is now just 80 years since Beecham's Pills first began correcting disordered stomachs and stirring sluggish livers and bowels to natural activity — and feeling "like a fighting cock" is associated as inseparably with Beecham's Pills, as the pills are with good health.

FINDLAY MACLEOD GETS FIVE YEARS

TORONTO, June 12.—(Canadian Press).—Findlay MacLeod was today sentenced to five years in the penitentiary by Judge Coatsworth in the Criminal Sessions Court for receiving stolen bonds valued at approximately $100,000, knowing them to have been stolen. On being found guilty by the jury two weeks ago, MacLeod was informed by Judge Coatsworth that any assistance he gave the police authorities in recovering the stolen property would be considered in pronouncing judgment upon him. He was, therefore, given one week "to think it over," but when he again appeared before the Judge for sentence he declared that he had given the police all the information he possessed. Judge Coatsworth, however, still further intimated his desire to show consideration to accused and sent him back on remand in order that he might decide whether he had any further information to disclose.

GOVERNMENT SAYS WINE A NECESSITY

By MORGAN EASTERLING

BUENOS AIRES (By mail to United Press).—The question of whether wine is a necessity of the average resident of the Argentine, which arose in connection with a demand by the wine growers that their business be protected from Spanish, French and Italian competition, has been settled by mutual consent of producers and consumers interested. It is.

The proponents of a protective tariff on imported wines conceded the point with alacrity and urged the minister of finance to give home talent a chance to supply the need, while the opponents of the measure, taking advantage of the admission, hope the minister will lodge the petition in a capacious pigeonhole where so many other documents worthy of a much better fate repose.

The wine growers point out that the local industry is being ruined because European wines can be imported more cheaply that home-made varieties can be shipped from the provinces to Buenos Aires, owing to high local taxes, and declare it is absolutely necessary that a tariff be placed on imports.

Opponents of a higher wine tax, arguing that wine is a necessity and that the French, Spanish and Italian wines are superior to Argentine brands, assert a great injustice would be done by limiting imports "in favor of a set of industrialists."

Attempt to Save Dube From Gallows.

QUEBEC, June 12. Canadian Press —Application was filed yesterday morning before the Court of Appeal on behalf of Gustave Dube, the St. Adalbert farmer who was sentenced to die on the scaffold on July 13, asking that Alleyn Taschereau, K.C., for a "stated case." A similar position had already been presented to Justice Gibson, who presided over the trial, but refused As the court of appeal will not sit until next fall a stay of execution will be sought from the Judge who presided over the case.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN I. PAYNE'S APPEAL

The appeal of Israel Payne against the judgment of the County Court, whereby Israel Payne was given the right to re-possess the Aylmer street house, and his daughter-in-law, Hester Payne, was granted the furniture and $1,500 damages for breach of contract, was heard yesterday in the Court of Appeal.

Judgment was reserved, Chief Justice Meredith remarking that nothing would be done for fifteen days in the hope that an amicable settlement might be reached.

Mr. Joseph Wearing appeared for the appellant, and Mr. J. A. O'Brien for the respondent.

Caterpillar Plague Strikes Saskatchewan.

REGINA, Sask., June 12.—(Canadian Press).—A plague of caterpillars is reported from the MacLean and Qu'Appelle districts. Millions of the insects are eating the leaves off the trees and crawling into the houses, according to reports reaching the Provincial Agriculture Department.

While the outbreak seems to be most serious at MacLean and Qu'Appelle, the caterpillars are reported at a number of other points.

I Am Now a Different Man

So says retired Salvation Army Officer, who regains health after ten years suffering—Claims Dreco a wonderful remedy.

"For the past ten years I have suffered from neuritis and a general run-down condition of the system," states Mr. Philip Lewis, former Salvation Army Sergeant Major of the Junior Sunday School, Maidstone, Kent, England, and now a well-known citizen of Toronto, residing at 493 Keele street.

MR. PHILIP LEWIS

"After my arrival in Canada 12 years ago, I was taken ill with pneumonia, which resulted in a nervous, weakened condition of my system. Finally neuritis set in and the following four years I was ill most of the time, gradually becoming worse, until it was almost impossible for me to drag one foot in front of the other. This necessitated the use of a cane when trying to walk.

"I tried many medicines and spent hundreds of dollars without getting results. Since June, 1922, I had been unable to do any work, my entire system being so very weak. I had just about given up all hope of recovering, when I happened to read how much Dreco was doing for others, so decided to try it.

"After taking Dreco only one week, the results were so surprising that I decided to continue the complete treatment, which I have done and I am now a different man.

"Dreco is a godsend and I gladly recommend it to anyone. I am 100 per cent. better in every way and have started working again.

"I have no more terrible pains and aches through my limbs and back and the use of a cane is no longer necessary. This improvement, I feel, is really wonderful for a man of 60 years of age to receive in so short a time. My health in general is greatly improved and I feel much stronger."

Dreco is a natural remedy prepared from roots, herbs, bark and leaves and tones and regulates all the organs of digestion, upbuilding the general health. It contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs. Long standing, obstinate digestive complaints yield readily to this reliable corrective.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterborough by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey, and by a good druggist everywhere.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS WHEN STATE FLOODED

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Seven dead and many reported missing, thousands homeless and property loss exceeding five million dollars, was the toll last night of floods which have sent virtually every stream in Kansas and Northern Oklahoma to its highest stage in years.

Arkansas City is being patrolled by American Legionaries and the damage is estimated at $3,000,000. Winfield damage is set at $1,500,000. Arkansas is raising a fund of half a million dollars to help sufferers. Three thousand citizens of the town are homeless and many are reported missing.

SEVERAL GERMANS SHOT.

DUESSELDORF, June 12. — (Canadian Press.)—Several Germans are believed to have been killed and a number wounded during a street battle between French troops and a group of German civilians Sunday night in Dortmund.

According to the French authorities the Germans provoked French patrols in the street, and the exchange of shots followed.

Had Bad Pains In Her Heart

Nerves Were Very Bad

Mrs. John Case, R. R. No 4, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: — "I wish to say that I have been bothered very much with my heart and nerves. I doctored with two different doctors, but did not find much relief. I would have such bad pains in my heart, at times, I would be almost afraid to move or breathe, and at night I could not sleep. If the pains in my heart were gone, my nerves would be so bad I could not lie still and would only get a little sleep by being tired out. My stomach was also very bad and I could eat but very little, and then only certain things or I would have so much distress, which always made by heart worse.

I had been suffering for nearly two years until one day I was talking to our druggist about the way I felt. He advised me to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a fair trial. I have now taken five boxes and am feeling so much better. I am able to do my own work, and can eat anything I wish. I cannot praise Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills too highly."

Price 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Company, Toronto, Ont.

Admiralty Has Chart of Captain Vancouver.

LONDON, June 12. Canadian Press. — The Vancouver trade delegation which yesterday visited the grave of Captain George Vancouver in the quaint little churchyard at Petersham, near Richmond, were afforded a striking example of how extensive are the records kept by the Admiralty of the past exploits of officers of the British navy.

The party were accompanied to Petersham by Colonel Amery, First Lord of the Admiralty, upon whose directions the visitors were shown Captain Vancouver's original chart, and his chronometer, which originally belonged to Captain Cook under whom Vancouver sailed as a midship man.

"If he had not had these," remarked Colonel Amery "Vancouver City would probably not have been where it is."

Earlier in the day the Prince of Wales received the Vancouver party.

Cable reports stated England's share in the loan was over-scribed and the books closed one hour and twenty minutes after the opening. The loan was offered simultaneously in eight countries.

Quality and Charm Distinguish "SALADA" TEA

"The most Delicious Tea you can buy"

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

(Contributed)

Editor of the Examiner,

Sir,— As I will be touring the country parts of the riding and my itinerary is arranged I will not be able to hold a city meeting for the next week but in the contributed article of "The Saturday Night Conservative Rally," the very untrue and misleading statements made, should be corrected. The price of automobile markers is given as 23 cents apiece, which is stated as a piece of outstanding extravagance. The facts are: they were 23 cents a pair; or two plates; as compared with 28 cent paid in 1919 the lowest price paid by the Conservative Government, as high as $1.40 per pair had been paid by previous governments. The charges of extravagance were shown by Mr. Drury to be legacies of the Conservative government, and money accounted for to the satisfaction of all who heard him. The 204 motor vehicles mentioned were mainly motor trucks for carting stone and gravel for Road construction purposes. No deputy or secretary has a car at the expense of the government. Perquisites were cut out by Mr. Drury. The 1.800 miles of road, built under Mr. Biggs' scheme will be finished this year, so the statement of 13 per cent. is misleading. To say that Tooms brought a man from Cleveland to fill a vacancy in Peterboro is not true. The man referred to is a Peterborough boy born and raised in Peterboro, and being idle at the time was on the lookout for a suitable position. He got it, and no more efficient man could be got for the job. For the Conservatives to mention timber and pulp, I wonder they are not ashamed. It again makes a statement that a Mr. Watson drew $2,400 extra money, no wonder Mr. Tooms wants to go back and fatten at the public crib. (I may say the Conservatives have done so for a long time), and also that I do not know just what Watson did receive, if he received $2,400. I did not; at the end of my travel with the committee I was out about five dollars after paying expenses; if what you say is true; Watson got something over me.

Mr. Editor, in an editorial, you asked that this be a gentlemanly contest. I have up to the present tried to keep it so. But are the local Conservatives going to try and equal the respresentatives of the Conservative party in the last Legislature by trying to be unfair and mislead the public. Let us be fair and square if it is in our make-up. Mr. Bradburn you must be responsilbe for your agents.

Yours

CUSTOMS DUTIES INCREASED.

SAVE THE KIDDIES FOR CANADA.

Forty thousand Canadian children die each year under ten, largely due to maternal ignorance. The greatest ignorance exists in the matter of feeding. Most mothers consult only the child's desires, to their own sorrow and Canada's loss. Most children to-day live upon "Excess Acid" white flour, refined cereals, fats, meats, and white sugar sweets, all lacking in repair substances and alkaline salts. This lack lowers vitality and turns the blood acid. Children so fed are fit subjects for disease germs, always in the air, to fasten upon, multiply themselves by billions, and produce in the child disease and death. This could not happen to a child fed upon natural alkaline (opposite of acid) foods; whole grains, milk, eggs, nuts, beans, peas, leafy vegetables and fruits, honey and brown sugar sweets. All are the unrefined products of nature and the most important are whole grains. Such a diet is all important in hot weather. It keeps the blood in its natural alkaline state and carries the child into the dangers of winter fortified against disease.

Roman Meal is the only alkaline cereal. It is 400 parts in each 1,000 parts. "Excess Alkali;" alkaline enough to correct the acids of "Excess Acid" foods, if used some way once every day with milk. It can be made a child's summer delight by following the new icy-cold recipes, BROSE-O, CHOCOLO-O, and JELL-E, any of which can be prepared in ten minutes. Your child needs Roman Meal, because it has four times as much bone-forming materials as even milk, essential to well-formed bones and good teeth. At grocers.

GERMAN GOLD ARRIVES.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Tablet Was Unveiled in Memory of Dr. Norman Allen--Personal Mention.

MILLBROOK, June12.—A handsome brass tablet, mounted upon solid quarter-cut oak, and suitably engraved, was unveiled on Sunday evening in St. Thomas' church, in memory of the late Dr. Norman Allen, of Toronto. Rev. Canon Allen read the dedicatory prayers, another brother, Mr. H. B. Allen, drawing aside the flag which had veiled the tablet. Rev. H. J. Plummer, rector of St. Augustine's church, Toronto, was to have been present and assisted with the ceremony, but on account of serious throat trouble, was unable to come. A letter from Dr. Plummer was read by the curate, Mr. Williams, expressing his warm personal friendship for Dr. Allen, and his appreciation of the splendid services which he had performed in the practice of his profession.

Mr. Burke and Dr. Harold Allen, the two sonse of the deceased, also intended to be present on Sunday evening but meeting with motor trouble after leaving the city, were prevented from completing the journey in time for the service. Following the special prayers for the occasion, by request, the hymn, "Rock of Ages," was sung, and the closing hymn for the evenings service was Rev. H. B. Robinson's beautiful poem, "There shall be light at evening time." The inscription on the tablet reads:

To the Glory of God and
In Loving Memory of Norman Allen, M.D., M.R.C.S., England,
Seventh Son of the Venerable Archdeacon Allen, Late Rector of this Parish,
Born at Millbrook, Jan. 3rd, 1865,
Died in Toronto, October 4th, 1922.
"Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy"
Erected by his wife.

The tablet is placed on the east wall of the church, at the end next the chancel, and nearest the rectory family pew. The immediate relatives who were present on Sunday evening were: Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, Mr. H. B. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Winslow, and family, Dr. and Mrs. D. C. King, Peterborough, Mrs. Claire Winslow, and Mrs. (Rev.) Alex Allen, Oaklands, Cal.

Mr. H. L. Burnham, who has been the guest of his mother, Mrs. E. S. Burnham, for the past ten days, returned to Whitby on Monday.

Mrs. Irwin Hatherly will hold her post-nuptial reception at her home east of the village on Thursday, June 21st, from 3 to 6 p.m.

A. J. Fallis and S. S. Staples, Liberal-Conservative and U.F.O. candidates, respectively, were visitors to Port Hope on Saturday.

A "Golden Jubilee" reception in honor of Rev. J. Wilks, will be held in the parlors of the Methodist church on Thursday, from 8 to 10 p.m., to which the public are cordially invited. Mr. Wilks this month celebrates his seventy-seventh birthday, and recently passed the date when he had been fifty years in the ministry. Addresses will be delivered by resident clergy, and others, and music, etc. provided. Refreshments will be served at the close. It is hoped that all friends of Rev. Mr. Wilks whether belonging to this church, or any other, will be present on Thursday evening, the 14th inst.

GROWING INTEREST MISSIONARY WORK.

Such Was Disclosed at the Annual Meeting of the W.M.S. at Cobourg.

COBOURG, June 11.—The sessions of the annual branch meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Bay of Quinte conference held here proved to be very successful and helpful. An encouraging sign was that a much larger amount of missionary literature than usual, or was expected, was disposed of. There was qdite a keen demand for some of the works which augurs well for increased interest throughout the coming year in missionary work.

Mrs. A. W. Grange Retired.

It was with very deep regret that the members learned that their beloved president, Mrs. A. W. Grange, intended retiring from office at this convention. The circumstance that Mrs. Grange has held the position of president of the Bay of Quinte branch for the past twenty-seven years, is unique in church activities anywhere. At an opportune moment during an evening session, Mrs. Grange was presented with an appreciative address, in which grateful reference was made to her faithful and valued service and presented also with a beautiful boquet of roses. The honored recipient made grateful and feeling reply. Mrs. W. H. Ashton of Campbellford was later elected to the president's chair and Mrs. Grange is the Honorary President.

The convention in addition to the valued contributions in the way of excellent addresses and papers from its own members had present, Miss Sparling, Toronto, missionary on furlough from China and Mrs. E. E. Marshal, Field Secretary, Toronto, both of whom gave inspiring addresses.

There was held an interesting discussion on new literature when Mrs. G. W. Hammond, Campbellford, addressed the branch as follows:

Our Literature.

The old adage "Where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise," has long since been exploded and in its place is the slogan, "Knowledge is power."

Over two thousand years have passed since Jesus said in that wonderful chapter of the Acts, "Go ye into all the world and Lo I am with you" and as we remember that only about one per cent of the people in non-Christian lands have been told, we pause and ask why one per cent. Perhaps we may better grasp the idea when I say that of the fifty million people of Japan forty million have not even heard the name of Jesus or still further the Province of Szchewan, West China, for whom the Canadian Methodist Church has assumed responsibility, has a population of ten million souls and since May, 1892, thirty-one years ago, when the first contingent of eight missionaries opened up work there only 10,344 have accepted Christ. Again we ask, why has there been no greater response of money and workers to carry on the work that Christ began? Why has not the church been seized with the same spirit that characterized the handful of disciples who were gathered in the upper room with the Master? What is needed to inspire that spirit? In every undertaking we must get all the information possible in order to make that undertaking a success—and why not missions which is the greatest undertaking of all time. Information is of great importance, information creates interest, interest impels prayer, prayer will open the sealed purse and enlist workers. So in our missionary work we have these five doors—information, interest, prayer, money and workers and the key that unlocks them is literature.

When the student volunteer movement was organized, the leaders, realizing that the success of that movement depended on a knowledge of the situation, projected the missionary study courses that are now being used by so many Home and Foreign Missionary boards and societies of Canada and the United States.

In this connection I would like to mention the suggestive program literature as printed in the Outlook, our study book, "Western Women in Eastern Lands," "China's New Day," "The King's Highway," "The Story of the Years," "Building a Nation," have been most instructive.

Our religious papers, The Outlook, The Palm Branch, Christian Guardian, should be in every Methodist home. The Blue Book which is really the history of our Women's Missionary Society has valuable information which is strictly up-to-date. Then there are leaflets in almost every phase of our work.

At Mountain View, Miss Pearl Hamilton was presented with a prize given by Rev. Frank Langford, Toronto for the memorization of a portion of Scripture. The award was a beautifully bound column containing the New Testament and the Psalms.

CONTESTING WILL OF RICHARD CROKER

Former Friend Tells of "Perfectly Disgusting" Attitude of Indian Wife of Former Tammany Leader.

DUBLIN June 12. — (Canadian Press.)— The cross-examination of Richard Crocker, Jr., in his suit contesting the will of his father concluded yesterday without any noteworthy effect on the case.

The next witness was T. J. Fleming, well-known Dublin racing man, a frequent visitor at Richard Croker's residence, Glencairn, and one of the witnesses of his last will. His evidence, he said, was given reluctantly.

He testified that he was rarely able to see Mr. Croker alone after the latter's second marriage, as his wife was "always there." While the old man sat by the fireside, looking sad, she frequently volunteered condemnation of his children's ingratitude and said his son Richard, Jr., had cheated him out of property, stocks and bonds in the United States.

On cross-examination the witness strengthened this statement by declaring that the wife's constant references to the Croker children were "perfectly disgusting," and formed the main reason for his ceasing to visit Glencairn. The witness admitted having spent last Sunday with Howard Croker in Dublin Bay.

Howard, when examined and cross-examined, added nothing new to the case. He said the charge that the second Mrs. Croker was legally the wife of Guy R. Marons had not been put into the hearing of the suit at Palm Beach, Fla., owing to the difficulty of identification at that time. The witness denied that he was the catspaw of his brother Richard.

Counsel suggested that if Marone had been married to Mrs. Croker, he would long ago have made this known to Croker .Howard's reply was: "I don't know that he has or not."

HE FOOLED 'EM.

CLEVELAND, Yorks, England, June 12. — An old boot for years did the work an iron safe is doing for a local resident. Large sums of money, collected after the banks closed, were deposited in the boot The owner argued burglars would never think of looking there for money. And he was right! NO ADDITIONS MADE TO THE COMMITTEE

The Agricultural Interests Have No Definite Representative on the Overseas Settlement Committee.

LONDON, June 12.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—In the house of commons yesterday a member pointed out that thousands of farm laborers had been obtained from Great Britain and northern Europe to assist the Canadian farmers to carry on operations and he asked whether, in view of the effect of the Empire Settlement Act upon rural depopulation in Great Britain, the government was now prepared to grant accredited representation to the British agricultural interests on the Overseas Settlement committee.

Col. Buckley, secretary to the overseas trade department replied that he did not consider it necessary to adopt the suggestion. The overseas settlement committee was already in close touch with the ministry of agriculture and it included members who might be relied on to ensure that due consideration is given the agricultural interests of the United Kingdom in connection with the administration of the Empire Settlement Act.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

A Letter From Mr. Burnham

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,— People are downhearted. There is not much work, but thank goodness there are plenty of taxes. And they are increasing in number every day. We used to have enough to grumble at when we sold a bit of land. The dear lawyers had to have their pay, but the Drury government added a new tax. Just think of it! You can't sell a piece of property anywhere in Ontario now without having to swear to the exact amount paid for the property so that the government will know just how much of the new tax you ought to pay. This new tax amounts to about ten dollars on the sale of an ordinary piece of house property or a small farm. But Drury had to have the money. It is just another stumbling block in the way of business that's all. The people are being bled to death. And yet Drury is asking the people to put him back. Sure he'll go back — away back home, that's where he'll go. But he has some friends. People who work on the Drury provincial highways are his friends. They want more of it, and they are going about just like common road agents telling the people what a grand man Drury is and how he must be elected again. Then we have Drury selling a whiskey called native wine that would knock a cart horse down it is so strong in alcohol, while he cries out "Prohibition is in danger. Vote for me for sure." Drury is not such a fool as he seems. He looks around and sees the preachers kicking the Bible to pieces and saying it is certainly not the word of God (just as Ingersoll, etc., used to do and just as the preachers used to condemn with such bitter scorn.) Then they alone in all the world want to break up the Protestant churches so that it can be said that while Presbyterianism and Methodist go on increasing and rejoicing in countries like the U. S. they are a failure in Canada. What a race of blockheads we are becoming! But let us hear more about the new Drury taxes. Some of them are

1. Increased taxes on insurance comapnies, which of course the policy holders have to pay.

2. Increased tax on game and fishing licenses. This has produced rebellion on the part of the people, who are now disregarding the fish and game laws as never before, notwithstanding the great vigilance of the inspectors.

3. Motor licenses, increased. This is for the benefit of the farmer who always likes to pay more taxes.

4. Increased amusement taxes. So that you can't even laugh nowadays without paying more for it, thanks again to Drury. Peace seems to be worse than war for taxes. And so on. There are many more, and these extra Drury taxes net him about eleven million dollars a year. For what? For the benefit of the people? Of course. And yet the people told him that they want less taxation, not more.

Then Mr. Drury, like the Prophet Elisha, cursed patronage and the old parties which had practised it. But Drury, after doing the required cursing, started in to practice patronage in a way that had the old parties gasping for breath. Drury had them bluffed out of their boots. And Mr. Tooms, in order to show that he didn't believe in patronage, straightway had his own brother-in-law appointed Clerk of the Division Court for the city and county of Peterborough, while the U.F.D., the soldiers and Labor stood by wondering how it all happened because his brother-in-law had no other right to it or claim upon the appointment than the fact that he was Mr. Tooms' brother-in-law, who had left Peterborough and was then living in Toronto. He's a decent enough fellow all right, but what is the use of cursing patronage and then practising it? Does Drury think that we are all just made to be bluffed? It looks like it, and if he gets away with it on June 25th, I will say, "You're too much for us, Mr. Drury! We're the boobs, not you. 'Just tak' your wull o' it,' as the Scotch parson said. On with the taxes. Hurrah! for Drury—and prohibition!"

Mr. Drury was here, and neither he nor his candidate dared to deny or dare deny now my charge that anyone who makes wine from grapes grown in Ontario can do so and is at liberty to make it just as strong as he likes. You ask why this big loop-hole was left in the O.T.A. It was to please the grape-growers and wine-makers of Western Ontario and to buy their votes (for prohibition!) But it includes us all, and if we want to make native grape wine with a kick, or any number of kicks, in it, we can do so. Such are the pleasures of hypocrisy and double-dealing. Ontario is a model province. There is hardly any doubt about that.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

COOPERATIVE LIVESTOCK WANT ADS.

A good, proved plan for livestock breeders located in the same district is cooperative Want advertising. Two or more farms can participate. The cost is shared.

The benefits derived are numerous. To begin with, several swine breeders, for example, cooperating can run very economically a Want Ad several times as long as any one of them as an individual probably could afford to. This means that each participant in the Want Ad plan gets the benefit of large space. Many more see and read the larger Want Ad. Each swine breeder, individually, has more inquiries, makes more sales.

Then there are the benefits of prestige. Each Want Ad. will be headed with a brief explanation of the code of the association—how it stands for fair prices, how members guarantee satisfaction, how the association insists that each member maintain a reputation for square dealing with customers.

This will carry a good deal of weight—much more than similar assertions made by an individaul concerning himself.

Following this general matter will come a list of members, addresses, what they offer, and prices.

If there are special features of the advertisers's district which constitute good "talking points", they should be used. Healthful environment is something that appeals to buyers, and often can be used. High, dry land, free range, for instance, people associate with strong, vigorous stock, in the case of poultry.

In some cases, convenience to buyers is the best talking point. If the advertiser's locality is close in and has frequent car service, that should be told. On the other hand, a far-out district can offset location disadvantages by advertising to meet inquirers and provide transportation.

One fact of possible importance is that in these days of automobiles, a paved highway may be as favorable an asset as a carline.

AN INVENTION FOR THE MOVIES

NEW YORK, June 12—Talking movies, perfected by Dr. Lee de Forest, after years of experiments by many inventors, are not going to revolutionize photoplays.

"The public doesn't want the actors to talk in film dramas," he says. "They want pantomime in movies and they will always have it. What my new invention will do is not to change the movies as they are, but to open a new field of entertainment and education."

This disclaimer of reputed designs to vocalize photoplays was made by Dr. De Forest, in an interview with NEA Service, at the first demonstration of his visual-vocal film to be made in this country. For four years he has been working abroad on the "phonofilm," which he will show before the New York Electrical Society late in March, and publicity at a Broadway theater in April or May.

"The silent drama cannot be improved by adding the voice," he said. "Movie actors are either untrained in dramatic speaking or are wholly incapable of it. In the early days the motion picture tried merely to photograph the ordinary drama of the stage, but it was a dismal failure until a new and novel type of drama was created to fit.

"Now comes the phonofilm, with sound photographed on the same film that carries the picture. Musical and vocal sounds are reproduced perfectly synchronized. However, it will not affect the photoplay of pantomime, except to develop a new field in which scenario writers may work up situations and scenes around such acoustic effects as can be successfully brought out."

Dr. De Forest exhibited sample films, showing dancers and an orchestra, music sounding as if it came directly from the screen.

"That is the field for the present," he said. "Movie audiences will hear—as well as see—operettas, symphony orchestras, popular bands, concert singers, famous virtuosos, public men, dancers, and others who heretofore have been available in person only to the few, and to the many only by means of phonograph records, as far as voice is concerned.

"Only in such instances is the present-day motion picture lacking. Photoplays as they now exist perhaps might be improved by the actual reading of letters and telegrams where they occur, or by one or two words or sentences spoken during an otherwise silent drama as a means of gripping the attention, but certainly not by continuous conversation on the part of the characters. Photoplays must be written to fit the phonofilm, but the phonofilm will not be thrust ruinously upon the pantomime of photoplays."

Sound is photographed on the edge of the film at a distance 10 inches further along the film strip from the point where the picture is photographed, but the reproducing devices are the same distance apart in the projection machine, causing synchronization.

ENGINEER KILLED WHEN HE FELL IN MACHINERY

TORONTO, June 12. Canadian Press. — Frank Hallsworth, aged 25, an engineer for the Graham Contracting Co., was killed when he fell into the machinery of a steam shovel in the T. T. C. Hillcrest yards yesterday evening.

Hallsworth was leaning forward to oil the engine when he lost his balance and fell forward. His body was badly mangled, his right arm being severed.

No Trouble to Keep Skin Free From Hairs

(The Modern Beauty)

There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered delatone with water it is easy to get rid of them. The paste is applied for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hair without leaving a blemish, but care should be taken to see that you get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

GIRLS, DO YOU KNOW HOW TO SMOKE ?

(By JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT)

NEW YORK, June 12.—Girls, do you smoke? All right, then. But do you know what to smoke? And how? That's different.

Smokes for women is really such a momentous question that experts must decide. Around the corner from Fifth Avenue in the Lady Nic Shop, the proprietors, Miss Harriette B. Douglas and Mrs. Edward A. Cassidy, will tell you what's what about it.

Said Miss Douglas, severely: "Women who smoke any old thing in any old way blunder just as much as women who wear any old hat."

Mrs. Cassidy, sagely: "There is etiquet and styles in smoking as well as in manners and dress."

Forthwith we inhaled these tips, given by Miss Douglas and Mrs. Cassidy jointly, on what and how women should smoke:

"The lady vamp should smoke a long black cigaret with a red tip. So sinful looking. Upholds vamp traditions, too.

(Black cigarets? Absolutely. But no, they said firmly, little black cigars wouldn't do. Not dainty enough.)

"The flapper reaches her completest expression—er—tobaccologically—when she acquires a long Russian pipe holder. It looks like a pipe, but holds a cigaret. Later, perhaps, the flapper will find those little briar pipes from England the thing; they may smoke a pipeful then."

(Pipes? What will they lead to? Corncobs? Oh, decidedly not!)

"The business women who'd really rather be married and keep house should use those lovely cork cigaret holders painted with forget-me-nots and things like that. A very subtle way of encouraging a man. Lets him know you think that after all, a woman's place is in the home."

(Wearing your heart on your sleeve isn't in it, you see, with wearing it on your cigaret holder. It pays to advertise, the experts pointed out.)

(You keep away from tobacco that way. And the teeth exercise, balancing the lengthy holder, is a sort of daily dozen for outwitting dentists.)

"Grandmother smokers have styles, too," concluded the experts. "Cigarets for them, should have colored silk tips. Matching their silk frocks, and adding a little touch of youthfulness."

Two in the shade can be pretty warm on a hot afternoon.

BANDITS RELEASE LAST OF CAPTIVES

TSAOCHWANG, June 12.—(Canadian Press.)— Eight captives, the last of the foreigners kidnapped by Chinese bandits, who held up the Shanghai-Peking express near Suchow, on May 6, and held prisoner at the Paotzulu mountain headquarters of the outlaws since that time, were released to-day.

Turks and Allies Form Agreement.

LAUSANNE, June 12 (Canadian Press). — The Turks and the Allies at yesterday's session of the Near East Peace Conference remained steadfast to their divergent views on the Ottoman debt, and the successful issue of the conference continues menaced.

The Allies late yesterday gathered together at a private meeting to consider the situation.

The Turks, at a lengthy joint meeting yesterday contended that to pay interest on the Ottoman debt in gold would amount to an annual expenditure of 35 per cent. of the debt, as the Turkish pound has depreciated to one-seventh of its par value, while the payment in French francs, worth about one-third of par, would be about the average between sterling and Turkish money.

Both the Allies and the Turks profess not to consider a rupture of the conference imminent, but each side realises the delicacy of the situation.

EMPLOYEES UPHELD.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(Canadian Press).—The challenge of the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations, made by the Charles Wolff Packing Company of Topeka, a subsidiary of the Allied Packers, was sustained by the Supreme Court yesterday on the ground that the business of the company was not clothed with such a public interest as to give the State the authority to regulate the wages paid by the company.

The court did not pass upon the broad question of the constitutionality of the Industrial Relations Court.

Chief Justice Taft, in delivering the opinion, placed emphasis upon the importance of the freedom of contract between employer and employees, and declared it could only be impaired by a Legislature when the business is affected with a public interest.

If you feel "out of sorts," sluggish and weary

If you feel "out of sorts," sluggish, weary and irritable; if you lack the spirit and sparkle and the ability to do your work with the same brightness and cheerfulness that you see in others, it is probably because your organs are not generating enough vital energy.

If your blood lacks the normal amount of the elements that are necessary in the production of vital energy, it is not possible for you to feel strong, industrious and sprightly; you are bound to tire quickly, feel downcast and find it difficult to take proper interest in your work or your favorite recreations.

If you are not feeling as "fit" as you would like to; if you are in need of reinvigoration, you should take Wincarnis for a week or so. You will probably be surprised and delighted at the promptness with which this general tonic and restorative will enrich your blood, strengthen your nervous system and relieve your feeling of general debility and exhaustion. Physicians are prescribing Wincarnis because of its great virtue as a tonic and reconstructive.

SUMMER DRESS NOVELTY

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 12 (United Press).—The white cotton blouse is again coming into it's own despite the popularity of the highly colored costume blouse. The white blouse of this season is invariably pleated, the pleats often forming the entire blouse.

Voile is one of the most effective materials for the pleated blouse and is often combined with Irish crocheted lace. For instance, a pleated voile blouse will have it's rounding neckline and very short sleeves finished with bands of Irish lace. Where the lace is such that it will not form the rounding neckline, the high, square neckline is used.

Organdy Over Silvercloth

Among the loveliest of the summer evening gowns are those of organdy made over silver slips. There is a pretty model that is extremely popular with the younger girls which I shall describe.

The frock is of lavender organdy made over a slender slip of silvercloth. The bodice of this frock is snug-fitting, with rounding neck and armholes outlines in narrow silver ribbon. The skirt is bouffant and is trimmed here and there with pastel colored flowers of silk. Silvercloth glistening through the organdy gives a very beautiful effect for the dance frock.

The Tut Hair-bob

The Parisians are introducing the Egyptian hairbob to correspond with the Egyptian frock. The hair is parted in the center and brushed close to the head and back of the ears permitting the ears to show. The bob is then curled upwards in bushy effect around the sides and back of the head. Egyptian earrings with dull colored stones and scarabs are worn on the ears and the lobes of the ears are usually touched up a bit with rouge.

Sleeveless Sweaters Popular

Sleeveless sweaters are more popular this season than the slip-ons. One sees them on the golf links worn over blouses with the front and back of the sweater often of contrasting design or material. Sometimes brush wool is used for the front with plain wool of the same shade forming the back. Again the front may be embroidered in contrasting colors or stitched in all-over design which gives a padded effect.

Necks are usually low and V-shaped, so that the frill of the blouse may show. Norfolk effect are very trim when made in sleeveless effect and worn with the tailored blouse.

Camouflaging the Bathing Suit

One-piece bathing suits are camouflaged by detachable drapery so that the beach censor imagines one is clad "within the law," when zip! off comes a little rubber shawl and Milady romp sinto the water in a snug-fitting one-piece suit.

ESCAPED CONVICT HAS BEEN APPOINTED JUDGE

BUENOS AIRES (By mail to United Press).—An escaped convict should not act as a magistrate—is the belief of the people of the Territory of the Pampa Central.

There is no Arsene Lupin story in the appointment of a man escaped from states prison to the post of judge of the township of Monte Nievas, an important agricultural community. The appointee did not falsify his documents, he had not changed his name, nor had he redeemed by a long, honest Valjean life his former more or less petty misdemeanors.

His presence was tolerated for reasons which the police authorities of the territory may have to explain, and the impunity with which he counted encouraged them to let him have the vacancy of judge. No doubt it was believed that he would have a very useful knowledge of the ways of miscreants.

Those humdrum persons who never were in jail felt that the new judge might not be quite so sympathetic towards their little prejudices, such as property rights, security of life and limb, and so forth. So all the civic associations have taken up the hue and cry against the convict-judge, and there is a chance that the governor of the state may reconsider.

NO LIBERAL CANDIDATE.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 12. — (Canadian Press).—Mrs. John MacGillivray, who was nominated Friday night by Kingston Liberals to oppose W. F. Nickle, K.C., Conservative, and who asked for a few days to consider the matter, announced yesterday that owing to private reasons she could not be a candidate.

HOT WAFFLES MAKING A BIG HIT IN JAPAN.

By CLARENCE DUBOSE

TOKYO (By mail to United Press).—American waffles and hot cakes are making a big hit in the Japanese capital—and you get all the maple syrup you want with 'em, too.

However, foreigners here are convinced that this maple syrrup generosity is too good to last. Before long one of the Japanese waffle kings will remember or be told about the niggardly measurements of syrup doled out in the automats in America, and then another joy will be taken out of life in the Orient.

The first waffles shop was opened in Tokyo recently. The Japanese flocked to it, as they always do to everything new. They are as keen for novelty as a Sunday crowd at Coney Island. They'll try anything once or twice, and come often and stay long if they like it. The waffle pioneer put up elaborate charts and signs and diagrams explaining all about this new, strange creature.

The Japanese, of course, knew nothing about waffles. But he told 'em. He told 'em all—and then some.

Well, the first week this bright boy was turning 'em away. The second week he built an annex to his place, and still couldn't accommodate the would-be waffle'ers. The third week he had half a dozen competitors—and now they've stolen his stuff all over town.

CANADIANS A LINK FOR PEACE OF WORLD

ELMIRA, N.Y., June 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Canadians as a people understand England by instinct and they also understand the people of the United States better than any other people. Canada in years to come can be, and I believe will be, a powerful link in a welded chain of English-speaking peoples who will preserve the peace and prosperity of the world," said Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, speaking here yesterday at the annual commencement of Elmira College for Women.

CENSORSHIP IN BULGARIA.

LONDON, June 12. — (Canadian Press).—There is no independent confirmation of the report that former Premier Stamboulisky of Bulgaria is besieged in his native village of Slavovitza, nor any reliable news of his whereabouts or his fate. Sofia was silent yesterday, no despatches being received of a late date from that city, and it is inferred that a censorship is active.

Calvin Gray occupies the Governor's suite in the Ajax, the most expensive hotel in Dallas. He introduces himself to the hotel manager, to the president of the largest bank and to the mayor of Dallas. The leading newspaper gives a writeup to Calvin Gray, "globe trotter, soldier of fortune and financier." To the hotel manager Gray admits that he is Colonel Calvin Gray. In the hotel dining room Gray meets an old friend, who is vice president of the biggest jewelry house in Dallas. Gray offers to go to Ranger and try to sell some valuable diamonds to Gus Briskow, who has struck oil.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

"Excellent! There no longer is any question about my going," Gray announced, firmly "I am bored; I am stale; a thrill, of whatever sort, would stir my blood."

"Don't be silly. How could I pay you if you did go?"

"Um-m!" This idea, it seemed had not occurred to Mr. Gray. It was plain that money meant nothing to him.

"You see? We couldn't permit—"

"I have it. We'll divorce friendship and sentiment entirely from the discussion and reduce it to a strictly business basis. You shall ease your conscience by paying my traveling expenses. The emotional suspense that I undergo shall be my reward. I'll take my commission in thrills."

This offer evoked a light laugh tram Gray's guest. "You'd get enough of 'em," he asserted. "I'll advance a mild one, on account, at this moment. Notice the couple dining at the third table to your left." Gray lifted his eyes. "What do you see?"

"A rather well-dressed, hard-faced man and a decidedly attractive woman—brunette. There's a suggestion of repressed widowhood about her. It's the gown, probably. I am not yet in my dotage, and I had seen her before I saw you."

"She's living here. I don't know much about her, but the man goes by the name of Mellow."

"No thrill yet."

"He's been hanging about our store for the past month, making a few purchases and getting acquainted with some of the clerks. Wherever I go, lately, there he is. I'll wager if I took tonight's train for Ranger, he'd be on it."

Calvin Gray turned now and openly stared at the object of Coverly's suspicions. There was an alert interest in his eyes. "You've cinched the matter with me," he declared, after a moment. "Get out your diamonds tomorrow; I'm going to take the night train to Ranger."

Later that evening, after his guest had gone, Gray took occasion deliberately to put himself in Mellow's way and to get into conversation with him. For the better part of an hour the two men smoked and talked, and had Coverly overheard their conversation his blood would have chilled and he would have prematurely aged, for his distinguished host, Calvin Gray, the worldly-wise, suave man of affairs, actually permitted himself to be pumped like a farmer's son.

Once Gray was in his rooms, however, his manner changed, and into his eyes there came a triumphant glitter. Hastily he rummaged through one of his bags, and from a collection of trinkets, souvenirs, and the like he selected an object which he examined carefully, then took into the bathroom for further experiment.

CHAPTER III

Bob Parker Comes Home

OLD Tom Parker was a "type." He was one of a small class of men at one time common to the west, but now rapidly disappearing. A turbulent lifetime spent in administering the law in a lawless region had stamped him with the characteristics of a frontier officer.

Among the late comers to Wichita Falls, where he lived, Tom was known as a quiet-spoken, emotionless old fellow with an honorable past. It was not generally known that he was a kind and indulgent father and had a daughter whom he worshiped with blind adulation. This ignorance was not strange, for Miss Barbara Parker had been away at college for four years now, and during that time she had not once returned home.

There was a perfectly good reason for this protracted separation of father and daughter; since Old Tom was no longer on pay, it took all he could rake and scrape to meet her bills, and railroad fares are high.

Tom carried on a nominal fire-insurance business, but as a matter of fact the tiny two-roomed frame structure that bore his painted sign was nothing more or less than a loafing place for him and his rheumatic friends.

The time came, however, when he was forced to shed his habit of slothfulness as completely as a snake sheds its skin, and that was during the week before "Bob's" arrival. Then, indeed, he swept and he dusted, he mopped and he polished, he rubbed and he scrubbed, trying his best to put the house in order.

On the day set for Bob's arrival Tom had his dishes washed and his things in order long ere the town was awake. Then he went down to the office and waited—with the jumps. Repeatedly he consulted his heavy gold watch, engraved: "With the admiration and gratitude of the citizens of Burlingame. November fifth, 1892." It was still two hours of train time when he locked up and limped off toward the station, but—it was well to be there early.

Of course he met Judge Halloran on the street— he always did—and of course the judge asked when "Bob" was coming home. The judge always did that, too. Old Tom had lied diligently to the judge every day for a month now, for he had no intention of sharing this day of days with a tiresome old pest, and now he again made an evasive answer.

It was only upon occasions like this meeting that "Bob" kissed her father, for she had been reared as a boy and taught to shun emotional display.

"Oh, daddy, it has been a long time!" Those were the first words either of them had spoken.

Barbara was anything but boyish to look at; quite the opposite, in fact. She was delightfully feminine from the crown of her smart little traveling hat to her dainty French heels, and although her suit was not expensive, it was worn with an air and was perhaps as fetching as any that had ever come to Wichita Falls.

"Well, son, there's a boom on and the town has grown some; but I guess things are about the same as when you left 'em." Tom spoke with pride and satisfaction as he paid the driver, took Barbara's suitcase, and opened the gate for her.

The girl turned from her first long, appraising gaze at the modest home. No change, indeed! The paint on the house was peeling, gutters had rusted out, some of the porch flooring had rotted through, the yard was an unkempt tangle of matted grass and weeds and neglected shrubbery.

"It hasn't changed a mite," she said, bravely.

A moment later she paused upon the threshold, tense, thrilled, apparently speechless. This time it was more difficult to counterfeit an exclamation of joy.

"Why, everything is right where it belongs! How wonderfully you've kept house! You must have a perfect jewel of a girl, dad!"

"I let Aunt Lizzie go 'bout three years back," Tom explained. "She got—shiftless and I been sort of batching it since. Clean, though, ain't it?"

Barbara turned; blindly she walked to the center table and buried her face in a bouquet of wild flowers garnered from the yard. She held it there for a moment before she spoke. "You—didn't even forget that I love blue-bonnets, did you, dad?"

"Bob's" room was saved for the last, and Old Tom stood back, glowing at her delight. He could not refrain from showing her his blackened thumb-nail—the price of his carpentry—for he hoped she'd kiss it. And she did.

Not until she had "shooed" him out and sent him downstairs, did she give way to those emotions she had been fighting this long time; then her face grew white and tragic. "Oh, daddy, daddy!" she whispered. "What have I done to you?"

Tom Parker had raised his girl like a son, and like a son she took hold of things, but with a daughter's tact. Her intuition told her much, but she did not arrive at a full appreciation of the family affairs until she had the house running and went down to put his office in order. Then, indeed, she learned at what cost had come those four expensive years in the East, and the truth left her limp.

Tom was mortgaged to the hilt, his royalties were pledged; a crow could not pick a living out of his insurance business.

Something had to be done, and quickly; a new hand was needed to mend the family fortunes. Barbara determined to lend that hand.

After a fortnight of careful consideration she decided to enter the oil business and deal in leases.

"We'll be partners, dad. You run the insurance and I'll be the lease hound."

"Say—" Tom's eye brightened. "I'll put a desk right alongside of mine—a little feller, just your size—and a nice lounge in the back room, where you can lay down when you're tired. You been away so long it seems like I can't have you close enough." Another thought presented itself, and he manifested sudden excitement. "I tell you! I'll get a new sign painted, too! 'Tom and Bob Parker. Real Estate and Insurance, Oil Prop'ties and Leases.' Gosh! It's a great idea, son!"

CHAPTER IV

In Ranger Town

A YEAR before this story opens the town of Ranger, Texas, consisted of a weatherbeaten, run-down railroad station, a blacksmith shop, and a hitching rail, town enough, incidentally, for the limited number of people and the scanty amount of merchandise that passed through. The few farms and ranches round about were scattered widely, and life thereon was a grim struggle against heartbreak, by reason of the gaunt, gray, ever-present specter of the drought.

Geologists had claimed for some time that there must be coal in these north Texas counties, a contention perhaps based upon a comfortable belief in the law of compensation.

ANTI-UNIONISTS

Jocular Greetings.

The verdict of the Presbyterian Assembly on Church union caused general satisfaction at the Toronto Methodist Conference to-day.

"You fellows are beginning to look like Presbyterians already," was the jocular greeting of one pastor to a group of ministers, and all wore smiles. "This looks like getting somewhere," said Rev. T. W. Neil, secretary of the Methodist Social Union. It means that the divisions and duplications that we have been deploring will largely cease to exist. It means also that we will be able to solve our problems of town work and suburban extension. The history of the fight for Church union which ended in victory for its advocates at Port Arthur last night extended over a period of twenty years. It joins the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational Churches into a United Church of Canada. Numerically, the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches are two of the three strongest churches of the Dominion, the other being the Church of England.

Proposals for union were accepted without any serious opposition by the Methodists and Congregationalists, but a long and determined struggle marked its progress in the ranks of the Presbyterians. Twice it was sent by the General Assembly to its people. In 1911 the vote stood 113,000 for union and 50,000 against, and in the following year it was decided to postpone action until after the war. The question was brought forward by the Assembly in 1921, and it once more went on record favoring amalgamation, although there was a strong influential and active element in opposition.

OVER 300 NAMES ADDED TO LISTS

More Than 400 Applied For the Privilege of Franchise.

More than three hundred names were added to the voters' lists of the City of eterboro at the sittings of the Courts of Revision which ended on Saturday night.

With three candidates in the field, the people of Peterboro have begun to wake up to the fact that an election of considerable importance is just off the stage. A few awoke early enough last week to place their names on the lists.

The registrations in the wards were: North 65; East 37; Central 52, West 96;; and South 80.

More than 400 made application to have their names added, but 100 of these either neglected to appear at the Court of Revision or failed to establish their claims to be included in the lists.

British Interests Now Control Bagdad Railway

LONDON, June 12 (Associated Press) —The recent sale to British financiers of the Anatolian section of the Bagdad Railway and its branches to Angora and Konia is one of the biggest commercial deals in recent years.

The syndicate headed by Baron Rothschil, Baron Schroder, Baring and Company and Llodys Bank which purchased the holdings from the Bank des Chemins des Lignes Orientaux will immediately advance $25,000,000 to start the rebuilding of the lines. Under the agreement with the bank the British promoters must not only supply the capital to rebuild a great part of the 900 miles of the Antolia Railway destroyed by the Greek retreat, but also must build more than 1,200 miles of new lines required by its original concession, notably the Berlin to Bagdad line.

The total investment will be much more than $25,000,000. In British circles the concessions granted by the Angora Government to Colby M. Chester, a retired American Rear-Admiral, are characterized as a fanciful dream in comparison with the acquisition of the British promoters.

COUNTY COURT'S BRIEF SESSION

Applications for Naturalization Were Features of June Sittings This Afternoon.

Frank Christopher, a laborer living on Parnell street, and Abraham Aboud, a drygoods merchant living in Havelock, will be recommended by Judge Huycke for admittance to full Canadian citizenship. The application of George Salome, also of Havelock, was laid over for further information by Judge Huycke at the sessions of the County Court this afternoon.

Mr. Christopher was born in Italy. Both here and in his native land he had never been in trouble with the police. Mr. R. C. Braund testified he had known Mr. Christopher for many years and had found him to be honest, industrious and law-abiding.

Abraham Aboud started life in Syria, hard by Jerusalem. He came to Canada in 1901, and lived "three hours in Quebec." Before moving to Havelock in 1907 he had spent the intervening years in Brockville, Madoc and Norwood. He was a member of the Greek Catholic or Eastern Church before coming to this country and in Havelock attends the Roman Catholic Church. Ex-Reeve William Matheson gave evidence that Aboud was a good citizen, had built up a business in Havelock, and was generally respected

Aboud was quite sure that he knew something about Canadian institutions but he was unable to name the Premier of Canada when asked by Mr J. R. Corkery, who appeared for both Christopher and Aboud. One fact he was possessed of was that "Canada is a good country."

Judge Huycke asked him whether he was a relative of the soldier from Havelock who was killed in the war. Aboud said he was a cousin, and his brother in Madoc also enlisted in Peterbo.

"There's good stuff in the family somewhere," His Honour remarked. "He doesn't seem to know anything about our government. That is the one weakness in his case, and it is a great weakness. It is necessary not only that he should be a worthy citzen but also an intelligent citizen."

Aboud is unable to read and write, but he understands figures, and can write them and his own name. Judge Huycke decided that he would endorse Aboud's application.

During the war George Salome was attending to his business, he told Judge Huycke, and for the present, at any rate, Salome's petition for naturalization is deferred.

The Grand and Petit jurors were dismissed shortly after the opening of court, when His Honour stated that there were no cases on the docket. The Grand Jurors accepted the option of postponing until the next court the inspection of public institutions, and dispersed with the main body of jurors.

ADVENTURERS IN SOUTH SEAS

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa, June 12 (Associated Press). The American barkentine Narwhal, manned by a company of "gentlemen adventurers" seeking stirring life and motion picture films in the South Seas, recently arrived at Apia, British Samoa. The party will proceed for New Caledonia, the Ellice Islands, the New Hebrides, the Solomon Islands, New Guinea and Guam.

WASHING MEAT.

Never wash meat more than is necessary, particularly chicken or game, because it has a tendency to destroy the natural flavor.

EXCRUCIATING PAINS, CRAMPS

Entirely Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Eberts, Ont. — "I started with cramps and bearing-down pains at the age of eleven years, and I would get so nervous I could hardly stay in bed, and I had such pains that I would scream, and my mother would call the doctor to give me something to take. At eighteen I married, and I have four healthy children, but I still have pains in my right side. I am a farmer's wife with more work than I am able to do. I have taken three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel that it is helping me every day. My sister-in-law, who has been taking your medicine for some time and uses your Sanative Wash, told me about it and I recommend it now, as I have received great relief from it."—Mrs. NELSON YOTT, R. R. 1, Eberts, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for ailments common to women. It has been used for such troubles for nearly fifty years, and thousands of women have found relief as did Mrs. Yott, by taking this splendid medicine.

If you are suffering from irregularity, painful times, nervousness, headache, backache or melancholia, you should at once begin to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is excellent to strengthen the system and help to perform its functions with ease and regularity. C

MAKE FIRST SHIPMENT OF DUSTLESS SWEEPERS

On Monday a shipment of three Dustless Sweepers from the plant of the Dustless Sweeper Company, the first shipment after some years of investigation and engineering in producing a perfect dry street cleaner, presages a period of activitiy for this organization that from inquiries and orders received means an unusual volume of business. The various devices controlled by the company have recently been gone into by prominent engineers in various lines of activity and the impressions created have been most favourable.

This is an industry which any city might be proud of and is the result of strenuous efforts put forth by men who do things.

The creating of an industry of this kind requires a vast amount of determination and business acumen and the obstacles to be overcome in a project of this kind requires the most careful and cleanest of business methods.

Congratulations are being received from many who have followed the activities of the company and who wish them the success the promoters deserve.

REG. TURNER'S RICE LAKE FISH STORY

Proving That Something is Always Taking the Fun Out of Life.

"We can't get our dock in until we get the fish out" is the first and undoubtedly the shortest and most pointed fish story of the season. Reg Turner is its author. Evidently it as inspired by experiences at Rice Lake where Mr. Turner recently bought a fine cottage south of Keene He has been fursing it up with flower beds and paint and other Turner touches including the dock; and to facilitate this work he has requested the help of his neighbours, as soon as the fishing season opens, in order that he may put in the pier and piles for the dock. "Andy Gump and his handsome friends Old Timer will have to go some to beat that one" remarked Mr. Turner.

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines — New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

NEW YORK, June 12 (Special to The Examiner). — Nothing happened over night to force the stock market out of the narrow range in which active stocks fluctuated in the previous session. Some attention at the opening was attracted by developments in the reparation situation, but the general disposition of the market appeared to await further enlightening regarding the proposed negotiations. Specialties like American Ice and Famous Players scored good gains in the early dealings, but the price changes in the last also were without significance.

Special strengths in a number of individual stocks featured the first hour. Optimism over the outlook for a dividend increase at to-morrow's directors' meeting was behind the buying of New York Central, while expanding earnings furnished the impulse for the strength in Associated Dry Goods, and similar specialties. Wabash Preferred also was active around the business price on the current move reflecting the road's current prosperity. Based on the normal season at variation gross is running at the rate of $69,000,000 a year against the final figures of $75,662,000 in 1922. If normal seasonal variation were applied to the net for four months to 1st May, an estimate of $12.00 a share would be obtained for Class A Preferred, but such a showing is probably too optimistic. However, a reduction of each 1 per cent. of the operation ratio would mean an increase in the net of around $10.00 a share for this stock....Outside of equipment obligations Wabash has no maturities gations Wabash has no maturities to meet prior to 1939 except a subsidiary issue of $100,000. The opening of New York Central was up 5-8 from yesterday's close at 10. 1-2. U. S. Steel continued to sell off on the basis of unfavourable unfilled tonnage gossip.

Studebaker was at 111 5-8 off 1-2. Westinghouse 57 7-8 off 1-8, Pere Marquette 46 3-4 up 1-4, Pan-American Petroleum 74 1-4 off 1-4, General Electric 118 1-2 off 1-2, Baldwin 132 up 3-8, California Petroleum 109 3-4 up 1-2, C. ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, gas, heartburn nine times in ten by chronic "acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis accompanied by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach wth pepsin or artificial digestents that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better that Bisurated Magensia to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. It soaks up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge or blotting paper might and your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

SHANGHAI BUILDING SLUMPS

SHANGHAI, June 12 (Associated Press).—That Shanghai, despite hard times, continues to grow is to be gathered from the report that in 1922 new buildings to a value of 15,926,000 taels were erected. This marks a falling off, however, from the total of the preceding year of approximately five million taels. The report issued by the Commissioner of Public Works, says 5,457 new structors were erected of which 4,267 were Chinese houses and 84 building for foreigners.

History records that Sir Walter Raleigh once paid 600 pounds sterling for a pair of shoes, the equivalent of about $30,000 to-day.

WEEK-END GARDENS BOON TO STOCKHOLM

STOCKHOLM, June 12 (Associated Press).—The regular week-end exodus of 7,000 industrial workers armed with garden tools is one of the unique signs of spring now appearing in the Swedish capital. Every one of these amateur gardeners has his own "colony lot" in the large co-operative garden colonies situated in what appears to be country, though actually within the city limits. Here he grows his own flowers and vegetables, and finds a retreat from the factories and city streets.

The 7,000 colonists are grouped into fifty different garden sections in the outskirts of the city, and the administrative work is in the hands of co-operative garden societies. The plots of ground worked by individuals vary in size from 1,500 to 5,500 square feet and the rentals range from $2.50 to $15.00 for the season. Greens, vegetables, strawberries, and various other garden products are raised, enough to supply the worker's own table and to yield him a small profit beside.

FORMER GERMAN PRINCE STIRS IRE OF SOCIALISTS

BERLIN, June 10. — (Associated Press).—Prince Eitel Friedrich, the second son of ex-Emperor or Wilhelm II. of Germany, has recently created a number of new Knights of Honor in the Order of St. John, of which he is supreme commander for Brandenburg province, and has thereby created as well the usual annual uproar among the socialists.

There are several angles about this yearly action of the prince that the German radicals do not like, although they do not express any fundamental objections to the original organization itself, which dates back to the sixteenth-century days of Gregory the Great in Jerusalem.

In the first place, with the Hohenzollerns in the discard, the socialists disapprove of Eitel's action in still issuing high-toned parchment proclamations creating Knights of St. John which pretentiously start off with: "We, Wilhelm Eitel Friedrich Christian Karl, Prince of Prussia by the Grace of God," etc.

Secondly, the socialists regard "as monarchistic masquerading," the annual ceremony of knighting, with its flowing robes and plume-crested hats.

Yet capping the climax in the radicals' eyes is the fact that the new knights include not only officers of the old monarchial army but even members of republican Germany's new Reichswehr and Security police. Vorwaerts, the socialists' official newspaper, declares Eitel has created at least 233 knights this year, 36 of whom belong to the new army and navy.

The Order of St. John is said to be continuing its extensive charitable activities throughout Germany. Before the war it had established nearly half a hundred hospitals in this country besides two abroad.

LONELY ISLAND RESIDENTS LOOK ASKANCE AT RADIO

ST. KILDA, Outer Hebrides, June 12.—(Associated Press).—Although cut off from civilization since last August, for no steamer is able to fight its way through the storm and fog during the autumn and winter months, the 75 lonely inhabitants of this island look askance at the telegraph and will not use the wireless station which was built here during the war by the British.

Recently the West Highland steamer Hebrides sailed from the island of Lewis, the largest and most northerly of the Hebrides group, and thus broke St. Kilda's nine months' solitude by taking to it mails, provisions and other necessaries.

During their isolated months the islanders send their letters to Lewis in a novel and remarkable way. They put them in a tin canister in sheepskin buoys and launch them when there is a gale of northwest wind. Sometimes the buoys get blow out of their course and take the letters thousands of miles, but very often they cross the 60 miles stretch of sea to Lewis island safely, and are then posted from that place.

BOILS

Made Him Sick and Miserable

Mr. Richard Zaienzoski, McLean, Sask., writes:—"I had been suffering continuously, with boils, for three years, and during that time I tried many different remedies without any success whatever. In spite of all my efforts I was compelled to go to the hospital. This was in the Fall of the year, and right in the busiest time of the season. Upon my return home it just took about two weeks until my neck and arms were again occupied by the boils which made me feel very sick and miserable.

One day one of my friends advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after I had used less than two bottles I was very much surprised at the result.

It is now over two years since I got in touch with B.B.B., and I have had no bother with boils since. I will recommend it to all persons suffering from any defect in the blood."

Westclox Won An Easy Game at Oval.

The Examiner Baseball team got another walloping when it stacked up against the Westclox nine in a Mercantile League game at the Oval last evening. The final score was 17 to 3 and the losers were lucky to get the three.

Austin started on the mound for the Westclox and was later replaced by DeGraw. Both did good work and held the Printers well in hand. Taylor did most of the hurling for the Examiner and while he was hit freely his support fell down on him badly. He was relieved in the final innings by Scates.

The only fielding features of the game were two double plays, the first on the part of the Westclox team, the play being Lundy to Barrie to DeGraw. The Examiner furnished the other Long grabbing a hot liner and doubling Yelland off second.

The players were:

DEFENSIVE MISPLAYS COST PETES GAME AT BELLEVILLE MONDAY

TEAMS TIED AGAIN.

Although the Petes scored six and earned five runs off the delivery of Johnny Oulette in yesterday's Central Ontario League game at Belleville the half dozen counters were not enough to make up for the soft runs they handed the Grand Trunks and Belleville won by 10 to 6 thus climbing back alongside the Solomon crew on the top rung on the Big Four ladder. Belleville showed their best fielding of the season behind Heckman and that is the story of the game in a nutshell.

It was a tough assignment for Heckman sending him back against Belleville with only a clear day's rest and naturally he did not have as much stuff as on Saturday but he would have turned the trick handily with any defensive help from his teammates. Not one of Belleville's ten runs was earned; that is the counters were either scored directly on errors or were made after chances to retire the side had been lost. The Petes had seven boots and everyone of the errors hurt worse than a cinder in the eye, seven of Belleville's fourteen hits coming after misplays had prevented the enemy from being retired. Ansaldo had a tough day at short, the rough diamond throwing him off his stride completely.

Oulette will not win a luckier game this season. The ex-Lindsay heavier after holding the Petes hitless for three frames was in trouble all the way afterwards. The Solomon crew collected ten hits off him in the last six innings and in addition his control was very shaky, no fewer than seven walks being parcelled out to the Petes while he hit a couple of men for good measure. His teammates gave him fine support, however, and the five earned runs nicked off his delivery were more than offset by the expensive misplays of the visitors. It is a tradition that the Peterboro crew never play good ball in Belleville and yesterday's game was no exception to their usual showing there.

Belleville turned in some snappy fielding with Meagher the second baseman having the feature play when he dashed into right field and gathered in Ansaldo's near Texas Leaguer taking the ball over his shoulder while going at top speed. In the same inning Weir grabbed a line drive from Comolli's bat that started like a sure fire hit and would have been had the shortstop been in his usual position. The two plays sandwiched a double by Johnston so that the breaks sure went to Oulette in this frame.

Umpire Boundy like the Petes had an off day and the Solomon outfit suffered the most. They were particularly "het up" over the strike called on Ansaldo when the shortstop had been driven back out of the batters' box by a ball close to his head and Oulette threw another over before he could get back, and over the decision at the plate in the ninth.

The Petes went out in order in the first. Ansaldo rolled to Meagher, Johnston fouled to Williams and Weir's peg beat Swanston to first.

Belleville got two cheap ones. Ross popped to Ansaldo and Weir fanned. W. Mills hit to Ansaldo and went to second on the shortstop's high throw. H. Mills singled through short scoring his brother. Meagher singled to right, H. Mills going to third. Collins' throw beat him there but Helson fumbled the toss and the runner was safe. Williams hit over second for a single scoring Harry Mills. Meagher also came home but was called out for not touching third.

The Trunks did no better, Casey rolling to Comolli while Hagerman and Oulette struck out.

In the Petes' third, Helson struck out. Collins was walked and Legon aws hit. Ansaldo rolled to Meagher advancing the runners but Johnston was called out on strikes.

For Belleville Ross led off with a single over second and advanced on Weir's sacrifice, Comolli making the putout unassisted. Ansaldo lost W. Mills" roller and the batter was safe, Ross going to third. He scored a moment later when Ansaldo was throwing out Harry Mills. Meagher grounded out to Comolli.

Swanston flied to Hagerman to start the Petes' fourth. Comolli was hit. Heckman was called out on strikes. Wolfe singled past second sending Comolli to third. On an attempted double steal Comolli was out at the plate on Meagher's quick return of Mills' short thorw.

For Belleville Williams fanned, Casey singled. Hagerman rolled to Johnston for a double play the second baseman tagging Casey and throwing the batter out at first.

The Petes tied the score in the fifth. Helson started the rally by singling off Williams glove and Collins hit safely to centre for a base. Legon forced Helson at third on a roller to Weir but Ansaldo singled over second scoring Collins. On Johnston's rap to Weir Legon scored while the batter was being thrown out. Then Williams mussed up Swanston's tap and Ansaldo carried the tieing run over. Comolli was called out on strikes.

Belleville took the lead in their half and again the counter was unearned Oulette singled to centre to start with and went to second on a wild pitch, after Ross had bunted a fly to Helson in trying to sacrifice. Then Weir's roller got away from Ansaldo and Oulette crossed the plate. W. Mills sacrificed Weir to second but H. Mills was thrown out by Heckman.

The Petes lost a good chance to tie it up again in the sixth. Heckman walked to begin with and Wolfe singled over third. Helson bunted a foul to W. Mills, Collins field to Ross and Legon's high foul was captured by Williams.

Two more soft runs for Belleville in their half. Johnston made a nice grab of Meagher's fast roller. Williams singled to centre and Casey doubled to left centre sending Williams to third. When Hagerman's rap was fumbled by Ansaldo Williams registered. On an attempted double steal Swanston's throw nipped Hagerman at second but Casey scored when Swanston dropped Johnston's accurate return peg. Oulette walked but Helson made a fine catch of Ross's foul.

A double by Johnston was wasted in the Petes seventh. Meagher cut Ansaldo out of a hit by a beautiful running catch of his fly to short right. Johnston then doubled to right, Williams tossed out Swanston and Comolli's rifle shot drive was right into Weir's hands.

Weir started the Belleville end of the seventh with a double over third. W. Mills hit to Heckman and Weir was trapped off second. H. Mills singled to centre, Legon however grabbed Meagher's fly to left and Williams hoisted to Johnston.

Oulette wobbled badly in the eighth and for a while it looked as if the Petes were going to pull the game out of the fire. After Heckman had been retired on strikes, Wolfe walked and Helson singled to left. The pair pulled off a double steal. Collins walked filling the bases and when Legon also drew a pass Wolfe strolled in with a run. Ansaldo was called out on strikes, the second one being thrown over when the Petes shortstop had fallen back out of the box to dodge a bean ball. Oulette shot the ball over before he could get back and Umpire Boundy let him get away with it. The decision helped to steady the wavering Belleville pitcher. Johnston rolled to Meagher for the third out.

Belleville scored four runs after the side should have been retired in their half. Casey fanned and Hagerman flied to Wolfe. When Oulette cracked one to Johnston the inning should have been over but the second baseman fumbled long enough to lose the runner. Ross walked. Heckman tried to sneak one over on Weir but the shortstop met the groover on the nose for a triple to left scoring Oulette and Ross. W. Mills' single to right scored Weir. Harry Mills single to center sending his brother to third and when Meagher hit to left for a base W. Mills dented the home plate. Williams' fly to Ansaldo stopped the fireworks.

The Petes had a kick left yet. After Swanston had fanned, Comolli and Heckman walked and Wolfe singled to third filling the bases. Collins' single to left scored Comolli. Manager Solomon batting for Legon singled over third scoring Heckman but Wolfe was called out at the plate when he tried to score from second. It was a bad decision for the play was not even close at the plate.

LACROSSE

This evening is a blank in the baseball programme, and for that reason a full turnout of lacrosse players at the Sacred Heart church grounds has been requested by the President. George Mein and Jack MacDonald have promised to be out and it is expected that Bert Todd will also be on hand. Séveral matters of importance are to be discussed, and this is given as an additional urge for a full attendance.

MADE HOLE IN ONE.

GANANOQUE, June 12 (Canadian Press). — Jack Hargraft, of the Ontario Steel Products office staff, holds the honour of making the first hole in one on the Gananoque Golf Links. He accomplished the feat in a foursome yesterday with L. S. Barr, captain of the team, J. B. Sampson, and George Mead.

Hargraft made short seventh, 155 yards, in one stroke with an iron. The green is on top of a little knoll.

BRAID LEADS ALL IN QUALIFYING ROUND

Hazen, Last Year's Champion, Finished in 137th Place — Eight British Golfers in the Lead.

TROON, Scotland, June 12 (Canadian Press). — Age, personal and national, put youth behind yesterday in the first half of the struggle of the 222 golfers to qualify for participation in the British open championship.

In the first instance the old golfers of Great Britain led the younger generation as represented by the United States invaders, and in the second instance the golfers of old England, for a day at least, had the experience of doing better on the links than their rivals from Cousin America.

Old Jim Braid, who began winning his string of five open championships 22 years ago, led the field that swung woods and irons under a glaring sun and blustering sea breezes yesterday.

His score of 72 was considerably under that of the young Hagen, who drank his first quaff from the championship contest only a year ago.

Hagen took 82 yesterday, and unless he does much better to-day, is likely to find himself among the spectators when the championship gets under way, as only 80 players plus those, if any, who tie for the eighth place can appear in the grand finals.

Yesterday an even hundred players slipped in cards of 79 or under, while altogether 136 men did better than Hagen. The best any of the Yankees could do was 75, and this was accomplished by Gene Sarazen, United States open champion, and MacDonald Smith, of California. Between them and the leader stood the names of eight British golfers.

Braid was only one of the many stoop-shouldered old war horses of the British fairways who did well. Harry Vardon, whose first championship came in 1916, had a 76, and so did J. H. Taylor, who entered the role of champion, 29 years ago.

Do you know Baseball?

by Billy Evans

Questions

ONE—Why isn't the batsman out when a catcher fails to hold a third strike with first base occupied and two are already out?

TWO—Last bound of a batted ball carri directly over the third bag in the air. It next strikes the ground in foul territory. Is it fair or foul?

THREE—How can base runners advance on an infield fly?

FOUR—How does the umpire determine when a fly ball is an infield or outfield fly?

FIVE—Can base runners advance on a hit by an improper batter, same being discovered in time, the umpire ruling out the proper batsman?

Answers

ONE—The rule causing the batsman to be automatically out with first base occupied and less than two out, was made to prevent the catcher purposely dropping the ball and trying for a double play. Theer is no chance for such a play with two out; hence he must hold the ball.

TWO—It is a fair ball, having passed over a portion of the base. It matters not that it later hit in foul territory.

THREE—Base runners can advance on an infield fly as on any other fly ball that is caught or dropped.

FIVE—Base runners cannot advance on any act of an improper batsman that is discovered and the proper batsman declared out. They must return to their original base.

EXHIBITION GAME.

COBOURG LOST TO KINGSTON

Strong Comeback in Fifth Innings by Limestone City Nine Gave Them Victory by 10-6.

KINGSTON, June 12.—(Special.)—After being led by five to four in the fifth inning of the game with Cobourg here last night, Kingston made a strong come-back and defeated Cobourg by the score of 10-6 before several thousand fans. The game was one of the best played here this season, there being an absence of general squabbling, although one or two minor disputes occurred. The locals all played wall and a couple of changes were made, Teepell going to left field where he made a beautiful catch of Skitch's drive in the fifth and Rice doing the catching from the third innings on owing to the injury to his hand sustained by Johnnie Evans, the regular backstop. The locals hit the ball hard and touched Derry up for fourteen hits. They hit just when they needed them and their fielding was better than it has been this season.

For the locals Bill Evans at short played a great game and despite the fact that he suffered two errors he more than made up for this by some brilliant work. Teepell and Rice were the other bright lights. For Cobourg, J. Kenny and Skitch were the stars though Derry at times pitched great ball.

Failed to Register

Kingston failed to register in the first inning but in the second, they staged a rally and secured four. Daley was the first man up and he got a hit and passed on to second on Butler's error. Gallagher was thrown at first and Bill Evans hit safely scoring Daley.

Cherry drew a walk and Nicholson's hit scored W. Evans. J. Evans walked Teepell got a hit and Cherry went home. Batstone reached first on Thompson's error and Nicholson raced for home. Somerville forced J. Evans at second and Deley finished the inning by striking out.

In the sixth four more were added when Teepell, Batstone, Somerville and Daley crossed the plate. Derry was hit for five this inning. In the eighth Batstone and Somerville scored.

Cobourg scored twice in the second inning after two were out. Drennan arrived at first on Daley's error, and he and Jackson later crossed the plate.

Higginbotham and Drennan added one each in the third, and Drennan added one in the fifth and Thompson in the sixth.

In the eighth inning Cobourg was retired on three pitched balls, Kenny grounding to Daley, Higginbotham sending a liner to W. Evans, and Butler being thrown from Batstone to Daley.

EASY WIN FOR THE LAKEVIEWS

Score Eighteen Runs and Hold Thistles Scoreless in Junior Series.

Good battery work and long-distance hitting gave Lakeviews an easy victory in a Junior City League game at King Edward School grounds last evening, the count reading 18 to 0.

Whitehouse, supported by Lam Collins behind the bat, fanned ten, passed one, and hit three batsmen, Batley the Thistles' shortstop having to retire from the game after stopping one of the southpaw's speedy shoots.

Conners pitching for Thistles, was hit hard and freely, and he received only indifferent support. The Lakeviews hammered out twenty safeties, including a homer by "Red' Whitlow. L. LeBarr and Collins each had a triple, and Collins also slammed out a pair of doubles and as many singles.

Maudsley in middle field for Thistles did the only extra base swatting for his team, when he dropped the ball over the fence for two bases in the fourth.

Lakeviews handled their fielding chances in good style, and Collins threw well to the bags. Doug. Moore started two double plays that were completed by L. LeBarr at first.

Big Game Thursday.

What the fans expect will be one of the big games of the series, is billed for Thursday evening at Riverside Park when the Lakeviews meet the Adanacs. The two clubs fought it out for the Junior championship last season and Adanacs won the honors. Lakeview supporters claim their favorites are an improvement over last season and with Whitehouse going strong, will win the series. Thursday's contest has all the earmarks of a game that will be well worth a jaunt to the ball park.

LAW WILL GUARD THE FIGHT TOWN

Every Effort Will Be Made to Keep Down the Crook Element.

By Bill Breitenstien.

SHELBY, Mont., June 12.—Ye pickpockets and glib-tongued "con" men!

Here's a little tip.

Better steer clear of Shelby's Fourth of July celebration.

For the law, with bracelets newly oiled, is waiting for you.

Chief of Police Shelton Alsop and Sheriff H. E. Benjamin have your number. So watch your step!

Detachments of the Montana National Guard, specially deputized members of the American Legion, Pinkerton and Burns' operatives, detectives from the big cities and a retinue of railroad special agents are going to help them uphold the law.

Lieutenant Ray Gaunt, indentification officer for the Great Falls police department, will be on the job with a slough of Bertillon records.

And federal and state prohibition officers and deputy United States marshals will keep their eyes peeled for purveyors of pre-Volsteadian beverages.

"These national guards will give a military aspect, while the legion men will serve mainly in guarding and patrolling capacities. The railroad detectives and the men from other cities will aid us in spotting undesirables."

"Montana crowds," he says, "always are well behaved. There will be more gentlemen per square foot than you ever saw at a fight. If they're any rough-necks around, they'll not be Montanans."

THREE COLLEGE STARS.

NEW YORK, June 12.— (Canadian Press.)—The New York Yankees yesterday announced the acquisition of three college stars, Mike Gazella, captain and shortstop of Lafayette; Lou Gehrig, pitcher and first baseman of Columbia, and Ed. Vanderbeck, catcher, of Fordham. They will report to Manager Huggins as soon as the college season ends.

Criqui Will Make Exhibition Tour.

NEW YORK, June 12.—(Canadian Press)—Eugene Criqui, of France, new world's featherweight boxing champion, will give ring exhibitions in four Canadian and four United States cities during the next few weeks, his manager Robert Eudeline, announced yesterday.

Criqui, who won the 128-pound title by knocking out the veteran Johnny Kilbane recently, will start his tour at Fall River, Mass., June 15. He will appear in Philadelphia, June 18; Portland, Maine, June 20, and Syracuse, N.Y., June 22.

His Canadian itinerary has not been completed, but it will begin at Montreal, June 25, and include visits to Quebec and Toronto.

Criqui will be accompanied by Eudeline and Poutet, a sparring partner. He will return to his training quarters at Manhasset, N.Y., early in July to resume training for his first battle in defence of his title, a 15-round match with Johnny Dundee at the Polo Grounds on July 30.

C. G. E. DEFEATED RAYBESTOS TEAM

Won Last Night's City League Fixture in Easy Fashion—Score 8-0.

Scotty Galbraith's speed was too much for the Raybestos team in last night's intermediate city league game and the electricians by bunching their hits on the veteran Kirn chased eight runs over the platter for an easy victory. The youthful C.G.E. southpaw had plenty of smoke and whiffed 13, being especially good in the inches. He walked seven men but tightened up with the bases occupied and as a result nine of the Raybestos men were left stranded. He was in danger only once in the sixth, when he walked the first two men and then retired the side on strikes. Kirn turned in a good game but his support was shaky at times and errors along with bunched hits accounted for all the runs scored in two innings. Snappy fielding plays were provided by Rose Holyman and Corrin while Dugan's hitting also featured. There was no scoring until the fourth when Primeau walked advanced on McCarney's infield out and scored on Rose's double to right centre. Ross fanned, Frost singled to right and Dugan's single scored both. The Electricians added five unnecessary runse in the sixth on a combination of hits and errors, including one for the book when with Frost on third and Dugan on second and none out, Ranger hit sharply to Kirn who apparently caught the ball and threw to third to double. Frost who had started for home, but Umpire Lebarr ruled that Kirn had not caught the ball and Frost was declared safe at the plate. Meanwhile the hitter Ranger, thinking he had been caught out went back to the bench without running to first and then on hearing the decision went to first without a play being made on him and eventually scored truly an unusual play. Following is the box score and summary.

FAST BOUT AT THE "Y" LAST EVENING

Last night at the Y.M.C.A. gym, Bob McAvoy (former McGill athlete) and Bill Creasy the little brunette all-round athlete and football star, amused a large crowd with a lively boxing exhibition. The bout was scheduled to go ten rounds but terminated in the sixth when McAvoy put Creasy away with a stiff uppercut to the jaw. Every round was fast and clean and both boys showed excellent knowledge of the game. McAvoy used a defensive method which greatly puzzled the elusive Toronto boy who adopts every fighting method of Johnny Dundee, leaping in and out like a flash. The K.O. came more as a surprise and accident as Creasy had McAvoy almost through the ropes and was assisting him back to the centre of the ring, but McAvoy thought it was a trap laid for him when he saw Creasy's arms outstretched and flashed over a right uppercut. Referee Bert Welsh counted Creasy out as he was struggling gamely on one knee to rise and finish the bout. The weights were McAvoy 146½ pounds, Creasy 132½ pounds. A bout between these boys at one of the local tournaments should be a humdinger.

Packers and De Laval Played to a Draw.

The De Laval and C.P.C. Juniors battled last night to a draw in a Yeotes Cup game at King Edward Park. The first half of the game was scoreless though both sides attacked strongly. Bradley in the Packers' goal, was given some anxious moments early in the game but saved everything. Edwards had a good opening to score for the Packers but kicked over the bar.

In the second period the Packers had another chance to score when Mitchell placed a corner kick right in the goal mouth but Frick came to the rescue with a grand save. Evans and Pulley opened the scoring and put the De Laval in front, Pulley sending in a fast one that beat Bradley. The Packers then launched a determined attack and forced several corners which proved futile. Mitchell however beat Frick with a grand shot and put the game on even terms shortly before time was called.

The players were:

De Laval—Goal, Frick; backs, Ward and Grant; halves, Pulley, Cooper and Strudley; forwards, Bell, Strudley, Evans, Smith and Haw.

Referee—S. Calladine.

The Thistles' Field Day which was originally scheduled for Friday, June 15 has been postponed till Wednesday, June 20. The Scots are planning a big day for the occasion and will have the pipe band in force.

The War Vets have taken up a subscription to help defray the expenses incident to the injury sustained by Billy Williams in the game with the Packers.

Twenty-One Yachts Entered in Long Race.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 12 (Canadian Press). — More than 100 yachtsmen and one woman in 21 small boats in a quest of high adventure, will leave here to-day in a 662-mile race across the tempestuous Gulf Stream to Bermuda.

The boats will represent half a score of yacht clubs on the Atlantic Coast and two from Bermuda.

The yachts will be divided into two classes, with several sub-divisions and a number of private matches, while the chief incentives for th race, other than a desire to visit the famous Island and accept its well-known hospitality, are the prizes by several enthusiastic followers, including Herbet L. Stone, editor of Yachting, and commodore of the Cruising Club of America, who organised the contest.

The start will be at 10 a.m., Eastern standard time, from the mouth of the Thames, and the course, after running out of Long Island Sound and rounding Montauk Point, will be straightaway, south-south-east, 640 miles, with the finish at St. David's Head, off St. George's, Bermuda.

The regatta committee of the New Rochelle Yacht Club will start the boats, and similar officials of the Royal Bermuda Club will be at the finish, and decide the winners.

SCOTT TELLS HOW TO STAR AT SHORT

Fine Points of the Position Told By Hero of Thousand Games.

Always play the ball, never let it play you. If you do, you are lost.

Get the high bound. It is the easiest to handle and invariably leaves you in the best position for a hurried throw.

Never play a stationary position. Shift your position with the style of pitch about to be used and the tendency of the batter to hit to certain fields.

In touching a runner always try to be in such a position that you can shift in order to adjust yourself to the runners's style of slide, thus greatly eliminating the chances of injury. This is of course is not possible if the play is very close.

Save your arm. The history of most star ball players show that at some time in their career their arm goes bad. Save your arm by timing your throws to meet the speed of the base runner.

Always play the game fair. An infielder who resorts to unfair tactics to gain his point, is merey courting constant danger. The infielder is at the mercy of the base runner, who, if he chooses, can easily go out of his way to inflict serious injury.

When you make a misplay, immediately dismiss it. Don't allow the failure to handle a ball properly affect your style. Go after the next one harder than ever, with the determination to wipe out the previous misplay. Call on your courage.

Anticipate your plays whenever possible. In a great many cases the score and the inning determine the way a play should be made. Give thought to these things and figure the play you will make is the ball is hit to you.

Always have a working agreement with your second baseman on every play, so that there is never a slip-up as to who should cover. Nothing makes an infielder look worse than to be out of position on a play.

Try for every ball that is hit in your territory. Never get the impression that it is impossible to make a certain play. You can never tell what is liable to happen in baseball.

Always try to play headup baseball. This is accomplished by using your "noodle," which in baseball is simply another way of saying that your brain is as essential to good play as the natural ability you possess.

Don't fight the umpire, fight the opposing team. Using the umpire as an alibi is a mighty poor way to cover up a mistake. When he is wrong tell him and forget it, but when he is right let him alone.

DEMPSEY MAY GET A SURPRISE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor.)

NEW YORK, June 12.— (United Press.) — Jack Dempsey no doubt will do very little real serious training to prepare himself for the defense of his title against Tommy Gibbons in Shelby on July 4.

The champion insists that he is not underestimating the ability of his challenger and that he considers himself in for a hard fight.

His real opinion of the ability of Gibbons, however, is reflected in the attitude of his manager, who is working up other contests for the champion with the apparent idea that Gibbons is already defeated.

One wit in New York made the crack that all the training Dempsey would have to do to get ready for the ring on July 4 would be to grow a beard. Jess Willard didn't even take the trouble to let his whiskers grow at Toledo, and it is history what happened to him.

It is all a matter of opinion, but thate who are considering Gibbons as such a set-up for the champion should consider that no fighter, no matter how great he is, can afford to stay out of the ring for two years and go back against any kind of an opponent without getting himself in good condition.

Gibbons is being underestimated by practically all of the critics in the east. Some of the feeling against the challenger can be traced and some of it is due no doubt to the desire to make light of the fight, because it is not being staged in the east.

Tommy Gibbons is a dangerous fighter and a good fighter. He will be in condition because he has been fighting a lot in the last three years and he always keeps himself in shape.

If the feeling that Gibbons is a mark for Dempsey is at all general among the fight fans, all over the country, there are the makings of the biggest surprise in years in the Shelby bout .

W. H. BRADBURN AT YOUNG'S POINT

Addressed a Largely Attended Meeting — The Speakers.

(Contributed)

Young's Point did itself proud, last night, when it put on a meeting for Mr. Bradburn, the Liberal Conservative candidate, that was a peach in point of attendance and general interest shown. In fact, as Mr. Peck said the largest meeting he had experienced in all the years that he had been (politically) addressing men and women of the village and the farms adjacent.

The battery of speakers included Mr. Bradburn, and Messrs. Peck and McElderry, all primed with factr and figures in, regard to the shortcomings and deficiencies and iniquities of the Drury Government and its ministers in office. Mr. Charlton, of the village, general merchant filled the chair.

Without any preliminary explanations Mr. Bradburn took the platform and said that he felt assured from the remarks of the chairman and the presence of the large audience that no man could look for a better or more friendly reception. The fact that Mr. Con. Young, a stalwart of the Conservative party with with the candidate counted for much. Mr. Young's influence extends all over the village and out into the township and any man in doubt, politically consulted with Mr. Young. Hearty work was what he contributed to the side of his party.

Mr. Bradburn shows the effect of practice in his way of speaking. Growing familiar with the situation and gotten over the feeling of novelty at finding himself on his feet and speaking, he makes a good and telling address made up of facts picked from the records of the Opposition. and with comment added on in way of explanation. He claimed that upon taking office all the protestations of the U.F.O. in the House, were thrown aside and reckless spending, undiluted graft, wasteful extravagance, patronage most flagrant, became the rule. Provincial expenditures, running expenses, rose from $19,000,000 per year, to $37,000,000. Capital expenditure surged up to, during the last year, $267,000,000, an unheard of amount Even allowing for some $70,000,000 paid out on Hydro account, it left a mighty sum unaccounted for except as covered up in an evasive way and in patronage, recklessly made contracts waste on good roads building etc. Now all of this expenditure fell directly on property owners, and it was certain that in a very short time if not controlled and stopped that the only way to raise money would be by direct taxation on the municipalities. Fixing a rate of say, two mills on the dollar on every property in Young's Point, and on the farms of Smith, for instance. If the men did not want that sort of thing then vote to put Drury and his henchmen out of office.

He was for good roads. We heard of the condition of the roads in the vicinity of Young's Point. How much of the total of the immense sums had been spent on improving these lines. Mighty little, if any. The Hearst Government proposed to build 500 miles of roads at a cost of $22,000,000. Drury & Co. went one better an decided on 1800 miles, and paid out $38,000,000 and only completed thirteen per cent of the total. To go on would cost $170,000,000, an unheard of amount.

For every dollar given out to be expended on the side lines, Drury & Co. spent $600.00 on main roads, many where not needed. Was this fair and judicious treatment. Not much.

Mr. Tooms will come and tell you he is your obedient and faithful servant. Don't be fooled. Mr. Tooms has other objects than to spend much thought on your interests. He has absolutely no stake in the country. Is a floating citizen. When you elect a man take some one who is of your own and who is in a property way, vitally interested in the welfare of the community. Talk of patronage, being dead and innocuous. Why when the Division Court Clerk resigned at Peterborough, did Mr. Tooms appointed a returned soldier, or a labor man, or a farmer Faith he did not: He had a brother-in-law, and imported him from Cleve land and set him in office, and all others could go hang, for all he cared. Ask Mr. Tooms about this when you get a chance. He'll be along some day.

On the matter of the Ontario Temperance Act, he as the Liberal-Conservative candidate, would stand four-square, for its enforcement from now on, rigidly and effectively, seeing that the poor man got the same treatment as the rich man. The poor man is not getting it now. (Cheers.) No profits should come to the goverenment from the sale of liquor. It will stand, as an Act, until the people who made and gave it, say that they want it changed, and prove it.

We have three candidates: To wit. Mr. Tooms, selected by himself and endorsed by himself, in fact propelled by himself, as a Farmer-Labour candidate. Does not own a foot of land nor a shingle as a stake in the country. A nice representative for the men of Young's Point. Mr. Meyers appeals to the farmers to assist him. Mr. Bradburn asks the same thing, believing that he well deserves the preference. (Applause.)

Mr. E. A. Peck followed. His line of talk was quite different and well appreciated. He took the audience into the confidential details of the Public Accounts of Ontario, and disclosed to those listening something of the graft, extra payments, lavish disbursements, not only with regard to the numberless commissions that sat, stood, travelled, and laid down on the several jobs, but to sums of money given time and again to officials and friends over and above salaries already sufficiently liberal. The clergyman member of North Victoria, a man supposed from his holy office to be above getting emoluments, drew his sessional allowance of $2,000, then $735.00 additional as chairman of the Perambulation Commission, of which Mr. Tooms was a member, stopping at the best hotels and having a high and good time. A photo group of the members cost $545.00, out of the public chest. (In the days when Mr. Peck was representative, he paid his share himself.) Another clergyman, Rev. J. O. Spracklin, got into complications and shootings and being tried for such, got $2,000.00 from the Province to pay his expenses of trial, and the Attorney General had to have paid the expenses of the prosecution. Minister Grant receivde his salary, in due course, (7,000.00) travelled free on all railroads, and got $1,000 in addition, to cover travelling expenses. And other extras. All this from a Cabinet sworn to the electors to be economical and saving. Will the voters condone this sort of thing again.

Extraordinary gifts and bonuses were the rule. Officials who drew salaries of $5,000.00 got $750.00 bonus, swallowed it and thus refreshed, came back and got another $200.00. Ninety men, all on ample salaries, pulled down, without exception, extra money. Aid yet the government that asks you to send it back to continue these tricks is the government that Mr. Tooms proposes to represent.

Mr. V. J. McElderry followed with a brief but scathing arraignment of the government. Said that previous speakers had referred to many things and he would not repeat, though the bald and brutal facts could not be hammered in too often. Took up and exposed the reckless patronage handled by Minster Biggs, who benefitted his friends and lost the province $30,000 on a motor deal, the trucks to be used in mis-building roads, affirmed to be good. No more gross transaction in a public way had come to light than the machinations of Mr. Biggs disclosed. Public opinion howled when it was disclosed that Mr. Biggs was to get a new car out of the pelf, as was described when the whole transaction came up in court.

The money wasted on the 26 commissions fathered, fostered and perpetrated by the Government was appalling. Convenieces and tradings brought Mr. Gregory into the Hydro Commission, and he was tucked in there at a welcome salary, while the investigation and finding of the commission did not matter one hoot. The resources of the Province are large, no doubt. But so soon as the natural resources are disposed of then direct taxation is the only source to raise money. He asked the electors to put an end to wasteful recklessness, and send to Toronto a party sane and sensible. Contrasted the merits of the three candidates One, an excellent gentleman and business man, but with only five months of municipal experience to his credit. The next a man who played a double part, having agreed to give support in the Dominion election in return for support in 1919. And went back on his promises. Mr. Tooms had made rabid attacks on capital ,and associated with a man who had been arrested as a rabid anarchist, and who had been in court on a charge of issuing seditious writings. If men will handle pitch they will get mired.

The meeting closed with cheers for Bradburn, and assurances of support, and twenty-seven from the audience stepped forward and signed the nomination paper, now already crowded with the names of hundreds of the constituents of the riding.

TRACK ATHLETES MEET IN THE Y.M.C.A. TO-NIGHT

All athletes interested in track and field events are urged to attend the organization meeting in the Y. M. C. A. to-night at 7 o'clock. The business will be the arranging a schedule of sporting events to be run off during the summer, the forming of a harrier club under the P.A.A.A., and the discussion of other matters of importance.

THEATRES

WM. FOX "MONTE CRISTO" HISTORICALLY CORRECT.

Costumes, Settings and Incidents Faithfully Reproduce Dumas' France of the 18th Century.

Little does an audience think while engrossed by the scenic beauties of a picture that is being unreeled before it of the tremendous cost in time, work and in money which may have been necessary to reproduce a single set of the picture, and which in all probability remains upon the screen only a very short period of time, say possibly one or two minutes. Extensive and painstaking research work, extending over a period of several months, are sometimes necessary; as was the case in the filming of that wonder picture "Monte Cristo" adapted from Alexandre Dumas' famous story, and which is now playing at the Royal Theatre. Dumas wasted very little time with detailed description of commonplace scenes. Thus, when Emmett J. Flynn, the director, desired to depict detailed and accurate descriptions of people and places of the France of the time of the story, he had to look elsewhere to get atmosphere and color. The public libraries were of little help, and it was necessary to journey to New Orleans to get aid of the Circle Francaise, whose wonderful collection of rare French etchings and prints made it possible to faithfully reproduce and visualize for the screen the France of the eighteenth century as it really lived at the time Dumas so vividly transferred it to paper.

Capitol Entertainment

As in last week's programme at the Capitol Theatre, one of the most interesting portions of the evening's intertainment is the sport production, the movie of the Grand National Steeplechase of 1923 on the Aintree Course. The audience oh'd and ah'd and caught its breath as the horses galloped past, negotiating the hurdles with swift ease in some cases, in others coming vicious croppers that landed them and their riders in struggling masses under the feet of the flying beasts. A thirteen-year old veteran, "Sergeant Murphy" wins the famous race, after a series of breath-taking thrills. The King watches from his box during the race.

The feature picture, with Betty Compson starring in "The Rustle of Silk," is interesting and somewhat out of the ordinary, in that the entire interest centres about the love theme. With an excellent caste, against a suitable background of luxurious ease, and wealthy homes, its atmosphere is distinctly "goo-ey." Anyone who cares for romance in capitals will like this picture, as it is "nothing but." The heroine, Bettyl Compson as Lola de Breze, whose ancestress, the Countess de Breze, lives once again in the frame of her poor descendant, is a sufficiently satisfying damsel of the love-lorn type, who messes things up generally, and then weeps prettily over her mismanagement. Anna Q. Nilson plays the part of Lady Feo, the "social butterfly" wife, and Cyril Chadwick is Paul Chalfont, her lover.

The story is based about the adventures of a romantic British politician, Arthur Fallaray, played by Conawy Tearle, and an ultra-romantic young hair-dresser, who pursues him with unremitting vigour. A peculiar part of the affair, as viewed from Canadian eyes ,is the fact that the marriage has nothing whatever to do with the young lady's infatuation for him. When she finally gives him up, it is at the call of patriotism, not through any mistaken notion that it might be just as well for him to stick to the wife of his bosom, as to divorce her and marry the girl who has been his his wife's maid, and whose secret love letters to him, undelivered but preserved by the love-wracked damsel, are published to the extreme detriment of his political career.

It is one of those pictures which seem to be increasingly popular, the type that takes an impossible situation and dresses it up to make it appear quite probable. Although the plot is thin, and the success of the picture depends entirely on the ability of its cast to put it over, it has a certain attraction in its story-book atmosphere. To live for a couple of hours even in an atmosphere where anything might happen, where a British premier to be falls in love instantaneously with his wife's maid, takes an audience back to the hacyon days of youth, when fairies were real beings, and "those jingle-dingle nursery rhymes were truth."

The comedy is a unique affair, with an animated 'funny' little man, no larger than his creator's hand, running amuck out of the pages of the drawing book he first appears in, and having all sorts of adventures with a newly-found treasure island. By way of radio, he arrives on board ship, and finds himself in the interior of a fish before he comes back safely to the hand of the artist who drew him.

BRADBURN SAYS
THIS SORT OF THING SHOULD BE STOPPED

"I am in favor of and will support our Good Roads System. But will demand that where the Province spends $1,000 it will get $1,000 worth of good roads, which is certainly not now the case."

Look at this from Globe of Saturday last:

"Elgin County Council almost swooned when it found that its share of highway costs for 1922 is $115.187.

"Perth has discovered an error of $66,000 in roads accounts affecting Perth.

Bradburn says that if you will send him to the House he will do his best to stop that sort of thing.

Surely these things need looking into. For in the end the farmer has to pay through his county levies.

FORMER HEAD OF BULGARIA IS REPORTED SLAIN

Rumor, However, Unconfirmed—Anxiety Felt in Allies' Quarters Over Course of Events.

REVOLUTION FEARED

LONDON, June 13 (Canadian Press). — Former Premier Stamboulisky of Bulgaria was killed on Tuesday by the troops of the new Zankof Government, according to a Central New despatch from Vienna, quoting Sofia advices.

The report is unconfirmed.

Soldiers of the new Government, which was established by a bloodless coup d'etat on Saturday, surrounded the former peasant Premier in a forest at Slavovitza, and killed him after he had attempted resistance at the head of a handful of his loyal followers, according to the Central News.

Other despatches say Stamboulisky's capture alive is expected momentarily, while still others describe with few details what is believed to be a serious counter revolt.

Farmers Armed.

Fear is expressed that the peasantry will rally to the call of their deposed leaders and attempt a counter revolution.

The Bulgarian Legation here is without definite information of the actual internal situation, and newspaper despatches are meagre and conflicting.

Every one of three million farmers of the country possess a rifle, and would constitute a formidable army against the former officers of the Reserve Corps.

One of the present Government's points of strength is the fact that farmers are busy gathering their crops, and are regarded as too provident to be attracted by the call to arms.

It is thought much will depend upon the treatment of Stamboulisky and his supporters.

Artillery Battle.

ATHENS, June 13 (Canadian Press). — An artillery battle is in progress 35 miles from Sofia, and indecisive civil war is raging in the various parts of Bulgaria, according to despatches from the Bulgar capital this afternoon.

One report, apparently from Zankof sources, says the forces of the new ministry prevail in all the important towns of Bulgaria, while 15,000 Stamboulisky troops still hold out in the Plevna region.

A FREE MAN

DR. A. W. RICHARDSON,
Who this morning was released of a serious charge arising out of the death of a former Peterboro girl.

DR. RICHARDSON IS A FREE MAN

Kingston Grand Jury Brought in a "No Bill" This Morning.

KINGSTON, June 13, (Special.)—Dr. A. W. Richardson is a free man. The Grand Jury at the June sessions this morning returned a verdict of "No bill," in the charge against Dr. Richardson, that of committing an illegal operation on Miss May Dunnett, formerly of Peterboro, and thus the accused did not have to stand trial.

Dr. Richardson was not in court when the jury returned its finding, nor was he called before the court to be discharged.

The charge against him arose over the death of Miss Dunnett in Kingston last January. The case was investigated by the Provincial police, and as a result of their investigation Dr. Richardson was taken in charge and on being given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Farrell was committed to stand trial, bail being accepted for his appearance at the trial. At a sitting of this court a year ago Dr. Richardson was acquitted on a charge of having performed an illegal operation.

FIRST DRY BRITISH LINER SAILED TO-DAY

SOUTHAMPTON, England, June 13.—(Canadian Press).—The Majestic, of the White Star Line, sailed from this port to-day as the first "dry" British liner bound for New York. In an effort to estimate the thirst of the passengers, the White Star Line issued blank forms, asking each ticket holder to state his needs. Heretofore, the Majestic carried liquor supplied varying from sixty thousand bottles of beer, six hundred bottles of wine and three thousand of various spirits.

MRS. L. DUNNETT IS DISCHARGED BY GRAND JURY

DOCTOR ON TRIAL

KINGSTON, June 13.—(Special)—The Grand Jury at the June Sessions before Judge Madden, this morning returned a verdict of "No Bill" in the case of Mrs. Louise Dunnett, charged with having used an instrument on her daughter May Dunnett with the intent of causing a miscarriage. Mrs. Dunnett came before His Honor and was discharged. "The Grand Jury has determined that the Crown has failed in its case," said Judge Madden to Mrs. Dunnett and have brought in: "No Bill. You are discharged."

The case of Mrs. Dunnett was dealt with rapidly. She was arrested on Monday night by Provincial Inspector Hammond and Provincial Constable Roy Clark, came before Magistrate Farrell in police court on Tuesday morning and was committed for trial and her case given to the Grand Jury this forenoon. The Jury had the case under consideration during the afternoon and reported when court opened this morning. The charge against Dr. A. W. Richardson that of performing an illegal operation on the Dunnett girl, was given over to the Grand Jury this morning.

HARTLEY DEWART IN FINISH FIGHT

Will Not Give Up Toronto Seat and Says He Will Win.

TORONTO, June 13.—(Canadian Press.)— Questioned this morning regarding rumors which have been circulating throughout the province that he would forsake the riding of South-west Toronto, which he represented in the last Legislature and accept the Liberal nomination of Eastern Ontario riding, probably Kingston, in opposition, to W. F. Nickle, K.C., Conservative candidate, Hartley H. Dewart, K.C., declared that he is in the South-west Toronto fight to the finish and will win the seat with a handsome majority.

"It is true that suggestions have been made to me that there are several ridings in the province that I would be able to carry," said Mr. Dewart, "and Liberal leaders in various constituencies who strongly resent the treatment I received at the recent convention of South-west Toronto Liberals, have urged me to consider the offer of an outside nomination, but I am going to remain in Toronto .I am in this fight in South-west Toronto to a finish and I am going to again represent it in the Legislature. I would not, at this time, leave the constituency that I won from Conservatives, and which has sent me twice to the Legislature, to fight a seat outside the city. In any event I would not oppose W. F. Nickle in Kingston, where it has been suggested that I be the Liberal standard bearer. Nothing can alter my course and my organization is becoming stronger daily through the support of Liberals who desire to register a protest against the tactics which prevailed at South-west Toronto Liberal convention.

PROTESTANT MISSIONS MUST CONFINE EFFORTS

ROME, June 13.—(United Press). —The Government has warned Protestant missions that they must confine themselves to the religious field.

Inspector Boyd is With Circus Today

Detective Inspector Boyd of the Criminal Investigation Department who accompanied the Robinson circus on its arrival in Peterboro this morning, characterizes it as a clean show, and the animals as well cared for and good specimens.

Inspector Boyd has toured with the circus in all the places it has visited, and Chief Newhall is assured that no bad element will be found in the usual following of such shows.

SAY MARRIAGE OUGHT TO BE PARTNERSHIP

PROTECT WOMEN

HALIFAX, N. S., June 13.—(Canadian Press).—Resolutions urging that it be made illegal for a husband to invest his earnings in mining or other stock or in speculations without his wife's full knowledge and consent, that it be made illegal for a husband to attach his name to a bond for security without the wife's full knowledge and consent, that adultery be recognized as a crime, that capital punishment be abolished, that international disputes be settled by arbitration, and that endeavor be made to cultivate more friendly relations with the United States, will be discussed at the thirtieth annual meeting of the National Council of Women of Canada, which meets at Halifax, June 20 to 27.

The resolution concerning stocks, speculations and bonds, states that "marriage is or should be a partnership in which a wife should share her husband's earnings in the home," and will be moved on behalf of the Women's Council of Welland, Ontario; that concerning adultery, on behalf of the Toronto Local Council; those concerning capital punishment, international disputes and relations with the United States on behalf of the Ontario Woman Citizen Association, the Council of Portage la Prairie and the Provincial Council of New Brunswick, respectively.

Census Returns.

Other resolutions to be discussed ask that in vital statistics, including census returns, persons born in Canada of native born or naturalized Canadian parents be recorded as Canadians (to be moved on behalf of the Kitchener and Waterloo Local Council); that "Whereas during the late autumn weeks of navigation on the Great Lakes great danger is endured by sailors and intense anxiety experienced by their families," the Federal Government be urgently requested to set by statute a definite date for the close of navigation, "say November 30," to apply to all kinds and sizes of vessels (Owen Sound Local Council); that the Federal Government be asked for more careful supervision of dance halls, theatres and other places of amusement, and that women be placed on boards of censorship of motion pictures wherever possible (Ottawa Local Council); that "realizing that the Dairymen's Association is using every means to induce the Government to forbid the continuance of the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine," the National Council of Women ask the Local Councils to bring pressure to bear on their members of Parliament "That this nourishing article of diet" be not banned from manufacture, sale or use in Canada (Ottawa Local Council).

League of Nations.

Several resolutions relating to the League of Nations and international peace will be introduced on behalf of the Brandon Council. These would urge the Dominion Government to consider the sending of Canadian women as delegates to the League of Nations; would request the publication more fully and widely of available information concerning the activities of the League of Nations; and would ask the Dominion Government to consider fixing a day for the celebration of international peace, preferably November 11.

Resolutions concerning international organization, of which notices have been given, include one by Miss Dayfoot, Georgetown, that hereafter the President of the National Council should be from the east, centre and west of Canada, alternately. Another, by Mrs. E. M. Murray, Halifax, would limit the term of office of National President and Vice-Presidents to one year, so as to allow a more widespread representation for these offices. The Toronto Council will offer an amendment to limit the term of these offices to two years. A motion by Mrs W. G. Kerby, Calgary, would provide "that the retiring President shall become a member of the Executive Committee by right of service, with vote when present, and shall carry the title of Past President; this action to be retroactive." The Montreal Council will move that "in view of the changes that have taken place during the last few years the future policy and executive machinery of the National Council of Women be discussed."

Peterboro Dragoons To Camp Next Week

The Third Prince of Wales Dragoons will go into camp on Thursday next in the Exhibition grounds, and a party is working there to-day on stores and supplies which are arriving steadily.

It is expected that 125 men will participate in the training this year under the command of Major T. D. Johnston. One squadron will be drawn from Peterborough and a second from Manvers district. The camp will be in the east end of the grounds and will last nine days.

ALL PETERBORO AT THE CIRCUS

Big Street Parade Attracted a Lot of Attention—A Visit to the Lot.

Sleepy-heads, who have never seen a circus unload lost their one excuse this morning, when at 9.15 the John Robinson Circus trains steamed to a hissing and grinding stop in the Canadian Pacific siding. For usually a circus slips in with the dawn and the early bird's call, but this morning proved the exception, much to the delight of crowds of youngsters and oldsters who were on hand "to miss no part of it."

Even the veriest "stay-a-bed" was up and about this morning to welcome the long lines of trains, and to see the free sights.

With the usual circus promptness the horses and waggons were unloaded, so that it was not many hours until there were horses stepping proudly to the swinging lilt of gorgeously clad band men, jungle beasts stalking solemnly to and fro to the rousing syncopation of deep-throated calliopes, the rumble of cages, patriotic tableau waggons, band floats, clown chariots, and allegorical cars contributed to the circus symphony that resounded in the down-town streets along about noon to-day. But while the music of the bands and the calliopes, to say nothing of the fanfare of bugles, rang in the ears of the crowds along the curbs, with the age-old thrill of the circus, there were many things to see, many of them pleasantly familiar, and many of them pleasurably new.

Of course there was the leading band waggon, drawn by a dozen dappled horses, perfectly matched, and haughty in crested trappings. All the traditional gold and glitter, silver and shimmer on trappings of man and beast flashed by in review, punctured here and there with such novelties as a clown band astride mischievous burros and a big section of folks from other climes. The open cages rolled along with their jungle folk, ranging from the stolid hippopotamous to the clattering monkeys, from the alert kangaroo to the blinking ostriches. Then there were the be-plumed cavalier and the clowns in carts, elephants, camels, buffaloes, and about everything zoological.

As the parade returned to the circus grounds at Exhibition Park, crowds began to gather, and when the doors opened a tremendous amount of people clamoured for admission. The feature programme pleased everyone, and proved the John Robinson Circus, on its 100th anniversary tour, one of the best in circusdom. Honours, however, go to Peter Taylor, a Canadian war veteran, who at one time entered the steel arena with 16 lions and tigers. "Peter Pan in Animal Land" came second, in points of honour, although for sheer beauty and wealth of song and gorgeous costumes it stands alone. Nothing like it has ever been seen in Peterborough.

Miss Julian Rogers, singing, the Bernie Griggs and Rudy Rudynoff troupes of riders, Miss Billie Burton's leopard act, the numerous elephant displays under "Cheerful" Gardner, the 25 singing and dancing horses, were all numbers that won meritorious applause.

To-night the programme will be repeated. If you like to laugh, like to be thrilled, and enjoy clean amusements, by all means see the John Robinson Circus. It's worth seeing.

VERY FEW BATHERS YET AT THE LOCAL BEACHES

Bathing has not drawn any great crowds this year although the beaches were officially opened some time ago. The water has not yet reached a safe height, and the weather has not up to this week, been tempting.

At the Lake street swimming beach the booms have not been placed in position, there being no purpose in putting them out until the water recedes to its normal level. It is now encroaching several feet on what was last year a dry sandy bank.

The caretaker has not counted more than twenty bathers in the water at the same time against hundreds last year.

FRENCH TROOPS SHOT GERMAN WOMAN IN RUHR

COLOGNE, June 13. United Press. —More disorders in the Ruhr Valley were reported to day. The French troops shot a German woman near Bearne, according to advices received here to-day. The German version of the shooting however is that French soldiers at Dortmound shot each other in a quarrel over a prostitute called "Red Erna," who had been arrested with two women friends.

Campbellford Hens Deliver Their Eggs With Three Yolks

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13. —Mrs. George Holmes, of Inkerman Street, here, who has a fine flock of Rhode Island hens, has within the past week obtained from her flock two three-yolked eggs.

ON POLICE FORCE

CONSTABLE GEORGE GRANGE

George Grange, ex-Fire Chief, has been appointed Police Constable on the City force to replace A. E. Gabbutt who was forced to resign through ill-health.

Fire Chief Grange retired from the fire department on May 9, 1922. when a bye-law appointing George Gimblett as his successor was passed by the City Council. He was taken on the strength of the police force on June 1, and has already proven his worth, Chief Newhall says. Having a knowledge of the city byelaws make Constable Grange a valuable addition to the force.

Chief Newhall described him as valuable and thoroughly reliable man "When you tell Constable Grange to do a thing," he said, "you can rely on him to carry it through."

Constable Gabbutt, who had been on the force about a year was compelled to retire on account of injuries received in the war which were aggravated by the steady patrolling on the hard pavements. He was a much appreciated member of the force and Chief Newhall regretted the necessity which compelled him to return to civil life.

WANTS TO SEE CANAL OPENED

Mr. Robert Stuart Say It Will Make a Profitable Route.

"When do you expect the Trent Canal will be completed?" inquired Mr. Robert Stuart, head of the Quaker Oats Co., of the Examiner.

The reporter replied that "so far this session there has been no appropriation made by Parliament to provide for the completion of the Trent Canal system."

"What works have to be done in order to complete the Canal?" enquired Mr. Stuart.

The Examiner replied that three locks on the Severn River would have to be constructed and a fourth lock that is about half completed and has been abandoned during this last two years, and in addition to that considerable sections of the Severn River would have to be canalized and the whole total works would cost somewhere between a million and a

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

How To Get Mail Orders.

An excellent recipe for resultful want ads is, "Say all the important things." This recipe applies to practically anything a want ad is ever used for. The less concerning your offer you leave for readers to deduce or imagine, the better your returns will be.

One good illustration of this principle is a little four-word statement which, put into a want ad, will often pay times over in profits for the cost of the message, yet still leave the returns from the principal source of sales. The little statement is, "Mail orders filled promptly."

Suppose you grow and sell cabbage and tomato plants. You have had success in producing these plant specialties, and have been selling to neighbors and friends. You decide wisely to branch out—make the whole city your market—and begin want advertising. Not being experienced, you give no thought to mail orders, say nothing about them. To your surprise and delight, in spite of your omission, some mail orders come in.

Then you see possibilities in selling by mail. You include in your want ad, "Mail orders filled promptly." The number of mail orders increase astonishingly. You didn't guess that four words could make such a difference in returns.

And you'll see it ought to work this way, if you'll study the situation a little. If you say nothing about mail orders, out-of-town people won't really know whether you want their patronage or not; whether you know how to ship successfully by parcels post; what your mail prices are. A little space in your want ad will tell them you want their business and know how to handle it. Quite likely, mail orders alone will more than take care of your want ad costs.

If you are selling an article in quantities, and it is something salable by mail, put into your want ad, "Mail orders promptly filled." As you'll still sell successfully at home, the mail orders will just be "velvet."

A LATER REPORT

SOFIA, June 13. — (Canadian Press).—Former Premier Stamboulisky, accompanied by a single friend is reported fleeing on horseback through the mountains on Central Bulgaria in the direction of Pirdop, pursued by a squadron of revolutionary horsemen.

Several of his partisians, who abandoned him and surrendered say that he has shaved his bristling moustache and otherwise changed his appearance. The feeling is expressed at the War Office here that it is Stamboulisky who had caused bloodshed and that he is subject to execution if captured alive.

In a statement handed out this afternoon Foreign Minister Christokaloff says that the aims of his Government are the advancement of peace, cultivation of harmony with all Balkan States, and fulfillment of international obligations.

CASE OF WIDOW OF GEN. COWANS HEARD IN HOUSE

Quartermaster - General Was Responsible For Feeding of the British Army in Every Theatre of the War.

SERVED 40 YEARS.

LONDON, June 13.— (Canadian Press Cable.)— The case of Lady Cowans, widow of Sir John Cowans, quartermaster-general of the British army, who, according to a recent statement of Lady Cowans, died insolvent after forty years' service, was raised in the house of commons yesterday. W. C. Bridgeman, secretary for home affairs, replying for Premier Baldwin, said Lady Cowans was receiving the pension to which she was entitled under the army regulations. She was offered the civil pension also but declined this.

A member asked if it was not a fact that Sir John Cowans, during his life, had received no special remuneration for his services.

Rt. Hon. Ian Macpherson, national liberal member for Ross and Cromarty, suggested that the government might give Lady Cowans a grant in view of the fact that her husband was a member of the army council throughout the war and was responsible for the feeding of the British army in every theatre of the war. He said other distinguished generals had received public grants from the state.

The speaker intervened at this point and said the members could not debate every question brought up.

In a statement recent made by Lady Cowans she said she was in receipt of the ordinary pension of a general's widow, £225 per annum. Ex-Premier Lloyd George had offered her a civil pension of £100, she said, but she regarded this as an insult to her husband's memory and declined to accept it. She said she "had no house ,no home, no money."

GERMAN CONVICTS RUN RACES.

BERLIN, June 13.—(Associated Press)—Sports are being introduced in German prisons, and the first trial of the experiment during 1922 is said to have met with encouraging results.

In the penitentiary near Berlin 224 hours of physical exercises and athletic training were given in the course of the year by a well-known instructor in these branches. More than a hundred men and boys participated. Gymnastics, races and team contests were parts of the schedule.

Your help is essential

Insurance is recognized as a great asset to automobile owners. The risk of driving a car without insurance protection is too great for the average car owner to assume. Yet insurance is not a magic wand nor an Aladdin's lamp; its cost and efficiency depend to a large degree on the co-operation of the people who buy it.

BANDITS HAVE FREED LAST OF THE PRISONERS

Last of Men Captured on May 6 Were Set Free By Chinese Bandits Yesterday Afternoon.

GUARANTEES GIVEN.

TSAOCHWANG, June 13. — Canadian Press. — Eight beared, shabby men, the last of the 77 foreign prisoners captured by the Chinese bandits from the Shanghai-Peking express near Suchow, on May 8th, arrived at the Tung-Hsing mines near Tsoachwang yesterday afternoon.

They came down the mountainside from their prison in the temple of the clouds on Paotzuku Mountain in sedan chairs, some on donkeys, and some walking, with an escort of outlaws.

At the mine compound they saw the last of their brigand hosts and were joyfully greeted by relatives and friends who had gathered there to welcome them.

Baths, clothing and food were waiting them and on a railway siding stood a train ready to take them to Tsaochwang.

It is expected that all or the majority of the eight will proceed to Shanghai to-day.

The closing scene of the six and a half weeks of negotiation for the prisoners release was staged with all the Chinese love of formality. The stage was the village of Tsiliho, 15 miles from Teaochwang and two miles down the mountainside from the temple of the clouds.

In the centre of the group of bandit chieftains and Chinese officials stood Roy Anderson, long familiar with Chinese customs, and the chosen intermediary of the outlaws and the Peking government.

Armed with a commission as personal representative of Teao Kun, an important Chinese military leader and Inspector General of Shantung Province, and possessing full authority from Tsao to put up the guarantees demanded by the brigands, Anderson opened the final session.

Accompanying him were Wen Shih-Toon, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs at Nanking, and several other Chinese officials.

In accordance with ancient Chinese custom, Anderson asked the bandits to nominate their "elder brother," or spokesman, with power to act. Anderson explained that he was there in the role of "peace-maker," an office held sacred throughout China.

In reply to the outlaws demand for foreign guarantees of immunity from punishment and other terms if the captives were released, Anderson explained that this would be possible only if the foreign powers took over the government of China, a course which he emphasized the brigand chieftains themselves desired above all to avoid.

When Anderson had finished General Chen Tiao-Chang, representing the Military Governor of Shantung, read a document which recited the enrolling of 2000 outlaws in the Chinese Army, to payment to each of $20, and the distribution of uniforms.

Then the crisis was reached. Anderson, supported by General Chen, asked for the immediate release of eight captives. The outlaw chieftains parleyed among themselves. Then a messenger left the circle and started up the steep Paotzuku slope.

The formal agreement for the release of the prisoners was produced and signed by the two chief spokesmen, one, Roy Scott Anderson of Atlanta, Georgia, U.S.A., and the other the chosen "Elder Brother" of the brigands, Sun Kwei-Tsu.

In a few minutes the messenger reappeared and following him, accompanied by an armed detachment of their guards, came the eight prisoners of Paotzuku.

They passed through Tsiliho, and headed for the railroad, free men once more.

BRITISH TRYING TO BRING PEACE INTO RUHR AREA

Efforts to Act as Conciliator Between France and Germany So Far Have Not Met With Success.

MANY OBSTACLES.

LONDON, June 13 Canadian Press —There was no sign last night that the British efforts to act the part of conciliator between France and Germany have yet met with success. There was no further meeting of the British cabinet yesterday but diplomatic pourparlers continued at the Foreign Office were believed to be aiming at some formula to save the face of both France and Germany

"Amnesty in the Ruhr," is the phrase met in the press of London, and it is believed that the British effort is to persuade the French government to get back to the original idea of civil, as opposed to military, occupation of the Ruhr as the only basis upon which Great Britain could again join France and Belgium in a joint note to seek to have Germany abandon passive resistance.

The British government never acquiesced in the military occupation of the Ruhr. The German contention is that if Berlin, as France insists, rescinded its orders for passive resistance, the Ruhr workers in the occupied region would continue their resistance. The idea is that amnesty in the Ruhr might lead to the abandonment of resistance, but the difficulty is that Premier Poincare by dropping his military measures would be admitting failure of the occupation to achieve the desired results.

If this difficulty could be surmounted, it is thought that it might be easier to reach an allied conference, including Germany.

INSPIRING SERVICE FOR THE CHILDREN.

HASTINGS, June 13.—A most interesting children's service was held in the Methodist church on Sunday morning, Rev. M. L. Hinton, pastor of the church, officiating.

Friends of the children had spared no pains in preparing for the occasion. The floral decorations were very profuse and the special features included the presence of four song birds in their cages, who formed their voices with those of the children's choir. The baptismal service was very impressive and the cradle roll largely responded to. A novel feature of this part of the program was a tiny cradle filled with roses and as each child was called, the cradle roll superintendent presented him or her with a rose and a certificate of membership.

The choir of the church was assisted by Mrs. Alex Fleming, of Colborne, who with her sister, Mrs Gordon Faux, rendered a vocal duet. Altogether the service was one long to be remembered, and looked forward to with pleasure as an annual event.

TO HOLD ELECTION.

The members of the Stamboulisky Cabinet will be detained in prison or under supervision in their homes until the new Parliament assembles and decides their fate. Partisans of the overthrown government have created disturbances in some places, but the authorities believe peace will be restored everywhere shortly.

It is certain that general elections will be held, but no date for them has yet been set. The Bulgarian Ministers at Prague and Belgrade have been dismissed.

Wheat Crop Expected to Furnish New Record.

EDMONTON, Alta, June 13. Canadian Press. — With abundant moisture and hot weather, the grain crops in the Edmonton district made surprising growth during the past week. The stand seems to be ideal and with favorable conditions for some time a record yield will be a certainty.

Cut worms have appeared in some districts where they have done damage to the oats and barley but the wheat has not evidently been touched. Masses of caterpillars are stripping the poplar trees and it is also reported that they have damaged peass own south of Edmonton.

The grasshopper menace is practically over, says a report from Red Deer. This pest is still creating a serious situation in the north country however.

While grain is growing rapidly it is not felt that progress is sufficiently fast to weaken the strength of the roots.

Asquith Indulges in Some Sarcasm.

LONDON, June 13 — (Canadian Press Cable — Hamlet without the Ghost was former Premier Asquith's description of the discussion in the House of Commons yesterday on the budget in the absence of Reginald McKenna who has been selected to assume the duties of Chancellor of the Exchequer and whose presence therefore was particularly desired because the house was discussing ad valorem duties on certain luxury imorts, notabl motor cars, which were imposed by McKenna when he was in office during the war. The question asked yesterday was whether McKenna who was a free trader would approve of the continuance of these duties.

Mr. Asquith referred to McKenna as the spectral figure hovering about on the political horizon and likely to materialize at any time. He vigorously criticised the duties which had been imposed he said only for purposes of the war .

The duties were confirmed by a vote of 238 to 164.

FARMERS AND WAGES.

A startling statement has been made by a Virginia farmer as to what the wages paid in certain undertakings work out into food at the price the farmer gets, says the Kingston Standard. Thus he says that it takes 63½ dozen, or 762 eggs to pay a plasterer for one day of eight hours work; 17½ busbels of corn, or a year's receipts from half an acre, to pay a bricklayer one day; 23 chickens weighing three pounds each to pay a painter for one day's work in New York; 42 pounds of butter, or the output from 14 cows, fed and milked for 24 hours, to pay a plumber $14 a day, and a hog weighing 175 pounds, representing eight months' feeding and care, to pay a carpenter for one day's work.

Of course, we have no means of checking these figures, but we have seen mentioned the very high wages which are being paid in the States to plumbers, and particularly to plasterers. There is, however, this to be said, that these excessive wages are bringing about their own ending to a great extent. Reports come from various American cities that building running into hundreds of millions of dollars has been put off owing to high wages and the hugely increased cost of materials. In due time the farmers, and the rest of us, will see these high prices very materially reduced.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING.

Much time is being wasted in the present political campaign in discussing petty little matters that have little or no bearing upon the important question of which of the contending parties offers the most promising prospects of providing Ontario with a good government.

The incident referred to as the "last night party" is an example.

The people of Ontario have heard a good deal of that lively little evening in which a number of legislators gathered in a room in the Parliament Buildings and fractured the Ontario Temperance Act in half a dozen places.

Perhaps their names should have been given out—and the Attorney-General should have seen to it that they were prosecuted for breaking the law of the land.

But it is difficult to see why there should be any attempt now two years after the offence took place to make a major issue out of this affair, disreputable as it might be considered.

Surely there is more important business to be discussed on the public platform at this time than the humid little social function that marked the end of the session.

The campaign is a short one and the time might much more profitably be spent in discussion of the important features of the issues of the day than in useless talking about matters that have no more real connection with the election fight than the colour of the candidates' hair or the kind of automobile they drive.

GOOD ROADS.

The tenth annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association is being held in Hamilton this week, and any benefit that Peterborough will secure from this gathering of experts and municipal representatives will be purely vicarious.

Peterborough has so far stood aloof from this organization in spite of the fact that better roads are an absolute necessity in view of the development of motor traffic, and that the community which fails to provide such roads is going backward instead of making progress.

As a contemporary puts it, good roads are the criterion by which the progressiveness or otherwise of a community is judged, and the most conspicious advertisement of its community spirit.

The making of modern roadways is a specialized business and a matter for experts to deal with—hence the present convention at which recognized authorities will deal with every phase of road-building.

Surely there is no city in Ontario that should be more keenly interested in the subject of roads than Peterborough, or that has more need of representation in the Good Roads Association.

In the matter of permanent streets we are unfortunately far behind other centres—and it is only now after a lapse of years that road-making to any extent has been undertaken here.

The conditions therefore suggest that Peterborough should be affiliated with the association and should have the benefits that are to be derived from attendance at the annual convention.

MORE SYMPATHY NEEDED.

The Examiner is sure that the people of Canada in general are glad that amendments in the Pension Act, based on the recommendations made in the Ralston report, are to be provided for in legislation to be brought down in Parliament shortly.

Hon. Dr. Beland, while not giving the full details, has intimated the amendments will include provision for the right of personal appeal, review of evidence, extended appeals where necessary, a reconsideration of existing cases and a recognition of the principle that discharge as A1 does not mean A1 forever.

The trouble with the Pension Board is that that body is a law unto itself in respect of interpretation of the act, and there is reason to believe that desire for efficiency and economy has been allowed to interfere with justice to the pensioners.

As one member of Parliament expressed it, Canada does not expect the Pension Board to fill the office of "watchdog of the Treasury."

The majority of Canadians want to see those who suffered the most from the war treated with sympathy and feeling—not regarded as charges upon the public whose pensions should, in the interest of economy, be whittled down as completely and rapidly as possible.

There has been too evident an inclination on the part of the Pensions Board to fail to recognize the wishes of the people of Canada in this respect.

More kindliness and sympathy and less efficiency would fill the bill better, and for this reason the changes that are to be inaugurated will be welcome.

THE TRENT CANAL.

Critics of the Trent Canal have always advanced the argument that the waterway would never be of any commercial value to Canada—and that allegation has, unfortunately, gained considerable ground.

The contention loses much of its weight in the face of the statement from Mr. Robert Stuart, head of the Quaker Oats Company, that if the canal were completed his company would be prepared to build a terminal elevator near the Georgian Bay entrance of the canal and to put on a fleet of barges for the carrying of grain from Georgian Bay to Peterborough, and to carry the finished product from Peterborough to Montreal.

Mr. Stuart is the head of one of the largest companies in America, and the fact that the Quaker Oats Company have confidence in the Trent Canal for commercial purposes should go a long way towards convincing doubters of the advisability of completing the Severn section of the waterway.

Mr. Stuart points out, too, that the tourist traffic along the canal would be considerably increased, and that the people along the route of the Trent would receive the benefit of cheaper transportation.

Many millions have been spent upon construction work on the Canal, but unless the Severn section is completed the value of the enterprise cannot possibly be demonstrated, and the earlier appropriations have in a great measure been wasted because of the failure to complete the undertaking.

Municipalities along the route should co-operate in bringing this matter before the Government in a manner that will secure results.

(An Editorial by Arthur Brisbane.)

It is first of all CONSTRUCTIVE work. It actually BUILDS factories, stores, great organizations, great fortunes, while supplying work and wages to millions.

A hundred words occur to your mind, and every one means that advertising has created a name, and that the NAME represents a great business that time and competition itself cannot injure unless the owner of the name allows it.

Advertising BUILDS, and what it builds it builds PERMANENTLY.

Take the two words, ATLANTIC CITY, and you know instantly that you have before you something that has been created first by intrinsic MERIT and second by intelligent ADVERTISING.

Any one of a half dozen automobile names means permanent prosperity, gigantic production, thousands of men well paid, tens or hundreds of thousands of customers well satisfied, and all that is built on MERIT and ADVERTISING.

What is the art of advertising? It is the art of getting a truthful idea from one brain into another—or into fifty million other brains.

In advertising, first you must create a thing the people WANT. That is the task of the manufacturer, the business man who understands production and quality.

After that you must MAKE the people KNOW that you have it. In addition to that you must, by description and convincing argument, MAKE the people WANT it.

Making the people know that the thing is to be had and making the people WANT that thing, such is the task of the advertiser.

Nature was the first great advertiser. And she did her best advertising in color, which would interest Mr. Kobler, of the Hearst American Weekly.

The first great and effective color advertisement was the brightly colored flowers, the blossoms advertising the honey to be obtained from them, thus attracting the bees and other insects necessary to carry the pollen and produce more flowers. The next great colored advertisement was the rainbow, announcing "no more floods."

Learn from Nature and the colors of the flowers and the plumage of the birds to make your advertising ATTRACTIVE.

In advertising or in conversation it is just as easy to present your facts in a PLEASING way as in any other way.

This is the age of hurry. Men want to do all they can in the few years they have. They want to finish in ONE lifetime. Advertising is the great TIME SAVER.

They say in England that a business built up slowly without advertising, from father to son, for a hundred years or more is a very respectable, nice business. And it is. But you can see in the United States the same kind of business, a hundred times as big, built up in ten years by American energy, PLUS EFFICIENT ADVERTISING.

They should realize that the advertising agent is to a business what the architect is to a building. The owner's money and the contractor's technical knowledge build the building. But it is a poor building if you don't have an architect mapping it out for you in advance and supervising it as it goes on.

So with business and the advertising agent, the specialist who is the architect of business.

For the young man advertising is a promising career. Advertising is in its infancy. There are plenty of chances ahead.

Advertising, intelligently understood, trains the mind in a hundred different directions. To be a thorough advertiser you must understand CLEAR, SIMPLE and CONVINCING writing.

A poor advertiser uses a hundred lines to make the reader think ONE line. The advertiser of real genius uses TEN lines and makes the reader think ONE HUNDRED lines.

What you write and put in the paper your employer pays for. What you make your reader THINK about your goods, after he has read it, you give to your employer for nothing. That is the thing for the advertising man to remember.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is a good thing the campaign is nearly over, for some of the political orators will surely be soon out of adjectives.

To the Electors of the West Riding of Peterborough:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—

At the recent Liberal-Conservative Convention, held to select a candidate to represent the Riding in the coming election of a member to the Provincial Legislature for the Riding, I received the unanimous nomination, and I desire, very briefly, to present my views on some of the questions which are involved in the contest, and to request your support.

I am fairly well known to many of the electors, having been a resident of the Riding all my life, and have taken considerable interest in public matters relating to the district.

I was, for some years, Alderman of the city of Peterborough, and for two years I held the office of Mayor, and since my retirement from the Council, have been honored by the election to the important office of Utilities Commission.

I believe that my services in these matters have been appreciated by those who have given the subject consideration, and I feel that my experience fairly fits me to render the Riding further services in the more important matters which are to be dealt with by the Legislature.

I unhesitatingly endorse the Hydro Electric, because the Province owns, directs and serves its people free from either departmental or private control.

Public ownership of all natural utilities, and the useful development of our natural resources, all for the benefit of the people.

Economy, (which we have not lately had in our Provincial administration) so that the burden of our growing taxation will cease to increase and presently be lessened.

That the Ontario Temperance Act must be strictly and faithfully enforced as it stands, unless the people by referendum indicate their desire for a change.

I am in favor of and will support our good roads system, but will demand that where the Province spends $1,000.00 it will get $1,000.00 worth of good roads, which is certainly not now the case.

W. H. BRADBURN

While I held the office of Mayor, proceedings were taken by which the city acquired its own light and power system. I am a strong believer in a public ownership of all natural utilities, and feel that the acquisition of the system has been of an immense advantage to the citizens of Peterborough, and those in the neighborhood who are sharing in its benefits.

The Ontario Temperance Act will no doubt be more or less discussed during the pending campaign, and I desire to clearly express my views in connection with that important matter.

The Act was adopted by vote of the whole people, after the questions involved had been carefully submitted to them, and the general provisions of the Act were adopted at the time by a very large majority. It is clear that the wishes of the people must be fully respected, and unless, and until, by a similar referendum the people show a desire for a change, the provisions of that measure must be rigidly enforced.

I recognize that upon the prosperity of the farmer depends, to a very considerable extent, the prosperity of the country as a whole, and I trust, if elected, that the farming community will submit and discuss with me all measures which can be advocated and which will tend to improve the conditions of those resident in the rural portions of the Riding.

The labor questions have always received due consideration from the Liberal-Conservative administration, and it is to such administration such valuable legislation as the Workmen's Compensation Act, and other measures for the protection of the working man, are due.

A vital question for the new Legislature will be that of economy. In regard to this and in other respects, the Drury administration has been an absolute failure. Elected on the platform of economy, the annual expenditure during the past four years has been almost doubled, without any material benefit to the people as a whole.

I shall, in the little time at my disposal, endeavour to present my views more at length at meetings to be held in my interest throughout the Riding.

Trusting for your support, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

W. H. Bradburn

Don't Squeeze Black-Heads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secertions from the skin, and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of peroxine powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off, and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.

TRIP.

It costs people an average of $60 apiece to attend a convention, after they get there, not counting railroad fare. This is the estimate by New York City merchants. Their town had 602 conventions in 1922, attended by over 400,000 people, who went away with 25 million dollars less than when they arrived.

However, he has to be very dull or drunken delegate to return home with less than $60 worth of good from mixing with a convention of people with similar interests. Twenty years ago, only the very rich have thought of spending $60 on a trade trip. Remember when people walked a half mile to save carfare?

POWER PLANTS WILL BE ERECTED BY HYDRO ON THE TRENT CANAL

This Will Take Care of Central Ontario For Many Years to Come — Campbellford News of Interest.

OILING THE STREETS.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13.—No word has been received here as to the contract for the construction of the new dam and power house (No. 8) by the Hydro Commission, although it is understood that the tenders were opened in Toronto last week. It is now thought that the work will be done by the Commission instead of by contract. The plant which is now in operation at Raney Falls, was built by day labor and the equipment that was then used is still on the ground. No matter under what system the construction is carried on there will be plenty of work for laborers and mechanics when it is started.

The first step in the extension was taken yesterday morning, when a gang of men started building a new transmission line from Meyersburg to the location of the proposed new plant.

Just as soon as preparations for the building of No. 8 dam and power house are out of the way, work will be started on another similar plant nearer to the town and to be known as No. 9. The plans for this latest addition have been completed. This with the dam at Belmont Lake, by which the level of that body of water will be raised 30 feet, and the building of a six mile canal to connect the lake with the Trent river at Healy Falls, will mean a vast addition to Hydro resources and will enable the commission to take care of the power needs of Central Ontario for years to come. The dam at Belmont lake will provide a reserve supply of water which can be utilized in the event of a protracted dry spell, such as that of last summer, when the Hydro was at times unable to produce all the power required in the district served.

Interest in Church Union.

The result of the vote on church union was awaited here with intense interest, especially by the clergymen and the members of the various denominations directly interested. The Examiner had a bulletin of the result of the vote nearly three hours before the arrival of the noon papers. There were no delegates from this immediate district at the General Assembly this year.

Ball Games To-day.

The schedule to-day for the Northumberland Baseball League is as follows: Colborne at Campbellford; Orland at Brighton; Roseneath at Hastings; Trenton at Harwood. Warkworth Veterans draw the bye this week.

The Campbellford team have been putting in some hard practice lately and as the Colbornes were the champions of the League last year the patrons of the sport can depend on seeing a good game at the Fair grounds this afternoon.

No Sewer Contract Let.

The contract for the construction of the concession road sewer has not yet been let and the Council may decide to do the work by day labor. Two tenders were received, one from T. A. Brown, who has the contract for building the new High school and the other from John Hall. Mr. Brown sent in with his bid a marked cheque and this has been returned to him.

Oiling the Streets.

The Law Construction Company have their apparatus here for oiling the streets by steam pressure, and the work started to-day.

The Council's Budget.

The Town Council has authorized the payment of the following accounts: James Parcels, labor, $2.30; Campbellford Herald, printing, $20.50; Mail and Empire, advertising debentures, $36.00; I. A. Humphries, legal service, $36.00; R. H. Cole, rent of opera house, $16.00; Barrett Company, tarvia, $58.62; A. C. Connor and Sons, lumber, $4.55; Municipal World, supplies, $5.10; James Parcels, removing garbage, $4.00; Pay Roll No. 2, $194.25; Pay Roll No. 10, $414.80; Pay Roll No. 3, $300.70; Pay Roll No. 11, $518.15; Arthur Graham, blacksmith, $4.25; Bell Telephone Company, $17.66; National Telegraph Company, $1.18; Advertising in Trent Waterway pamphlet, $65.00; Meals for vagrants, $14.40; Thomas Crawford, police duty, $6.00; George E. Morrison, signs, $25.00; Mason and Hawbrigg, repairing sewer, $3.00.

Several accounts were held up, as those sending them in failed to secure the O.K. of the party ordering the work on the supplies.

VISION AND DUTY A TIMELY THEME.

Anniversary Services of Fairmount Methodist Sunday School Conducted By Former Pastor.

MILLBROOK, June 13.— The Sunday School anniversary services of the Fairmount Methodist church were held on Sunday, June 10, Rev. Alfred Brown, of Queen Street church, Lindsay, being the preacher for the day. Rev. Mr. Brown was pastor on the Cavan South circuit about twenty-five years ago, Fallis Line, Carmel and Zion being the appointments at that time, the circuit then being separate from Millbrook.

The special numbers by the choir in the morning included the selection "Win one for Jesus every day," with obligato by Miss Marie McBain and a quartette, "Sweeter as the years roll by," by Misses I. Southern, M. McBain and W. Fallis.

Rev. Mr Brown chose his morning lesson from 1st Samuel, the third chapter, "The Child, Samuel, becomes Jehovah's Prophet Priest", taking his text from the 15th verse. "And Samuel lay until the morning, and opened the doors of the house of the Lord." "Vision and Duty" was the speaker's subject which he dealt with under three heads, after making an earnest plea that there should be a place made in the church's activities for the boys and girls. That our vision is often in strange contrast to our duty, was the first thought elaborated upon, the fact that Samuel emphasized being after "the Lord came, and stood, and spoke to him with audible voice" in the stillness of the night time, arose in the morning, and, as usual, "opened the doors of the house of the Lord"—a very small task, but one a boy could do. Yet how commonplace following the wonderful experience of the previous hours. Duty and today are ours, results and futurity belong to God. We may have high visions that never find expression in action, but what we cannot accomplish, through lack of skill, is not lost. No painter ever puts upon the canvas all the beauty he sees in the landscape, but the vision of his soul is not wasted; God sees to that, in every life.

Vision should never present duty-doing. Rhoda the maid in John Mark's home, forgot her duty and failed to admit Peter when he came knocking for admittance while the "cottage prayer-meeting" of the disciples for his deliverance, was in progress. The path of duty is the only path of safety, happiness and usefullness.

Vision and Duty.

Vision and duty makes up the Christian life, but vision without duty is simply visionary—it works out to no practical purpose. The life with no vision produces merely the moralist, and mortality alone cannot lift this sinning world. The Sunday School teacher, lacking vision, is sure to fail. Lacking a personal vision of Christ as Saviour, the worker, not matter how gifted in natural talents, become one with the curious crowd who sat for a half day on the slopes of Golgotha, and saw only three men crucified, when the most stupendous fact in all history was being enacted before their unseeing eyes. Men and women of the best training and ability are required to carry on the Sunday School work today, but their must be no sham Christianity, no unwillingly done task, if they are to win the young to salvation. The daily consecration, daily vision of Christ through personal devotions, is absolutely essential; not alone the "duty which makes us do thing well, but love, which makes us to duty beautifully."

MUSIC AN IMPORTANT ASSET IN THE HOME

CHICAGO, June 13.—(Associated Press).—The way to counteract the demoralizing and disruptive influences that draw young people more and more away from the home to seek recreation and pleasure elsewhere, is not by criticizing and attacking them, but by constructive educational work, Robert W. Lyon, Secretary of the American Better Home Bureau told the Music Industries Chamber of Commerce of the United States here.

"This kind of a campaign will stimulate interest in the home and teach people how to make their homes so attractive that their young people will not be so easily lured away," Mr. Lyon added. "In this program, music in the home should play one of the most important roles.

"We are trying to teach the people that beautiful homes are within reach of every income, however small, but this educational work cannot end with the mere physical construction and adornment of the home. The home that is to hold the love and focus the interest of youth must be dynamic and not static. There must be something doing, and one of the most powerful means of keeping the young folks at home is to make that 'something doing' music.

"I believe that the player-piano and the phonograph have done more in the last 25 years to create a desire for good music in the home than all the work of all the orchestras, operas, concert singers and teachers of music that went before them.

"With all the facilities that science and ingenuity have placed at the disposal of everybody, there is no longer any excuse for any home not having music, and good music.

To the Electors of East Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—

Having been chosen by a convention of the Liberal-Conservative Party to contest the Riding of East Peterboro at the coming election on June 25th, I would most respectfully, but very earnestly, solicit your support.

Believing as I do, that the present administration has incurred obligations and made expenditures far in excess of our needs or our ability to carry, I will if elected, do my utmost to bring about a more economical administration of the business of the Province.

I can see no reason for believing that the industries of this Province—Agricultural, Manufacturing or Mercantile—will enjoy any greater prosperity in the future than they have in the past, and for that reason do not consider it either fair or honest to pile up a huge debt that future generations may not be able to bear.

I am in favor, so far as the revenue will permit, of assisting the people financially with the many problems confronting them, but all such grants to be made without inducements or coercion to undertake expenditures that are not wise or in the best interests of the already over-burdened taxpayer.

It is my intention to meet as many as possible of the Electors before election day and shall try to place my views before you at the various public meetings I may be able to arrange in the short space of time available.

In seeking your support and influence in this campaign, I pledge myself, if elected as your representative, to do everything in my power to advance the interests of East Peterboro, recognizing as a farmer, the outstanding importance of our agricultural pursuits, upon which in fact, the prosperity of the Province so largely depends.

If elected, I shall submit and discuss with the electors all those measures which affect them and which I may be able to help put into effect in the Legislature, because I firmly believe that such a plan fulfills real democracy and is a duty that every member owes his constituents.

Trusting for your support and influence, I am

Sincerely and faithfully yours,

T. D. JOHNSTON

TALBERT WHIPPING CAMPAIGN ISSUE.

Candidates Lining Up on One Side or the Other—Scandal Started 20 Years Ago.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 13.—(United Press).—Abolition of the convict lease system and discontinuance of corporal punishment by legislative enactment will not end discussion of these two issues in Florida.

The lease and the lash will be an issue in the forthcoming political campaign in Florida. One prospective candidate for Governor vigorously opposed the lash. Another prospective candidate was just as vigorous in his advocacy of continuation of corporal punishment. The issue will apply all down the line of State offices, it is expected.

The rumbles from the people for abolition of the lease system have been heard for years. They started 20 years ago, when F. O. Miller, now a member of the House from Duval County, headed a movement to abolish the lease system. It met with absolutely no success at first, but every succeeding legislature felt the pressure growing on one side from the people for abolition, and increasing on the other for a continuation of it, from the turpentine interests, who were the largest users of convict labor.

A Partial Victory.

The people won a partial victory in 1921, when the Legislature passed a new law, forbidding leasing of State prisoners.

The leasing of county prisoners continued until the people of Florida, in an insistent call for vengeance for the death of Martin Tabert, swept it out of existence.

The death of Martin Tabert, a North Dakota boy, wandering in Florida, precipitated—more than a year after he died—one of the warmest legislative fights the State has experienced in years.

Out of that fight grew:

The abolition of the lease system.

The abolition of corporal punishment

Indictment by a Federal Grand Jury of T. W. Higginbotham, "whipping boss," William Fisher, camp superintendent of the Putnam Lumber Company, and Sheriff J. R. Jones of Leon County, on peonage charges.

Removal by the Senate of Jones as sheriff of Leon County.

Removal by the Senate of Benjamin F. Willis, as county judge of Leon County.

Recommendation for the dismissal of J. B. Thomas as prison inspector.

Testimony that State Senator T. J. Knabb operated a human slaughter "pen" at his convict camps in Baker County.

These are the concrete things accomplished as a result of an investigation by the Florida Legislature of charges preferred by the Legislature of North Dakota against the Putnam Lumber Company in connection with the death of Tabert in the Clara Camp of that company February, 1922.

North Dakota's Legislature, in a memorial to the Florida assembly, charged that a whipping boss of the Putnam Company had beaten Tabert to death.

Legislators Indignant.

Many legislators of Florida were indignant. They felt affronted. And, besides, they pointed out, such an investigation was not within the scope of legislative duty, but belonged to the executive branch of the Government.

Two members of the Senate and three members of the House were named a joint committee to conduct the investigation.

Within three days after they started the State was startled by revelations of shocking brutality that, witnesses said, had been practised in the camps operated by the Putnam Lumber Company.

The Legislature itself was hard to convince. It required many witnesses to buttress the testimony of the first ones, who had charged that men were forced to work 12 hours a day—from sunup to sundown—most of the time in water waist deep, with inadequate food, and the fear of a three and a half foot leathern lash hanging over them if they stopped their feverish activity for one moment, except when the guard command.

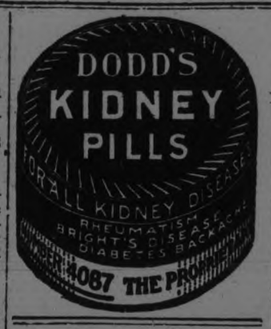
Told of Whipping.

The committee was told of the whipping of Tabert, who was described as ill with malaria, foot-sore, with shoes too small for his swollen feet, and forced to work with the remainder of the convicts.

Twice Tabert was whipped. The second time was fatal, witnesses said, and they described with horrible exatitude the fury of the whipping boss as he applied the lash until his victim could scream no more. T. W. Higginbotham was charged with having whipped Tabert to death. He will also face peonage charges preferred by the United States Government in connection with the working of an old negro, Ned Thompson, at the Clara Camp. With him in these charges will appear ex-Sheriff J. R. Jones of Leon County, and William Fisher, superintendent of the convict camp at Clara.

The Federal authorities charge Jones with having sent the negro to the camp without trial, and Higginbotham and Fisher with having made him work, notwithstanding he had not been sentenced to the camp.

Higginbotham's attorney in the murder trial is L. E. Wade, representative in the Legislature from Clay County.



ENGLAND WORRIED OVER EMIGRATION TO AMERICA

LONDON, June 13.—(Associated Press)—Great Britain is worried over the increasing number of skilled artisans and domestic servants who want to take up their abodes in the United States. The stream of emigrants which has flocked from these shores to America has caused a special committee of the government to inquire into the causes.

Only the exhaustion of the annual quota of British subjects eligible to enter the United States under the percentage law has prevented tens of thousands of others from pitching their tents unedr the Stars and Stripes. With the exception of France and Germany, practically every nation is now barred from sending emigrants to America until next July, when the new annual quota begins. Already the steamer bookings from the United Kingdom to America for July, August and September are full.

"America may still be the melting pot," remarks the Westminister Gazette editorially, "but its legislators are keeping a stricter eye upon the metals which go into the alloy than ever before. The British race is given a certain measure of flattery in an evident disposition to welcome more of its members, but that is scarcely surprising when we discover that the people whom we send are in large measure domestic servants and skilled workers, neither of whom we can afford to lose."

Election News

TORONTO, June 13.—(Canadian Press).—Lukewarm prospective candidates for the Ontario general elections are to-day making their eleventh hour decisions as to whether or not to let their names stand at the official nominations to-morrow for the Legislature. Campaign organizers are using their best efforts to-day to see that the list of entries give their respective parties the best field to win. Undoubtedly there will be many "scratches" before the big race officially starts after nominations close to-morrow.

The closing up in the Liberal ranks in Toronto was indicated last night when Colonel H. S. Cooper, who was one of the Liberal members from Toronto in the last Legislature, was given the official nomination of the Liberal convention for North-West Toronto. It had been considered doubtful whether Col. Cooper would be the official nominee. Captain H. S. Mullowney was named for the other North-West Toronto seat. Alderman W. H. Shaw was also nominated by the Liberal convention in North-East Toronto.

According to the Globe's correspondent with Hon. E. C. Drury, the Premier is setting the pace for all other leaders in vigor of his speaking tours. The Premier is addressing more meetings and making longer speeches than his opposing leaders. Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Provincial Hydro-Electric, and Conservative candidate in London, in addressing the Commission meeting in that city, attacked the newspapers which, he said, were opposed to Hydro and public ownership. "This meeting with Hydro affairs must be stopped," said Sir Adam. "Municipal affairs have been interfered with in the past three and a half years as never before."

Much interest has been aroused by the announcement that Hon. Howard Ferguson, conservative leader, and Hon. W. E. Raney will meet on the same platform at Fergus on a debate on the Government's enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act.

MANCHESTER TAX RATE IS HIGHEST IN WORLD

LONDON, June 13.—(Associated Press)—The debt of the city of Manchester is the largest municipal debt in the British Empire. The debt at the present time is estimated at 30 million pounds sterling and the assets of the city at 46 million pounds sterling.

To raise the necessary funds for municipal expenses and interest on the debt, the city council recently passed a bill providing for a rate of 12 shillings in the pound, or 60 percent, for taxes for the coming year.

The assessable value in English cities, however, is not based on the value of the property but on the annual rental value. In the case of the city of Manchester its assessable value is higher than any city in Great Britain, which means that the inhabitants of Manchester are paying more taxes than any other people in the British Empire and therefore probably more than any other people in the world.

NAVY BAND WINS.

WASHINGTON, June 13. — (United Press).—The prize syncopators of the Navy Band will help enliven President Harding's cruise to Alaska aboard the transport Henderson.

Thirty of the Navy Band's best will make the trip, much to the disgust of U. S. Marine Band tooters, who had hoped to get that privilege.

The Navy musicians will play as an orchestra or a jazz band. They are experts either way.

After the return from Alaska, they will return to Washington by rail, stopping at a dozen big cities enroute for concerts.

Calvin Gray occupies the most expensive suite in the most exclusive hotel in Dallas. Having introduced himself to the hotel manager, to the president of the largest bank and to the mayor, he manages to secure for himself a writeup in the leading newspaper. In the hotel dining room Gray meets an old friend, who is vice president of the biggest jewelry house in Dallas. Gray offers to go to Ranger and sell some valuable diamonds to Gus Briskow, who has struck oil. Barbara Parker, daughter of Tom Parker, returns to her home in Dallas, having spent four years in college.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

They argued that a region so poor above-ground must of necessity contain values of some sort beneath the surface. But as for other natural resources, they scouted the belief in such.

Nevertheless, petroleum was discovered, and among the fraternity that dealt in it Ranger became a word of contradiction and of deep meaning.

The town became a niobilization point, a vast concentration camp for supplies, and amid its feverish activity there was no rest, no Sundays or holidays.

This was about the state of affairs that Calvin Gray found on the morning of his arrival. He and Mallow had managed to secure a Pullman section on the night train from Dallas.

From the first Mallow had laid himself out to be entertaining and helpful, and Gray obligingly permitted him to have his way. When they had finished breakfast, he even allowed his companion to hire an automobile and driver for him. They shook hands finally, the best friends.

The Briskow farm, it appeared, lay about twenty miles out, but twenty miles over oil-field roads proved to be quite a journey.

"Gray's driver finally pointed out the Briskow ranch. The house, an unsightly story-and-a-half affair, stood at the back of what had once been a cultivated field.

Nobody answered Gray's knock at the front door, so he walked around the house. Over the garden fence, grown thick with brambles, he beheld two feminine figures, or rather two faded sunbonnets topping two pairs of shoulders, and as he drew nearer he saw that one woman was bent and slow moving, while the other was a huge creature, wide of hip and deep of bosom, whose bare arms, burnt to a rich golden brown, were like those of a blacksmith, and who wielded her heavy hoe as if it were a toy. She was singing in a thin, nasal, uncultivated voice.

Evidently they were the Briskow "help," therefore Gray made his presence known and inquired for the master or mistress of the place.

The elder woman turned, exposing a shrewd, benevolent face, and after a moment of appraisal said, "I'm Mis' Briskow."

"Indeed!" The visitor smiled his best and announced the nature of his errand.

The women regarded each other silently, their facial expressions hidden beneath their bonnets; then the mother exposed her countenance a second time, and said, "Mister, this is Allegheny, our girl."

Miss Allegheny Briskow lifted her head, nodded shortly and stared over the hoe handle at Gray. Her gaze was one of frank curiosity, and he returned it in kind, for he had never beheld a creature like her.

The mother abandoned her labor, wiped her hands upon her skirt, and said, with genuine hospitality: "Come into the house and rest yourself. Pa and Buddy'll be home at dinner time."

There were three rooms to the Briskow residence, bedrooms all, with a semi-detached, ramshackle, whitewashed kitchen at the rear and separated from the main house by a narrow "gallery." Into the front chamber, which evidently did service also as a parlor, Mrs. Briskow led the way. By now she was in quite a flutter of excitement. For the guest she drew forth the one rocking chair, a patent contraption, the rockers of which were held upon a sort of track by stout spiral springs. Its seat and back were of cheap carpet material stretched over a lacquered frame, and these she hastily dusted with her apron; then she seated herself upon the edge of the bed and beamed expectantly.

The volunteer salesman spread out his dazzling wares upon the patchwork counterpane, then stepped back to observe the effect. Ma Briskow's hands fluttered toward the gems, then reclasped themselves in her lap; she bent closer and regarded them fixedly. The Juno-like daughter also stared down at the display with fascination.

"Please examine them. I want you to look them all over," Gray urged.

Mrs. Briskow acted upon this invitation only after she had dried her hands, and then with trepidation.

THE WOMEN TRIED ON ONE PIECE OF JEWELRY AFTER ANOTHER.

Gingerly, reverently, she removed a ring from its resting place and held it up to the light. "My! Ain't it sparkly?" she gasped, after an ecstatic pause.

"We've never seen noth—anything, nor been anywhere, yet." It was Mrs. Briskow speaking. "But we're goin'. We're goin' lots of places and we're goin' to see everything with seeds', so Pa says. Anyhow, the children is. First off, Pa's goin' to take us to the mountains."

The mother faced the visitor at this announcement and for a moment she appeared to be gazing at a vision, for her wrinkled countenance was glorified.

Although the mother's emotion was aroused by the price marks on the price tags, Allegheny paid little attention to them and began vainly fitting ring after ring to her fingers. All were too small, however; most of them refused to pass even the first joint, and Gray realized now what Gus Briskow had meant when he wrote for rings "of large sizes." Eventually the girl found one that slipped into place, and this she regarded with complacent admiration.

"This one'll do for me," she declared. "And it's a whopper!"

Gray took her hand in his; as yet it had not been greatly distorted by manual labor, but the nails were dull and cracked and ragged and they were inlaid in deep mourning. "I don't believe you'll like that mounting," he said, gently. "It's what we call a man's ring. This is the kind women usually wear." He held up a thin platinum band of delicate workmanship which Allegheny examined with frank disdain.

"Pshaw, I'd bust that the first time I hoed a row of 'taters," she declared. "I got to have things stout, for me."

CHAPTER V

Pa Briskow Buys Diamonds

FOR perhaps half an hour the women tried on one piece of jewelry after another, exclaiming, admiring, arguing, then the mother realized with a start that meal time was near and that the menfolks would soon be home. Leaving Allie to entertain the guest, she hurried out, and the sound of splitting kindling, the clatter of stove lids, the rattle of utensils came from the kitchen.

Gray retired to the patent rocker, Miss Briskow settled herself upon a straight-backed chair and folded her capable hands in her lap; an oppressive silence fell upon the room. Having exhausted the usual commonplace topics in the course of a monologue that induced no reaction whatever, Gray voiced a perfectly natural remark about the wonder of sudden riches. He was, in a way, thinking aloud of the changes wrought in drab lives like the Briskows' by the discovery of oil. He was surprised when Allegheny responded:

"Ma and me stand it all right, but it's an awful strain on Pa," said she.

"Indeed?"

Gray endeavored to learn the nature of Pa's recently acquired eccentricities, but Allie was flushing and paling as a result of her sudden excursion into the audible. Eventually she trembled upon the verge of speech once more, then she took another desperate plunge.

"He says folks are going to laugh at us or with us, and—and rich people have got to act rich. They got to be elegant." She laughed loudly, abruptly, and the explosive nature of the sound startled her as greatly as it did her hearer. "He's got to get somebody to teach Buddy and me how to behave."

Now that the girl was beginning to lose her painful embarrassment, she showed to somewhat better advantage and no longer impressed him, as bovine, stolid, almost stupid.

"First off, Ma and me are goin' over to Dallas to do some tradin'," the girl was saying. "After that we're goin' to the mountains."

"Your mother mentioned mountains."

"Yep. Her and Pa have allus been crazy about mountains, but they never seen 'em. That's how me and Buddy came to be named Allegheny and Ozark. But we never expected to see 'em. The drought burned us out too often."

Gus Briskow was a sandy, angular man; a ring of air holes cut in the crown of his faded felt hat showed a head of hair faded to match the color of his headgear; his greasy overalls were tucked into boots, and a ragged Joseph's coat covered his flannel shirt.

He came directly in to greet his visitor, then said: "I never expected you'd come 'way out here an' bring your plunder with you. Ma says you got a hull gripful o' di'mon's."

"I have, indeed." Gray pointed to the glittering display still spread out upon the varicolored counterpane.

Briskow approached the bed and gazed curiously, silently down at the treasure, then his face broke into a sunshiny smile. He wiped his hands upon his trousers legs and picked up a ring. But instead of examining the jewel, he looked at the price mark, after which his smile broadened.

Ozark had entered behind his father, and his sister introduced him now. He was a year or two younger than Allegheny, but cast in the same heroic mold.

The elder Briskow spoke first, and it was evident that he feared to betray lack of conservatism, for he said, with admirable restraint:

"Likely-lookin' lot of trinkets, eh, Bud?"

Bud grunted. After a moment he inquired of Gray, "How much is that hull lot with, Mister?"

"Close to a hundred thousand dollars."

A LETTER FROM MR. BURNHAM

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—As the campaign proceeds it becomes more manifest that there is no getting away from the fact that Drury has firm allies in all those who will likely have work on the upkeep of his highways. Of course those living near or on the highways got work at good prices and sometimes sold bits of their farms at very good prices, with all sorts of plums like stone roadways to their barns thrown in. And when we consider that the heavy high-speed car (not the ordinary truck or ordinary car) sucks up all but concrete surfaces and plunges into them as if they were wind, especially at very dry or very wet times of the year, we see that the prospects for work on the upkeep look good for those near these through-roads, and all sorts of arguments are being offered for the return of Drury to power by these men. It is surely paying an awful price for the little increase in tourist traffic (if any). Peterborough has not built any new hotels for the increased traffic, nor has any other place. It looks as if an attempt is being made to stampede the rest of the population into providing for the few. It's the unnecessarily high-powered, high-speed passenger car that is doing all the damage, and the solution of the difficulty here, as has been determined on in Great Britain and the United States, lies in recognizing the fact that highways are not speedways, and that if common-sense does not prevail the expense and injury will be out of all bounds in comparison. Complaints are general and sometimes pretty savage now that the Pullman autos rushing through the country are more dangerous to the natives than runaway horses. It looks as if we are in the way of being taxed out of business in Ontario for the benefit of those who seem to be quite willing to get rich quick at the expense of the rest. Then we have the high-powered bootlegger. He must have good roads or he can't fill all his orders on time. He's in favor of good roads and prohibition. He's also a Drury man from the word "go." Then, too, we have all the grape-growers and wine-makers of Western Ontario, and of all other Ontario for that matter, taking advantage of the clause in the O.T.A. which exempts wine—of any strength—made from grapes so long as they are grown in Ontario. Look out for Drury! Don't be too sure of beating him. Then, for enterprising young men contemplating a political or public career, what prospect is finer than such a one as this? Drury was told by his departmental offices that it was necessary to renew a fourteen million dollar loan. Does he advertise? Does he try to see what competition will do? He does not. He goes to the Toronto brokers and asks their advice, and the Toronto brokers say that now is the time and they are the people. They take up the loan at 92—just think of a good Ontario loan going at 92, instead of par 100—and then sell it in New York at 102 the following week, pocketing one million four hundred thousand dollars profit for their firms, which we have to pay intimately.

Is anybody fool enough to believe that Drury and company were honest in that transaction? Is there anybody on earth crazy enough to call that good business?

FEAR UPRISING CHINESE TROOPS

President Li Yuan Hung Flees, Leaving Pekin Without Government—Soldiers Not Paid.

PEKING, June 13. — (United Press.)— President Li Yuan Hung fled from Peking to Tien Tsin this afternoon, fearing an uprising by dissatisfied Chinese troops. Peking, the capital of Northern China, is left without government as a result of the President's flight.

Many foreigners are entering the Legations for safety. It is feared the troops, who have not been paid for months, will start rioting and looting.

The situation in Peking is tense with the possibility of armed revolt by the soldiers, and foreign Legations are taking special precautions to protect their nationals. Flight of the President and fear of an impending reign of terror by troops follows the start of discussion by the powers of a demand upon China for indemnities for the kidnapping of foreigners by Shantung bandits on May 6.

Safeguard Foreigners.

The last of these prisoners who were taken into the hills after the Shanghai-Peking express had been wrecked, were freed Tuesday.

Foreign diplomats, upon receipt of word that all their Nationals were safe, entered into negotiations to consider what penalties should be demanded from China for the outrage, and what steps the government was capable of taking to safeguard foreigners against similar occurrences in the future.

The brigands who perpetrated the daring kidnapping of more than a score of foreigners, including Miss Lucy Aldrich, sister-in-law of John Rockefeller, Jr., and American army officers and their wives, at first demanded one million dollars ransom. Later they compromised, agreeing to release their prisoners provided that the bandit band be taken back into the Chinese army. It is this army which is now feared to be on the verge of running amuck in the capital. Some troops, notably the Christian Chinese, are well disciplined, but many of the soldiers have gone months without pay and are reported to be desperate.

Deserted by Friends.

Deserted at this critical juncture by a majority of his political friends, President Li Yuan Hung abandoned a fight to retain office which he has kept up since his government resigned last month.

His flight to Tien Tsin was hastened by the resignations of Feg Yun Siang, the Christian General commanding a loyal body of troops, and Wang Nuai Ching, Peking Chief of Police.

MR. J. H. BURNHAM SCORED T. TOOMS

Contended at Bridgenorth That Labor Candidate Had Not Represented Farmers.

(Contributed)

Mr. W. H. Bradburn, the Liberal-Conservative candidate, accompanied by Mrs. Howard Fallis, president of the Conservative Women's Association of West Peterborough, and Mr. J. H. Burnham, ex-M.P., spoke in the interests of the candidate at a meeting in the Foresters' Hall, Bridgenorth, last evening. Mr. Hughes-Charles was in the chair.

Mr. Bradburn, the people's candidate in this election, said that he was a business man, and dealt with public affairs as such. He had been pretty well through the riding, and found that people were quite confident that he would be elected on 25th June. Mr. Drury's Party had been elected as the chief group because the farmers and many others wanted greater economy in the management of the public affairs of this Province. Instead of that, the Drury Government have increased its ordinary expenditure by many millions. There has been a tremendous waste of public funds, and the consequence is higher taxation for the people. The farmer complains bitterly of his having been betrayed by men supposed to be his own friends. As an instance of increased taxation laid upon the shoulders of the people by Drury, he cited the extraordinary tax levied on the transfer of real estate. This is a new tax. People buying and selling property have this extra tax to pay, and it means a very serious burden. Then the speaker showed that the money—the very large amount of money—spent on good roads had not produced good roads, so that Mr. Drury had no excuse whatever or justification for the immense waste of money. The Drury Government has spent 38 millions of dollars on bad roads, instead of good roads, so far, and yet only one-eighth of their programme of roads is completed. Ontario will be swamped if this sort of thing is not stopped. Mr. Drury has spent only one dollar out of every $601 on side-roads and six hundred on tourist roads, most of which are in Western Ontario, but Eastern Ontario has to pay accordingly. The speaker said that the only people who were satisfied with Drury's road expenditure are those working on the roads. Drury has also been guilty of more patronage than any other Premier who ever ruled in Ontario. He was perfectly shameless about it, and Mr. Bradburn enumerated several instances, amongst them the appointment by Mr. Tooms of his own brother-in-law as Division Court Clerk in Peterborough for city and county. This was a most barefaced violation of Mr. Tooms' pledge to the people. Mr. Bradburn said that prohibition was the will of the people and must remain law until the people changed it. That was his stand upon the prohibition question. It must be enforced and carried out in every particular.

Received With Applause.

Mrs. Howard Fallis, President of the Conservative Women's Association of West Peterborough, was received with applause and began her address by developing the situation that has arisen in Ontario. She cited the new Drury taxes as a bold attempt to make up the reckless expenditure of the Government by bluffing the people with new and wholly unnecessary taxes. After pointing out the entire lack of business knowledge of the Government and its disastrous consequences, she greatly amused the audience by pointing out that when Mr. Whitney was Premier that same Mr. Drury headed a delegation to protest against any expenditure on good roads of the very kind and purpose that he has now built himself. But Mr. Whitney's proposed expenditure was only $6,000,000, and now Drury has not only spent already $22,000,000 on good roads, but at least 50 million more is to follow. Mrs. Fallis cited the instance of a man employed at ten dollars a day on the Port Hope-Peterborough highway to water trees along the road, and when he was told that the trees were all dead that he was watering and he was doing wrong, he replied that he didn't care, he was getting ten dollars a day and it was nothing to him whether the trees were dead or not—that wasn't his business.

The Tooms' Pamphlet.

Mr. Burnham said that he was astonished to read the pamphlet issued by Mr. Tooms in this election, and this pamphlet Mr. Burnham read to the audience, and there was no reference in it that he could find to farmers at all. He read Mr. Tooms' pamphlet so that the audience could judge for themselves, and he thought that Mr. Tooms could hardly claim to have represented the farmers. Mr. Tooms also says in his pamphlet that the capitalist system now in vogue has broken down. Mr. Burnham wanted to know what system Mr. Tooms wanted. It must be the socialist system, and from the pamphlet of Mr. Tooms no other inference could be drawn than that Mr. Tooms is a socialist who wants to see socialism brought in as soon as possible. Mr. Tooms is undoubtedly a socialist. Mr. Burnham challenged him to deny it. Socialism, Mr. Burnham said, was a bait held out not for those who like the farmers' possessed property, but to those who had no property.

NEW OBSERVATION CARS

May 15th marked another advance move on the part of the Canadian National Railways, when an entirely new type of Mountain Observation Car, aptly described as a "Sun-Room on Wheels" was put into service on the Mountain Division between Jasper and Kamloops. These cars will continue to be attached to daily trains Nos 1 and 2 until September 30th.

They are the most up-to-date and satisfactory type of mountain viewing car anywhere in use on the continent. Their excellent appointments enable travellers passing through the Northern Canadian Rockies to view the magnificient scenery on both sides of the car with the utmost ease and comfort, irrespective of weather conditions.

These cars have been called "Sun-Rooms on Wheels" owing to the large amount of glass used in their construction, the windows running from the seat arm rests to the ceiling.

The seats are arranged transversely on each side of a centre aisle as in an ordinary car, there being seating capacity for 64 passengers. The platforms provide capacity for 36 additional persons. The entire car siding is of steel with interior finished in British Columbia cedar, stained mahogany. The interior is equipped with the most up-to-date ventilators, electric lights and shades.

WANTS TO SEE CANAL OPENED

half and two million dollars to complete.

"The completion of the Trent Canal," said Mr. Stuart, "would be a great advantage to the Dominion of Canada and would furnish an additional profitable transportation route from the Great Lakes to the St. Lawrence River. If the Canal were completed the Government would get some return upon the $12,000,000 they have already spent, whereas the return they are now getting is quite insignificant. Our own company would be prepared to build a terminal elevator upon the Georgian Bay near the entrance to the Canal, and would put on a fleet of barges for the carrying of grain from the Georgian Bay to Peterboro and to carry the finished product from Peterboro to Montreal. Every city, town and village, and in fact the whole farming community between Georgian Bay and Trenton would receive a direct and a great indirect benefit through the lessening of freight rates and by reason of cheap transportation that could be furnished on a water route. The Thousand Islands is a very attractive summer resort for the American people, and if this Canal were completed you would find not only thousands but tens of thousands of American tourists that would spend their holidays in Ontario and would take their large motor boats through the Trent Canal and proceed through Georgian Bay, Lake Huron, St. Clair Lake and River, Detroit River, Lake Erie, Welland Canal and Lake Ontario. In fact the scenic beauties of the Trent Waterway would no doubt so strongly appeal to them that when they arrived at the Georgian Bay they would make the return trip over the same waters.

"In the face of these facts," said Mr. Stuart, "is it not false economy to allow such a great national asset to remain undeveloped and uncompleted. It is a great surprise to me that your Chamber of Commerce, your City Council and your County Council do not take some active steps to impress this and many other facts upon the Dominion Government. It is true Canada has a great national debt, but that debt can only be paid in the least burdensome way by having the great natural resources of Canada developed and the most profitable use made of such resources as they are developed."

Hold Festival

A suggestion was made to hold a reception or festival of some sort at the new Shelter, and invite the general public to come and inspect the house and grounds. The ladies, who expect to have considerable work in connection with moving and settling and hope to start next week some time, were of the opinion that they could not possibly be ready in time for a proposed strawberry festival. "Well, never mind, we can have bananas if we are too late for strawberries," remarked Mr. Stocker, and it was agreed that the proposed affair should be held as soon as the ladies can conveniently arrange it.

The property committee, composed of F. H. Dobbin, chairman W. Stocker, and Dr. D. C. King were appointed to make a further public appeal, with power to add to their numbers.

Mrs. J. S. Fanning reported a list of furnishings, including stove, kitchen utensils, fixtures and sundry necessities, already purchased for the new premises, amounting in all to $165.50

Mr. Powell spoke of a drive for the children of the Shelter, accompanied by the children of St. Vincent's Orphanage, which will be given by one of the Masonic Lodges of the city on Thursday evening of this week.

Mr. J. Edgar spoke of the splendid condition in which he and Mr. Powell had found Shelter wards who had been placed out by the agent, and referred in a very complimentary manner to the excellent work of Mr. Powell in this regard, as evidenced by the happy and comfortable homes in which Shelter wards had been placed.

At the next meeting of the Board of Directors of the Shelter on July 10th, the regular business session will be followed by the annual trip to Burleigh, where the members will spend a jolly evening with Mr. and Mrs. Darcey.

CHURCH WOMEN GAVE PLEASANT GARDEN PARTY

The Church Women's Association of St. John's church held a very enjoyable and well-attended garden party yesterday afternoon and evening at the residence of F. D. Kerr, K.C., 586 Rubidge street. The pleasant weather conditions and the attractive surroundings made this a heartily enjoyed event, where most of the festivities took place out of doors, on the spacious lawns and the roomy verandahs. Georgeous red peonies decorated the pretty interior. The guests were received by Mrs. F. D. Kerr and the president of the C.W.A., Mrs. David Mulholland.

During the afternoon, bridge was played, the tables being in charge of Mrs. George Boucher and Mrs. W. T. Hall. Prizes were won by Miss Nora Hatton and Miss Dorothy Hill.

The flower booth, colorful and fragrant, was supervised by Mrs. T. Lush and Mrs. G. Evans. Ice cream and lemonade was sold by Mrs. A. H. Stratton, Mrs. Lionel Scott and Miss M. English, and refreshments were in charge of Mrs. R. C. Fleiderman, Mrs. Arthur McClellan, Mrs. E. W. Borbridge and Mrs. Alex. Gibson.

During the evening, when Mr. Kerr proved himself a very efficient host, aesthetic and classical dancing on the lawn by Miss C. Littlefield's pupils at the Y.W.C.A. added much to the entertainment of the guests. Miss Littlefield was presented with two handsome bouquets of flowers, one from the C.W.A. itself, the other from the wardens of St. John's church, presented by Mr. G. W. Boucher. The profusion of Chinese lanterns above the graceful figures in the pretty dances, and the excellent music supplied by Roberts' orchestra, added a finishing touch to a very pleasant affair.

N. MONAGHAN COUNCIL MET

Need For Relief in Cochrane Stressed in Communication—Road Commissioners Appointed.

The regular monthly meeting of the North Monaghan Council was held at the Court House here on Monday, the 11th instant, all the members of the Council being present.

A communication from G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., was read regarding extension of mail-carrier service from the city to the Brownton district. The communication specified the conditions which would have to be complied with, such as numbering the houses, naming the streets and building of sidewalks and cinder-paths. After considerable discussion a motion was passed, instructing the Clerk to write Mr. Gordon, saying that such sidewalks could be built only by petition of property owners, and that it would not be legal or just for the Council to construct sidewalks at the expense of the ratepayers of the whole township, including the farmers.

The Council of the township of North Monaghan thinks that if the mail-carrier system is extended that it should include all districts where sidewalks are already built in the said township. This would include a considerable portion of the Claraday district, as well as Brownton.

Re Cochrane Relief.

A second communication from the Canadian Red Cross Society was read, telling again of the necessity of immediate relief for the typhoid fever stricken town of Cochrane. Considerable discussion took place, in regard to a grant for the aforesaid Red Cross Society, but no action was taken, as the majority of the Councillors were of the opinion that this should be dealt with by the County Council, and all then would pay their share of the cost involved in helping the town of Cochrane, which has been suffering for months from a terrible epidemic.

Repair Work.

H. C. Robinson of Monaghan road wrote, asking permission to place a two-foot tile in front of his property, also asking permission to fill in the ditch above the tile. A resolution was passed, granting Mr. Robinson's request, on condition that he leave the said ditch in good order in putting in the tile and that the tile be given the proper fall for drainage.

Councillor W. C. Fallis brought up the question of ditching, grading and gravelling the Cavan boundary in the 11th Concession. A resolution was passed, that Deputy-Reeve Lillico and Councillor Fallis be a committee with full power to act for ditching, grading and gravelling the Cavan boundary in the 11th Concession in North Monaghan, near the farm of J. O. Ball.

Road Commissioners Appointed.

Bylaw No. 884, to appoint Road Commissioners for the township of North Monaghan, was regularly read and finally passed. The following will be commissioners for 1923: Road division No. 1, Walter McKee; No. 2, John M. Lillico; No. 3, Gordon McIntosh; No. 4, Bert Cunningham; No. 5, Archie Patterson.

Wages of the Road Commissioners is $3 per day; for laborers, $2.50 per day; for teams drawing one and one-quarter yards of gravel, $5 per day.

Sundry Business.

A motion was passed that Mr. Albert Hunter be granted permission to cut the poplar and underbrush along the side line of the 9th Concession, near the farm of Mrs. Alton Wood, on condition that he leave elms, etc., along the fence for shade trees and that the brush be piled up.

A resolution was passed that D. H. Harper be paid $15 in full for furnishing dumping ground to date The Clerk was instructed to prepare a bylaw and agreement between Thos. Walker, owner, and J. N. Gilroy, tenant, in the township of North Monaghan, for furnishing the township with a dumping ground for the coming year.

A resolution was passed that the regular standing charity account be stopped, for the summer months at least, and the Clerk was instructed to give notice accordingly.

Reeve Rye reported that the cement culvert on High street, near Lundy's Lane, is about to collapse, and he is preparing to have the culvert properly stayed until such time as a new culvert can be put in during the dry period in the summer.

Accounts Passed.

The following bills were passed and ordered paid: W. J. Byers, groceries, charity, $4.85; W. J. Byers, ditto, $4.68; M. L. DUTIES INCREASED ON IMPORTS TO RHINELAND

COBLENZ, June 13.—(Canadian Press).—The Inter-Allied Rhineland High Commission has increased by 25 per cent. the duties on merchandise coming into the Rhineland from unoccupied Germany. The increase constitutes a penalty for the German defiance of the France-Belgian demand for cessation of the passive resistance and punishment for imposition by the German Government of onerous duties on foreign importations sent through the Rhineland.

In order to protect the Rhineland the Inter-Allied Commission's order exempt foodstuffs and certain raw materials needed by the local factories from the new punitive customs duties.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Much Interest Being Shown in the Large Number of Women Safely Carried Through the Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Following Letters Are Impressive

Owing to modern methods of living, few women approach this perfectly natural change without experiencing very annoying and often painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, nervousness, headaches, melancholia and irritability are only a few of the symptoms incident to this trying period of a woman's life, and the following letters prove the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to overcome these abnormal conditions.

"Fisherville, Ky.—"For several months I was under the doctor's care as he said my nervousness, chills, hot flashes and weakness was caused by the Change of Life, but I did not seem to get any better. I was not able to work and spent most of my time in bed. A friend called to see me and asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I cannot tell you how much good the medicine did me, as I had such a hard time before taking it. I can only advise every woman passing through the Change of Life to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it did so much for me."—Mrs. EDWARD B. NEAL, Star Route, Fisherville, Ky.

A Michigan Woman Helped

Ionia, Michigan.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and had been under the doctor's care without any relief. A friend in Lansing, Mich., asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel fifty per cent better already. If any one in this condition doubts the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to help them I will gladly answer their letters."—Mrs. MAX W. HAHN, 587 N. Jefferson Street, Ionia, Mich.

A New York Woman Helped

Syracuse, N. Y.—"I was used up with nervousness, weakness and hot flashes so I could hardly keep around, and could not get out much on account of those awful prickly feelings. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helping another woman with symptoms like mine. My husband got some for me, and after taking it five months I can get around and even do my housework, washing and ironing included, and my friends can see what a change it has made in me."—Mrs. SIDNEY HUMPHREY, 826½ Burnet Avenue, Syracuse, N. Y.

NAMED A NEW COMMITTEE ON CHURCH UNION

THE OLIVE BRANCH

PORT ARTHUR, June 13.—(Canadian Press).—At the close of the evening session of the Presbyterian General Assembly last night, the Moderator named a new committee on Church Union. This committee will in the near future meet similar committees from the Methodist and Congregational Churches and will discuss pressing questions in connection with Church Union. It will suggest methods by which the three Churches can co-operate at home and abroad, pending completion of final union. The first meeting of the committee will be held to-day.

The committee differs from those named in recent years, in that it does not contain the name of a single minister or elder who is opposed to Church Union. It will devote itself unanimously to the business of carrying out the policy of the Assembly, and is as follows: Dr. G. C. Pidgeon, Dr. C. W. Gordon, Dr. Geo. Hanson, Rev. S. T. Martin, H. A. Fleming, Gen. J. G. Woss, Sir James Woods, J. D. Higginbottom, Rev. Andrew Reid, Rev. Hugh Millar, Dr. W. J. Selkirk, Rev. G. G. D. Kilpatrick, Prof. John Matheson, Rev. J. R. Watts, Sir Robert Falconer, Dr. R. J. Wilson, Angus McMurchy, J. J. Gibson, Dr. J. H. Edminson, Dr. Robert Martin, Dr. D. C. McGregor, F. G. Harstone, Rev. D. M. Solandt, Principal W. C. Murray, Dr. Wylie Clark, Judge J. D. Swanson, Principal Oliver, J. P. Ross, Dr. Robt. Laird, Dr. W. E. Wilson, Dr. M. W. McKinnon, Dr. John McIntosh, Rev. Geo. Miller, Dr. G. A. Woodside, Col. C. G. A. Graham, Dr. David Christie, Principal Smith and Rev. J. K. Ramsay.

The Olive Branch.

Earlier in the day a report was made by Principal Murray, Saskatoon, and Rev. R. M. Eickie, Hamilton, members of the committee named Monday night to confer with the leaders of the minority on Church Union, to extend the olive branch and discuss possible changes in legislation with a view to the removal of ground of complaint, also to arrange that in cases where nonconcurrence was certain to make sure that the parting should be friendly. Among those who spoke appreciatively of the report were Rev. Dr. Drummond, Hamilton, and Rev. Dr. W. D. Reid, of Montreal, both of whom voted with the minority.

Dr. C. W. Gordon moved that the Assembly record its gratitude to God for the high spirit in which the debate had been conducted, and that it express its appreciation of the manner in which Dr. G. C. Pidgeon, chairman of the Union Committee, had discharged his duties. Reference was made to the effort made by Dr. Drummond and Rev. Dr. Sedgewick to introduce a method of keeping the Church together and to the spirit in which Dr. Fraser, of Montreal, had submitted his minority report.

"We have been contending for great principles and we have done it like Christian men," declared Dr. Pidgeon, epitomizing the spirit in which the debate of four days had been carried on. "We have passed through one of the greatest crisis in our history," said Dr. Gordon, "and it is a matter of deep gratitude to God that nothing has occurred in this debate to mar the fellowship we have had with another.

Seconding Dr. Gordon's motion, Dr. Sedgewick stated that, while he could not see eye to eye with either Dr. Gordon or Dr. Pidgeon in church union, he nevertheless appreciated the services Dr. Pidgeon had rendered the church, and for the rest he hoped to have his revenge when next he met him on the golf course.

Will Fall in Line.

The utterances of Dr. Sedgewick, Dr. Drummond and Dr. Reid were interpreted in Assembly as indicating that the section of the party which voted against union will in time fall in line with the great body of the church and enter the united church.

Rev. Dr. Endicott, foreign mission secretary of the Methodist church, appeared before the Assembly and paid high tribute to the leaders of the Presbyterian church of the past and present, mentioning among others the late Rev. Dr. J. M. King, former Principal of Manitoba College. He dealt wholly with church union and did it with such taste, cleverness and appreciation of sister churches that he won plaudits, approval and good will of the Assembly.

CANADA'S PROGRESS STEADY LAST YEAR

Financial Life of Dominion is Inherently Sound.

WINNIPEG, June 13.— (Canadian Press.)—"During the past year Canada has made steady progress towards that financial basis essential to orderly prosperity," declared A. L. Crossin, President of the Bond Dealers' Association of Canada, in his address at the opening session of the annual convention here yesterday.

"A noticeable reduction in the amount of outstanding Dominion notes not covered by gold," added Mr. Crossin, "encouraged the hope that shortly it will be possible for Canada to place her currency on a gold basis. Some of our bankers believe we could not resume and maintain gold payments without any undue strain on our resources or credit. This satisfactory position shows the inherent stability of Canadian financial life."

The morning session was occupied with the presentation of reports covering administration and finance of eastern and western sections of the organization.

Annual Garden Party a Success in Every Way —Closing Meeting I. O. D. E.—New Teacher.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13. — The annual garden party under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of the Methodist congregation wsa held last night on the church grounds, and as usual was a success from every stand point. Mrs. J. Nelson Stone is president of the society and she was ably assisted by her colleagues and other members of the congregation. The spacious grounds were brilliantly illuminated with electric lights and the booths gay with flags and buntings made a pretty picture.

The attendance was large and the financial results are gratifying, although the exact balance could not be ascertained last night. The Northumberland Regimental Band, under the leadership of R. T. Cowell, furnished an excellent musical programme.

One of the features of the evening was a chorus by little girls of the Sunday School who had been specially trained by Mrs. C. W. Turner, for the Sunday School service on Sunday and who repeated part of their programme last night. The children all dressed in white, and wearing garlands of bright flowers, made a pretty picture as they stood on the church steps under the electric lights and rendered their chorus, Mrs. Turner acting as leader.

The members of the Ladies' Aid of this church have always been famous for the excellency of their entainments and last night's social adds another success to their credit.

The ladies in charge of the different boothss were as follows:

Home Cooking—Mesdames T. I. Frederick and C. W. Palliser.

Flowers — Mesdames W. Abernethy and Percy Sherin.

Lunch Department — Mesdames Clarence Williams and J. A. Irwin.

A large corps of assistants helped out in the various booths and the business done in each was so brisk liberal as were the stock in each the supplies were nearly all disposed of bfore the party broke up.

Miss Smith Remains.

Miss Marion Smith, commercial teacher in the High School, who sent in her resignation at the May session of the Board of Education, to take effect at the end of the present term, has been prevailed upon to reconsider this step, and to remain in the position which she has filled so satisfactorily. Her present salary is $1900 and under the schedule she will receive $2000 next year.

Miss Smith's services are appreciated by Principal Greig, and the members of the board, and the withdrawal of her resignation will give general satisfaction to parents and teachers, as well as her associates on the staff. She has taken a prominent part in the social life of the town during her residence here and has appeared in amateur dramatics upon various occasions.

New Mathematical Teacher.

The Board of Education have engaged Earl Stephens as mathematical Teacher in the High School at a salary of $2000 a year, duties to commence with the beginning of the fall term.

Mr. Stephens, who is at present on the staff of the Jarvis street Collegiate Institute in Toronto, is a native of Campbellford, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Stephens, of town. He is a graduate of the local High School and has been in the profession long enough to demonstrate his ability as a teacher. He is the man the board had in mind from the time it was decided to engage a teacher for this department.

At present there is no regular mathematical master in the High School, this work being divided up among the other members of the staff, and this arrangement was the only weak point in the institution, a defect which will be made good by the engagement of Mr. Stephens.

Junior Chapter, I.O.D.E.

Bermersyde Chapter, I.O.D.E., the junior branch of the local organization of which Miss Hazel Atkinson is regent, will hold no more sessions until autumn. Their closing meeting for the summer took the form of an afternoon tea, after which Miss Donna Burgar, who was a nurse overseas, gave an interesting account of her war experience, together with impressions of the Russians and other races in Europe.

No Amount Mentioned.

Councillor Carter says that when he asked at the Council meeting Monday night if an offer had been received from Mason and Hawkrigg to settle their suit against the town before the case came up in court, he did not mention $600 or any other specific amount.

Since this case was disposed of, rumors have been flying about town to thee ffect that the plaintiffs did offer to settle for $600 and these reports were quieted when in reply to Councillor Carter Mayor Meyers stated that he had no knowledge of any such offer, Reeve Anderson making a statement to the same effect.

The Passion Play.

In the Passion Play to be presented at Coles' Opera House here tomorrow evening, June 14, you will have the opportunity of seeing those passages in the life of Christ which constitute the formation of Christianity portrayed with irresistible impressiveness. It is a true story of the Cross, shown on the screen with vivid realism and as produced in Ober-Ammergau every ten years, during the past three centuries. The greatest Miracle Play of the age will be here re-produced in natural coloring, and, accompanied with an interest-holding lecture, cannot fail to be instructive, as well as entertaining. Acceptable to both children and adults, it is preferable to a moving picture. Eighty-four colored descriptive slides of actual incidents in the great sacrifice of the Master are included in this feature offering to-morrow. Don't miss it.

WEDDING BELLS

LEE—WHITEHEAD.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13. — A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Christ Church at 10.30 a.m. on Tuesday, June 12, when Annie Eliza, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Whitehead, Victoria Street, was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Eccard Lee, of Toronto. The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, looked charming in her gown of ivory canton crepe, with customary veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of cream roses. She was attended by Miss Brown, of Toronto, who wore sand canton crepe with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and roses. Mr. Sylvester Whitehead, of Brighton, brother of the bride, performed the duties of groomsman. The wedding music was played by the organist, Miss Gertrude Maynard. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. C. E. Clarke, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served, after which the happy couple left on the 1.38 train for Toronto and other western points, the bride travelling in a smart suit of navy with sand hat. They will reside in Toronto.

The bride, who is one of the town's popular young ladies, received many valuable gifts, testifying to her popularity. She was tendered a miscellaneous shower at her home on Friday evening previous to her marriage.

SENIORITY RIGHTS FOR POST OFFICE SERVICES

WINNIPEG, June 13—(Canadian Press).—Organization of a postal pool through which promotions in the post office department would be made is being discussed by delegates attending the annual meeting of the Dominion Railway Mail Clerks' Association, which opened here to-day. A general scheme of seniority rights in the service and that railway mail clerks be afforded an opportunity of receiving appointments to positions in the urban offices are advocated.

CONCESSIONS BY TURKEY ARE STUMBLING BLOCKS

LAUSANNE, June 13.—(Canadian Press).—The Allied representatives at the Near East Conference renewed yesterday their suggestion for a provision in the Turkish peace treaty recognizing the validity of the pre-war concessions made by Turkey.

Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation, said the concessions were being dealt with at Angora, but he agreed to have his experts study the text of the Allied proposal.

The Allies told Ismet they did not think the Angora negotiations with the concession holders were progressing as well as the Turks contended and Ismet promised to investigate.

Among the Allies the impression prevails that the Turks are withholding a favorable reply to the concession question pending a settlement satisfactory to them of the Ottoman debt problem and the question of the evacuation of Constantinople.

T. D. JOHNSTON IN THE NORTH

East Peterborough Conservative Candidate Well Received in Apsley.

APSLEY, June 13.—Major T. D. Johnston, the Conservative candidate for East Peterborough made his first appearance in that capacity at Apsley on Monday evening, when he addressed a good sized audience in the Town Hall. He was supported by J. C. Strickland. The chair was occupied by W. Lean who after a few preliminary remarks called on Mr. Strickland to address the meeting. Mr. Strickland, in is opening remarks appealed for the support of the electors for Major Johnston whom he eulogised as a young man with ambition and a good record. The speaker confined his remark to to the question of good roads, as the one in which the electors of this part of the riding were chiefly concerned. The present government had promieed good roads to help the farmers but he could not see that the roads used by the farmers were better now than they ever were. It was true there were good provincial highways but the farmers were not getting the benefit of them. The money was going out instead of coming into the townships.

He was glad to see that a grant of $5000 had been made for the Burleigh Road and he had heard that the .UF.O. government had promised the same amount for eight years. The grant was a colonization grant and the present government could not grant any sum from that for more than one year. The U.F.O. could not take all the credit for this grant, as some Conservatives had had a lot to say in the procuring of it. Taxation had increased to $13,500 000 and although the farmers could not see it on their tax bills, they felt it in paying for what they had to buy

The Candidate

Major Johnston, who was given quite an ovation, dealt exhaustively with the vital questions of the day affecting the campaign. Mr. Drury, he said made three points in his address to the electors—the O.T.A.—th e Shevlin Clark deal and a return to power to finish his work. Dealing with the last, the speaker said that meant he will finish his work and as with him. After reveiwing the Shevlin Clark deal he went on to say that the Government had spent $170,000 to buy and discredit G. H. Ferguson Had they done so. Quoting Drury's own words he showed that Hon. Ferguson had not profited personally by one dollar.

Drury seemed to think that nobody except himself was capable of enforcing the O.T.A. yet all the leader of the three parties were agreed that it must enforced. Last week at Peterborough Mr. Drury challenged his opponents to point out one extravagant act of the Government. In 1919. The provincial debt covering a period of 52 years amounted to $97,000,000. In 1922, in 3 1-2 years it amounted to $141,000,000 and nothing to show for it. The Bond deal of 1921 cost $4000 when a five dollar cablegram could have done the work.

The Government House expenditures would be cut down when the U.F.O. got into power, yet it costs $6,000 a year more to keep up. The roads expenditure with its cost of $22,000,000 Provincial highways, with a width of 85 feet when Toronto and Peterborough found 66 feet a sufficient width under Hon. Mr. Biggs of course was not extravagance. Biggs was the boss highwayman. Major Johnston created some amusement in the itemizing of the cost of furnishing the Ministers private rooms in the House, which, he claimed, was squandering the people's money, when there were good hotels in Toronto for their accommodation. The speaker then went on to the auto markers deal and the Backus deal, going minutely into the details of both.

Dealing with taxation, he referred to a bill brought into the House at the end of the session to relieve rural municipalities from their share of the cost of the Provincial highways, but those who talked the bill out did good service.

Drury had made two promises—to cut out all expenditure that was not absolutely necessary, and to abolish patronage. How they had been kept, the first was shown by the sums spent on the furnishing of the private rooms of the Ministers and with regard to the second, it was only necessary to ask, How had Mr. Raney got his seat? and what about the lawyers' fees in the Shevlin - Clark Commission and others?

Major Johnston concluded by asking the electors to weigh all these facts carefully. It's your business and no one else, and you will cast your ballot according to your conscience.

CARDINALS' BASEMAN DIVORCED BY HIS WIFE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 13 (Canadian Press). — The divorce suit of Mrs. Sarah E. Hornsby against Rogers Hornsby, St. Louis National's second baseman, was taken under advisement by Circuit Judge Hogan in Domestic Relations Court after a brief hearing yesterday afternoon.

At the conclusion of the hearing, Judge Hogan announced the divorce was granted, and that custody of Rogers, Jr., two and one-half years of age, would be awarded to Mrs. Hornsby. But he immediately rescinded it by saying the decision had been announced inadvertently, and that it must follow the rules of the Court, which provides that no decree shall be granted in less than ten days after filling of the petition.

Mrs. Hornsby filed her suit on Tuesday.

The Cardinals' second baseman did not contest the suit.

ECONOMY.

People used to walk blocks to save five cents carfare—and often wore out several times that much shoe-leather. The busy man who used to cut his envelopes open and use them for scratch paper was called thirfty; now he'd be considered a time waster.

Popular ideas about economy of money are becoming more sensible. When it comes to economizing on time, the only thing of real value, we're as great wasters as ever. Most of our rush is just a nervous explosion, not a shortcut.

Love makes the world go around, without enough sleep.

Paving Delayed

On account of the mud the Paving Company had to cease operations for a couple of days last week and many of the men spent the week-end out of town. The work is now progressing rapidly. The first coat of pavement is laid from the tannery to Sturgeon street.

Property Damaged

Since the lowering and cutting down of Crawford's Hill, which one and all admit is a decided improvement for motors as well as other vehicles many comments have been heard as to the depreciation of the property owned by Mr. Thomas Eggleston which he had only recently purchased from the late John Sanderson. Only those who were familiar with the pretty residence can understand what a change has been made. Mr. and Mrs. Eggleston, are a middle-aged couple and now have twenty-one step to climb to reach the road in front of their house. But further down where the incline is not so steep, a gravel road was provided by the county which forms a back entrance to the property.

The heavy rains, they claim, have washed stones on to their property, thus ruining the fence and rendered the land unworkable. The house and cellar has been made dark and damp and sickness has resulted.

When investigated by county officials the damage did not look so serious to them. A Lindsay lawyer has been engaged by Mr. Eggleston to press his claim of $1500 damages. The County Road Board are a committee along with Reeve O'Reilly of Lindsay, Reeve Staback of Woodville and Mr. W. C. Moore, to settle the matter, if possible.

Dash For Freedom.

Last week Mr. George Spencer and son of Bethany purchased a fine Durham shorthorn two-year-old calf from F. M. Staples, Cavan. Mr. Spencer, Jr., undertook to lead the animal home, a distance of between four and five miles and all went well until Bethany school house was reached, where the children were out for recess. The noise of the little ones' merry-making scared the calf who succeeded in pulling Spencer of his feet, and effecting his escape. While Spencer went for help the calf made good use of his opportunity, disappeared and it was only after considerable search that he was located in Mr. Bigelow's field. Resenting all attempts at approaching him, one of the men in the chase finally succeeded in lassooing the animal, after which he allowed himself to be led quietly to his new home.

Bethany Won.

Bethany defeated Yelverton in a game of ball, played in Bethany on Saturday evening. The score was 17-5 in favor of Bethany. Ray Staples pitched for Bethany, Louis McGill for Yelverton. It was a fair game and the Yelverton boys were good sports, even when losing.

NEW STANDARD ADOPTED BY WORD COTTON TRADE

WASHINGTON, June 13 (Canadian Press). — The International Cotton Conference reached a decision yesterday for the adoption of the United States official cotton standards as the basis for the world cotton trade. Signature of the agreement was withheld pending the confirmation by cable from the various cotton exchanges.

The conference adjourned until 18th June to await replies to the recommendations of the foreign delegates that the United States standards and other questions agreed upon be adopted and their signatures placed on the documents.

The conference was called by Secretary Wallace at the request of the British Cotton Associations, which desired to present their views on the new cotton standards law before regulations for its enforcement finally were adopted.

The new United States law provides that all sales and shipments of United States cotton in interstate and foreign commerce must be in accordance with the United States official cotton standards. Heretofore much of the United States cotton sold abroad has been on Liverpool standards.

"BUY DAD A TIE"

Father's Day

June 17th

Everyone has a day but Father. The family bread-winner bears his burdens and smiles on. A day set apart in which some slight remembrance will be given him, will bring a broader smile to his face, and help cheer him on. This day, June 17th, set apart in the U.S. and Canada as Father's Day, it has been proposed that a remembrance that is inexpensive, and can be adopted generally, is most appropriate. The Slogan is, "Buy Dad a Tie," and the dealers whose names are attached to this announcement, will give special facilities for TIE SELECTION, by having extra displays and prices to suit all wishes at any time previous to Father's Day, June 17th.

SECOND ROUND FOR BRITISH GOLF TITLE

Many Well-Known Golfers Failed to Qualify at Troon --Walter Hagen Squeezed In.

TROON, Scotland, June 13. — Canadian Press. — When the roll is called on the first tee of the old Troon course Thursday for the starting of the British Open Championships, many famous golfers will be missing. Among the British golfers who failed to qualify yesterday are the veteran, Harry Vardon, who found conditions too terrible for him; Roger Wethered, the British Amateur champion, whose game was never good enough to qualify, and Aubrey Boomer, the former French title-holder.

Among the outsiders who failed to qualify, the most famous are Gene Sarazen, the United States Open Champion, and Jim Barnes, who formerly held that title.

These players forfeited the opportunity to enter the contest for the title when they failed in the first and second rounds of the qualifying competition to play the type of game necessary to get on the list of the elect. As it turned out 159 strokes for the 36 holes were good enough and not a stroke more.

Abe Mitchell, George Duncan, Edward Ray, Alexander Herd, J. H. Taylor, Cyril Tolley and other top-notchers in British golf all came through successfully. Walter Hagen the American golfer, who is the present holder of the British Open Championship squeezed into the tie for last place among those that qualified with 159 strokes. On Monday he played miserably and he began even worse yesterday but played the last nine holes like the master shot that he is, and qualified. Joe Kirkwood, the Australian champion, repeated his Monday score of 76 and will get a chance at the title.

Sarazen, who holds the United States open championship, seemed sure of a place among the elect when he struck off from the first tee yesterday morning, with a rippling wind blowing from behind him and mist falling all around, for he had made 75 yesterday. He was in trouble yesterday however as soon as that first hole was finished. He topped his drive off the second tee and took eight for the hole. Thereafter the ball flew from bunker to bunker, from tee to rough, with such amazing awfulness that he took 43 to go out and 42 to came home, visiting 7 or 8 sandy hazards on the way. Nor could he play like a champion even after getting the ball on the green, for he missed several short putts

"Long Jim" Barnes, with yesterday's 80 to beat, started well enough yesterday, going out in 38 but homeward bound his putting, never brilliant, became really bad at times. He took 42 to finish the last nine holes.

PLANS FOR TRACK EVENTS ARE MADE

A Meeting to Complete Arrangements Will Be Held at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday Evening.

In spite of the short notice several local athletes interested in track sports met at the Y. last evening for a preliminary discussion of the season's activities. Another meeting will be held on Friday evening at 7:15 o'clock at which a schedule of sporting events for the summer will be discussed and any other matters of importance which may come up.

It has been proposed that the Harrier club be formed under the auspices of the P.A.A.A. and that field events be held at various times during the summer. The plan is to put two or three races on before a baseball or football game and so give the local runners a chance to keep in condition. Several such work outs will help the runners get in shape for the big events in the fall and will tend to bring out any new material that may be available.

Every effort will be made to get as many as possible into shape for the Examiner Marathon and if any suitable material can be developed an effort will be made to have Peterboro represented on the Canadian Olympic team which will be entered at Paris in 1924.

Willie Ritchie Back Seeking Lost Laurels.

NEW YORK, June 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Willie Ritchie, christened Geary A. Steffen, former world lightweight boxing champion, is back in the pugilistic lists, seeking to gather a bit of the fame he knew before Freddie Welsh took the title from him in a 20-round engagement in London in 1914.

Ritchie became title-holder in 1912 when Referee Jim Griffin awarded him a decision over Ad. Wolgast on a foul in the sixteenth round of their engagement. He lost the crown to Welsh on a decision by Referee Eugene Corey, after 20 rounds of milling at the Olympic, in London.

COBOURG GAMES WILL BE BATTLE

Big Four Teams Are All in a Bunch and Every Game Is Important.

The Petes are playing in Cobourg today and on Saturday they clash with the Lakeshore team at Riverside Park. The result of the two games will have a whole lot to say about who is going to win the race in the first half of the Big Four battle for the teams are practically all in a bunch now with Belleville and the Petes tied for first and Cobourg and Kingston just a game behind. So close are they knotted that any one of the four could be ahead by Saturday night and every game will be fought out until the last notch.

Saturday will mark the first appearance of the Cobourg team here this season. They have a bunch of new players to trot out for the Peterboro fans to give the once over including the two Kenneys, Drennan, Jahren and Jackson and they have been going at a rapid clip for the past couple of weeks although they ran into a bump at Kingston on Monday.

Lefty McElroy is slated to pitch for the Petes today and Heckman will heave them over in Saturday's game here.

FAST SOCCER GAME A SCORELESS DRAW

Woollens and Thistles Unable to Score in Senior League Fixture Last Evening.

The League fixture between the Woollens and the Thistles was decided on King Edward Park last evening, and a grand game ended in a goalless draw.

The Woollens won the toss, and Richmond started for the Thistles, and sent Willis, who has been transferred from the War Vets., away on the right from his centre. Reid cleared, and Roberts gave to Leach, but Ralston came to the rescue with a huge drive. Burgess got away, and crossed to Richmond, who shot high over the bar. A free kick was given the Woollens. Cridland took the kick, but Ralston raced away and tested Chambers with one of his low, fast ones. From Chambers' return Roberts and Shaw, by some nice short passing, became dangerous, but Rae came to the rescue. Willis made some headway and forced a corner, which Monkman saved. He gave to Lee, who transferred to Shaw, Shott bringing off a nice save from Shaw's effort.

Half-time came with no scoring.

From the kick-off for the second half, the Woollens forwards went away, but Ralston and Rae were very safe, clearing in great style. Richmond got away and sent to Burgess, who forced a corner, which he placed on the bar. Cridland relieved the situation with a nice drive. The backs on both sides seemed to be too good for the forwards, and the play was confined to midfield. Richmond once got through, but handled the ball when well placed. Reid took the free kick, and sent the ball well up. Shuttle fastened on to the leather and looked like scoring, but Ralston relieved. Burgess made a beautiful run on the left, and Chambers gave a corner, which came to nothing.

The game was very cleanly and evenly contested, and time was called with the game ending in a goalless draw.

The teams were:
Woollens: Chambers; Cridland and Reid; Sayers, Monkman, and Warman; Leach, Roberts, Shuttle, Shaw, and Lee.
Referee, J. Clarke.

JUNIOR GAME ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Adanacs and Lakeviews Will Clash For the First Time This Season.

The first meeting of the Adanacs and Lakeviews is scheduled for [illegible] evening at Riverside Park. The game will start sharp at 6 o'clock and the boys are expected to turn in a brand of ball that will be worth watching. These two teams fought out a close battle for the Junior honors last year and the indications are that an even closer struggle will be put up this season.

The Lakeviews were nosed out last year and the Adanacs went through to make a great bid for the Ontario championship. Both teams have their batting eye on the Ontario title this year and the local fans have conceeded that which ever team can capture the local city league has an excellent chance for the championship.

"Jeff" Hardill will do the hurling for the Adanacs with "Hap" Wilgar as his battery mate on the receiving end. Whitehouse and Collins will form the Lakeview battery. Both these pitchers have been going strong so far this season.

No admission is to be charged for the game but a collection will be taken.

At a time like this who cares about adjustment?

The most liberal tire adjustment is poor compensation for the inconvenience and annoyance, the lost pleasure of your trip, caused by a tire faulty in construction or materials.

The car owner who best appreciates the dependability of Dominion Tires is the one who has had most tire trouble on the road.

It is a fact that in Dominion Tires you get the greatest dependability that can be put into a tire. This extra dependability is an extra value which costs nothing.

Do you know Baseball?

by Billy Evans

Questions

TWO—When a pitcher steps toward a base to make a play on a runner must he complete the throw to the base?

THREE—Can a pitcher, while off the rubber, make any preliminary pitching motions to deceive the runner and thereby assist in making a play on him?

FOUR—If batsman is granted first base because of interference on the part of the catcher, is he charged with a time at bat?

FIVE—Has the fielder always the right of way on a batted ball?

Answers

TWO—First base is the only base to which the pitcher must complete a throw if he steps in its direction. If he fails to do so it is a balk.

THREE—It is a balk for a pitcher to make any preliminary pitching motions while not on the rubber.

FIVE—The fielder always has the right of way on a batted ball. The base runner must always avoid him. Failure to do so, which results in contact between the two, causes the base runner to be declared out for interference.

THOUSANDS GATHERING FOR THE GREAT FIGHT

SHELBY, Mont., June 13. Canadian Press. — Just like a huge jellyfish, Shelby is expanding hourly. Originally a cow town of a few hundred people, it has become, almost overnight, a noisy boom city of seven thousand. Thousands of crude cracker box shacks and tents have been erected, and at the end of the mushroom city is the arena where Jack Dempsey will defend his title of world's heavyweight champion against challenger Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul. Gibbons is easing up in his training and is in fine condition.

THE PINE GROVE TEAM DEFEAT YOUNG'S POINT

PINE GROVE, June 13. — A closely contested baseball game was played here on Tuesday between Young's Point and Pine Grove School teams, resulting in a victory for the home team, 18 to 16 being the final score.

The game commenced about 6.30, and drew a good crowd of spectators. It was fast and snappy, and showed that some good material could be developed.

The Young's Point team made strenuous efforts to pull into the lead, but Pine Grove proved too strong.

The teams were:

Pine Grove: Russell Little, p; Wilbert Abbott, c; Harold Dunford, 1b; Stanley Darling, 2b; Elwood Dunford, 3b, Birdie Abbott, Edna Hockaday, Laurena Nugent and Edna Frankish, fielders.

GET GROUNDS FOR BASEBALL

Determined Effort Will be Made In Interests of the Youngsters.

Lack of baseball grounds, and the apparent indifference of local baseball bodies to take steps to improve the situation where the young players are concerned, prompted the Executive of the Peterborough A.A.A. at a meeting held last night to appoint a committee to interview the Fair Board with a view to making arrangements for the use of the Exhibition Park for the playing of games in the several local leagues, including the newly organized series for Bantams and Midgets.

The Bantams and Midgets were promised the use of Riverside Park for opening games on June 4th, and after arrangements for to open the series had been made, use of the grounds was refused.

A determined effort will be made to procure grounds for the youngsters, and a meeting of the representatives of clubs in the local leagues will be held at an early date. Dissatisfaction is rampant among the players because of the few game splayed, and if the organizations are to meet with any degree of success the situation must be remedied at once.

Good reports were received from the committees appointed to deal with hockey and track and field events.

Mercantile League Dates Re-arranged

To-night at Riverside Park.
Bankers vs Lock Works, 5.15
Westclox vs C.P.C. at 6.15

KING EDWARDS WIN IN SCHOOL LEAGUE

King Edward School team defeated Prince of Wales in a Public School League game yesterday afternoon by the score of 6 to 5. King Edwards took an early lead and held it until the fourth, when Prince of Wales tied the score. With the bases loaded in the sixth, the batsman was hit by the pitcher, forcing in the run that won the game for King Edward.

Score by innings:

King Edward ..... 401001x—6

Batteries: Reynolds and McCall; Morpher, Grant and Bannon.

A postponed game between Centrals and King Edwards, to be played at an early date, will complete the schedule. A win for King Edwards will tie them with Queen Mary, and necessitate a play-off for the championship of the League.

NO TRAFFIC YET UP THE OTONABEE

Water is Still Rising in Flooded River and Current Very Swift.

No water traffic has yet succeeded in making its way up the flooded Otonabee, and the water is still rising, according to the observations of the harbourmaster at the George Street Wharf.

The water has now reached a height of 9 feet 2 inches at the Wharf, 15 inches above the normal of 7 feet 9 inches, and the current is very swift.

Two boats which endeavoured to reach Lakefield were compelled to back down part way, and it is impossible to dock at the Lakefield Wharf.

This delay is a serious matter for masters of tugs, who have been in readiness for the season's operations for a month or more. Some of them had men hired, and on hand, ready to commence work, and were compelled to lay them off.

An excursion planned for last Saturday was abandoned, and there appears to be no immediate prospect of a relief from the abnormal conditions that prevail.

Mr. Smith said he has never experienced floods approximating this season's in June, the usual time being in April.

Splendid Location on Stoney Lake—A Camp Mother on Hand.

Registrations are in order any time now for the Y.W.C.A. cottage at Stoney Lake. The new camp, the pretty cottage, "Gladdalken," owned by Mr. John Crane, which was occupied for the first time last season by the Young Womens Christian Association, will be used again this year, and makes a splendid building for the purpose. With its roomy sleeping and living quarters, the quantities of windows which open on the spacious verandah, the dormitory annex capable of providing sleeping quarters for extra guests, the fireplace, the piano, the victrola, and acetylene gas for cooking, the convenient bathing beach, it could hardly be surpassed as a summer home for girls who want to get away from the city for a rest and change.

There are boats, and skiffs, and punts also, and there is always something going on for the entertainment of the guests, in the way of shore picnics, corn roasts and bonfires, "stunt" nights and so forth. A change planned in the routine for this year is the engaging of a cook to wash the dishes and help generally. This obviates the necessity for the girls taking turns at "washing up" after the meals.

A camp mother will be on hand for junior week from July 7th to 14th, and the camp director for this year will be Miss Jean Thomson, whose home is in Lakefield. Miss Thompson was the extremely popular industrial secretary of the local Y.W.C.A. some time ago, and has recently been connected with the Hamilton "Y" as Extension Secretary.

This year attention will be given to the desire of Sunday School classes, C.G.I.T. groups, or similar organizations wishing to attend camp in a body. Arrangements may be made for them if registration is made at the Y.W.C.A.

On the 26th of June a camp birthday will be held, with a picnic to Jackson Park or other suitable place. A shower for camp purposes will be a feature of the occasion.

SECRETARY OF PROGRESSIVES HAS RESIGNED

Protest Against What He Calls High-Handed Action of President H. Brown,

EXECUTIVE IGNORED

The secretary of the People's Progresive Party of West Peterborough has placed his resignation in the hands of the President, Mr. Ephraim H. Brown, as a protest against the action of Mr. Ephraim H. Brown in causing to be published in the Examiner of June 6th a letter over his own signature to the effect that the People's Progressive Party of West Peterborough had approved the candidature of Mr. Thomas Tooms.

According to a statement made to the Examiner the substance of that letter is a mere tissue of fiction. It is stated that Mr. Ephraim H. Brown did not consult any member of the executive of the Peoples' Progressive Party of West Peterborough before he wrote the letter, and that Mr. Tooms' candidature has not been endorsed by the Progressive Party.

On the previous Saturday a meeting of the Progressives declined to support Mr. Tooms unless an agreement was arranged between the executives of the Progressives and the Independent Labour Party by which the Labour Party pledged to reciprocate in supporting the Progressives at another election.

Mr. Brown's letter reads: "In the event of such an agreement being reached it was decided that as Mr. Tooms had already been nominated by the Labour Party, he would be accepted as the joint candidate in the present provincial election."

Mr. Brown further says that a conference was held on Monday, June 4th and a definite arrangement was entered into.

The secretary of the Progressive Party gave as a reason for his resignation the statement that Mr. Brown had told him no action had been decided upon, and that if Mr. Brown entered into an arrangement with Mr. Tooms he had done so without consulting the other members of the executive. The secretary himself was ignored by Mr. Brown, and from his information no other member of the executive was taken into the President's confidence. It is also pointed out that the Independent Labour Party in West Peterborough has gone out of existence and that this fact further nullifies any action Mr. Brown took upon himself to carry out. In Mr. Brown's letter it is said, "As Mr. Tooms had already been nominated by the Labor Party he would be accepted as the joint candidate," etc. It is stated that Mr. Tooms is not the candidate of the Independent Labour Party, but that he was projected into this campaign by himself, assisted by a few of his friends, and that as to the Labour Party it had practically passed off the map two years ago, and has not since been re-organized.

The secretary of the Progressive Party was particularly incensed at what he considered a high-handed action on the part of Mr. Brown, and his resignation was forwarded in protest against a reported arrangement which he declared to be unwarranted and also unratified by the executive of the Progressive Party.

CONFISCATE VEHICLES OF ALL LAWLESS DRIVERS

HAMILTON, June 13—(Canadian Press).—Confiscation of vehicles when drivers failed to observe traffic regulations was advocated by A. W. Campbell, Dominion Commission of Highways before good roads convention here yesterday, one of the interesting papers of the day was given by Premier T. H. Armstrong Nova Scotia an "Who should Pay for Road". He told of how his province was regulating bus traffic and expressed opinion that those who benefit from construction of roads should pay costs, stressing importance of federal aid. He declared that Dominion Grant should be continued to various provinces but with limitations if convention so desired, he was prepared to assert provincial rights but could not accept argument that Government grant for highway construction in any way interfered with those rights. While not wishing to make issue political he commended Borden Government for introducing Canada Highways Act.

GUN MEN SLAY ITALIAN IN VIEW OF HUNDREDS

NEW YORK, June 13.—(Canadian Press).—While hundreds looked on from windows of surrounding tenements, two gunmen to-day shot to death Michael Nicolosi, manager of an ice cream plant on East 106th Street. The slayers escaped. The shooting, according to the police, is the sixth fatal encounter in two years between factions representing rival Italian ice cream manufacturers.

MEYERS RALLY AT LAKEHURST WELL ATTENDED

Liberal Candidate Appealed to Farmers as Former Member of County Council in Wellington, Dairyman and General Farmer.

CRITICIZED FERGUSON

(Contributed).

A very large and enthusiastic meeting was held at Lakehurst last night in the interest of J. W. Meyers, the Liberal candidate. Prior to the meeting a football match was held, in which Mr. Meyers greatly distinguished himself, showing that he had not forgotten how to play football. Mr. Andrew Shearer filled the chair in a very efficient manner, and in a short speech emphasized the need of the Liberal party in the Province of Ontario. Ex-Mayor J. J. Duffus took up the issue of the day and introduced Mr. Meyers as a man who thoroughly understood the needs of the people of the country and the city alike. He pointed out that Mr. Meyers had been a farmer for thirty-five years, and later became engaged in the milling business. He served the County of Wellington in the Municipal Council, and was president of the first co-operative dairy factory in the county. He had proved himself to be a generous public servant, and has made a great success of his own business. He pointed out that this is the kind of man needed in the Province of Ontario to-day, when finances had got into such bad shape.

Mr. Duffus read the platform into which the late Government had gone into power in 1919. The chief planks being economy, the abolition of party patronage, as substitution of the Provincial road system, by a policy which may equalize the spending of money on roads through the rural districts of the country, and he showed how this platform had not been followed. The expenditure had not been curtailed but rather the debt had grown from ninety-seven millions to 241 millions. Party patronage had been carried on as never before, and the Provincial highway policy of the Conservative party had been continued and extended from four hundred and fifty miles to eighteen hundred miles of roads, costing from twenty thousand dollars to ninety-three thousand dollars per mile.

Liberals Were Fair.

Mr. Meyers, the candidate, was greeted with prolonged applause, and after some humorous references to the football match, proceeded to take up the issue of the campaign.

He showed how the Liberal party had assisted the U. F. O.-Labor Government after it was returned to power, but he was forced to criticize their unwise financing and extravagance. He deplored the fact that the public debt and cost of administration had grown so much under this Government, and assured his hearers that after the Liberal party was returned to power they would endeavor to bring economy into the administration of affairs.

He criticized the temperance policy of Mr. Ferguson, the Conservative leader, and showed how he was endeavoring to get votes by preaching a dry sermon on one platform, and the wet sermon on another platform, according to the part of Ontario in which he was speaking. He called attention to how Mr. Ferguson had mis-managed the affairs of the Province when he was Minister of the Crown, and stated that he did not think the people of Ontario wanted a man of that type to be their Prime Minister.

add Meyers rally

He appealed to the electors for their support and promised if elected to look after their affairs and to advance the interest of West Peterboro and of Ontario.

Too Much Spending.

Captain John Dewart, the last speaker, took up in detail the extravagance of the late government. He dealt at length with the good roads policy where twenty-eight millions of dollars had been spent on roads joining the large centres, and very little money spent on the sideroads and the concession lines over which the farmer had to haul his produce to market. He showed how the Hon. Peter Smith had lost one million two hundred and twenty-five thousand six hundred dollars to the people by selling six millions of bonds to a syndicate of Toronto brokers at ninety-two dollars and thirty-four cents for each hundred dollar bond. He went into the matter of the twenty six commissions which had been appointed by the Drury government during the four years, and which cost about two million dollars of this amount the lawyers' fees amounted to one quarter of a million, of which Mr. N. W. Rowell received twenty-nine thousand dollars. He stated that the Liberal government in 1904 had administered the affairs of the province for five million dollars per year, and the amount has grown under the Conservative and Drury governments to an annual expenditure of about twenty-eight millions of dollars. He stated that if the people were not satisfied with this state of affairs that they could not support the late government.

He went into details of the infamous Sherlin-Clarke deal in which Mr. Ferguson as Minister of Lands and Forests in the Conservative government sold large tracts of valuable timber in Northern Ontario to his political friends at a price far below its value, as a result of the Liberals investigating this transaction and an inquiry being instituted a sum of about one and one-quarter million dollars is being recovered.

Neglected Soldiers.

He stated that Mr. Ferguson had settled two hundred and thirty-five returned soldiers at Kapuskasing and did not make provision for work, food and clothing, and as a result they suffered great hardships, and the scheme had to be abandoned. This failure cost the province half a million dollars. Mr. Ferguson might well say to the people of Ontario: "I have been unfaithful to you in a few things, make me ruler over many things."

The speaker asked the people to get behind Mr. Meyers and Mr. Wellington Hay, the Liberal leader, two plain successful business men, who understand financing and who are prepared to give the people of the province an honest, straight forward business adminnstration.

The meeting closed with three hearty cheers for the king and the candidate.

ACTOR RISKS LIFE IN "MONTE CRISTO" SCENE.

Hurled Into Sea From Prison Wall, Gilbert Cuts Way Out of Sack Under Water.

When "Monte Cristo," the new William Fox special feature production, which will be shown at the Royal last time to-night, patrons will see one of the most thrilling and sensational scenes that has ever been filmed for a motion picture production. The scene referred to is the one in which Edmund Dantes, tied inside a bag, is hurled from the top of the prison wall to the sea below. The thrilling part of this scene is the underwater pictures showing his escape. These scenes were made actually under water, five cameras being used in filming.

"Monte Cristo" will take its place with the really big pictures of the season. An important idea in the staging of this mammoth screen play is the fact that in spite of the overwhelming magnitude of this production, its tremendous settings, trappings, lavishness and fortune spent in making this production an unusual one, does not in any way hamper or overshadow the world-famous story as written by Alexandre Dumas.

An all star cast has been assembled for "Monte Cristo," including the following prominent players: John Gilbert, Estelle Taylor, William V. Mong, George Seigmann, Robert McKim and thousands of others equally well known, but too numerous to mention.

THOMAS MEIGHAN IN "THE NE'ER-DO-WELL."

While at a hight altitude, Mr. Miller was able to get a shot which gave a glimpse of both the Atlantic and Pacific.

In "The Ne'er-Do-Well" Mr. Meighan is seen as the shiftless son of a man of wealth who is disowned by his father after a certain escapade in New York which results in the young man being shanghaied on board a steamship bound for Panama where he is left penniless and thrown upon his own meagre resources.

Here he meet Chiquita, a beautiful Spanish girl, played by Lila Lee, and their love romance is not only prolific of highly dramatic developments, but ends in the regeneration of the young American ne'er-do-well. The supporting company is excellent.

CANADIAN WAS TORTURED BY HUNS

MONTREAL, June 13—A revolting story of a series of tortures he underwent while a prisoner of war in Germany was related yesterday by Alexander Douglas, a former private in the 13th Battalion, before Hon. Dr. William Pugsley who is taking evidence for war-time claims against the German Government at the court hearing. Private Douglas was often threatened with death and at times begged for it. He was stood in front of the door of a blast furnace registering 680 degrees until his hair and clothing caught fire and as part of his routine work made to stand in a pit of nearly boiling water. As a result of his treatment a spinal injury suffered in action was aggravated to an extent that prevents him earning a living. As soon as the present hearings are over he will go into a plaster cast or six months. Dr. Pugsley, and his deputy Major Rolph, were amazed when ex-Private Douglas put in a claim only for some odd hundreds of dollars for loss of pay during his illness after his return to Canada. Dr. Pugsley immediately advised him of his rights to compensation for the suffering he had endured, and Major Rolph helped him to draw up a claim to an approriate amount. It apparently had not occurred to Douglas to ask compensation for his injuries. He testfied later that the German Government had offered him compensation as hush money, which he had refused. Douglas' story has been confirmed from several sources.

FFDERAL LIBERALS MEET IN CAUCUS

OTTAWA, June 13. Canadian Press. — The Liberals in caucus this morning discussed the sessional programme and the date of prorogation. The belief is now prevalent in Liberal circles that it will be possible for Parliament to prorogue by the end of the month. This is understood to provide for the passage of the bank act, but the passage of the redistribution bill is regarded as doubtful. If it is decided to go ahead with redistribution this session it is expected that it will be necessary to sit some time in July.

In addition the caucus is understood to have had before it Hon. Dr. Beland's proposals for courts of appeal for returned soldiers under the Pension Act. Certain proposals for legislation on forest protection were also considered.

The Kappa Sigma Pi has chapters in various Protestant churches in 40 States and in seven foreign lands. The Wyandotte cave is 35 miles west of New Albany, Ind., on the Blue River, and has 23 miles of cavern. It is said to possess the highest underground mountain and the largest stalagmite in the world.

CONTROL OF C.G.E. IS STILL IN CANADA.

TORONTO, June 13.—(Canadian Press).—The control of the Canadian General Electric is still in Canada, and the headquarter of the company are right here in Toronto, declared A. E. Dyment, president of the Canadian General Electric and kindred interests, to-day. Mr. Dyment declined to discuss a rumored merger between the concern and the General Electric "Incorporated" of Schenectady. There was no change in the status of the C.G.E. as a Canadian manufacturing corporation, he said.

EX-KAISER DISMOUNTED

DOORN (United Press)—The former German emperor, once a devotee of the equestrian sport, hasn't a single riding or driving horse in his Doorn estate. In the old days back in Germany one could see Wilhelm brilliantly clad almost every morning in the Tiaergarten astride a beautiful, though not-too-fiery steed. Now the few expeditions the ex-kaiser makes outside the Doorn castle walls are in automobiles. He gets his exercise nowadays from his wood yard.

HOPE STILL HELD THAT BRITAIN JOIN FRANCE

PARIS, June 13.—(United Press). —Semi-official circles declare that unless England expresses a willingness to align herself with the French and Belgian conditions that Germany evacuate the Ruhr before reparations terms be discussed, the Franco-Belgian bloc will not reply to the German note.

Despite this adamantine front, however, it is believed the healing of the Anglo-French split is not yet impossible. The hope that interallied conversations may continue along other lines is expressed.

BRITAIN HAS DEFERRED REPARATIONS DECISION

LONDON, June 13. — (United Press).—Pending a more complete outline of the French proposals, Britain has deferred the decisions on her reparations attitude. It is understood that England is willing to make concessions in order to secure a joint Allied reply to the German proposals, but is first anxious to learn whether Premier Poincare actually wants reparations on a basis of reasonable negotiations or merely wants to cripple Germany.

GOLD RUSH WITH AUTOS.

JOHANNESBURG, Africa (By mial to the United Press).—Gold stampedes have lost their romantic trappings. An honest to goodness stampede after real gold has just taken place in Batavia and Kameelboom district.

There were no six-guns, such as distinguished the mushing for precious metal in the Western States and Australia. Boots, spurs, liquor, gambling paraphenalia have gone by the boards.

None of those once necessary adjuncts to the proper staking of a claim remain essential. Stampeders of 1923 travelled in automobiles and motorcycles.

Within two hours of the time the first stake was planted the field had been entirely covered. The show was over an nobody killed.

The new field is confidently expected to produce gold but the least observing can see that it will never produce a Bret Harte.

OUTBURST OF TRADING.

NEW YORK, June 13.—(United Press.)—Establishment of a seven dollar dividend rate on N.Y.C. was fcllowed in the stock market in the late forenoon trading, by a wild outburst of trading this issue, which spurted to 104 1-8 on heavy dealings, compared with the early low of 99 1-4. This demonstration electrified the whole market ,and substantial recoveries took place throughout the list. Standard Rails, such as B. & O., Union Pacific and Southern Pacific made especially good responses, but the improvement in the general list was short lived. After 12 o'clock selling broke out again among the Steels with the result that the whole market was checked in its upward course.

Steel Common broke to a new low for the year at 94 1-2 and new lowers on the move were touched by Studebaker. Baldwin and other leading industries. Sugars also broke badly, following a further drop of more than half a cent in the price of raws.

Cuba Cane Sugar has sold most of its crop, but many other producers, including Punta Alegra, Cuban American and Cuba Co. still have thirty to forty per cent. of this season's production on hand. The N.Y.C. dividend is payable August 1 to stock of record June 29.

The following statement was issued after the meeting of the directors this morning. For years the company has paid upon its stock dividends of five per cent. even at times when that was less than the current interest on borrowed money. The income from the above dividends had added to the surplus and put back into the property so that since the N. Y. C. Lakeshore construction in 1914 the surplus was increased from $29,405,934 to $112,581,392. A large part of the company's capital is in long term bonds bearing low rates of interest, the rate on the funded debt averaging 4.40 per cent. per annum.

The interest on the funded debt plus the dividends at the rate of seven per cent. marks the return paid upon capital—part of debt and stock together—5.07 per cent., and this without allowing for any return on the re-invested surplus. N.Y.C. now owns 95 per cent. of the stock of C.C. and Stl. These companies are doing a large business and their increased net income insure to the benefit of their stock holders.

BRITISH BREAK WITH FRENCH NOW AVERTED

FRANCE JUSTIFIED

PARIS, June 14. — (Special).—A threatened break between France and Great Britain over reparations has been avoided by the receipt today of a memorandum from London which the Cabinet has pronounced as quite satisfactory. Negotiations with Great Britain are to continue through diplomatic channels, it was announced.

The British note requested enlightenment on certain points of France's attitude, such as exactly what this country wants Germany to do by way of ceasing passive resistance, what France would consider as cessation, and whether the French would modify the occupation of the Ruhr in case Germany ordered an end of the resistance.

Premier Poincare will reply in a few days in a manner permitting the pourparlers to continue.

FRANCE JUSTIFIED.

ATLANTIC CITY, U.S.A., June 14. — (Special). — "France is fully justified in her stand on the occupation of the Ruhr Valley. Germany can and must pay," declared Laurence Lyon, former member of the British Parliament, in an address at the New York State Bankers' convention yesterday. It is the greed of the German industrialists on the one hand and the demands of the Socialists on the other that are hampering Germany in her attempt to settle the reparations question with France, Lyon said.

"Anyone who wants France to change her attitude should be prepared to say we will pay for Germany," Lyon declared.

During the world war Lyon purchased the London Outlook to convey his "radical" views to the British public.

OKLAHOMA FLOODS COVER NEW AREAS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 14.—(Canadian Press).—The flood waters of the North Canadian River are rising rapidly in Southern Oklahoma. Sections inundated two weeks ago again are under water, and new areas gradually are being claimed.

The crest of the flood swept over the city reservoir dam ten miles west of the city at midnight, with the huge concrete wall sturdily withstanding the rush of tons of water. A break in the dam would mean disaster for the city.

CRISIS IS NEAR FOR HUNGARY ROCKS AHEAD

Mutilated by Peace Treaties, It's Difficult to See How She Can Escape Disaster.

HUGE DEFICIT

By Williams Philip Simmons

BUDAPEST, June 14—Unless the great powers come to the assistnce of Hungary —as they did in the case of Austria—I can not, for the life of me see how she can escape going on the rocks.

Two years ogo her deficit amounted to sixteen and a half billion crowns. To-day she has an actual deficit —in the 1922-23 budget —of over forty billion crowns.

March 1, the crown was worth 532 to the dollar. April 1 the crown was worth only 4600 to the dollar.

A recent attempt to borrow some money in London met with failure. London said: "Give us a mortgage on all your transit and warehouse receipts and reform your government to suit, and we'll consider the application."

Crisis Near

The League of Nations is working this with success in Austria, but no one power, let alone any one financial group can thus assume a sort of dictatorship over Hungary—no matter how benevolent the intent and not even if Hungary sinks out of sight forever for refusing.

The day may soon come, however, when Hungary, like Austria will have to choose between accepting help from the League—or a group of world powers—and collapsing.

Certainly she can not long go on the way she is going. If she can't borrow she will almost inevitably have to begin speeding up her paper money output which of course, would plunge the country into deeper trouble still.

Like Austria—before the league stepped in—she could not then stop the presses until she had balanced her budget and she could not balance her budget so long as the printing presses kept grinding out depreciating paper. That is the danger now threatening Hungary.

Hungary's plight to-day is scarcely to her discredit. The wonder is she survived the Treaty of Trianon wich fixed her status after the war, six months.

She lost, as the result of the war, more than two-thirds of her area. From an empire of 125,600 square miles she was cut down to 35,600 square miles—less than the size of the state of Indiana.

From a population of 25,000,000 she was shorn of all but 7,100,000.

She lost 100 per cent of her salt mines; 98 per cent of her iron ore; 96 per cent of her water power; 88 per cent of her wool production; 86 per cent of her forests; 68 per cent of her cattle; 66 per cent of her cotton industries; 60 per cent of bread stuffs; 60 per cent of her stock of horses; 60 per cent of her iron industry; 56 per cent of her sugar industry; 55 per cent of her tobacco business, and the same percentage of

HERE'S WRECK THAT KILLED FOUR

Four died and 27 were injured in this wreck near Durand, Mich. The engine overturned and the cars were telescoped. It was a special train carrying Knights Templars to their state convention. In the foreground can be seen a freak of the crash—a window knocked out with the glass still intact.

EXPLORERS IN BABYLON RUIN MAKE REPORT

POTTERY ORNAMENTS

LONDON, June 14. — Professor S. Langdon, Director of the Oxford and Field Museum expedition to Mesopotamia, gives the following preliminary report of this season's work:

"In a previous communication to you the discovery of stamped bricks of Samsuilnuna, seventh King of the first Babylonian Dynasty, 2080-2043 B.C., was mentioned, and Mr. Mackay, the Field director, established the identity of Kish in th lofty ruins of Oheimer carly in March of this year. He then located the temple of the war god Ibaba on the north-east side of the stage tower and found brick stamps of this king with the following inscription in Sumerian:

"'Samsuilnuna King of Sumer and Accad, built and raised on high the temple Meteursag, the temple of the god Ibaba, in Kish, which his ancestor Sumulailu had built.'

"A pavement of the Aramaean usurper Adadapalidinnam was located in April and several stamped bricks which commemorate his reconstruction of this temple were recovered. One of these was found by the British explorer Ker Porter a century ago and brought to the British Museum. Until Mackay began excavations at Oheimer this formed the slender evidence for the location of the famous and most ancient capital of Babylonia. Adadapalidinnam belongs to the fourth dynasty, Circa 1985-1074 B.C.

Walls Built by Nebuchadnezzar.

"Numerous walls and pavements of the last reconstruction of a temple and stage tower by Nebuchadnezzar in the sixth century B.C. had been recovered. These preliminary discoveries proved that the excavators must be aproaching more ancient strata which belonged to the earliest history of Babylonia, and in May,

PEASANTS MAY DETHRONE KING

Followers of Stambouliisky Are Determined to Capture Sofia and Re-establish Republic.

TRIESTE, June 14.—(Special).—Stambouliisky and his army of peasants intend to oust King Boris and declared Bulgaria a republic as soon as they capture Sofia, the capital.

Passengers on the Orient express which arrived here to-day said that members of the former Premier's army boarded the train as it traversed Bulgaria and shouted "On to Sofia." The peasants announced their intention of overthrowing the King and making Stambouliisky President.

King Boris is said to have supported the revolt whereby Stambouliisky and his peasant government were ejected from power.

MANY DRUNKS PICKED UP IN SMALL PARKS

SOME DISORDERLY

NEW YORK, June 14.—Fifty-four men and twenty-three women were arrested on charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct by the police of the East Twenty-second Street Station who raided four parks in the lower part of Manhattan after many citizens had complained of the conduct in the parks. The prisoners were taken in two patrol wagons to the police station and from there to Night Court.

The round-up was conducted by Police Captain Hubert Callahan, who explained that both men and women under the influence of liquor had begun to frequent the parks in such numbers that other persons stayed away in the evening.

Some of the oldest residents of the east side who would ordinarily make excuses for a man under the influence of liquor have been unable to conceal their annoyance at the large numbers particularly of young men and young women, who have frequented parks in various stages of intoxication since the beginning of warm weather.

They are in the habit of buying the cheapest and worst kind of liquor from bootleggers of First and Second Avenues, according to the police The synthetic concoctions that they drink proabbly rank in the same class with Bowery "smoke," which has sent dozens of young men mentally deranged to institutions treating such patients.

The liquor sold to the park frequenters is so hot, according to the police that they are compelled to stand beside the fountains in the parks while they take a swallow of water alternately. That is the only way that the tender throats of the youth recently addicted to the drink can resist the scorching chemical action."

Young men and young women under the influence of this dangerous synthetic drink are so boisterous that they frequently have thrown down children and elderly couples strolling in the parks, when the rowdies started fighting, according to the police. They roll all over the lawns and shout jeer and scream until their speech become like gibberish.

TUBA RECOVERING.

TUBA, Okla., June 14.—(Canadian Press).—Tuba is emerging from the grip of the Arkansas River flood which inundated industrial West Tuba and the populous suburban district between here and Sand Springs. It will be several days before five thousand refugees from the flooded area can return to their homes. Three lives were lost with damage to property of one million dollars.

SIDELIGHTS ON NOMINATIONS IN PROVINCE

W. F. Nickle, K.C., Conservative, Re-elected for Legislature by Acclamation in Kingston.

SURPRISE IN TORONTO

TORONTO, June 14.—(Canadian Press).—The surprise of the nomin ations in Toronto to-day for the provincial election was the filling of name of Ex-Ald. A. E. Burgess, in South East Toronto. Mr. Burgess, who is a Conservative is designated as a "Toronto first candidate" and will contest seat "A" against Col. John Currie Conservative candidate Fred Hogg. Liberal and F. G. O'Donoghue, Labor.

The appearance of Mayor Maguire as Conservative was last straw that broke the back of my patience and led me to enter the fight" Mr. Burgess declared this afternon. He added that he was a strong supporter of public ownership and a friend of Hydro-Power Development and the deeping of St. Lawrence.

McNamara Quits

Sergt Major Joseph McNamara, who sat in the last legislature as a soldier-independent for Toronto, the riding of Riverdale was not nominated to-day, he announced that he was quitting politics for business.

KINGSTON, June 14. — W. F. Nickle, K.C., Conservative, was returned as a member of the Legislature for this city by acclamation at the nominations to-day.

Three Acclamations.

Indications this morning were that there would be three acclamations as a result of to-day's nominations. There was been no word of an opposing candidate against Peter Heenan, Labor man in Kenora, or against E J. Callaghan, Conservative nominee in Rainy River. Mr. Heenan was member in the last legislature, while Mr. Callaghan has been nominated by the Conservatives in succession to J. A. Mathieu.

WASHINGTON PROPOSAL IGNORES OTHER NATIONS

LONDON, June 14. — (Canadian Press). — The Washington Government's suggestion for a reciprocate arrangement regarding ship liquors is prominently displayed in the London morning newspapers, but the only comment is offered by the Daily News, which describes the United States administration's proposals as "a very ingenious method of bargaining for a long desired concession."

The newspaper doubts whether other Governments would consent to a treaty agreement which would give the United States the right of search within twelve miles of its coast. The real objection to the rule is that it is contrary to recognized international practice and that it interferes with the traditional right of other nations.

DE FOREST'S INVENTION MAKES PICTURES TALK

De Forest is reported ready to market his Phonofilm invention which reproduces sound in perfect synchronization with moving pictures. In other words, talking movies—the sound photographed for reproduction.

Such an invention would have an important place in Finland, particularly movies of historic importance. As for the average movie, considerable of its charm is due to its silence. It reaches us through the eye exclusively. That's what makes it hypnotic.

THE BAG CONTAINED GALLON OF LIQUOR

Charged with having liquor in his possession outside of a private dwelling, Patrick Maloney, of Marmora was this morning remanded by Magistrate Langley until Wednesday, June 20th at 2 p.m.

While License Inspector Joseph Stewart and Provincial Constables George Cookman and H. Storey were proceeding along River Road near Nassau yesterday evening they noticed the suspicious movements of the prisoner, and made investigations which resulted in his arrest.

Maloney, it is alleged, had his car parked by the roadside about one mile from the city, and when observed by the police he was making movements from the bush to the car empty-handed. The detachment passed him and entered the trees to watch. They saw Maloney take a bag from the bushes and jump into his car, heading in the direction of Peterborough. When examined, the bag was found to contain a one gallon jar of liquor, and the prisoner had also a pocket flask of spirits. He was driving a 1920 car number 189-497.

At this morning's hearing when no lawyers appeared, it was stated by the police that Maloney was convicted in Belleville some months ago.

The prisoner was remanded in custody failing bonds of $2,000 person ally and two sureties of $1000 each.

EXPLORERS

"Masons of the earliest period, down to about 2900 B.C., invariably laid their walls with so-called plano-convex bricks. These are of much smaller size than the standard square bricks of the later periods, and are not made in moulds, but fashioned by hand on a flat surface, the top being left convex, and they consequently have the appearance of a small loaf of bread. Each bears two finger or thumb marks of the mason.

"Near these older walls incised pottery, filled with white designs, began to appear. This method of decorating pottery by incrustation seems to have been a Sumerian invention, and provided a substitute for painted designs. Consequently, painted decorations are almost unknown in Sumerian and Babylonian pottery, and, in fact, even here this industry flourished only in the Sumerian period.

"The most interesting and revolutionary discoveries were made when Mackay uncovered the south-east and north-east sides of the stage tower. Not only are the fronts of the stages built with deep and well-made recesses, but the first stage, which rests on the Temenos platform, has rows of chambers connected by a corridor, and beneath the pavements of some of these chambers inscribed tablets were found.

"Far-famed Abode of Admiration."

"A lofty tower which stood on the western side of the temple area was known as Uniríkidurmah, 'far-famed abode of admiration,' and is apparently one of the best preserved stage towers of ancient Babylonia. The earliest temples did not possess these huge pyramids and the reasons for their introduction into sacred architecture by the Sumerians shortly before 3000 B.C. are known.

"The original height of the tower at Kish cannot have been less than 180 feet, and its four sides measured more than 200 feet. This is the first discovery of a series of chambers in a stage tower. Only two sides facing the temple court have been uncovered.

"It is not likely that chambers and corridors extend around the entire base. Evidence was found on every hand that Kish suffered terrible destruction in the late period of the Persian and Parthian invaders. Chambers were found denuded and every trace of furniture which might have given an indication of their purpose his disappeared. They were probably lodgings for priests who served in the great Temple of Ilbaba and the war goddess Innini. She is frequently mentioned in recovered inscriptions and a fine representation of her on pottery placque has been found.

"The season's work ceases just at the beginning of the most interesting stage. The importance of Kish consists in records of the old period of Mesilim and the Third Dynasty of Kish in the thirty-seventh century B.C., who inaugurated a great period of Sumerian and Semitic civilisation, an age of perfection of writing and of fine art.

"Beneath the ruins of the still larger and apparently more ancient mound at Ingharra, two miles east of Oheimer, lie supposedly the palaces of the early Kings of Kish who ruled all of Sumer and Accad at various periods from 5000 B.C. to the rise of the Emperor Sargon, 2872 B.C., who is said to have been a priest at Kish.

"Excavations in Ingharra will begin next season in connection with those now in progress at Oheimer."

They are growing lemons in New Zealand.

Oh, yes, New Zealand is near the South Pole, and everybody hereabouts thinks of it as a cold place. But its climate really is more like that of Italy than any other place.

These New Zealand lemons have recently reached the Canadian market. The citrus fruit industry there is comparatively new. Along about 1916 some enterprising Englishmen, visiting New Zealand, were struck with the possibilities of its climate, which they found much like that of the Riviera.

"The lemon industry has gained rapidly since that time," says the National Geographic Society, and latest reports show that one New Zealand firm alone has handled 11,000 cases of lemons this year.

New Zealand is the nearest of the British Dominions to the South Pole. The distance separating the northernmost mainland point of Great Britain from the North Pole is, however, 800 miles less than the distance between New Zealand's southernmost point and the South Pole."

U.S. IS NOW WILLING TO COMPROMISE PRESENT PROHIBITION STATUTES

Proposal to Allow Ships Liquor to Come in Under Seal If Right of Search Is Extended to Twelve Miles DIFFICULT POINTS.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(Canadian Press.)— Modification of the effect of prohibition enforcement regulations as they apply to sealed liquors in transit through United States' territory or in ships' stores, has been offered to various maritime powers by the State Department as a solution for present inconveniences occasioned foreign shipping.

The project, it was learned yesterday on good authority, contemplates exercise of the treaty making power to amend existing statutes, which means that Senate ratification would have to be obtained to make the modification effective.

The offer also is contingent upon a reciprocal agreement in treaty form by the powers involved, which would give the United States the right of search up to twelve miles off shore in carrying on the war against rum smugglers operating under foreign flags.

The United States' proposal is the outgrowth of prolonged study of the involved legal and international situation that has arisen both from the rum smuggling operations and from the recent decision of the Supreme Court upon which the present rigid Treasury regulations excluding all beverage liquors from United States' territorial jurisdiction are based. It was presented in answer to numerous complaints made by the maritime governments against inconveniences to their shipping resulting from the regulations. It also follows the refusal of Great Britain last year to agree to a treaty permitting the same extension of the right of search against smugglers which is now proposed, coupled with the offered modification of ship liquor and liquor in transit rules.

Comment on the new United States' proposal was withheld in diplomatic circles.

The United States' proposal does not contemplate any action to alleviate the ship liquor situation prior to ratification of the treaties by both parties. It therefore offers no method of overcoming the obstacles to international commerce imposed by the Treasury regulations for several months at least, as the Senate will not reconvene before December unless called in special session.

Governments have been approached by the United States' State Department with a compromise offer permitting the ingress of liquor under seal into United States ports, provided an agreement is reached to extend the limit of territorial waters from three miles, the present mark, to twelve miles.

While it is too early to forecast the British attitude toward the proposal, it may be said that the government is not averse to submitting the whole question of terrtiorial waters to an international conference. Foreign Secretary Curzon has already made such a suggestion to Russia in connection with the dispute over the Murmansk fisheries.

The British Government is anxious to accommodate the United States' views and secure a satisfactory solution for the British shipping interests, but difficulties are foreseen in adopting the Washington suggestion in its entirety, as extension of the three mile limit would introduce complications concerning estuaries and other difficult points.

In any case, no reply will be made to Washington pending careful study of the situation by the British experts. However, it may be said that the Government is prepared to bargain with the United States if any method can be found of overcoming the rigidity of the Supreme Court ruling.

Lady Astor Wanted to Forget the Rules.

LONDON, June 14. — (Canadian Press Cable) —Lady Astor who was called to order by the Speaker for conversing loudly during the commons debate on Friday last was the central figure in another scene in the house yesterday. When she infringed on the rules by reading a supplementary question the labor members loudly protested. She presisted but the purport was complete ly lost in the storm of protests.

Looking defiantly at her interrupters Lady Astor cried with some heat "I will let you have it." The speaker quietly reminded her of the rules whereupon she observed: "There's are some things I don't want to remember."

Court in Mourning For Princess Christian.

LONDON, June 14.— (Canadian Press.) — Mourning for Princess Christian was in evidence at the third court of the season held in Buckingham Palace last night. Queen Mary and the ladies of the royal household wore black gowns and the men a band of crepe on the left arm. In accordance with the wish of King George, however, the women guests wore the usual court attire and the spectacle was quite a brilliant one. Those in the royal circle last night included the Infanta Fulalie, of Spain.

DISCLOSURE OF BUCKET SHOPS NOW PENDING

Two Men Pleaded Guilty and Are Expected to Expose Huge Bucket Shop "Ring."

TO WIN CLEMENCY.

NEW YORK, June 14.— (Canadian Press.)—Possibility of important disclosures concerning the operation of bucket shops in the Wall Street district loomed as imminent yesterday.

Edward M. Fuller and William Frank McGee, partners in the most spectacular bucket shop failure of recent years, went before General Sessions Judge Mott yesterday morning and pleaded guilty of bucketing. Yesterday afternoon, Fuller was taken under guard to the offices of Harold Coffin, Referee in Bankruptcy, for further examination concerning the affairs of his house.

He pleaded for and obtained an adjournment until to-day, however, at which time he said he might be able to give "valuable information not only concerning the assets of E. M. Fuller and Company, but with reference to various persons who might be responsible for the obligations of Fuller and Company.

This was taken in some quarters as an indication that he might reveal connections of the Fuller firm with a huge bucket shop "ring" existence of which has been a matter of gossip in Wall Street for months.

How far Fuller would go in an attempt to win clemency from the court when he comes up for sentence, however, was problematical. His partner, McGee, in announcing their decision to plead guilty, said yesterday morning that they had decided on that course to "save innocent friends from further embarrassment." Fuller, while he did not contradict McGee's statement, made no such statement himself.

Judge Mott let it be known shortly after Fullers' and McGee's plea had been entered, that he had not made up his mind what punishment should be meted out. The maximum he could impose is five years.

Peace is Planned For France and Germany

PARIS, June 14.— (Canadian Press.)—An armistice, or suspension of hostilities between France and Germany in the Ruhr was mentioned quite freely in Berlin recently says the semi-official Temps yesterday, and it adds:

"The idea has appeared interesting to some of our British friends who seem desirous that the British Government act as mediator to facilitate an armistice. It is true that the recent oratorical journey of Chancellor Cuno to Munster and Karlsruhe does not exactly indicate a wash to put an end to resistance. However, as the 'armistice' is being mentioned the French are not the ones to refuse to listen.

INDIANS RESENT ACTION OF COURT

Several Bands in Council at Chemong Express Bitter Sentiments.

LINDSAY, June 14.—The Indian Council house at Chemong, Peterborough County was Tuesday the rendezvous of the different bands of the Indians along the Trent Waterway Chief Dan Whetung of the Chemong Lake Indians presided and some rather bitter sentiments were expresesd by some of the speakerr. It would appear that a few weeks ago the Police Magistrate at Lindsay had tried a case in which a party of white men, during the muskrat season, had a shot at a party of Indians at or near one of the marshes and in the fusilade two of the Indians had been wounded. The magistrate had fined one of the white men $20.00 and costs. This punishment the Indians did not think, was commensurate with the offence. One of the speakers at the meeting seemed to voice the opinion of those present when he said that "you can shoot an Indian for just what it would cost you to break one or two muskrat houses."

Beside, this, a number of the Indians claimed that according to the ancient treaties made between the British Government and the Indians in consideration of forfetiting their lands, the Indians were to be confirmed in their ancient rights of fishing and hunting. These rights, the Indians claimed, were now being over-ridden by the Ontario fish and game laws.

A resolution was unanimously carried to send a deputation to Ottawa to take the matter up with the Minister having jurisdiction over these branches. Chief Dan Whetung of Mud Lake, Chief Marsden of the Scugog Indians, and Chief Paudash of the Rice Lake Indians, together with the solicitor for the Indians, I. E. Weldon of Lindsay, and G. N. Gordon. Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons were asked to arrange for the deputation to go to Ottawa to interview the Minsters.

It was too early to indicate the policy of the new cabinet toward the question of a Bulgarian outlet to the Aegean.

COSTS OF UNION WILL BE BORNE BY ITS FRIENDS

Any Money Needed in the Future Will be Paid From a Special Fund Which is to Be Raised.

SMALL AMOUNT.

PORT ARTHUR Ont., June 14. — Canadian Press. — The Presbyterian General Assembly decided yesterday than in future any money which is needed for the expense of the meetings of the committee on Union will be raised from devoted friends of Union and that nothing will be taken from the ordinary funds of the church for this purpose.

The custom in the past has been to pay all the costs of the meeting of the assembly and the costs of the meeting of all committees appointed by the Assembly, including those of the committee on Union out of the general funds of the church.

It was anticipated that in the coming year many members of the church might decline to make contributions to the general work of the church, including Home and Foreign missions, on the ground that some small part of this money would be used to pay the expenses of the meetings of the new Union committee. It was therefore decided to create a special fund for this purpose.

The amount needed is very small. It was stated that since Church Union was first mooted in 1904 up to the present time the sum advanced for this purpose has been only $32,853 or about $1700 per annum. Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon of Winnipeg opposed the creating of a new fund on the ground that the action of the church had been in perfect accordance with the rules and custom of the church. Moderator Grandier stated that the assembly in this matter was merely adopting a new method to meet a special need.

During the greater part of the day the assembly engaged in a discussion of the question of the theological colleges of the church, the debate being brought on by a recommendation that new professors be appointed for Robertson College in Edmonton, to Queen's Theological College in Kingston and to Knox College in Toronto.

The arguments used in opposing these appointments were that the church already had far too many Professors and Lecturers in the Colleges in proportion to the number of students, that in view of the deficit in the funds of the church amounting to about $350,00, no further obligations should be at present incurred, and that in view of approaching union the rearrangement which will follow the consummation of union, no action of this kind ought to be taken.

The assembly refused to approve of the appointment of Rev. C. A. Meyers of the church staff in Toronto to the position of Professor of Religious Education in Knox College although friends of the college had agreed to provide the salary for three years, and it refused to approve of the transfer of Rev. J. R. Watts from St. Paul's Church, Ottawa, to Queen's Theological College. The request that Dr. J. McCartney Wilson, be transferred from Knox Church in Calgary to Robertson College in Saskatoon, was granted, but the appointment was for a single year. It is however very improbable that any change in this matter will be made by the assembly of 1924.

In view of the condition of the finances of the church, the Assembly adopted a resolution proposed by Dr. J. M. Shaw of Halifax, Professor in Pine Hill College, and Rev. J. M. Robertson of Vancouver, that Ministers and elders convened at this assembly agreed to commit themselves to a great sacrificial effort as an example to the members and adherents of the church throughout the Dominion.

It was finally decided to opprove the transfer of Rev. J. R. Watts from St. Paul's church Ottawa, to Queen's Theological College. The request that Dr. J. McCartney Wilson be transferred from Knox in Calgary to Robertson College in Saskatoon, was granted, but the appointment is for single year.

It was agreed that during the year several of the home mission superintendents would be employed in promotion work, seeking to increase gifts of church for benevolent purposes, and that Missionaries at home on furlough from foreign lands should be used for same purpose.

NEW REIGN OF TERROR STARTED BY GERMANS AGAINST OCCUPATION

CURFEW LAWS.

DUESSELDORF, June 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Special precautions have been taken to protect French officers from night attacks.

A shot was fired Tuesday night through the window of a house at Recklinghausen, occupied by a French officer. The missile struck no one. Shots were also fired during the night at French soldiers at Wulfrath and Wanne.

The French have taken drastic measures to curb this wave of terrorism. Two of the principal police officials at Recklinghausen were arrested as hostages yesterday because of the killing of two French soldiers Monday night. The population is forbidden now to go upon the streets after nine o'clock at night in a score of cities in the Ruhr. In Recklinghausen, the houses must be closed and the lights put out by 8:00 p.m.

The prohibition upon movement of the population after the curfew hour in Recklinghausen resulted in a number of clashes between civilians and French patrols. Shots were fired in a number of cases. The Germans assert two German civilians were killed, but the French declare there was only one fatality.

A German arrested in Dortmund in connection with the killing of two French non-commissioned officers, was shot and killed when he tried to escape on his way to the patrol headquarters. He is said to have been one of the expelled Security Police, who had returned to the district.

Sabotage on the railroads is continuing. Two strips of main line track were destroyed Tuesday night near Bonn. A passenger train ran into one of these gaps in the line and part of the train was derailed.

Another German who was wounded when a French patrol fired into a crowd in Dortmund Sunday, died yesterday, making the total dead in the affray seven. One of those killed was a Swiss named Hans Schleh, who was visiting the Ruhr on business connected with his dye works, according to German sources.

German nationalists who, according to the French military authorities, have organized a reign of terror against the forces of occupation, have established headquarters in an old castle near an unnamed town in unoccupied territory east of Dortmund. From this point, French secret service agents report, they direct acts of sabotage against railroads and the telegraph lines and also night attacks upon the French soldiers.

These operations, it is asserted, are in the hands of a chief who is assisted by captains and lieutenants, who control their men in the field by means of secret telephones communicating with points in the occupied territory. It is alleged that the band has counterfeit French rubber stamps, which they use in signing passes for Germans who go to and from occupied territory, which is prohibited without the French stamp on passes.

ASK RECOGNITION OF BANTING'S WORK

Canadian Medical Association Sent Request to Federal Government — Convention in Montreal

MONTREAL, June 14.—(Canadian Press).—Recognition of the results of patience and perseverance and of faith that could not be shaken even by the skepticism of others of his profession came by yesterday when the executive council of the Canadian Medical Association in session here presented a resolution to the federal government calling attention to the work done by Dr. F. G. Banting of Toronto, discoverer of the use of insulin as a cure for diabetes, and recommending that the Canadian Government officially recognize his efforts as well as the discovery he had accomplished.

Dr. F. G. Banting discussed his remedy before the Canadian Medical Association Convention here yesterday afternoon. He stated that a diabetic patient, after two or three weeks spent in the hospital could be taught to cure himself, but his case must be thoroughly and accurately diagnosed beforehand.

Winnipeg's experience of encephalitis or sleeping-sickness was described by Dr. William Boyd of that city. He outlined a number of curious symtoms of the disease which has of late years, attacked the western province.

Other physicians to address the convention included Dr. B. L. Wyatt director of the Laurentide Health Service on "Industrial Medicine," Dr. K. A. MacKenzie, of Halifax, on a new drug "Quinidine" which corrects an irregular heart beat; and Dr. Duncan Graham of Toronto, on "pleural infections."

RUSSIA YIELDS IN MANY POINTS TO BRITISH NOTE

Final Note From British Government Was Delivered to Leonid Krassin Last Evening.

A COMPROMISE.

LONDON, June 14.— (Canadian Press.)—A brief note from the British Government delivered to Leonid Krassin, the Russian Soviet representative yesterday, brings to an end the long correspondence, beginning with Lord Curzon's ultimatum, and terminates the dispute between Great Britain and Russia which at one time seriously threatened a rupture of the trade agreement between the two countries.

That this has been avoided is considered largely due to M. Krassin's diplomatic tact. That the British Government now considers the incident closed is seen in the fact that it issued to parliament last night an official report of the whole correspondence, including yesterday's note.

Russia yielded on many points, including withdrawal of the offensive Weinstein notes, granting compensation to the seized trawlers in the Harding and Davison cases, and permitting fishing rights within the twelve mile limit. On the question of Soviet propaganda a compromise has been reached.

The wording of the note shows that Russia has agreed "in the normal course of diplomatic movements, "to transfer from Kabul, Afghanistan, to another post, its representative, Lieut. Raskolnikov, against whom, according to the note, "the main charges have been made," and to insure that M. Shamiatsky at Teheran shall observe the propaganda agreement in letter and spirit. The note gives the important undertaking that Great Britain and her dominions, colonies and protectorates, shall not assist in any hostile designs against the Soviet Government or the republics associated with it which may be entertained by Russian emigres.

RIGHT TO ORGANIZE.

OTTAWA, June 14.— (Canadian Press.)— There was a vote on the recognition of the right of bank clerks to organize in the banking and commerce committee of the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. The proposal to recognize this right specifically in the bank act was made by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member for Centre Winnipeg. It was voted down by 21 to 13. Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance voting in the minority.

THURSDAY, JUNE 14, 1923.

THE VALUE OF THE NEWSPAPER.

An incident happened at Hamilton last Sunday that illustrated effectively the most important position held by the daily newspapers in preventing the spread of foundationless stories and wild rumours of all kinds.

Some individual with a vivid imagination started a very circumstantial yarn afloat to the effect that the Prince of Wales had been thrown from his horse during a steeple chase and killed.

The rumor in a short time spread all over the city, and soon reached other centres.

With no issue of the newspapers, of course there was no opportunity to give a widespread denial of the story, many people thought it was authentic until the papers made their appearance on Monday.

Week-end stories of great victories or great disasters were a common feature—simply because with no paper available the people were ready to believe any rumour put into circulation.

If there were to be no newspapers issued for a week or two the air would be heavy with baseless reports of weird and wonderful happenings.

As one journal expresses it, the newspapers may give assistance at times to a few weird rumours, but when the newspapers are not present at the week-end and the dear general public take the rumour business into their own hands they surely make a real job of it.

NO POLITICAL INTERFERENCE.

The very fact that it is difficult for politicians to keep from discussing and criticizing the operations of the Canadian National Railways will cause the majority of Canadians to applaud the declaration of Sir Henry Thornton that he does not propose to allow any political interference to check the plans he is following.

The feeling of the people is that Sir Henry having been brought to Canada as an expert must be given a free hand in the administration of the National lines.

Operating a railway is a business proposition that should be left to those who know something about it, and the public will be behind Sir Henry Thornton in his blunt declaration that he does not propose to allow criticisms from political sharp-shooters to interfere with his work.

The head of the C. N. R. has been assigned the most difficult task of converting the Government railways from a debt-creating organization into a source of revenue to this country.

That is a man-sized job, and the man who is tackling it courageously should have a clear field.

The Examiner feels confident that it is interpreting correctly the sentiments of the masses of the people in the statement that Sir Henry Thornton should be unhampered in his work by politicians whose viewpoint is political advantage rather than a desire to see the railway problem cleared up.

Canada wants him to have every chance to make good—and that is impossible if political interference is allowed to monkey with the switches.

THE FIGHT IS ON.

The official nomination proceedings have produced no last-minute surprises so far as the Peterborough constituencies are concerned.

In the west riding the Government is represented by T. Tooms, the Liberals by J. W. Meyers and the Conservatives by W. H. Bradburn.

It is a straight fight in the East between E. N. McDonald, representing the Government, and Major T. D. Johnston, the Conservative standard-bearer, the Liberals having decided to let the riding go by default.

In West Peterborough Mr. Tooms has what prestige goes to the sitting member as an offset to the fact that he is not as well known personally as the other candidates, particularly Mr. Bradburn, who has spent his life here.

It is the first appearance in the political arena of both Liberal and Conservative candidates, although both have served the community in public capacities, Mr. Bradburn as Alderman and Mayor and now as a member of the Utilities Commission, and Mr. Meyers as a member of the Council. Both are well-known business men and both qualified by training and experience to give a good account of themselves in the Legislature.

Although there was a hitch at first over Mr. Tooms' status, he has been endorsed by the Premier himself and must be regarded as the representative of the Government.

In the East riding the sitting member, E. N. McDonald, elected on the U. F. O. ticket in 1919, is asking for a new term on his own record, and that of his Government, while Major T. D. Johnston, a young Otonabee farmer who served with distinction with the Canadian corps in France, carries the Conservative colors.

In both ridings there should be a lively contest, and a clean one, for none of the candidates are of the type likely to indulge in personalities or mud-slinging.

The interest, far from being keen up to the present, may pick up now that the nominations are over.

EDUCATION NEEDED.

With nearly every election nowadays, municipal or Parliamentary comes, comes a newspaper discussion of the very vital question of how the apathy of a large proportion of the electors is to be overcome.

Just now the newspapers throughout the Province are doing their utmost to make people see that this question of choosing a Government that is to hold office for at least four years is a very serious affair.

Probably the fact that all sections of the Province report a considerable amount of indifference and lack of interest in the campaign, this presaging a light vote, is responsible for an even more general than usual discussion of the failure of many people to use their franchise.

One newspaper suggests that voters who neglect to use their ballot should be fined.

The Examiner doubts very much, however, if compulsion will solve the problem.

Possibly, too, the political organizations could get some concrete results if they showed more activity between campaigns and devoted some time to this question of educating the voters along the line of their responsibility as citizens.

As it is now, the political bodies remain dormant from one campaign until the next, and the result is that in every election they run squarely into the same old condition—a large section of the people does not seem to care a button which party is in power or what kind of a Government is chosen.

A consistent policy of education in civics and citizenship seems to be about what Ontario needs the most.

BARGAINING WITH THE HIRED MAN.

The Advertiser has several complaints from farmers in this district, two of the latest being from Oxford County and from a farmer in Dorchester, in Middlesex County, says the London Advertiser. The trouble is that in both instances these farmers have been left in the lurch by their hired men, who have picked up and gone to the city when they found is possible to get work there.

The Advertiser took occasion to make some inquiries about this matter, and one farmer in London Township north of the city explained that he used the system the Dorchester man had not been able to make go. "I pay a winter and a summer wage," he stated, "and have had very little trouble since then. Last year, and I am doing the same this year, I paid $20 per month in the winter months and $40 in the summer. That makes the pay the most attractive at the season of the year when I want it to be attractive. We also have a written agreement for a year's work, although we have not had to use that yet. Last year, when the work was pretty well through, I gave the man an extra month's pay because he was well worth it. Needless to say, I have the same man yet. I can't see any reason why the winter and summer pay idea cannot be worked in other places."

The Advertiser passes the idea on for what it is worth, although there must be a good many farms where the plan is already followed. It is certainly a poor look-out for a farmer who has kept his man all through the lean season to find out at this time of the year that he is alone in the work.

RIFLE RULE IN BULGARIA.

"Fascismo" seems to have reached Bulgaria.

The latest news is that the Peasants are preparing to fight back. This does not affect the principle of the thing at all. The Peasants are appealing to force, precisely as the army has done. If it turns out that they have the greatest amount of effective force behind them, then they will regain control of the Government; but they will regain it—not because they have marked more ballots in a little booth—but because they are able to shoot more bullets into the ranks of their enemies.

The important news is that Bulgaria has shaken off its loose disguise as a democracy, and has reverted to rule by armed force. It has returned to the days of the Wars of the Roses. When the Fascisti took the Italian Parliament by the throat and compelled the King to call Mussolini to the Premiership, it adopted the methods of Cromwell. Anglo-Saxons are apt to feel very superior when reading of this sort of thing; but it is not so long since our American neighbors refused to accept as final the returns from the ballot boxes which had elected Lincoln, and appealed to the tragic arbitrament of the "minie" rifle. Nor is it very long since the rioting of the disfranchised in Great Britain had more influence on the course of legislation than the voting of the few who then enjoyed the franchise.

This is what gives point to the joke when Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt lands in New York from a Women's Conference in Rome and tells the American people that "if Mussolini remains in power, Italian women will soon get the franchise." If the principle that put Mussolini in power persists, no one will have the franchise.

* * * * *

Just what has happened already in Bulgaria is a little difficult to discern. It may be that the army of General Wrangel—a part of which has been hibernating in that country—has served as spear-point for a movement with which it could not well help sympathizing. The Bulgarian officers are said to be rallying to the new regime; but the peasants are numerous, determined and good fighters. In that part of the world, every man is a potential soldier.

If the new Government manages to stick, however, we may see a change in the orientation of the Balkan peoples. The first change will probably be that Bulgaria will return to its old place as a power in Balkan councils. Since the war, it has been largely negligible. This has been quite as much due to the dominance of the peasants as to the fact that Bulgaria was among the defeated in the great struggle. The peasant in all nations has little concern with foreign policy. When Turkey and Greece were juggling with Dedeagach, the natural Bulgarian port on the Aegean, the peasants probably had about as much appreciation of their interest in the subject as the British Labor Party has today of the undoubted interest of the British workman in the proposed work at Singapore.

If Bulgaria now "comes back," she will considerably disturb the present balance. The Bulgars are probably the most virile people in the Balkans. They occupy a central position. Under a statesmanlike leadership, they will infallibly resume much of their old weight in Balkan affairs, in spite of the fact that both Serbia and Rumania have recently been enlarged. It will become more dangerous than ever for Europe to permit their outlet to the Aegean to be blocked up.—Montreal Star.

CROP REPORTS

The following is a summary of returns made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Spring grains have been greatly helped by warm rains during the past week, and the fields have come along nicely. Fall wheat, and clover, and other legumes have also made much growth.

Alfalfa cutting has begun in some sections of Halton.

Apples, cherries, and other orchard fruits are setting well, and most of the small fruits are also full of promise, except raspberries, which have been cut more or less by winter.

Haldimand: Considerable damage is again being done by the canker worm. In spite of the fact that we had a few demonstrations last year which proved conclusively that spraying would control this pest, very little spraying is being done.

Sudbury: Grasshopers are hatching out in large numbers along the Soo line, and threaten to be a serious menace to crops.

Timiskaming: As a result of the disastrous fire of last fall, and the destruction of so many seed potatoes, the acreage planted to this crop will not be as large as last year. Interest has been aroused in the production of spring wheat, as a result of the combined field crop and grain competition being put on by the Agricultural Society.

Wet weather has so water-logged many fields, and turned barnyards into bogs, thus preventing the removal of manure on to corn land in Eastern Ontario, that the bulk of the planting has been delayed in many quarters. On this account it is likely that more buckwheat will be planted this year.

Kenora: A large number of bees have been shipped in from the Southern States in 2-pound packages. This experiment was tried out last year with very satisfactory results, and is being repeated this year on a larger scale by other beekeepers. There was a heavy mortality among bees owing, no doubt, to the late spring and the long period of confinement.

Middlesex: Condenseries are paying $1.55 for 3.5 per cent. milk, with a decrease of 4 cents for ever point below 3.5 per cent. fat.

Leeds: Milk production has been very heavy, and cheese factories as a general rule have been running to capacity. Prices of cheese slumped again, and 16c a pound was the highest offered at the Brockville Cheese Board on Thursday, very few sales being made. Milk has been selling at from $23.00 to $35.00 a ton.

The Sudbury Co-operative Creamery reports increased receipts of cream, and it is now making over 1,000 pounds of butter daily. It also reports greatly increased sales of ice-cream.

South Simcoe: Live stock generally are doing well on grass. Moderate shipments were made from the country this week. A fairly large number of hogs were shipped, $8.25 a cwt. being the price paid on the thick smooth basis. A few good butcher cattle were marketed at $7.00 per cwt.

Peterborough: Shipments of live stock this week comprised steers, calves and hogs. Most of the steers which went out were of the stocker class, and brought from 5c to 6 1-4c. Calves brought from 5c to 10 1-2c, depending on quality Hogs brought $8.25 a cwt. Horse buyers are fairly active through the county, but good horses are scarce. Good horses now bring around $200.00.

Carleton: Pastures are A1, and the young cattle are making noticeable gains in flesh Calves for the Montreal market are bringing from 4c to 7c, according to quality. Hogs, $9.50 per cwt., lambs 14c to 16c per pound, sheep 4c to 7c per pound.

There still seems to be a keen demand for little pigs, and they are selling readily at $10.00 to $12.00 per pair at six weeks of age in Brant and Prince Edward. Prices per pair range from $12.00 to $16.00 in Sudbury.

Lambton: A large number of applications are being received daily for wool supplies, a good indication that the co-operative marketing of wool is going good returns and meeting with general approval

Make the Rinso liquid first

Do not put Rinso direct from the package into the tub. Mix half a package of Rinso in a little cool water until it is like cream. Then add two quarts of boiling water, and when the froth subsides, you will have a clean amber-coloured liquid. Add this liquid to the wash tub, until you get the big lasting Rinso suds. Then soak the clothes clean.

Rinso is as splendid for the regular family washing as Lux is for fine fabrics.

CONFIRMATION CAMPBELLFORD

Impressive Service at Which Two Peterborough Churchmen Officiate—Class of 34.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 14.—His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, of Peterborough, confirmed a class of 34 in St. Mary's Church last night. He was assisted by Rev. Monsignor McColl, of Ashburnham, and Rev. Father Phalen, pastor of the parish. A large audience witnessed the impressive service and Bishop O'Brien, in his talk to the members of the class, had them promise that they would not neglect their morning and evening prayers, and that they would not fail to receive the Holy Communion once a month for the rest of their lives.

The Bishop's Address.

In his address to the congregation, Bishop O'Brien expressed the pleasure it gave him to note the progress that is being made by the Parish of St. Mary with its fine church property, its convent and separate school. He dealt at considerable length on the latter institution. Holding up the British Empire as the greatest on earth, an Empire that was more united than any other during the war, he said that the people liked to appeal to England, both for the limitless freedom of conscience which is allowed its subjects and from the fact that it maintains denominational schools. In that country there are three separate schools, the Catholic, the Anglican and the Nonconformists. There is no trouble over the matter of taxation. For instance, if the town of Campbellford were in England, the boards of the different schools would send in estimates of the amounts required during the coming year, and that would be raised by a general levy and the various sums paid over.

One Inequality.

There was only one inequality in the administration of the separate schools of England. When the Anglicans and Nonconformists required new school buildings these were constructed by the Government, but the Catholics were required to put up their own.

This inequality had existed for years, but at the present session of the British Parliament, T. P. O'Connor, the oldest member of the House, brought in a resolution calling for a fair administration of the school law, and this was carried without one dissenting vote. This was something, the Bishop said, of which the people did not read in the press of Toronto.

Advantages of Separate Schools.

Speaking of the advantages of Separate schools the Bishop said that their aim was to impart religious instruction to the rising generation. When the Separate school was organized in Campbellford there was no trouble, not even a hint that the other school was not good enough. The latter was all right so far as the imparting of secular knowledge was concerned, but secular instruction was not sufficient for any person. England realized the fact and the three Separate schools maintained there did not divide the people, as was shown by the unity that prevailed during the war. It could be seen by the Toronto papers that the Protestant denominations were recognizing the necessity of religious instruction of some kind in the Public schools of Ontario.

Sometimes, the Bishop said, people whose ancestors had lived in the old land under a Separate school system had found it satisfactory, came to this country and argued that all children should attend the same school, but this was side-line talk by those who did not understand the situation.

Interview Candidates.

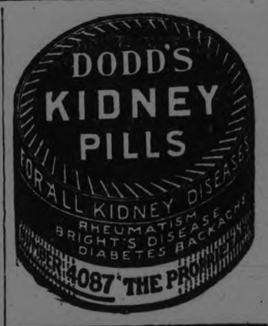
The Bishop does not know who are local candidates for the Legislature and added that he does not care, but he advised his hearers to ask every one of these if he was in favour of a fair administration of the school law and to vote for the man who would answer in the affirmative.

No Catholic Officials.

Another inequality in the administration of the school law to which the Bishop referred, was the fact that in the Department of Education in Toronto there is not a single Catholic official. In Quebec, where the Catholics are in the majority, all the members of the commission of the Protestant schools are of the latter faith. There has never been an election in Quebec fought on the school issue, and there never has been an agitation in that province to abolish the Protestant schools.

The Bishop said that the taxes paid by the public owned railway, by the Hydro, the telephone and telegraph companies were all paid to the Public schools, although the Catholics were joint owners of these properties .That is another inequality that he would have every candidate for the Legislature asked if he is willing to have removed. Every public utility that is operated under a franchise is common property. The streets of Campbellford are owned by Protestant and Catholics alike and the taxes paid by these corporations should be divided proportionately between the two denominations.

"I am satisfied," said the Bishop, in conclusion, "that the Protestant mind is fair on the school question. Difference of opinion is due to a lack of understanding of the facts of the case. For this reason the question should be fairly and fully discussed in public."



BANKING BILL IN COMMONS

After Numerous Amendments Measure Is Expected to Be Disposed of Next Week.

OTTAWA, June 14. Canadian Press. — The Banking Bill has been reported to the House by the Banking and Commerce Committee, and is expected to come up for consideration next week

Hon. W. S. Fielding, Finance Minister, said that it would be brought up as soon as it could be reprinted with the amendments, which have been numerous, and would be given priority over most other business.

L. J. Ladner (Conservative, Vancouver, S.) wanted to know if it would be safe to be away next week.

"No," reply Mr. Fielding, "We hope to get everything done next week."

Just before the committee reported the bill there was a brief discussion on the possibility of changes in the Bank Act during the coming ten years.

W. C. Good (Progressive, Brant) in support of his amendment for community banks had predicted that some day the country would be served by cooperative banks federated in a central national bank or group of banks.

J. T. Shaw (Independent, Calgary W.) expressed the view that there would be radical changes in banking methods in the next ten years.

The chairman, Hon. A. K. MacLean said he believed that radical changes in the banking system should be made between revisions and not at a regular revision.

Mr. Fielding was appealed to as to whether Parliament could amend the Bank Act at any session.

"Certainly," he replied, "we can do dreadful things. We can absolutely reduce our own indemnity, and what could be worse?"

With this there was a general outburst of laughter, Mr. Good withdrawing his proposal for community banks, and the motion to report the bill was carried.

Earlier in the proceedings of the committee there was recorded a vote on a proposal to recognize in the Bank Act the right of clerks to organize for any lawful purpose.

The motion to recognize this right explicitly in the act was made by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Centre Winnipeg. It was voted down by 16 to 9 on a show of hands, and when a recorded vote was taken it was rejected by 20 to 13.

The Minister of Finance introduced an amendment to the bill to provide that loans equal to more than ten per cent. of the bank's capital to directors or to corporations in which the president, general manager, or a director is a shareholder, must be approved by two thirds of those present at the directors' meeting.

Mr. Coote, who had a similar proposal, withdrew his and Mr. Fielding's amendment was passed by 28 to 5.

"The die-hards!" said Mr. Fielding, when the 5 stood up.

"Presbyterians," put in Walter Mitchell.

Then followed the discussion of Mr. Good's proposal for cooperative community banks and the reporting of the Banking Bill to the Home.

HASTINGS AFTER THE LEADERSHIP

Roseneath went ahead in the fifth with two and added another in the sixth while Hastings counted two in their turn in the sixth making the score 4-3 for the Alnwich township team. Election News

TORONTO, June 14 (Canadian Press). — Nomination Day in the rural and urban ridings of the Province to-day brought out a large field of candidates for 111 seats.

In many casese there will be three-cornered contests, but the weeding-out process that always occurs on Nomination Day reduced the lists, so that in the majority of ridings the actual balloting on 25th June will indicate a straight fight between the nominee of the U.F.O., Labour, Coalition Government, and one or other of the old-time Liberal or Conservative Parties.

The possibility of the entry of a person of Miss Isabel C. Armstrong, in London in opposition to Sir Adam Beck, Conservative, and H. A. Stevenson, Labour, is exciting considerable interest.

Miss Armstrong is a newspaper woman.

In Toronto eleventh-hour entry of Progressive and Liberal candidates in some of the ridingings gave election guessers something more to think about.

The withdrawal of E. J Carry, selected by the Liberals of South-West Toronto for the seat, was an important announcement of last evening

A STRANGE SHIP AND WEIRD STORY

Mystery Schooner Reaches New York With Only Chinese Aboard.

NEW YORK, June 14. Canadian Press. A sleek, two-masted schooner, newly painted white, bearing the name, Mary Beatrice, of Nassau, sailed into Quarantine yesterday with 15 young and well dressed Chinese on board—a strange ship with a weird story of the sea.

Boarding the boat at Quarantine the officials found nothing of cargo or papers. None of the Chinese could speak English. Their leader said on his fingers that the party originally numbered 23, but 8 had gone, most of them to rest in the deep.

The Customs interpreter was then summoned, and the story unfolded.

Twenty Chinese bargained with the white owner of the schooner to land them somewhere on the American coast. Each Chinese paid $500. On May 8th they set out from Havana, 20 Chinese, two white men and a negro. They cruised and the food ran low. They begged the owner to keep his promise. He growled and chased them to their quarters. That night (a little more than a week ago) he left in the schooner's only small boat.

The Chinese, after several days, were driven here by hunger. The mystery of the seven missing was not fully explained. The Chinese spokesman, replying to questions, pointed over the side. He would not say if they jumped or fell in, or were thrown in.

NON-UNIONISTS TO CONTINUE STRUGGLE

Purpose to Give All Presbyterians a Chance to Declare Themselves.

PORT ARTHUR, June 14 (Canadian Press). — The sub-executive of the Presbyterian Church Association states that the general executive of that body, representing all the Provinces, will be announced in a few days.

In the meantime, they have issued a statement in which they again reiterate that eminent legal opinion is to the effect that the action of the Assembly was beyond its powers, and that "No body of men, however constituted, has the right to put an end to the Presbyterian Church and put us into another communion against our judgment."

The statement calls upon all who "Love the Presbyterian Church to stand fast, and assures them that there is going to be a Presbytrian Church from Coast to Coast, notwithstanding the resolution of the Assembly."

It is purposed to give the people of the Church an opportunity to express their opinion on the action of the Assembly, and to have them fully informed of the meaning of the measure which has been adopted

Opponents of union, adds the statement, are willing to co-operate with the Unionists, but only on the ground that "we be left a constitution and organisation of the Presbyterian Church," and that "congregations be given an opportunity of declaring whether they wish to go into the union or remain with us."

OKLAHOMA PREPARES FOR WORST FLOOD IN HISTORY

OKLAHOMA, June 14. Canadian Press. — With unprecedented rush of water pounding at the city reservoir, ten miles west of here, Oklahoma City is preparing for the worst flood in the history of the city.

The reservoir across the Canadian River Valley, which every spring impounds the city's water supply for the year, resembles a giant waterfall. Although the dam is said to be in no danger, some fear is felt that the embankment might give way and release the water from the lake into the city.

THIRD READING PENSIONS BILL

Measure Contains Several Amendments of Benefit to Ex-Service Men—Restores Insurance Principle.

OTTAWA, June 14.— (Canadian Press).—The third reading was given the bill, with several amendments, to amend the Pensions Act which gave rise to extended discussion in the House of Commons last night. Speaking on the bill, Hon. Dr. Beland, Minister of the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, said that it restored the so-called insurance principle, so that man could be awarded a pension for disability incurred during war service. He explained where the trouble had arisen by providing pensions for "disability incurred during war service as such." Amendments, he added, carried out the Ralston recommendations and divided the men who served during the war from those serving afterwards. Regarding tubercular cases, Dr. Beland said that formerly an ex-service man could not receive a pension unless tuberculosis was attributable to his service; now it was proposed to give a man attention if the disease arose during service, whether attributable to service or not.

SAY FUSION WOULD KILL U.F.O. PARTY

J. J. Morrison Issues a Note of Warning at Wiarton.

WIARTON, June 14 (Canadian Press). — Rumours of a fusion between Drury and the Liberals after the election drew from J. J. Morrison, secretary of the U.F.O., yesterday a warning of what fusion, amalgamation, or any other form of union would do to the U.F.O. organisation

Speaking at Keppel in presence of D. J. Taylor, U.F.O. candidate for North Grey, Mr. Morrison declared that fusion with any other party would kill the U.F.O. within four years.

"Better," he declared, "to go into the Opposition and maintain their identity than to fuse and lose their identity."

The new way to make Jams and Jellies

Anyone can now make perfect jams and jellies from any fruit, with certainty of success.
—with only one minute of boiling.
—with the full flavor and color of the fruit retained and not boiled away.
—with proper texture.
—and 50% more jam or jelly from the same fruit than by old methods.
—and they keep perfectly.

When you made them the old way, it was a long, tedious task to boil down the fruit until the pectin, the natural jellying element, would cause the fruit to "jell."

Certo is pectin, in handy liquid form. Certo contains no preservative or gelatine. You can use any fruit and make perfect jam and jelly at less cost.

Jocelyn Says It ✂ by Jack Lait

ACTING as an art—yes; that is within the ken of every dumb-bell. But acting as a business—well, that would be simple enough were it not for the unreasonable prejudices and arbitrary ideas of the obstinate professionals already on the inside.

How many times have you and I reached for our hats just before the final fadeout of the third-act curtain and muttered, "Hmph! I could play that part better than that star." The star may have put in years of application, seasons of intensive study and training; must have survived the competition of thousands of ambitious ones already admitted to the guild, and must have had some unusual apitude for it, to begin with. But we, who wouldn't think of running a Ford unless we knew which was the spark throttle and which was the extra tire, would blithely tear into the most intricate, elusive, complex, technical of callings without knowing an olio drop from an upstage cross.

It was human enough, then, that Jocelyn Hanleigh, only daughter of the late J. Bernard Hanleigh, who had suddenly died and left her a thoroughbred name, a flock of debts and a seminary education, should react with accelerated pulses to a suggestion that she enter the dramatic field. It seemed a genteel, intriguing, plausible enough avocation. And sensible, too, for she knew that actresses draw compensation beyond the probabilities of the slow, unromantic commercial-situation.

No Hanleigh had ever played a part except in a drawing room or some other walk of snobbery and aristocracy. But no Hanleigh had ever been strapped for money before, either. After all, there had been several instances of really good people taking up the stage, and the very fibs of the press-agents in crediting social class to the occasional novitiates from the ragged edges of society had standardized the thought, if not really the bona fide deed.

It was from her classmate, Elsa Kemball, one of the few to whom Jocelyn had confided her plight, that the inspired proposition sprang. Elsa's father owned theatres. He did not operate them—not he. But he owned the buildings and the ground by inheritance. And that gave him entree. It gave him a rather reverential hearing for anything he had to propose or ask.

Elsa, whose life was seldom punctuated with adventure beyond the tepid flirtations and routine ramifications of her deb-year existence, was thrilled at the chance to put her finger into something not on the formal calendar. Being a female, she was a busybody. And being her father's favorite investment, she easily persuaded him to give Jocelyn a note to Livermore Meyers, lessee and manager of one of his "legitimate" houses.

Jocelyn sent the note in via a hostile-looking girl who sat behind a wicketed window guarding the entrance to the suite above the theatre. The heiress to the Hanleigh goodwill sat on a bench with several others, waiting. She was the first called. A door opened by some mysterious mechanism agitated from within, and she crossed a vestibule and knocked on the only door in sight. A voice called her in. Livermore Meyers sat behind a long, flat desk, and rose when she crossed the threshold.

He looked Jocelyn up and down and all over in one glance—more curious than hearty.

Jocelyn smiled courteously and sat.

"This, h'm, letter—from Mr. Kemball—h'm—you're J. Bernard Hanleigh's daughter?"

She nodded. Then, as an afterthought, she said:

"But—if you please—I'd rather not have that known. I'd much prefer to get along on my merits—that is, on my own, so to say."

Livermore Meyers smiled. He almost laughed.

"There are a hundred thousand girls in this town, Miss Hanleigh," he said, "who can't get past that outside gate—and other gates like it—who think they can get by on their merit—and that means on their looks and their egotistical notions that they've got talent. They're willing to go to any length—that is, almost any length, I mean, of course—to crash the barriers. Almost every girl old enough to walk is stage-struck. We can't even give most of 'em a minute."

"But—the actresses who are now employed—they had to start somehow, somewhere."

"Sure. They get in through different tricks and breaks. Maybe as chorus girls—and that's even more overcrowded than the legit, but it takes more girls to keep that game moving; maybe they've got relations in the business; maybe—well, there's a thousand different ways, most of 'em accidents. But, anyway, they're in, and each girl that wants to get in is up against a lot of problems that it would take me too long to tell you. But, you! Well, a Hanleigh is natural copy for the papers and would draw a limousine trade. So you've got an inside track. . . . And you say you want to hide who you are!"

"I am to understand, then, that you are willing to engage me if I appear as—as myself?"

"That's about it. Not exactly engage you, but try you out. After all, you've got to be there, no matter who you are. We all hate to break in amateurs. The percentage of 'em that makes good is so small you wouldn't believe it. But where it's a Hanleigh, it's worth the experiment. . . . I don't suppose the money interests you—just a society girl's whim, huh?"

"Not at all. I am interested in nothing quite so much as the money. If I am to exploit my family name, moreover, the figure will have to be substantial."

"But you don't even know what you can do.

"I'm sorry," said Meyers, "But I got a girl here who'll do it for a hundred and a half."

Have you ever been on the stage? No, of course not. Well, there's more to it than you ever dreamed. And before you even know what the part is, or I even know if you can be heard three rows past the orchestra pit, you run up the price."

"Not at all. But there is no use in my experimenting unless the salary will be worthwhile if I do make good."

"Say, if you really make good, you'll pretty near fix your own salary, Hanleigh or no Hanleigh. But even if you only just get by, I admit it wouldn't be a bad buy to have you in my comp'ny. So, tell you what—you come to the show to-night and I'll call a rehearsal for to-morrow, one o'clock. You watch the ingenue part—Angie—the flapper; that's the part for you. And if you've got anything, I'll pay you—I'll pay you—h'm—would three hundred a week to start interest you?"

Jocelyn nodded.

There was a seat for her at the box office that evening, and she sat through the piece, a mystery melodrama, with crude comedy relief, called "In the Dark." The "flapper part" was a clumsily written hyperbole of modern slang that reflected the author's conception of the unbridled, mannerless hoyden of to-day. Kitty Bellamy, the flapper, was an incredibly sophisticated, flippant, impudent, irreverent hoodlum, a wise-cracker and a snappy come-backer. Probably nobody very much like Kitty Bellamy had ever lived. But "In the Dark" was a money hit, and Kitty was the life of it, though not the "lead."

Jocelyn went home rather dizzy. So—this was to be the stepping stone for the first Hanleigh who had ever earned a more or less honest three hundred a week! In this crass character by an inartistic scribbler—Morrison Daley—she was to merchandise the name which so many generations of effete ancestors had held holier than anything, including honor.

Not alone was she to adorn this hectic tale, but she was to point a maudlin moral—for Kitty, in the last act, when her breezy disposition was misunderstood by the "heavy" for a free-and-easy conscience, seized a butcher knife and vigorously defended her inviolate person.

In this she was to draw the "limousine trade?" Why—the real people would laugh (noiselessly, of course) in their silk-lined sleeves at the spectacle of J. Bernard Hanleigh's daughter gallivanting through such counterfeit personation and such mawkish rot. The critics, who would surely have a cold contempt for anyone from the social sphere entering the profession, to start with, would probably slice her up pretty and make the farce a scandal.

Yet Jocelyn had a burning itch to try it. Not only the money called her, but what Meyers had termed "their looks and their egotistical notions that they've got talent." In her secret heart of hearts, Jocelyn did think that her bearing, her—her—yes, her appearance—would be impressive; and she never doubted that she had talent and personality for acting. She would have been less or more than human if she had.

She told her widowed mother nothing of it. But at one o'clock she was at the stage door. The tender asked her name, and let her in. Meyers, in shirt sleeves, advanced to welcome her. He introduced her to Mack Hillam, the stage manager, who would act as director, and to Daley, the author, who had been advised of the miraculous "break" that had sent them a Hanleigh. Daley saw the possibilities as well as Meyers did. Hillam had his doubts, as every seasoned ham always has when a tyro is admitted into the sanctified realms where such masterpieces as "In the Dark" are functioning.

Seated at a table by the back wall was a girl who was not introduced. Jocelyn thought she recognized her. Yes, it was the girl who had played Kitty the night before. It suddenly dawned on Jocelyn that if she were to qualify she would push out of employment a girl who would have gone on had not she, with her box-office-valuable name, come in unasked to supersede someone who belonged there. It seemed an injustice. Meyers saw the look.

"Oh, don't mind her," he whispered. "She'll get two weeks' notice with pay and she'll get another job. Every manager on the street knows Edna Harley."

Edna did not seem so optimistic over it. She glowered at Jocelyn as only an established insider can at an upstart, especially an upstart with any sort of "teacher's pet" advantage, who comes horning in to scab an honest worker's job. The fact that she was Hillam's sweetheart, besides, made her and him the more bitter. Meyers' word was law, and Hillam knew better than to openly oppose it. But he had surreptitiously telephoned Edna, who had "happened to drop in," and Meyers had admitted to her with many alibis that Jocelyn was to try out for the role of Kitty.

Hillam, collarless and coatless, gave her in a few technical phrases the psychology of the part, amazing Jocelyn by pointing out to her numerous angles that hadn't dawned on her before at all. Maybe there was something to this acting thing that wasn't to be picked up by a lay observer at a glance. Maybe those who sat "in front" and listened and watched and panned did elide a great many considerations, thought Jocelyn.

Well, the rest of it would be easy, anyhow. Now that she had a more penetrating vision into the part, there would scarcely be any need for feeling, stumbling. When Hillam shoved a copy of the part, bound with brass fasteners, into her hand, she felt only a little sheepish and quite resolutely confident that she would play Kitty Bellamy as Kitty Bellamy had never been played before. Why not? Where, for example, had Edna Harley drawn any sublime guidance? She had probably never had academic schooling in the drama, and surely she had not undergone any prolonged finishing process at literature and the arts.

"Downstage, please, Miss Hanleigh," called Hillam.

Jocelyn stood, confused. Hillam motioned toward the footlights. She started, haltingly. This stage thing was a bit disconcerting, despite her own assurance. A great many things seemed to change when one was on a stage. She had determined that, as far as the speciously synthetic part would allow, she would be "natural." Edna had projected Kitty with stagey affectations and obviously brash mannerisms. Jocelyn felt that she could at least partly humanize the strange creature. She held up the part and read by the light of the single stand-lamp over her shoulder. The first sentence was:

"My dad and my governess are out in the garden. And I'm afraid—for both of them."

"Hit the 'both,'" barked Hillam.

She didn't seem to understand.

"Hit it—emphasize it—play it up—humor it. BOTH of them."

"But—the point is quite clear. I think that if I just read it in a conversational, simple tone, the audience"——

"Never mind the audience. We can't have them hunting laughs after the boat is sailed. You got to POINT a laugh—lam it at 'em."

"But the natural way"——

"This ain't natural. This is a theayter."

Daley walked toward Jocelyn.

"Is it necessary," asked Jocelyn, "that people laugh boisterously? Isn't it better that they be amused? Must they scream?"

"Must they?" cried Meyers. "My dear Miss Hanleigh, I only wish they would. I had a show once called 'The Bridegroom's Dilemma' where they yelled till they had hysteria, and it made a fortune. Oh, you got to land the punch laughs."

"V-very well; I'll try," said Jocelyn, with misgivings, and she proceeded.

On almost every line Hillam stopped her and corrected her readings and her actions. Jocelyn's head was buzzing with the strange and, to her way of thinking, entirely unreal coaching. Several times she gave argument, but each time she was smothered down by the united clamor of Meyers, Hillam and Daley, who stood firm and pat for "wallops" — points— as though it were a boxing bout with the audience and not the progression of a story of life.

"We'll jump to the last act," said Hillam. "We won't have time to go through the whole book this afternoon, stopping this way to give you every speech and every bit of business. But we'll try that scene in the last act where you defend your honor. Take it from page 54, where the heavy says, 'Don't tell me, Kitty, after the talk I heard you sling, that you're a square shooter.' Take it from there . . . wait a minute . . . here's the carving knife. It'll be on that chair; that rep'essents the little table where you and him are having the supper in his apartment . . . all right, let's go."

Jocelyn turned to page 54. "I about thought that's what you'd about think," she began . . . "My, what grotesque grammar —I about thought that was what you'd about think? Can't I say, 'That is precisely what I fancied you would think?'"

"No, no," cried Daley. "That's one of the best lines in the script. She's slangy and snappy."

"But she is supposed to have at least gone to school."

"Yes. But if you're going to stand on punctilious rhetorical and grammatical construction, you're going to muffle many a slam."

Jocelyn was surprised. She hadn't imagined Daley knew what rhetoric, grammar or construction, not to say punctilious, meant. If he did, why did he write such drivel? They called it a "success"—yes. Maybe—could it be that if she were to get along in this strange profession she must submerge everything punctilious, too, and reach after the tawdry fire-cracker effect? But she was keeping them all waiting. And so she resumed. She read on, badgered and harangued by the manager, the director and the author, until she came to the episode of seizing the long bladed knife.

"You come another step toward me, and I'll slip this between your ribs, you rat," she read.

"Great!" cried Daley. "There was spirit in that."

"I'm sorry," said Jocelyn. "It wasn't spirit. I was just reading haltingly because I couldn't see very clearly—the knife cast a shadow on the page."

"But that was the way. Nervous—tense—staccato——"

"Gibberish. No person, let alone a girl, ever talked that way."

"Of course not. But that line never misses getting a hand."

"A hand? That buncombe? A step toward me? Why—we're both seated, and at a small table."

"Just the same, a step toward me is the line," barked Daley. "It delivers the thought and does it with a kick."

"Well, I will not say it. It is absurd."

"Whoever plays the part'll say it," growled Meyers.

"You mean, then, that I——"

"I mean if you play the part you'll say the part the way the part says. Now, will you say it?"

"I'll say this," said Jocelyn. "I'll say that I wouldn't go through what you inartistic, laugh-stealing, applause-snatching theatrical plumbers ask, for three THOUSAND a week."

"I'm sorry," said Meyers. "But I got a girl here who'll do it and do it right for a hundred and a half. I admit I'd have liked you in my troupe for the name. But when you start rapping like that—well, I got some pride in the theatre, if you haven't. Money ain't everything with ME . . . all right, boys and girls—rehearsal off."

BOOTLEG IMMIGRATION NEW RIVAL OF BOOZE

Foreigners, Who Seek Access to United States Sent to Cuba, Canada and Mexico By Agents, and Left Helpless in Poverty.

NEW YORK, June 13.—(United Press).—"Bootleg immigration" is beginning to rival "bootleg booze" since the United States restriction of immigration impressed itself on the old world.

The Foreign Language Information Service has been conducting an exhausive investigation of the subject. This is an endowed institution, with headquarters in New York, designed for the protection of persons of foreign language seeking homes in the United States.

"Bootleg immigration" is reported by the service to be the art which fleeces the alien by selling him a steamship ticket and a false tip on how to evade the American immigration law.

Thousands of misguided persons in Europe, it is indicated, are being induced to leave their homes and sail for ports in Cuba, Canada and Mexico, upon "instructions' " that they can cross into the United States from these countries without encountering any legal barrier.

This practice of "immigration bootlegging" is international in scope and simple in process. Every village and countryside in some sections of Europe contains families or single individuals who want to come here, but are held at home because their country's quota under our immigration law is exhausted for the year.

To these would-be emigrants the whisper is given by interested agents that any traveller who reaches Cuba, Canada or Mexico is thereupon free to cross into the United States.

Money Changes Hands.

Under the stimulus of such glad tidings, hard-earned money changes hands rapidly on the other side. Robbed and disappointed men, lone women and children find themselves in Cuba, Canada or Mexico, entirely among strangers, often without money and largely inaccessible to such friends as they have on this side of the ocean.

That is not all. If he had stayed at home he might have applied for passports and passage when the new fiscal year begins on July 1, and then come directly to New York.

In Cuba and Canada he must wait one year, and in Mexico two years, before an American consul will visa his passport for entry to this country as a native of Europe. And as a permanent resident of those three countries he must stay where he is for five years.

The "Hrvatski Glasnik" of Chicago prints a letter addressed to it by Danilo Trazivak, United States immigration inspector in Texas. The letter in part follows:

"I beg of you to publish the following in the interest of people who seek to smuggle themselves into the United States by way of the Mexican border.

"The American immigration law prescribes a two-year residence in Mexico before emigration to the United States is permissible. Exception is only made for merchants and people of learning, who have permission to go to the United States for a certain specific time, but they have to present concrete evidence.

"Many of our people (Jugoslavs) either because they are ill-advised or because of their inability to secure the vise of the American consul in the old country, go into the world blindly, with the sole purpose of evading the American immigration laws. They only become the victims of the greatest suffering.

"Until recently there were about forty Bulgarians in the county jail in Laredo, Texas, whom the American authorities caught on the other side of the American-Mexican border (over the Rio-Grande) and all were deported to Bulgaria. The Jugoslavs are also beginning to emigrate by way of the Mexican border.

"For those who have been successful in crossing the boundary, it is necessary for them to know that within five years they may still be caught and deported to the country from which they came."

Situation in Cuba.

How widespread is this system of trying to get into the United States is indicated by the following letter addressed to the weekly "Radnik" of Chicago by a "Jugoslav Workman in Cuba" and given out by the service:

"There are about twenty of us Jugoslavs in Cuba. After we left our impoverished homes and families, getting deeply into debt besides, we arrived here and now are lamenting with the other poor devils who were fooled just as we were by the various agents and crooks. They told us how easy it would be to go to the United States from there. But what is really the truth? It is impossible for us to go from here to the United States. Whoever has enough money and is able to pay about $200 can travel and smuggle himself in. Whoever starts on such a run, his life is not worth a nickel. Hundreds of people who paid large amounts are today lying in prisons of Cuba awaiting deportation to the country from which they came. We hear of arrests being made every day on the other side and there have been human bodies found which were thrown up from the sea. The deep sea tells no secrets. It makes little difference to the bandits to either throw a man into the water or to transport him securely to the American shore after they have his money. They do whatever seems easiest. The bandits are responsible to no one."

The Foreign Language Service also says in a statement:

"There has been another immigration swindle going on. A certain agency in South America has been sending circular letters to Jugoslavia stating that they need 50,000 men for work on coffee plantations in South America. They offer free transportation and board until they reach their destination in South America, under the condition that every one has to sign a contract that they will stay there at least one year."

STOMACH TROUBLE DUE TO THIN BLOOD

It Usually Disappears When the Blood is Made Rich and Red.

Thin blood is one of the most common causes of stomach trouble. It affects the digestion very quickly. The glands that furnish the digestive fluids are diminshed in their activity, the stomach muscles are weakened and their is a loss of nerve force. In this state of health nothing will more quickly restore the appetite, digestion and normal nutrition than good, rich, red blood.

Dr. Williams Pink Pills act directly on the blood, making it rich and red, and this enriched blood strengethens weak nerves, stimulates tired muscles, and awakens to normal activity the glands that supply the digestive fluids. This is shown by an improved appetite, and soon the effect of these blood enriching pills is evident throughout the whole system. You find that what you eat does not distress you, and that you are vigorus instead of irritable and listless. If your appetite is fickle, if you have any of the distressing pians and symptoms of indigestion, you should at once take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and profit by the better condition in which they will put your blood.

These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TOOK TUMOR FROM BRAIN.

BERLIN, June 13. — (United Press).—For the second time in the history of medical science, a German surgeon has successfully operated for removal of tumor on the brain and cure of the rare attendant ailment "Jackson epilepsy."

The operator was the famous Berlin surgeon, Professor Unger of the Virschow Hospital here, assisted by Professor Mendel, noted neurologist.

The patient was a Budapest physician who for a couple of years had suffered from attacks of unconsciousness varying from a few minutes to a few hours.

Phycho-analysis was tried without avail. There were only slight external signs pointing to the presence of a tumor on the brain and to the rare Jackson epilepsy.

Coming to Berlin, the Budapest physician was examined by Mendel and Unger and agreed to undergo the one-chance-in-a-million operation. The slightest miscue meant death and even the most delicate incisions properly made could snuff out life.

Unger cut into the left side of the skull and thence into the brain, removing the tumor as big as a man's fist, which rested almost at the base of the brain.

For a short time after the operation the Budapest physician had recurrences of unconsciousness, but within two months was completely cured and resumed his own practice in Hungary.

Dr CHASE'S OINTMENT

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The Temperature.

A baby has a variable temperature normally of from 98 to 99 2-5 degrees. One need not be unnecessarily alarmed if at times it is even higher. A slight rise in temperature may follow any number of minor causes and the mother who watches her child's temperature daily will be surprised that she can always find something to worry about.

This is not a case against taking the baby's temperature—but only when the mother is certain that he has a fever. The clinical thermometer—which one can learn to read easily with a little practice—should be a part of the medical equipment of every household where there are children. So many mothers are firm in the conviction that they "know" when their children have temperatures—oh, yes, they can tell just by feeling of their foreheads. All well and good—most people can do the same thing—but there is no particular advantage in knowing when a child has fever unless you know exactly how much he has. The degree is the important thing and that cannot be told by "feeling"—in fact, children with extremely high temperatures may feel cooler than children with a mild one.

A child may run a high temperature from some indiscretion of diet—but when the cause is removed by enema or physic the fever will be reduced immediately. If the temperature continues above 101 for many hours call the doctor. An early diagnosis and treatment may save the baby many hours of illness. A baby, no matter how well he may seem to be, does not run a continued high temperature without cause, so that one can depend on the clinical thermometer telling the truth when it says plainly — something is wrong—something here needs attention.

FOOT EXERCISES.

The Woman's Foundation for Health, New York City, prints a most helpful little leaflet containing foot exercises intended to overcome the common foot ailments. Children who show any tendencies toward these troubles should be given these exercises. The foot is easily amendable to good treatment just as it easily reflects the wearing of the wrong kind of shoes and bad foot habits. Children whose shoes are run over on the inner or outer side, show plainly that they are not stepping correctly on the foot or not toeing in enough. An extra lift on the outer or inner edge of the shoe, smoothed off so that rise is gradual, will do much to give them a consciousness of how they are walking and remind them to walk with feet straight ahead or slightly toeing in.

Sit on the floor or bed with legs straight; flex ankle and raise toes up as far as possible toward shin. Keep the legs still, do this ten to forty times.

Sit, feet parallel, pull inner border up and out, knees held straight, toes touching floor, twenty to forty times.

Sit with feet apart and parallel on the floor, spread toes, pull toes in and under as if taking hold of floor, repeat twenty to forty times.

Step forward a short step with right foot, grip with right foot, advance left foot, grip with left, walk forward grip with foot as the weight is transferred to it. Toes straight ahead.

Children will especially benefit by the walking on heels and this toe gripping exercise and they'll enjoy doing them without knowing any reason for it. Just play.

A Thought

Many waters cannot quench love, neither can the floods drown it; if a man would give all the substance of his house for love, it would utterly be contemned.—Solomon 8:7.

The objects that we have known in better days are the main props that sustain the weight of our affections, and give us strength to await our future lot.—William Hazlitt.

Facial Blemishes

Sallow, muddy, roughened or blotched complexions are usually due to constipation.

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today,

Canadian Stock Exchange — And Mines

New York Stock Exchange — And Curb Prices

To-Day's Quotations and Opinions and Reviews of the Markets.

GAINS WIPED OUT.

NEW YORK, June 14 (United Press). — Stocks met support in the early trading on the stock market to-day at the low prices touched on the selling movement in the previous session. The decline had wiped out practically all the gains of the first week in June, and the professionals bent their energies to extend the reaction to a renewal of the downward trend.

Reports in the speculative community claimed their cause was aided by the selling for the account of the number of non-member houses, According to rumour, stock exchange firms doing business with these concerns had asked them to take up their accounts owing to recent developments, with the result that quite a bit of liquidation had to be done.

Around 11 o'clock a rally carried prices among the speculative leaders well above the early lows. American Can. led the recovery in the Industrials, snapping back to 98 against Wednesday's low of 95 3-4. In the rail list Atchison and Wabash Pref. A were the best petformers.

Oil stocks were under pressure in the early dealings, reflecting another increase in crude oil production which gained 41,300 barrels in the week ending 9th June as compared with the previous week. Steel also continued heavy under the influence of further selling of Steel Common which declined a half-point to 95.

Rails made no response to the carloadings figures for the week ending 9th June, which showed that daily average loadings were holding up to unprecedented levels for the season. N. Y. Central lost a half-point in the initial trading, and other active rails were off fractionally. U. S. Steel suffered at the opening from a continuation of covering and 94 3-4 in the initial trading was off 3-4, and N. Y. Central was down 1-4 at 103 1-2.

Other prices: Cuban American Sugar, 29 7-8; Sinclair, 26 off 1-8: Southern Railway 37 1-4 up 1-4, American Can. 97, American Smelting 61 3-4 off 3-4, American Locomotive 141 3-8 up 1-8, Baldwin 129 1-8 off 1-8, B. and O. 51 1-2 up 1-8, Studebaker 109 3-4 off 3-8, American Telephone and Telegraph 124 1-2 off 1-8, General Electric 182 up 1, Cosden 45.

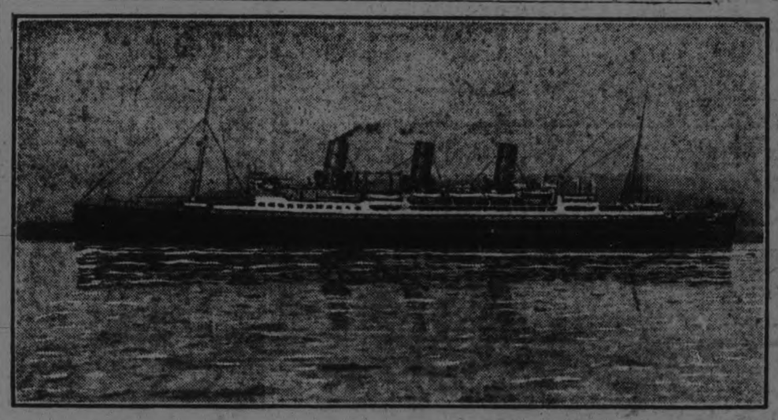
Two in the East.

NORWOOD, June 14.—Major T. Dalton Johnston, of Otonabee, representing the Liberal-Conservative party, and E. N .McDonald, sitting member for East Peterborough in the Provincial Legislature, and U.F.O. candidate, were officially nominated at Norwood this afternoon. Reeve Montgomery of Norwood presided at the meeting, at which considerable interest was manifested. Speakers for the occasion were the two candidates, I. Humphries of Campbelford.

Jno. Sexsmith, of Blairton, exM.P., and A. C. Strickland, of Lakefield, who was the unsuccessful candidate at the nomination meeting, which recorded Major Johnston as choice of the Liberal-Conservative party in the East Peterboroough riding.



C.P.S.S. Empress of Canada.

RUNNING on schedule, the Canadian Pacific Steamship's liner "Empress of Canada," Captain A. J. Hailey, again demonstrated her right to the claim of "Queen of the Pacific." The Canadian vessel left Vancouver twenty-four hours behind the American liner "President McKinley." The "Empress of Canada" docked at Yokohama five hours ahead of the other vessel.

TWO PATTERNS

If you are a beginner it is probably advisable to purchase a pattern for each different type of dress to be made. But the experienced home dressmaker is able to make practically any type of garment from two patterns. One of these is a lining pattern, consisting of two pieces, back and front, and the other is a kimono blouse pattern in which the sleeves are cut in one with the body.

Add to these as many separate sleeve patterns as you desire, although here again a little experience will familiarize you with the fact that the upper parts of the sleeve are much the same in any type and that the lower part is easily adapted to suit requirements.

In purchasing patterns be sure to get your right size. Read the instructions carefully and do not attempt to cut into your material until, first, you are perfectly certain just what each piece of the pattern is and how they all fit together and, secondly, you have your model clearly in mind and have laid the pattern on the material accurately, according to directions, and have reassured yourself that you have sufficient cloth.

The average width of materials is from 27 to 36 inches for cottons, 42 to 56 for worsteds and 39 to 42 for transparencies and silks. If, as is apt to be the case where the sleeves are cut in one with the blouse, there is piecing to be done, adjust the patterns so that you are sure the line of piecing will not come in an awkward place. It is usually safe to try this out with an old piece of cambric or with newspaper.

The majority of straight-line frocks of today have a belt or sash at the waistline so either the skirt portion is a continuation of the lower edge of the waist and cut perfectly straight or, if there is to be any fulness, it is cut separately in straight breaths with what fulness is desired and joined to the top section.

In either case, no skirt pattern is required even for the novice. This will be demonstrated as we progress.

HERE AND THERE

Riding a mule across a plowed field in Arkansaw, farmer John Huddleston noticed something bright shining in the sunlight. Shortly after he sold his 40-acre farm for $36,000. For the bright stone he picked up was a diamond.

A government bulletin tells us that since then, 6000 diamonds have been mined in Arkansas. Diamonds have also been found in other states. Some were of nearly volcanic origin, but most of then were brought down from glaciers. One of these days a prospector will discover the "mother lode' in the Far North. There'll be some excitement then, unless scientists by that time will be making diamonds cheaply in the laboratory, as they probably will.

FISH

You don't need to wait any longer for the season's biggest fish yarn. Jake Barnett and Snapper Schellenger, fishing in the Delaware Bay, claim they caught nine channel bass totaling 800 pounds in weight, in one hour.

The food supply easiest to get commercially is fish. It will not be many years until our rapidly increasing population will have to depend on waterlife for a considerable part of its food, the same as now in Japan. Most of the large cities on the Great Lakes are stupidly killing off the fish by dumping their sewage into the lakes. The federal government could stop that, and should. It owns the Great Lakes.

IRON

We still live in the Iron Age. And last year the world's production of pig iron was only a trifle more than 50 million tons. If you bother to figure it out, you find that it required about 60 pounds of iron for each person on earth to keep the Iron Age going. Iron, not gold, is the metal to be respected.

Output of pig iron last year was a third less than in 1813, which shows how the war set the work.

LET'S CONSIDER INTERIOR OF HEAD, ASKS EDUCATOR

By MARIAN HALE

Figures have a way of showing up disconcerting truths.

They show us, for one thing, that we have at this time five million illiterate people in the United States—just 30 times as many as Germany has.

They reveal that in Massachusetts, home of culture and learning, illiteracy is increasing and that in the mountains regions of the south, where it is known to exist, it is on the decrease.

• • •

NEW YORK, June 14.—These and many other startling revelations are the reason that Charl Ormond Williams, field secretary of the National Educational Association, is going all over this country arousing interest in a national department of education, with representation in the president's cab.

"It's sometimes hard to make people realize just how this country has grown out of all proportion to its educational facilities," she said in discussing the figures.

"Sometimes I think people are much more interested in what takes place outside the skull than inside.

"Every person in the country had something to say for or against bobbed hair when it was the rage. They were tremendously concerned. But it takes a change in hairdressing to focus any attention on the head, and then it is attracted only to the surface.

"How many people who rail against bobbed hair could tell you what is being put inside those heads by the teachers and educators of the country?

"If we could arouse the enthusiasm about educational reform we can about dress reform there could be no doubt as to the fate of our bill for a national department of education, which comes up at the next session of Congress.

"What the girls of this generation need is more attention to the development of the mind and soul and less to the style of hair and length of skirt."

Miss Williams has had much experience in educational work. She has taught in every type of school in Tennessee from one seven miles from the railroad to the State Normal School. She was county superintendent of Shelby county for eight years.

Recently she has devoted all her time to the National Educational Sssociation.

CORNING BEEF IN THE HOME.

The pieces of beef commonly used for corning are the plate, rump, cross ribs, and brisket, or in other words the cheaper cuts of meat. The loin, ribs, and other fancy cuts are more often used fresh, and since there is more or less waste of nutrients in corning, this is well. The pieces for corning should be cut into convenient-sized joints, say 5 or 6 inches square.

C. HOWARD SMITH IS PROBABLE PRESIDENT.

TORONTO, June 14 (Canadian Press).— The election of C. Howard Smith of Montreal as president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association for the ensuing year, is regarded as a practical certainty this morning. Mr. Smith was the first vice-president last year.

The election results will be given out later in the day.

This morning the convention heard reports of the Commercial Intelligence and Education Committees. There were also addresses by the leading exporters, followed by the discussion of amendments to the various by-laws.

HALF-ACRE GARDEN GIVES BIG RETURN.

You can make on an average $44 net on a half-acre garden on your farm. Can you make as much on a half-acre in any other way? The thing has been worked out by the Illinois Experiment Station. After five years, this station found that the average gross income from its half-acre garden was $71.15. With a labor cost of $25.71 and expenditures for seeds, plants, and insecticides of $5.08, the net return was $44.06. Here is what the Illinois garden produced in its last year:

Onions, green, 36 dozen, ripe 2 bushels; asparagus, 104 pounds; radishes, 103 dozen; lettuce, 22 baskets; turnips, green, 5 baskets, early 10 dozen, late 2.6 bushels; rhubarb, 34 pounds; spinach, 21 baskets; peas, 11 baskets; beets, green 8 baskets, early 15 dozen, late 8.9 bushels; cabbage, early 108 heads, late (large) 24 late (small) 24; beans, string 16 perks, lim 11 pecks; early potatoes, 5 bushels; parsley, supply; cauliflower, early 25, late 10; carrots, early 24 dozen, late 7 bushels; squash, summer 93, winter 330 pounds; sweet corn, 47 dozen; tomatoes, ripe 25 bushels, green 7 bushels; cucumbers, slicing 387, pickles 76; muskmelons, 1,185 pounds; watermelons, 2,063 pounds; egg plant, 41 fruits; peppers, 4 pecks; parsnips, 3.4 bushels; saisify, 1.2 bushels; winter radishes, 3.1 bushels; celery, 20 dozen.

Efficient Housekeeping

The modern idea of economy extends into the household as well as into every branch of business. Most housewives pride themselves upon the fact that their homes are conducted in an efficient, business-like manner.

Every housewife knows, too, that the business of running a house, providing for the wants and needs of the different members of the family and meeting the almost daily emergencies is second to none.

The Want Ads. in the Examiner are a great boon to the efficient housewife. In securing helpers, in purchasing various articles of household equipment, disposing of discarded furniture, in fact in countless ways, the Want Ads. are the housewife's most valuable assistant.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT STAND

Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

Glens Falls, N. Y.—"For over two months I was so sick I was not able to stand on my feet, and my husband did my housework. The doctor said an operation might be necessary. I read testimonial letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take it. Before I had finished taking the first bottle I saw what good it was doing me. I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four, all my washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but had done all my sewing by hand. I truly feel that were it not for your medicine I would not be here today as my case seemed very serious."—Mrs. GEORGE W. BURCHELL, Glens Falls, N Y.

LUTHERAN CHURCH APPROACHES UNITY SAYS HIGH OFFICIAL

Unification of All Synodical Units in America Received An Impetus During the Last Year.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., June 14.—(Associated Press).—The unification of all synodical units of the Lutheran Church in America has received an impetus during the last year that bids fair to a realization of the hope that the church be put under one head and known as one great denomination, according to a statement issued here by O. C. Michelman, former president of the Lutheran Students' Association of America.

"All indications point to a complete unification within a short time," said Mr. Michelman. "The indications of this are the emphatic tendency toward increased use of the American language and the unanimous adoption of the constitution of the Lutheran Students' Association of America. This document endorsed by that is without doubt the most representative body of Lutherans of all synodical affiliations, proposes 'to afford means whereby Lutheran Students in America may consider their common problems in conformity with the common faith of the Lutheran Church of America.' This latter body, the Lutheran Church of America, is not a real organization as yet, but it is an ideal toward which this students' group strives.

"The student body is composed of Lutherans of the two large Lutheran bodies, viz., the Synodical Conference and the United Lutheran Church in America. The former has in its membership a few more than half of all Lutheran individuals in the United States.

"The student body may be attributed to several movements. The National Lutheran Council began its activity with the American Relief Administration in the cantonments in the fields during and since the war. The Lutheran Brotherhood of America had "huts" for the men of the church, regardless of the more particular synodical affiliation of the 'buddy,' and in its effort to find employment for the vast machinery developed for war work, fell upon the idea of continuing working among the students of the Lutheran church at large.

"The foreign language congregation is fast disappearing. But one such congregation exists—and that has only an indefinite life—among more than a hundred congregations of a branch synod of the United Lutheran Church of America. As is true of the German, in the instance just cited, is true also among Swedish and other foreign language congregations. It is this demand for the native American language in their church that has also brought with it a desire for more uniformity and thus of unity in the Lutheran church."

HOW TO SEW SEAMS AND FACINGS

Remember that the success of dressmaking lies in having each separate feature of it well done. Seams must be straight and sewed evenly so that when they are pressed they lie perfectly flat, and while worsteds and cottons may be done on the machine, it is generally better to sew silk seams by hand.

French seams are made by sewing near the edge on the right side of the garment, then turning it over and running a second seam on that side rather further back from the edge. Otherwise, seams are finished by overcasting their edges separately or by binding them with silk binding. The last mentioned is the best method for a beginner to follow, and in any case French seams should be made only for straight ones.

Collars, cuffs and sometimes hems require facings. First, make sure that the edge of the material to be faced is properly shaped and the facing edge straight and smooth. Stitch the facing to the edge with the facing toward you, then press it back carefully, basting it in place. Then "cat-stitch" the opposite edge of the facing to the garment. Cat-stitching is merely catching two materials together by taking up only a thread or two so that it neither shows through nor draws on the right side.

Facings for necklines are either shaped to fit without piecing or are cut in bias strips, and, if pieced, carefully matched. French facings or bindings are among the most difficult feats of dressmaking.

To bind a neck proceed as in a facing, except that you do not pull it so far on the other side, but allow part of it to show on the right side, then catch the edge lightly to the outer side. Usually the binding is left soft, meaning unpressed Care must be taken to keep the roll or fold it makes of even width all the way along.

For making a corded edge sew the strip of facing as before, then as you turn it over to stitch it, insert a cord of the desired size, baste on the right side, drawing the material taut, then hem the edge of the facing or else overcast it. Lastly, machine-stitch along the basted line on the right side. Sometimes, however, it is preferable to cover the cording first, then sew it on.

Gained Five Pounds on Every Bottle of Tanlac She Took

"There is nothing better I could say for Tanlac treatment than that I am still enjoying the splendid health it brought me four years ago; I have not had to spend a dollar on medicines since that time," is the statement of Mrs. Fannie Judson, widely known and esteemed resident of 228 Albert Street, Windsor, Ont.

"Before taking Tanlac I had suffered from a complication of ailments for five years and seemed right on the verge of a complete breakdown. I had fallen off to almost a skeleton and was so nervous I couldn't even hold a writing pen. I couldn't sleep, scarcely ate enough for an invalid and suffered torture from indigestion.

"I would not go through all that suffering again for $5,000. I used five bottles of Tanlac and gained five pounds for every bottle and am enjoying as good health now as most any schoolgirl."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

To Bring an Expert Packer to Ontario

OTTAWA, June 14.—In order to introduce the methods so successfully used in British Columbia for the packing of fruits for long distance shipments, the Fruit Branch of the Department of Agriculture has arranged to bring an expert packer from British Columbia to Ontario.

The markets of the Prairie Provinces have been accustomed to and will pay a premium for the packages used by the wsstern fruit growing sections. In order that Ontario shippers may be in a position to take the greatest possible advantage of these favourable markets the expert will give demonstrations in the packing of fruit in western packages throughout the fruit growing sections of the province.

HEART PALPITATED And Was Short of Breath

Through one cause or another a large majority of people are troubled, more or less, with some form of heart trouble.

Many people may be unaware of having anything wrong with their heart till some little excitement, over work or worry starts it to palpitate and throb, skip beats, beat fast for a time and then so slow as to seem almost to stop, then it causes great anxiety and alarm.

To all such sufferers

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

will give prompt and permanent relief. Mrs. Alice Bishop, 15 Hawthorne Ave., Hamilton, Ont., writes: —"I take great pleasure in recommending Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to all persons troubled as I had been.

I suffered from palpitation of the heart and shortness of breath; my heart would skip beats, and in the night, at times, I would have to sit up to get my breath. I could not go up stairs without my heart flutter ing, and my nerves were all unstrung, but since using your famous Pills I have felt like a different person."

FRENCH DEMAND MOTORS THAT ECONOMIZE ON GAS

PARIS, June 14 (Associated Press).—France is 10 or 12 years behind the United States in automobiles production, is the conclusion of Andre Citroen, sometimes described as the Henry Ford of France, upon his return from America after making a comparative study of manufacturing in the two countries.

"In France," said M. Citroen, "we haven't mass production of automobiles yet because of a more limited market. There are 12,000,000 cars in the United States, a very big market, whereas in France we have 300,000 cars, with, say, 75,000 customers, each one of which buys a new car every three or four years.

"Chief difference in French and American cars," said M. Citroen, "is that of style. The French like a graceful, light machine, burning relatively little gas. The automobile is still something of a luxury with the average Frenchman. Consider, there are only 30,000 in a big place like Paris, of which 12,000 are private, 12,000 on hire and the rest trucks.

"I was amused," said M. Citroen, "at the reception given the two sets of cars I took with me. I thought my catarpillar car which made the trip over the Sahara would be regarded with curiosity. Not at all. It was my regular type car. The novelty of possessing a French car will appeal to Americans, I think. There everything is for novelty. Yesterday is a closed period for Americans, something to be forgotten."

SUMMER FOODS FOR VACATIONISTS

By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH

This is meant especially for those housewives who live out in the country or suburbs and are beginning to take in summer boarders.

But the information contained here is just as beneficial to the said "summer boarder" and all others who care to keep cool and refreshing during the hot spell. It is a story of food—food that will not heat up the body any more than it is heated during summer; food that will refresh and invigorate instead, and that wil be acceptable even to the most exacting of palates.

The person who lives in the city most of the year, and goes out ot the country for a few weeks of rest and quiet, wants, first of all simple, well-cooked food. The vacationist wants a change from the heavy meat dinners with their rich desserts, just as he seeks peace from the hustle of business life.

For these, therefore, I have dotted down the following summer food suggestions:

No need of a great variety of dishes, but plenty of fresh vegetables, milk, cream and eggs. To these may be added good bread, butter and coffee that is really coffee.

Salad Daily

Once a day at least a salad should be served. For luncheon or supper it may be made of the vegetables left from dinner the day before. When cooking beans or peas, it is well to take out a few, also one or two potatoes, before these have had any butter or sauce added, and put them away in a cold place to use for salads.

These vegetables with a little lettuce or watercress make what hotels and restaurants call "combination salad." Dress these salads with a French dressing of oil, vinegar, salt, paprika, mustard and always a little onion.

Corn oil is an excellent oil to use instead of olive oil, which is much more expensive. Be sure to get the corn oil which has not been standing too long a time on the grocer's shelf, and then keep it on a cool place that it may not grow rancid.

It is not at all necessary to serve a cooked dressing. Many persons do not care for mayonnaise. Sometimes cream sours, and a good use for it is in a cooked salad dressing.

Desserts made of milk, as boiled custard, rice cooked in milk, and bread puddings are all enjoyed of the custard has enough egg in it and if the bread in the pudding is not too self-evident.

A custard made with the yoke of three eggs to a pint of milk, and cooked carefully so that when cold it is like satin, served in glasses is as good a dessert as one could wish and one which the children may have without question. On top of the glass may be served a spoonful of whipped cream, sweetened and flavored or a bit of meringue made with the whites of the eggs.

Cream Soups

A good way to use milk and vegetables is in making cream soups. Cook the vegetable, or preheat it if it left from the previous meal, then rub through a sieve. Add this to the hot milk, thickened with butter and flour, season well and garnish with some of the vegetables used in making the soup.

For instance, save out a few peas, if it is a pea soup, or a few asparagus tips if it is asparagus. A potato soup offers a chance to use left-over mashed potatoes. With the potatoes may be combined turnips which have been boiled and mashed.

For supper, a cream soup, hot biscuits, home-made relish, a salad and a generous piece of home-made layer cake would be relished and appreciated by everyone.

On chilly nights serve a chowder made of fish or corn.

1 cup milk.

Cook mixture and stir carefully. When pinch of substance makes a soft ball under cold water, add small lump of butter and a few drops of vanilla. Remove from stove (having previously turned out fire before adding butter and vanilla) and let cool until lukewarm. Stir or beat until possible to knead with hands. Stuff the stoned dates with pieces cut to suit. Place nut meat on top. Roll in sugar.

PEANUT TAFFY.

½ cup raw Virginia peanuts.
½ cup granulated sugar.
½ cup light brown sugar.
Pinch of salt.
Pinch of cream of tartar.

Mix first four ingredients and cook until peanuts make a crackling sound. Then add three tablespoons of butter, a pinch of soda and a pinch of salt.

Mix well and pour over buttered marble slab or large platter, spreading out as thin as possible.

FRESH SALMON CROQUETTES

Make a sauce consisting of two tablespoons butter, one-third cup flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt and one cup milk. Separate two cups cold boiled salmon into flakes, then add the sauce when thick. Season with two teaspoons lemon juice and salt and pepper to taste. Add yolk of one egg and mix thoroughly.

Spread into a pan to cool, then shape into croquettes, which may be round, oblong or like a pyramid. Roll in crumbs, dip in white of egg diluted with water, and roll in crumbs a second time. Fry in deep fat until a golden brown.

Serve with peas or asparagus.

SAUSAGE BISCUITS.

Mix together two cups of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, one-half teaspoon of salt and two tablespoons of lard or butter. Moisten with milk and knead to a soft dough.

Take onto a floured board, roll to one-fourth inch thickness and cut into squares three inches long and three inches wide. On one-half of each square put a spoonful of sausage meat, fold over the other half, press the edges together and bake 20 minutes in a hot oven.

This is a Dutch recipe and is an excellent supper dish. It may be combined with a salad on wilted lettuce which is made by mixing bacon, finely chopped, the fat, vinegar, sugar, salt and pepper, and pouring it hot over the lettuce.

THE FAD IN BRACELETS

CHICAGO, June 14. — (United Press)—Long earrings and many bracelest are the outstanding features of this season styles in jewelry. The vogue for many bracelets is not limited to diamonds, emeralds, sapphires and pearls, but includes the semi-precious and imitation colored stones. It is a current style to have the stones in earrings match the eyes—sapphire and lapis lazuli for blue eyes, topaz and amber for hazel and brown eyes, diamonds, opals and pearls for gray eyes, and emerald and jade for vampish green eyes.

Change Very Noticeable Says Mr. George Green

Mrs. George Green had suffered for years—Four bottles of Dreco, the famous health builder, overcame her troubles after all other methods failed. "A wonderful medicine," says Mr. Green.

The case of Mrs. George Green, 61 Murray street, West, Hamilton, Ont., is typical of the benefits Dreco offers to all sufferers from digestive complaints. You will readily recognize her symptoms, as described by Mr. Green. Thousands of people have them and can cure them just as easily as did Mrs. Green, with the aid of Dreco which is particularly valuable as a spring tonic and restorative.

"We are thankful for what Dreco has done" says Mrs. Green. "My wife has suffered from stomach, kidney and liver trouble for many years. Her complexion became sallow; she was nervous and could not sleep well. I think constipation was the cause of it, as she always had to be taking a laxative. After meals everything seemed to sour in her stomach, causing her to bloat terribly. She had dizzy spells, especially when stooping over.

We tried ever so many things, but they didn't seem to help much. Then we heard what Dreco was doing for other people in this city, and decided to try it. My wife has taken but four bottle, but I can notice a big change in her.

"She now has a good appetite; sleeps fine; her bowels are regular and her nerves have apparently improved. She has a good flow of rich blood, which has cleared up her complexion. She is much stronger and we are pleased with what Dreco has done. It is a wonderful medicine."

Once let the stomach get out of order and the other organs quickly fail for lack of nourishment. Dreco, which contains the juices of twelve medicinal herbs and roots, scientifically compounded, quickly revives a lazy, ailing stomach and tones and regulates kidneys, liver and bowels. With these important organs functioning properly, good health results. Pull through this spring with flying colors, by taking Dreco as a tonic and regulator.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey, and by a good druggist everywhere.

$12,000,000 FOR RAILROAD

STOCKHOLM, June 14 (Associated Press).—The first coast to coast railroad electrification in the world, extending from Stockholm, on the Baltic Sea, to Gothenburg, on the North Sea is heralded in the official request just made to the Swedish government by the State Railway Administration that it be empowered to begin immediately the expenditure of the 23,000,000 crowns which have already been appropriated toward this project.

This is an important step in the great movement which has already resulted on the electrification of hundreds of leading industrial establishments, and at least 50 percent of all the farming area in Sweden.

The trunk line from Stockholm to Gothenburg, which carries heavy traffic both of freight and passengers, is nearly 300 miles in length. The work of electrification can be carried through within two years, says the Railway Administration, and if it is begun immediately the total cost will be about 47,000,000 crowns, or about $12,600,000.

GIGANTIC TORTOISES FOUND ON ISLANDS

NEW YORK, June 14 (United Press).—The expedition to the Galapagos Islands headed by Prof. Wm. Beebe, curator of the New York Zoological Society, has returned with a wealth of material.

The yacht Norma which carried the expedition brought many rare specimens of animal life, including a giant tortoise of the species which attains a weight of 400 pounds and lives hundreds of years. These tortoises are practically extinct. The cargo also will include giant lan and marine lizards which are peculiar to the Galapagos, and live flightless cormorants and penguins, which heretofore have only been found in arctic regions.

The expedition also found evidence that buccaneers had landed on these remote islands generations ago, for the members found numberless wild dogs, wild hogs, wild cattle, wild cats and wild goats. The zoological life however, still belongs to the age of reptiles. The expedition found the birds seals and reptiles tame. Apparently they considered man just another species of animal life and showed no fear whatever.

The Galapagos Islands are of volcanic origin and are about 600 miles west of the coast of Ecuador. They extend about 200 miles, comprising fifteen islands directly under the Equator. The climate on the south coast is tempered by a cold current from the Antarctic Sea which causes the water on this side to maintain a temperature of about 60 degrees, while on the north side the temperature of the water is 80 degrees.

A PARDON WOULD SEND CONVICT TO GALLOWS

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 14 (United Press).—James Shrumm, 50 years old, is one of more than 2,000 convicts at the state penitentiary here who has no desire to be paroled. Not that Shrumm would not like his freedom but the haggard old man who was sent up for life would merely face the hangman's noose if pardoned, for he was sentenced to death after he had been sent to the prison.

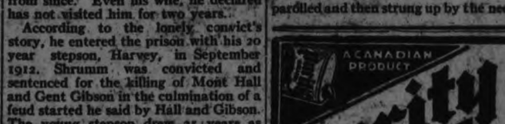
Shrumm came to the penitentiary in 1912. His only visitors since that time, he said, have been his wife, a newspaper man, and a lawyer who took his last $50 to appeal his case, and has not been heard from since. Even his wife, he declared has not visited him for two years.

According to the lonely convict's story, he entered the prison with his 20 year stepson, Harvey, in September 1912. Shrumm was convicted and sentenced for the killing of Mont Hall and Gent Gibson in the culmination of a feud started he said by Hall and Gibson. The young stepson drew 25 years as an accessory to the killings but was paroled by Governor Gardner in 1918.

"When the time came for our trial they tried me for the killing Gibson," Shrumm said. "I got ninety-nine years.

"Four days later, they tried me for killing Hall. Some of the same jurors that sat in the first trial were on this case also. They voted to hang me. The case went to the supreme court, but was affirmed after I came here.

"I haven't heard from my wife or anyone else in two years. I reckon I will die right here, as I don't care to be paroled and then strung up by the neck.'



BEGIN HERE TODAY

Calvin Gray occupies the most expensive suite in the most exclusive hotel in Dallas. He introduces himself to the hotel manager, to the president of the largest bank and the mayor of Dallas. The leading newspaper gives Gray a write-up in which it is hinted that he is backed by large oil interests. For a friend, who is vice president of the largest jewelry house in Dallas, Gray takes a trip to Ranger to sell valuable diamonds to Gus Briskow. Gray meets Ma Briskow, Allegheny, the daughter, and Ozark, the son. The family tries to make Gray feel at home.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

Brother and sister exchanged glances; the father considered briefly, smilingly, then he said, "With oil at three an' a quarter, it wouldn't take long for a twelve-hundred bar'ler to get the hull emboodle, would it?"

"Is your well producing twelve hundred barrels a day?"

"Huh!" Briskow, junior, grinned at his sister, exposing a mouth full of teeth as white and as sound as railroad crockery, but his next words were directed at Gray: "We got four wells and the p'orest one is makin' twelve hundred bar'l."

The guests' mental calculations as to the Briskow royalties were interrupted by an announcement that dinner was ready, whereupon the father announced:

"Mister, it looks like you'd have to stay overnight with us, 'cause I got important business after dinner an' I wouldn't trust Ma to pick out no jewelry by herself—them prices would skeer her to death. We're ignorant people and we ain't used to spendin' money, so it'll take time for us to make up our minds. Kin you wait?"

"I'll stay as long as you'll keep me," Gray declared, heartily.

A moment later, having learned that a place at the table had been set for his driver as well as himself, Gray stepped out to summon the man and to effect the necessary change in his arrangements. He was not surprised to find the chauffeur with nose flattened against a pane of the front-room window, his hands cupped over his eyes. Ignoring the fellow's confusion at being discovered, Gray told him of his change of plan and instructed him to drive back to Ranger and to return late the following afternoon. Then he led the way toward the kitchen.

That stay at the Briskows' turned out to be less irksome than the visitor had anticipated, for the afternoon was spent with Buddy examining the Briskow wells and others near by.

They got along together swimmingly; in fact, they grew thicker than thieves in the course of time. The elder man soon became conscious of the fact that he was being studied, analyzed, even copied—the sincerest form of flattery—and it pleased his vanity.

When Gray offered him a cigaret, Buddy rudely took the gold case out of his hand and examined it, then he laughed in raucous delight.

"Gosh! I never knew men had purty things, I—I'm goin' to get me one like that."

"Do you like it?"

"Gee! It's swell!"

"Good! I'll make you a present of it."

"Nobody never give me a present," Buddy said. "Not one that I wanted. I never had nothing that I didn't have to have and couldn't get along without. This cigaret case is worth more'n all the stuff I ever owned, an' I'm sure obliged to you." He replaced the article in Gray's hand.

"Eh? Won't you accept it? Why not?"

"I— Oh, I dunno."

Gray pondered this refusal for a moment before saying, "Perhaps you think I'm—trying to make a good impression on you, so you'll buy some diamonds?"

"Mebbe." Buddy averted his eyes. He was in real distress.

"Um-m! I ought to punch your head," Gray slipped the case into young Briskow's pocket. "I don't have to bribe people. Some day you'll realize that I like you."

"Honest?"

"Cross my heart."

The boy laughed in frank delight, his brown cheeks colored, his eyes sparkled. "Gosh!" said he. "I—like you!" For some time thereafter he remained red and silent, but he kept one big hand in the pocket where lay the gold cigaret case. There was a wordless song in Buddy Briskow's heart, for—he had made a friend. And such a friend! Gray made his conquest doubly secure by engaging the young Behemoth in a scuffle and playfully putting him on his back. Defeat, at other hands than Gray's, would have enraged Omrk to the point of frenzy, it would have been considered by him as indignity and a disgrace. Now, however, he looked upon it as a natural and wholly satisfactory demonstration of his idol's supreme prowess, and he roared with delight at being bested.

"I'LL STAY AS LONG AS YOU'LL KEEP ME," GRAY DECLARED HEARTILY.

They were red in the face, out of breath, and soaked with perspiration, when Pa Briskow drove up in his expensive new touring car.

By this time Buddy's admiration had turned to adulation; he had passed under the yoke and he gloried shamelessly in his captive state. At supper time he appeared with his hair wetly combed in imitation of Gray's. He wore a necktie, too, and into it he had fastened a cheap brass stickpin, much as Gray wore his.

Pa Briskow was scarcely less observant than his son. He watched Gray's every move; he sounded him out adroitly; he pondered his lightest word. After the supper things had been cleared away and the dishes washed, the entire family adjourned to the front room and again examined the jewelry. It was an absorbing task, they did not hurry it. Not until the following afternoon, in fact, did they finally make their selections. The check was one of five figures.

When it drew near the time for Gray to leave, and he announced that the driver of his hired car had been instructed to return for him, there was protest, loud and earnest, from the Briskows, father and son. Buddy actually sulked at being denied the pleasure of driving his hero to town in the new car.

Pa Briskow was worried for the security of the diamonds, and assured Gray that it was unsafe to trust those service-car drivers.

But the latter, seeing a threat to his carefully matured plans, refused to listen. "There's one thing you can do for me," he told them. "You can give me a pint of cream."

"Cream? What for?" The family regarded him with amazement.

"I'm fond of it. If you have no cream, milk will do."

"Pshaw! I'll put up a bull basket of lunch for you." Mrs. Briskow declared. "Buddy, go kill a rooster, an' you, Allie, get them eggs out of the nest in the garden, an' a jar of them peach preserves, while I make up a pan of biscuits."

Protest was unavailing.

When the others had hurried away, Pa Briskow said: "I been studyin' you, Mister Gray, and I got you down as a first-class man. When Ma and Allie come over to Dallas to get rigged out, I'd like you to help 'em. They 'ain't never been fu'ther from home than Cisco—that's thirty mile. I'll pay you for your time."

Gray's hearty acceptance of the first and his prompt refusal of the second proposal pleased the speaker.

"Bein' rich is mighty fine, but—" Gus Briskow shook his head doubtfully. "It takes a lot of thinkin', and I ain't used to thinkin'. Some day, mebbe, I'll get you to give me a hand in figgerin' out some worries."

"Business worries?"

"No. I got enough of them, an' more comin', but it ain't that. Well, look at us; I reckon we've made you laugh. Oh, I bet we have! Ma an' me can stand it, but, mister, I don't want folks to laugh at my children, and there's other things I don't want to happen to 'em. Buddy's a wild hoss and he's got a streak of the Old Nick in him. And Allie ain't broke no better 'n him. I get a feelin' there may be trouble ahead, an'—sometimes I most wish we'd never had no oil in Texas."

CHAPTER VI

A Surprise for Hallow

"WELL, did you land them, hicks?" It was Gray's driver speaking. Through the gloom of early evening he was guiding his car back toward Ranger.

"Yes. And I made a good sale," the passenger declared. With pride he announced the size of the Briskow check.

A few miles farther on the fellow confessed: "I wasn't crazy about comin' for you tonight. Not after I got a flash at what's in that valise."

"No?"

"You're takin' a chance, stranger."

"Nothing new about that," Gray remained unperturbed. His left arm was behind the driver; with it he clung rigidly to the back of the seat as the car plunged and rolled. "Frequently we are in danger when we least suspect it. Now you, for instance."

"Me?" The man at the wheel shot a quick glance at his fare.

"Um-m! These roads are a menace to life and limb; the country is infested with robbers—"

"Oh, sure! That's what I had in mind. Joy-ridin' at night with a batful of diamonds is my idea of a slacker's amusement. Of course, we won't get it—"

"Of course! One never does."

"Sure! But if we should, there's just one thing to do."

"Indeed?" Gray was pleasantly inquisitive, but it was plain that he suffered no apprehensions. "And that is—?"

"Sit tight and take your medicine."

"I never take medicine."

The chauffeur shrugged his shoulders. "Well, I do, when it's put down my throat. I been stuck up."

"Really?"

"Twice. Turns me a house cat, me—both times. I s'pose I'll get nicked sometime."

"And you won't offer any resistance?"

"I'm relieved to be assured of that."

WORLD WAR HEROINES MEET IN CONVENTION

CHICAGO, June 14.— (United Press)—The heroine of the world war had her day in Chicago today.

The Women's Overseas League, composed of Red Cross nurses, Salvation Army lassies, "Y" girls, canteen workers, signal corps girls, librarians, entertainers, and others who served with the doughboys in France, opened its annual convention here.

"Service" was the keynote of the convention, as the girls gathered from all parts of the country with the announced purpose of "rededicating themselves to the work begun 'over there.'"

The convention, lasting four days, will be featured by a memorial service in honor of the 166 girls who lost their lives in France. The service will be conducted by the Rev. John Timothy Stone, of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Chicago.

Plans for co-operation with the Veterans' Bureau and the American Legion for rehabilitation of the ex-service men was to be the chief business before the convention. The overseas girls also planned to hold themselves in readiness for any national or local emergency and to co-operate with the Red Cross.

SAYS LENINE IS MAN OF PEOPLE

Secret of His Success Lies in the Exercise of Real Common-Sense.

By JOHN GRAUDENZ

MOSCOW, June 14 (United Press).—Lenin's secret of success, which carried him to his leadership of the Bolshevists and leaves him today, a perhaps hopeless invalid, still the most powerful figure in Russian life, is summed up in the one term "common sense" by Karl Radek, the famous propagandist of the Bolsheviks, in an article in "The Projector."

"Lenin is a man of the people," Radek states. "When important questions are to be solved he does not think according to abstract historical theses. His question is how it will affect the man in the street, the worker in the mine, the policeman, the peasant, who car carriers of the revolutionary idea.

Forced Peace

"I can never forget his attitude when we, as leaders of the revolutionary government, were faced with continued war with Germany or signing the Brest-Litovsk treaty. Many of us were against signing. But Lenin was adamant. All our arguments failed to convince him that it would be better not to sign.

"'The war is made by the Moujik,' the peasant he would reiterate. 'And did you not see that the Moujik voted against war?'"

"'Voted'? What do you mean? How and when did he vote? we asked.

"'He voted with his feet,' Lenin responded. 'He ran away from the front.' And his argument won the day.

Holds to Aim

"Lenni sets himself an aim, and never deviates from it, never rests until it has become a fact. Not only does he make a plan of campaign, he schemes the whole organization for it.

"But he is not stiff-necked. One who saw him in his studio would see a simple man. He has no staff of secretaries preparing his work; he has been unable even to learn to dictate to a stenographer. A fountain-pen is as strange and wonderful to him as a motor-car would be to a peasant from the Don who saw it for the first time.

"I am writing about the Lenin of today, who is a development of the Vladimir Illitch of the pre-revolutionary days.

Knows Russian Life

"Lenin knows what he wants, and knows how to get it. He knows the theory of capitalism as only a few of Marx's followers do. A leader of the working class must know and understand the whole history of the class. The development of the working class movement cannot be understood without a minute acquaintance of the history of capitalism, with its economical and political apparatus.

"In his knowledge of the reality of Russian life Lenin likewise is incomparable among Soviet leaders. He feels it as well as knows it.

Such Declared to Be An Explanation of Cannibalism.

By JOHN O'BRIEN.

PARIS, June 14.—(United Press).—Those bellicose people who "would rather fight than eat" must take a back seat. There are tribes in Africa who have them beaten to a frazzle. These black boys would rather be eaten than go to work. There isn't any joke about it, either.

It is an explanation of cannibalism, the existence of which in certain French colonial possessions has recently been confirmed officially by Albert Sarraut, minister of the colonies.

Dr. Chavaut, administrator of a vast territory in the French Congo, was travelling up the Congo on a tour of inspection. One evening his boat was moored near a village and Dr. Chavaut was on deck., when he became aware of the presence of a negro, who was kissing his feet and displaying intense fear.

The Frenchman learned that the black boy implored the "great white chief" to take him under his protection because he was doomed to be killed and devoured by the tribe on the following day. Dr. Chavaut hid the native and gave orders to set sail. He took the man back to Brazzaville and tried to make him do a little manual labor. The man refused.

"Out there," he explained, pointing to the interior, "there are tribes trained to fight, others to hunt, others to look after the cattle, others to till the soil and so on. My tribe has nothing to do—but wait to be eaten. There is no escape. Our turn comes. It may be the fifth moon or the seventh. There is a celebration in the forest in the dead of night and a certain number of our fellows are chosen to be slain and served up at the feast which ends the ceremonies."

Dr. Chavaut tried repeatedly to get the boy to go to work but always in vain. One day, after a severe reprimand, the black disappeared.

A year later, in making another trip up the Congo, Dr. Chavaut found him back in his village. In response to the French administrator's questions, he replied through the interpreter:

"Oh, I preferred to come back and live among my own people. Here I have nothing to do but sing and dance and eat. I shall be eaten some day, of course, but meanwhile I am perfectly content. You are going to die some day, too, are you not?"

"INDIGESTION"

Relieved By

Burdock Blood Bitters

The sufferers from dyspepsia, indigestion or other stomach troubles who has to pick and choose his food is the most miserable of al mankind.

Even the little that is eaten causes much torture, and is digested so imperfectly it does but little good.

Mr. Wm. Kruschel, Morden, Man. writes:—"Some time ago I had quite a serious case of stomach trouble, indigestion. I could scarcely eat anything, outside of some light food, and even then I generally had pains after each meal. I tried many different medicines, but without any improvement, and had almost given up hope of ever being well. A neighbor recommended Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using it a short time I felt much better, so I continued to use it until I was completely relieved. I can honestly say that B.B.B. has done wonders for me after all other medicines failed."

(By Lyle Wilson.)

London, June 14. (United Press.)—Imagine a community of men and women, in which no birth, death or marriage has occurred for almost a year!

Imagine that same community so steeped in religious fervor that the Sababth worship takes on marathon aspects!

Conceive if possible a race of sturdy Scotchmen so bereft of courage that they settle their rows by shouting hoarse words across a mountain side and then work off their physical anger by cruelty to their own sheep dogs!

The Scotch inhabitants of the island are slowly degenerating under inter-marriage. Minus tradition, history and any sane form of government, the seventy two inhabitants worry out a miserable existence on the bare headlands of their island.

St. Kilda consists of just under two square miles of jutting grassland of which but forty acres are arable. A considerable portion of the remainder is pasture.

Refuse to Leave.

Attempts have been made to emigrate St. Kildians from their forbidding home. The elders of the colony resent any change and the younger element is content to eke out life with the aid of charity from the nearby islands.

Communism is said to exist in the absence of any other form of community or local control. The community speaks Gaelic. A few enlightened souls even read and write it. English is uncommon. Since 1844 every man, woman and child has been a stern Free Churchman.

About two thousand sheep and 40 cattle graze the pitching slopes of the hills. On all sides except for a tiny stretch of the coast, great bleak cliffs rear sheer one thousand feet above the sea. Neighbors are often accused of stampeding one another's flocks over these brinks of death.

At intervals of about nine months a ship with charity gifts, mail and supplies, visits the island.

Dr. Alexander Shearer of the Edinburgh Board of Health, was a passenger on the last ship to land there, making his annual visit of inspection.

He examined every islander and not a single adult admitted to good health. Inter-marriage for generations, an unhealthy climate and absolutely unchanged diet account for this general sickness.

During some years the proportion of illegitimate births has been as high as 6.25.

Remarkable Feuds.

A feud can be got under way instantly. St. Kildean feuds are picturesque. They have the advantage of being bloodless. Feuds are the principal diversions on days other than Sundays.

The principals of a feud gather their supporters together. The opposing groups meet on a hillside and glower and shout at each other. The side which drowns the vituperations of the other is the honored winner. Exhaustion or a superior supply of Gaelic investives usually turn the tide.

Destructive tempests and famines have robbed St. Kildians of hope in the future. In-breeding has shorn them of moral courage, ambition and stamina. Their miserable homes are two-roomed fortresses, built to exclue elemental terrors rather than any human menace. St. Kildian house walls are as thick as they are high, and the average height is five feet.

Earthen roofs are weighted with boulders as large as the primitive methods of the islanders allow them to hoist.

Even with this protection, fearsome winds scalp these dreary homes. From the North Pole, and the Northeastern extremity of Canada sweep gales. Swoosh—the wind engulfs St. Kilda on its thousand feet of jutting rock—and houses are without roofs.

Visited by Plagues.

Between 1856 and 1886 the "eight days' sickness," a form of infantile lockjaw, caused the deaths of forty two children.

A greater calamity occurred in 1724 when the population of St. Kilda was reduced to four adults and 26 children by an epidemic of smallpox.

St. Kilda is the personal property of MacLeod of Macleod (eq), the romantically named chief of an ancient Scottish clan.

MacLeod of MacLeod has a scheme to emigrate the islanders to a sheltered bay on another island. The offer has been spurned.

St. Kilda will remain as it is until intermarriage, human perversity and sickness finally wiped out the population.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH SO MANY COMPLEXIONS?

Body ills are often due to a wrong diet—indeed, what we eat has largely to do with good or bad health. But there is one disorder that we can definitely trace to faulty food, a pimpled or erupted skin. Even beauty culturists admit the cure must come from within—balms, lotions, ointments being external agents to relieve but not to banish.

Especially in summer, must the diet be watched. White flour, meats, sweets, and refined ceerals are "Excess Acid," and "Excess Acid" foods cause acid blood. Acid blood is the direct cause of unsightly complexions.

Roman Meal is the natural corrective of this skin condition, because it is the richest in alkalis of any grain product. In fact, it is the only alkaline grain product now sold. This is because it contains the dark flour from three whole grains, and the dark flour is the part of grains that carries these alkalis. The white, dainty, refined flour and cereals have these mostly refined away, hence acid blood and unsightly skin conditions. In hot weather acid foods are especially baneful to the skin, because the skin is then so active in throwing off blood acids through the sweat glands.

Roman Meal corrects blood acidity, soothes, heals, and clears the skin. For hot weather icy-cold BROSEO, CHOCOLO-O, JELLE-E, made of Roman Meal, are especially delightful. With milk, cream, whipped cream, honey, preserved or fresh fruits they are all hot-day treats made in ten minutes. Prevents indigestion, relieves constipation. At grocers.

MAN WHO DEFEATED HIM SCOFFS AT FORDS' BOOM

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., June 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Truman H. Newburry, who defeated Henry Ford for Michigan Senatorship, but resigned later after a fight involving charges of election frauds, arrived to-day from the Orient He scoffed at Ford's Presidential boom, characterizing it as "publicity stuff to keep Ford's name before the public."

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

FLYING DUTCHMAN TRIP IN AIR SOON

Unmanned Ghostly Ship to Travel at the Rate of 300 Miles an Hour.

LONDON (By mail to United Press).—Speeding at a rate of three hundred miles an hour in the air and without human occupants a ghostly child of a super-romanticists' brain will soon flash across the sky of the lonely North Atlantic ocean.

It is understood that a romantically inclined millionaire is soon to finance an attempt to fly a ship across the Atlantic by means of wireless control. It is even rumored that it is hoped that the tremendous altitude and speed might induce some such miracle as that presaged in H. G. Wells' latest book, "Men Like Gods," in which a speeding motor tunes into the vibratory radius of a new strange world.

Whether it would be possible to recall this ghost ship if it should really transcend every expectation and slip into another sphere of life is not known. If the new sphere were inhabited, it might be possible to return the ship with messages.

The attempt is to take place as soon as necessary allocation of wireless control centers has been made. The construction of the plane will not differ, essentially, from that of the ordinary wirelessly controlled flyer. It will be heavily engined and posses more than one set of screws. The lighter atmosphere of high altitudes necessitates a greater pitch in the propellors than does the comparatively heavy, dust laden air of the earth surface.

On board this aerial "Flying Dutchman" will be an automatic wireless sending device which will broadcast at short intervals a prearranged signal by which the course of the ship will be checked, charted and directed.

The flight will take place from west to east in order to take advantage of eastward wind currents.

The greatest difficulty, provided of course that the ship does not slip out of the gravitational grasp of the earth, will be in stopping its wild flight.

CRISIS IS NEAR

her spirits exports; and so on down the line with flax, leather, petrolium refineries, fertilizers and what not.

Hungary to-day has little to export but is obliged to import much. This creates a stupendous trade balance against her which, in turn, knocks the props from under her ex change.

Has Shops, No Goods

Most of the factories are in and around Budapest and the town of present-day Hungary. The raw materials are outside exisiting frontiers So the rate of axchange when the factories go to buy raw materials from what are now foreign countries boosts Hungarian production costs to a point where Hungary can not compete.

This hits the working man. Here, as in Austria, the workers who can do so are emigrating—going to the Ruhr to dig coal to America—as many as America will take—to any old place where there is a chance of finding work.

And mind you, the reparations problem is yet to be faced. Small wonder Hungary is desperate and that the people are rapidly losing confidence in their future. What will happen to-morrow? They don't know. But they are very much afraid.

To my mind it is another job for the League of Nations.

THESE SCANDAL SEEKERS GOT A SEVERE SHOCK

By LAWRENCE MARTIN

(United Press Staff Correspondent).

WASHINGTON, June 14—(United Press).—Some of President Harding's political enemies thought to find in his golf game a source of supply for the sort of "whispering campaign" they conducted against him in 1920.

They got ready to spread in 1924 scandalous stories about a "nineteenth hole" at the President's favorite golf club, where the 18th amendment and the Volstead law were supposed to be more honored in the breach than the observance.

They not only found that there is no "nineteenth hole," but that Mr. Harding, always a man of religious convictions, is to-day more devoutly religious than ever before in his life.

The trials of the presidency, the strain of Mrs. Harding's illness, the burdens he has borne and the questions he has been called on to solve have brought to the President a realization of the reality of religion, and of dependence on Divine assistance, his close friends say.

Mr. Harding always has been a regular churchgoer. Even on his vacation in Florida this winter, when he might have avoided church if it bored him to go, he made it a point to attend. Others in his party spent the day on the golf course.

There is nothing nawkish or sentimental about Mr. Harding's religion. Like most of his beliefs it is a strong, slow growth, the result of his experience and is just the "old time religion," without any modern frills or isms hooked to it.

HOW TO SAVE GAS.

Save your gas by planning your meals carefully. Cook several things at once when you have the oven going. While the roast is baking, potatoes may be doing the same, and a casserole of vegetables and a baked desert.

Firm lips

An open smile

Pretty teeth often form a woman's chief attraction. Countless women get them now by removing film.

What Women Lose

By Dingy Teeth—Why Do It?

Dingy teeth rob women of a major charm. Not beauty only, but that added grace which lies in the open smile.

Millions of women have found a way to whiter teeth, also to better protection. You meet them everywhere today—with teeth you envy, maybe.

Due to film

That viscous film you feel on teeth is what clouds them. And it often wrecks them. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to that unsightly film.

Ways to end it

Tooth troubles were increasing until very few escaped. So dental science sought for ways to fight that film. In time two ways were found. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved those methods. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. Those two great film combatants were embodied in it.

The name of that tooth paste is Pepsodent. Careful people of some 50 nations now employ it daily, largely by dental advice.

What must be done

Research also proved two other things essential. So Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Old-time tooth pastes, it was found, seriously diminished those great tooth-protecting agents in the mouth.

Watch it act

Use Pepsodent for ten days. See for yourself what it does. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

Then decide by what you see and feel. Judge what is best for you and yours. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent curdles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Want Ad Tips by John T. Bartlett

A HINT IN GIVING ADDRESSES.

There are thousands of them in every town and city of any size—addresses like 2145 Block street. It is out from the centre of town, and a short side street. Put 2145 Block street in a Want Ad, and probably not 20 per cent of readers will know whether it is close in or far out; on the city's North Side or East Side; close to a street car line, or far from one. Before answering the Want Ad, they must look up the address and find out how to get to it.

It is only a little thing, perhaps, but thousands of important decisions have been swayed by "little things." Innumerable times, Want Ad readers, choosing between two advertisements, have gone to a known address rather than first "look up" a strange one.

The lesson here is clear. If your street address is one which will likely be strange to many readers, be ingenious. Make the strange address have a familiar look. Describe it so it is easy to find.

Eli Greenleaf's home is on a street which happens to be one of the city's smallest—it has just three blocks. What Mr. Greenleaf, advertising his place for sale, says, is this—

"East side, three blocks north of Budd Park." Most people know where Budd Park is. And, "three block north," looks and is a very simple direction to follow. The reader feels instantly he can find the Want Advertiser's home with a minimum of difficulty.

Get a near local landmark, a park, school, church, hill, bridge, trunk highway, factory etc.—and describe your location by blocks from it.

If your address is really not so far from things, make it seem of easy, convenient access by stating the time required to get to it. "15 Minutes Ride from Union Station," and such descriptions, are good. "Cars run every ten minutes," has increased the number of inquirers visiting many a "far out" Want Advertiser.

One Piece Bathing is Passing

By HEDDA HOYT

NEW YORK, June 13.—(United Press)—No one can say "Oh Horrors!" when they look at the bathing beauties at the resorts this season. For behold! their costumes no longer consist of the slick-fitting one-piece suit. They are garbed in the most modest bathing attire that we have seen since the long-sleeved, long-stockinged era.

Perhaps we are witnessing a revulsion from the "skin-tights" of previous seasons, when every woman, regardless of her physical charms, displayed herself before the public in a form-fitting bathing suit. Not one girl in one hundred really had good reason for wearing them and yet, regardless of the beach censors, they wore them, claiming that they were the only sensible costume for swimming. Many of them never got nearer the water than the boardwalks.

Colors the Rage.

The beaches have never looked prettier than they do this season with groups of women garbed in colorful batiks, painted India linens and ruffled taffetas. Color rages rampant. The idea this year seems to be to look as alluring as possible, rather than to dress as scantily as possible.

One imagines that the beach is covered with little girls in party frocks that are cut short at the knees until one discovers that they are merely short-skirted women in the smartest of bathing attire. Many of these suits are made of changeable taffetas, with long slender bodices and ruffled or tiered skirts. Others are made of bandana squares with bloomers of solid color matching the border of the bandana. India prints are used in the same manner. With the printed bathing costumes, bright colored shoes and caps are used carrying out the main color in the print.

Capes of cretonne and rubberized materials also add a degree of modesty to the beach costume. Only at the resorts which are frequented by the tenement dwellers does one see a display of figure this year.

The stocking question seems to be about equally divided this year, some women wearing half socks or no stockings whatever and others wearing long sheer stockings of tan, taupe or black.

Bathing Caps.

Caps this year are absolutely captivating! There are those adorned with rubber trimmings, such as plumes, flowers and ribbons, which are so becoming. Then there are tie-around turbans which are merely long strips of colored rubber which drape about the head and clasp over the brow with an Egyptian buckle or ornament.

Gingham bathing suits made like children's rompers are worn by the younger girls to some extent. Often there is an accompanying sunbonnet of gingham to ward off the sun's rays.

JAPANESE STUDENTS HOOT MILITARY MEN

Spirit of Young Japan Indicates That a Real Democracy Is Developing in the Island Empire —Defy the Police.

(By Clarence Dubose.)

TOKYO (By mail to United Press.)—Japanese militarists got an awful jolt the other day.

Some of the highest officers of the army were hissed, "booed" and jeered off the stage by students of one of the greatest universities, when the army-men tried to lecture to them on the virtues of military training.

Militarism has been getting a good many black eyes in Japan during the last few years. But even so, the militarists still run things (although their days seem doomed); and, despite all the protests that have been made against militarism, the militarists never thought they would be literally hooted out of a great university by the very pick and flower of Japanese youth—from whom the army of the next generation must come— or there will be no army to speak of.

The event is most significant of the temper of "young Japan," and of its determination not to be bossed blindly by militarists. Carried to its logical conclusion, this student spirit of Japan to-day may mean sweeping and fundamental changes in government and policies in this country— changes that will not be made to-day or to-morrow or next week or next year, but changes that seem inevitable.

Democracy for Japan.

Some students are bold enough to say what many more think, but dare not speak—for Japanese police are ever alert to jail those who think "dangerous thoughts"—that another generation will see a democracy in Japan. But they mean by that, a democracy in spirit within an empire in fact— however incongruous that may sound. The wildest student in Tokyo would not for a moment even breathe a suggestion of overthrow of the Emperor. The Emperor is more than ruler; he partakes of divinity. Every Japanese child is taught that from his cradle, and he believes it devoutly. But "young Japan," while reverently loyal to the Imperial tradition, is paving the way for an overthrow—which may be some years in coming—of the "invisible government" of the militarists and the aristocratic clique. "Young Japan" is getting ready to have a vote that means something and a parliament that has power and is not merely a mock debating society, impotent of real legislative attributes.

It was at Waseda University in Tokyo that high army officers, as well as University officials who supported the officers, were hooted from the stage and driven from the hall by the Japanese students. The army men wanted to establish a system of military instruction at the university. The students greeted them with cries of, "Murderers!" "Butchers!"

Hooted Them Down.

"Blood drips from the decorations on his breast," shouted a student. "Thousands die to raise one hero to fame!" called another. The jeers then became tumultuous. The Vice-minister of War had to retreat. Several full generals, commanders of Imperial Guards, and full admirals of the Naval General Staff were also hooted down. The Waseda liberals made a real day of it.

This, for Japan, was completely revolutionary. It upset all traditions of unquestionable respect and obedience to military authority. Here were the highest army officers meeting not only refusal to obey, but with gross and studied insults and open defiance. The nation gasped—and the police got to work.

The cops are combing the colleges now, looking for "thinkers of dangerous thoughts." Both students and faculty members who "think dangerously" are to be fired, the police have announced. If that were all there is to it this wouldn't be much of a story. For police have always been all-powerful in Japan, and always they have been obeyed respectfully.

But to-day the Japanese students who hooted the militarists are laughing at the cops—laughin' at 'em!—when the cops ask whether they're "thinking dangerous thoughts"

That's how far "Young Japan" has gone.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT ON THE HIGHWAY

Motorcycle and Auto Crash Into One Another With Terrific Force.

PORT HOPE, June 14.—Can you imagine a motorcycle travelling at 74 miles per hour smashing into an automobile coming in an opposite direction at about a thirty mile clip and nearly all the occupants of both machines escaping with a few minor bruises? This is what happened on the Provincial Highway east of Cobourg, John Wilson, traffic police man in this district was chasing a large Packard car which was travelling west. Travelling at seventy miles per hour in his motorcycle Wilson was unable to gain the slightest margin on the big Packard so he finally turned his machine open to the limit, the speedometer registering 74 miles. When just opposite Mrs. Livingston's residence, Wilson attempted to pass the Packard and as he did, a big McLaughlin car came along from the east. The dust set up by the Packard car made it impossible to see any distance ahead and in an instant the McLaughlin car and the motor cycle came together full force.

The motor cycle was twisted up and smashed until it looked like a bunch of junk. Edgar Rowson, who was riding in the basket of the car was thrown fully sixty feet down the road and missed a telegraph pole by the slightest margin. Beyond a few scratches and bruises to his leg, he escaped uninjured. "Happy" Rowson was born under a lucky star. Just a year ago he was a member of a party which met such a tragic accident at the railway crossing in Cobourg and after being carried quite a distance on the pilot of the engine was rescued by train hands.

Wilson the driver of the motor cycle was badly cut about the head and arms. He was taken to the hospital at Cobourg and it is reported to-day that he is suffering from concussion of the brain.

In the McLaughlin car were District Inspector Bumpstead of Belleville with Provincial officer, Atkins of Belleville and W. H. Boyd of Port Hope and driver Davis of Belleville. Davis was the only one of this party to suffer injury and in addition to some cuts on his face and hands he had his collar bone broken.

The Packard car which was carrying an American number did not stop

HARRISON FORD AGAIN WITH CONSTANCE TALMADGE

One of the screen's most promising young men comes to the Royal Theatre to-night with the appearance of "The Primitive Lover," the First National attraction starring Constance Talmadge. He is Harrison Ford, whose rapid rise in screen fame during the past year has been a tribute to his sterling ability and unusual facility for adapting himself to diversified camera requirements.

Since the time he commenced playing leading roles opposite Ethel Clayton and Wanda Hawley he has met with steady success. His sterling work brought him to the attention of Norma Talmadge and he played opposite this star in her latest pictures, notably "The Passion Flower," "The Wonderful Thing," "Love's Redemption," and "Smilin' Through."

"The Primitive Lover," which is marked by the first appearance of Ford opposite Constance Talmadge is also notably for the inclusion of Kenneth Harlan in the cast.

"The Primitive Lover" is a humorous satire on the romance stricken girl who imagines herself the heroine of every trashy best seller that comes from the book dealer. It was adapted by Frances Marion from an original story by Edgar Selwyn and was directed by Sydney Franklin, who also directed 'Smilin' Through.'

MANY HUNDREDS PEOPLE WELCOME CIRCUS IN CITY

When the John Robinson circus came to town it struck a new note in this class of entertainment, a note that might be characterized as "refined." A clean show throughout, it had several new and interesting features, combined with a variety of attractions which was summed up in the declaration of one woman who said it had the greatest variety of any circus she had ever seen.

A very likeable feature was the singing which accompanied many of the acts. In the opening parade, a gorgeous affair, "Peter Pan in Animal Land," led by a brass band of musicians clothed in Egyptian costumes and head dresses, with blacks in African attire and elephants and camels with gorgeous trappings, the girls on spirited steeds that knelt at the word of command, sang a tuneful chorus to the solo of a glittering lady mounted on the largest elephant. Later, a girl in glistening silver, astride a white horse, sang alone, while white doves, released from cages at either end of the large arena, fluttered about her head and shoulders. Girls on flying overhead ladders, sang in chorus to the vocalist in the ring, and riders of dancing horses sang to the music of a snappy band. The John Robinson circus "said it to music" to the three thousand or more men, women and children who watched the triple rings last evening.

In the central enclosure, a strongly-enforced circular wire cage, one of the most thrilling animal acts took place. Peter Taylor, the slight wiry trainer, cracked the whip over sixteen lions and tigers, while the big cats snarled at him. Nervous tremors shook the audience as the interpid trainer teased the lion that flung itself furiously against the side of the cage, and a sigh of relief arose when the young man emerged unharmed.

There was plenty of applause also for the horses, and their riders, girls in suits of white and hunting "pink" mounted on some superb specimens of horse flesh, in a series of well-trained acts, in which the intelligent beasts waltzed and two-stepped to music and took the hurdles in turn.

The performing elephants had a good act; monkeys did clever stunts on a flying trapeze; a bucking horse and a clown had a mirthful time with a huge white ball; there were bareback riders and trick ponies, cobb and Shetland, and trained dogs. A huge hippopotamus lumbered about the arean, towed by one of the many clowns in novel costumes.

Graceful ballet dancers in white, danced in groups; a fat lady suspended from an overhead swing held by her teeth the cross bar which supported two companions, doing a shadow dance in mid-air; a clown walked up a light rope at a perilous angle, and slid down on his head, and another turned somersaults on a tight wire. There was not as much areial work as formerly, but the swing and trapeze work shown was exceptionally good. In the wire cage, a growling lion posed on the back of a quiet white horse. Humpty Dumpty patrolled the arena, one of the many fun-makers who added to the enjoyment of the crowd, and big elephants with small hats and crutches and watering cans formed part of the clowns' parade.

An elevated stage holding a tiny pony and its girl rider surmounted a dazzling display of fireworks that closed an excellent circus.

The incoming crowds had plenty to look at in the various side shows of the usual type, and the animals in their cages; the lions whose roars were almost continuous; the quiescent tigers, one of which played like a kitten with an overhead rope; the polar bears and leopards and monkeys; the elephants, with a huge "tusker" as leader of a band that tapered down to a tiny baby elephant browsing in the straw; and the camels, haughty and odorous, their jaws rotating in "undershot" fashion.

PAVING ON GEORGE STREET UNDER WAY

Grading Work is Well Started on West Side of the Street.

The west side of George Street, from Romaine Street to the C.P.R., has been torn up as the first step in the laying of concrete pavement. Mr. John Carroll, the contractor, engaged a large staff of laborers for the job, and has made rapid progress since Tuesday. The present operations are preliminary to the grading of the street, and the material that has been ploughed up is being carted to Rink and Romaine Streets, where it will be used to advantage in repairing those streets. A big cement mixer has been set up at the Romaine Street end of the roadway under construction, and the present activities give promise of expeditious performance of this part of the contract which also includes Hunter Street East.

Lindsay Hopelessly Trimmed By Leaside.

LEASIDE, June 14.—(Special)—Lindsay was absolutely snowed under in the attempted invasion of Leaside yesterday the final score being 30 to 2. The game was horribly one sided with the home team enjoying a regular field day. Several of the players took advantage of the opportunity to fatten up their batting averages. Jones led in the slaughter with six safeties while Curzon collected five. This makes the third victory for Leaside and they have used a new pitcher in each game. The batteries yesterday were: for Lindsay, Begg and Murtchison; for Leaside, Breckenbridge and Hoose

Thistles Planning A Big Field Night

The field night in connection with the Caley Club has been postponed till Wednesday, June 20, at the Exhibition Grounds, when the chief attraction will be a football game between the Hasbeens and the Wouldbes, otherwise known as the Thistles. The Hasbeens have a strong aggregation ready for the field, and the Thistles are making drastic changes in their team to meet this—as yet—unbeaten eleven. A cup has been put up for competition and medals for both winners and losers have been donated by two prominent members of the club.

Other events have been arranged to suit the other members of the club. The Pipe Band will be in attendance, while Gilmour's Band will officiate for dancing.

The Hasbeens will line up at 6.15 prompt as follows: Goal, R. Bounton; backs, A. Dick and T. McArthur, halves, G. Nimmons, J. Brown and G. Low; forwards, A. Clark, D. Menzies, A. Gilmour, R. Veitch and N. French.

The Thistles refuse to disclose their line-up. W. R. Thompson will officiate behind the whistle. All team managers in the city should make a point of viewing the Hasbeens for new blood, as all but one are unsigned players.

BELLEVILLE TEAM DEFEATED PONIES

Kingston Team Went Home With the Short End of a 10-3 Score.

BELLEVILLE, June 14.—(Special).—Grand Trunks yesterday after noon slipped th esleds under Kingston Ponies winning by the score of 10-3, in a peculiar exhibition, which was not much in doubt after the hectic fifth inning. Kingston lead by two to nothing till the 5th, when the Trunks tore into them, and in one inning netted nine runs, 13 men getting a bat in the inning and eight hits were made off Moore who was dericked, Cherry relieved and finished the game. Trunks got two. two baggers and one three bagger in the game. Each team tallied one in the eighth and there ended the victory as far as scoring went.

Kingston had three golden opportunities with bases loaded each time and the much tooted Batstone up. He could not come through the third man being nipped at the plate each time on his helpless scratch hits. Weir and Harry Mills fairly knocked the cover off the pill for the locals, Teeple and Sommerville being the leaders or the visitors.

Lefty Williams hurled nice ball but had ragged support up till the fifth, when he opened the scoring gate himself with a three bagger to deep left garden.

Williams struck out seven, Moore five and Cherry two. All hurlers had good control. Williams passing one, More one and Cherry none. Williams hit four batmen, Moore one and Casey rf; Armstrong lf; J. H. Willpitcher was used in the outfield, when the pitchers changed in the fifth.

The Line-up—Belleville, Ross, cf; Weir ss; W. Mills. c; H. Mills, 1b; Meagher, 2b; J. K. Williams 3b; asey rf; Armstrong lf; J. H. Williams p.

TURPIN'S MEN BUNCH HITS OFF M'ELROY AND BEAT THE PETES 9 TO 4

Lakeshore Crew Won Big Four Fixture at Cobourg Yesterday and Are Now on Even Terms With the Petes.

HERE ON SATURDAY.

Bunching hits on "Lefty" McElroy in the early innings at yesterday's Central Ontario League game at Cobourg enabled Dick Turpin's Lakeshore crew to beat the Petes 9 runs to 4 and thus climb up on even terms with the Solomon outfit while Belleville by downing Kingston edged out in front of the Big Four pennant hunt. Jahren, Cobourg's western recruit pitched steady ball for the winners keeping the Petes hits well scattered until the ninth when they bumped him for four safeties in a row, scoring three runs.

McElroy got off to a bad start, five hits in the first inning including a homer by Drennan with two runners on the sacks giving Cobourg a four run lead. They added two more in the third but from then on the Petes left-hander went along nicely.

Jahren kept the visitors popping up easy flies and although they collected eleven hits off him they failed to get two together until the final frame.

The Petes played nice ball in the field their work in this respect being a very pleasing improvement over their showing in Belleville. Helson had a sensational back-handed grab of a torrid liner and Johnston who went to centre field while Collins played second had five nice catches, the last one being of the spectacular variety. Heckman who played right field also had a busy afternoon with four put outs while Higginbottom in centre for Cobourg camped under five drives, getting three put outs in a row in the sixth. Drennan the Lakeshore shortstop played great ball both in the field and at bat. He had a homer, a triple and a single in three times up and his fielding was clever throughout.

The game was spoiled to a considerable extent by the incompetent work behind the bat of Umpire Large of Bowmanville. Both sides suffered and some of his decisions on balls and strikes were so bad that the crowd booed him almost continuously. It looked as if he were guessing on most of them—and guessing badly too, and the game almost got out of his control. Ansaldo was the victim of two of his most glaring mistakes being called out once at the plate when the play was not even close and again when shortstop Drennan held the ball in his right hand and tagged him with the other.

Manager Solomon was ejected from the game in the eighth inning but if everybody who crabbed had been given the gate the game would have had to be called off for lack of players.

The Central League is in a bad way for umpires and if there are many repititions of yesterday's work baseball is liable to get a set back. Umpire Dell of Oshawa gave good service on the bases but the other end of the sketch had a bad afternoon.

Peterboro lost a chance to break in front in the first through a raw decision. Ansaldo got a life when Drennan's throw pulled Kenny off first. Johnston hoisted to Drennan. Swanston rolled to Jahren, Ansaldo going to second. Comolli singled to right and Ansaldo was called out at the plate on a relay Derry to Jahren to Jackson although he was two feet across the plate when the catcher tried to tag him.

Cobourg got four in their half. Skitch singled on the first ball pitched a pop fly that dropped safely in short left. Turpin sacrificed him to second. Ansaldo tossed out Thompson. Then the trouble started. Kenny's Texas Leaguer back of short scored Skitch. Higginbottom singled sharply to centre. Drennan drove a long one over Heckman's head in right for a home run scoring Kenny and Higginbottom ahead of him. Derry singled past centre. Jackson rolled to McElroy for the third out.

In the second for the Petes Heckman drew a walk to start with. Derry dropped Helson's fly to righ but save himself an error by throwing Heckman out at second. Collins was called out on strikes, Helson stealing on the third one. Legon doubled to left centre scoring Helson. McElroy was thrown out by Drennan.

Ansaldo started the Petes off right in the third by singling over second Johnston field to Higginbottom. Ansaldo stole second but died there when Swanston popped to Turpin and Comolli's fly to centre was gathered in by Higginbottom.

The Lakeshore crew got two. After Thompson had flied to Ansaldo, Kenny singled through the box and Higginbottom promptly tripled over Legon's head, scoring Kenny. Drennan was walked. When Drennan started to steal second Swanston's throw to Collins headed him off but Drennan reached second after a run up and Higginbottom scored on the play. Derry rolled to Ansaldo and Johnston gathered in Jackson's fly to centre.

Heckman singled to right to start the fourth but was forced at second by Helson, Skitch to Drennan. Helson was thrown out stealing and Collins rolled to Skitch.

Cobourg added another in their end of the frame. Jahren walked. Skitch singled to right sending Jahren to third and taking second on the throw to get Jahren. Turpin's sacrifice fly to Heckman scored Jahren. Thompson hit to McElroy and Skitch was trapped between third and home, Ansaldo making the put out. McElroy threw out Kenny.

Legon first up for the Petes in the fifth hoisted one to Jahren. McElroy singled to right and went to second on Derry's bad throw to first. Ansaldo and Johnson struck out.

For Cobourg Higginbottom flied to Johnston. Drennan cracked a triple over Johnston's head but was out at the plate trying to stretch it into a homer, Johnston to Ansaldo to McElroy to Swanston. The play cost Cobourn a run for Derry the next batter singled to right. Jackson walked but Jahren struck out.

In the sixth Swanston started things by a single off Turpin's glove but Comolli, Heckman and Helson all flied to Higginbottom in centre.

Helson made a circus catch of Skitch's line drive and Johnston followed with a nice grab of Turpin's fly to centre. Thompson was thrown out by Collins.

The Petes went out in order in the seventh, Collins and Legon hoisting flies to Drennan while McElroy struck out.

In Cobourg's half Kenny flied to Johnston. Higginbottom was tossed out by McElroy after a nice stop by the pitchers. Drennan beat out a rap to short and Derry walked but Collins threw out Jackson.

Ansaldo started the Petes off auspiciously in the eighth with a double to deep centre. Johnston rolled to Jahren. Swanston's hard rap was knocked down by Jahren who got Ansaldo between second and third. Comolli walked but Heckman was called out on strikes and Manager Solomon was chased out of the game for objecting to the last called strike.

Jahren first up for Cobourg fanned. Skitch singled through McElroy and Turpin got a double on a fly to left centre which Johnston just reached after a long run. When Collins fumbled Thompson's roller Skitch scored and Turpin registered on Kenny's long fly to centre on which Johnston made a great catch. Higginbottom flied out to Heckman.

The Petes staged a belated rally in the ninth. Helson started it with a single past third. Collins singled over second and when the ball got away from Higginbottom Helson went to third and Collins reached second. Legon singled past third scoring Helson. Legon stole second and scored with Collins on McElroy's line single to centre. McElroy was forced by Ansaldo, Skitch to Drennan and he in turn was forced by Johnston, Jahren to Skitch. Swanston rolled to Turpin and it was all over.

COBOURG HERE ON SATURDAY

Petes Will Have to Win to Stay in the Big Four Running.

The Petes' defeat at Cobourg yesterday makes it necessary for the Solomon outfit to beat Cobourg here on Saturday to stay up in the running in the Central Ontario race and the game should be crammed full of excitement. The standing in the Big Four is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Belleville	4	2
Peterboro	3	3
Cobourg	3	3
Kingston	2	4

The Petes will therefore have to take Cobourg into camp Saturday at Riverside Park or drop back to third place.

Jahren the Cobourg ace who has won three games in a row for the Lakeshore crew will likely be sent back at the Petes in Saturday's game although it is Derry's turn to work. Cobourg are figuring that a win here will give them a big edge and they are figuring on shooting their best into action against the homesters. Heckman will be on the firing line against him and the duel should be worth going miles to see.

Saturday's game will be called at 3 o'clock sharp and the biggest crowd of the season is expected.

OBJECTS TO RUHR DUTIES

BUENOS AIRES (United Press) —Argentine merchants whose business has suffered through the French occupation of the Ruhr have made representations to the minister of foreign affairs, asking him to approach the French government with a view to amelioration of present conditions. The merchants complain particularly of the French regulations which impose a tax on goods destined tto Germany which must pass through the occupied area, declaring the regulations make trading virtually impossible.

COLBORNES LOST TO CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, June 14. — The jink that has pursued the Campbellford baseball team since the begining of the season, has been routed, the streak of hard luck broken, and the nine is now in shape to give a good account of themselves until the wind-up in August. The game yesterday, with the line-up changed, with some new men and all the best of the old players in their places, was a fancy exhibition of baseball, resulting in a victory of 9-6, the visiting team being the Colbornes, last year the champions of the league. The Colborne team contains some heavy hitters and excellent fielders, but are up against it this year for the lack of an effective pitching staff. They fought gamely, however, up to the time the last man was called out, although after the fifth inning their hope to win must have vanished.

The batting honors for the home team must be given to Third Baseman Cowell, who made a record of two hits for four times up and who brought in two of the runs scored by his team. His batting eye is all right as he was given two walks to first by watchful waiting. He reached first in the eighth when Redfern of Colborne muffed his long fly to centre, but was caught when he attempted to make second on the throw in of Holmes' fly to short. Cowell had three stolen bases to his credit.

The star of the home nine was Brady, the centre fielder. In the seventh Gibson, the 18-yearold third baseman of the visitors, lifted a long fly to centre which Brady, after a hard run, caught neatly in his left hand when the ball was not over a foot from the ground, retiring the side. Brady was the first man to bat in Campbellford's half of the seventh and he drove the second ball pitched to centre for three bases, the longest hit made on the home grounds this year and which would have been a home run except for the fine fielding and throw of Redfern.

Weston, the leading hitter of the home team, was in hard luck. He never failed to land on the ball but with one exception, when he singled to left, a visiting fielder was in the way. Weston played a good game at first accepting every chance that came his way.

Hutton pitched six innings of what was his first game, holding the visitors to six singles. He had five strike outs to his credit and issued only two passes to first. The support given by his team mates was excellent. Eagleson finished the game, and while he was on the mound Colborne batters landed twice on his curves.

The other Campbellford boys to find the ball were Holmes, Nesbitt, (who hit safely twice), Nancarrow, Blakely and Hutton.

In the fifth inning Nancarrow was struck on the leg by the pitcher and Holmes was called in to run the bases for him, scoring a run. Peter was soon as ever again.

In three innings the home team retired the visitors in one, two, three order, four of the outs being red-hot grounders to Weston.

Charlie Nadoo acted as umpire on bases. There was a finality about his decisions that did not encourage controversy.

Campbellford's next game will be at Trenton next Wednesday. With the line up of yesterday there should be no trouble in beating that team on their own grounds.

Campbellford's next game will be at Trenton next Wednesday. With the line up of yesterday there should be no trouble in beating that team on their own grounds.

The attendance was fair but one disadvantage under which the management under which the management labor is the fact that the town's half holiday is on Friday instead of Wednesday, as in all other towns, the latter being the day on which the League games are played. The line-up:

BURNS HAD PERFECT DAY WITH WILLOW

FIRST ROUND FOR GOLF TITLE TODAY

Eighty - Eight of World's Best Golfers Will Try to Lift the Title at Troon To-Day and To-Morrow.

TROON, Scotland, June 14 (Canadian Press). — On the wind-swept links of Troon, 88 of the world's premier golfers will strike off to-day in the 72-hole struggle for the British open championship.

To complete half of their journey toward the goal on the first day, the players will be swinging their irons from 8.30 in the morning until the same hour at night.

Edward Ray, one of the finest figures n the long history of the game, will be the first off the tee to-day, going out with his partner, James McDowall, of Prestwick.

James Braid, another old-time and perennial participant in championships, will be the last to return to the clubhouse, driving off on his second at 5.30 in the afternoon.

Despite his disappointing play in the qualifying round, and his narrow escape from the lot of those who tried and failed, Walter Hagen, who holds the British title, is still one of the favourites. When he seemed almost certain to collapse in the storm of Tuesday, and thus eliminate himself, he suddenly pulled himself together and finished strongly.

Many think that his experience in the qualifying rounds has purged his system of whatever bad golf it contained, and from now on will play steadily and well.

Yesterday, some of those who entered the championships spent their time in a long driving competition With the wind directly behind him, D. A. Curtis, of Bournemouth, won the prize for the longest drive, making a distance of 278 yards.

Roger Wethered, the British amateur champion, won the cup for three balls, aggregating 809 yards, an average of 269 yards 2 feet.

Rain fell on Tuesday night and also yesterday, which pleased the players, as it softens the slick greens and eases the difficulties of making pitch shots and run-ups come to a stop.

Regret Daley's Retirement From Kingston Ponies.

KINGSTON, Ont. June 14.—(Special)—Regarding the appointent of Harry Batstone as playing manager of the Kingston team in the Central Ontario League, the Whig says:

At a meeting of the Kingston Amateur Baseball Association the Chief Business transacted was the appoint ment of Harry Batstone to the post of playing manager. The move was expected by those who had known that Joe Daley was about to withdraw, but only decided after considerable discusion.

General regret is felt that Joe Daley is severing his connection with the team for which he has done so much. The present C.O.B.L. team is constructed on the foundation of the old Ponies Team which started out as a Junior organization and went on into senior city baseball and later played independently here in exhibition games; and Joe Daley has been the leading factor in building it up and keeping it together. His resignation comes as the result of his not holding an amateur card and, although he could secure one without a great deal of trouble, Joe is contented to step out and let some person else take over the reigns of control. It is an opportunity for which he has been waiting as he has desired all along to join the ranks of the spectators.

The team was notified of the necessity of choosing a captain now that Batstone has been promoted. No decision has yet been reached but the name of Jack Evans has been mentioned in this connection.

EHMKE PITCHING WELL FOR CHANCE

A Near Failure With Detroit, He Is Doing Well With the Tail-enders.

BOSTON, June 14.—Does managerial handling often make a difference in the results attained from players. The case of Howard Ehmke would make it seem so.

With the Detroit club last year Howard Ehmke, who has as much stuff as any pitcher in the game, was a very erratic performer. His failure to be a consistent winner caused his courage to be doubted.

Ehmke, a side-arm pitcher all his life, was made over into practically an underhand pitcher last year. Incidentally Ehmke had to look for orders on almost every ball pitched. Little or nothing was left to his judgment as to the proper way to work on the batters who faced him.

Last fall Ehmke was traded to Boston. Manager Frank Chance of the Boston Red Sox, while a stern taskmaster has always been noted for his methods of permitting the pitcher to work out his own salvation. Only when Chance wants a player purposely passed does he butt in on the pitching situation.

"Go out there and pitch the ball game to the best of your ability," is the way Chance put it up to Ehmke. "You have the stuff and ought to win a lo tof ball games. Let me see you do it."

Evidently that was just the encouragement Ehmke needed as he has been Boston's most effective pitcher and with a tail-end club is going to hang up a mighty good record.

A Return Bout For Siki and Mike McTigue.

NEW YORK, June 14 (Canadian Press). — An offer of 20,000 pounds to Mike McTigue, world's light heavyweight boxing champion, for a return match with Battling Siki in Dublin on 7th September, was made yesterday by Dr. Patrick McCarton, Irish promoter, who came to this country in an attempt to arrange the bout.

Joe Jacobs, McTigue's manager, indicated he would accept the offer but deferred his decision until today.

Dr. McCarton arranged the match at Dublin last St. Patrick's Day, when McTigue wrested the 175-pound crown from Siki on points in a twenty-round bout.

FOOTBALL NOTES

The Crescent Junior Football team of Toronto would like to arrange a game in Peterboro early in July. This team is willing to tackle any junior or senior team from this city. Last year the Ontario Cup and the Dunlop Cup were both captured by this aggregation which has only sustained one defeat so far. R. W. Freeman, 1064 Shaw street, Toronto is the secretary.

The Vets and C.P.C. will meet this evening at King Edward Park under league auspices. Kick off at 6.15 sharp.

The Quakers will play the Thistle on Saturday afternoon at Nicholls Oval. Kick off at 3 o'clock. This will be the first meeting of these teams this year.

Peterboro has always been represented in football by a Hotston—three brothers are now playing with the C.P.C.

The first Charity Cup tie will be played in July and the draw will take place soon.

"Pete" Hutton arrived in the city a few days ago and immediately signed up with the Thistles. He played inside right last year with the Owls.

Chambers, of the Woollens has played in every position on the team. He is now giving a great exhibition of goal keeping, orginally starting as centre forward.

GOT A HOME RUN ON A FREAK HIT

Ken. Williams Put One Over the Fence in an Unusual Manner.

ST. LOUIS, June 14.—Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns last season led the American League in home runs with 39. Williams at present is showing the way in the American League and hopes to repeat as the leading sluger. If Dame Fortune continues to smile on him as she did in a recent game at Sportsman's Park against the Boston Red Sox, Williams is certain to top Babe Ruth.

It is questionable if there ever was a more unusual home run than that scored by Williams off Pitcher Bill Piercy. Williams, a left-handed hitter, pulled a curve ball that was inside, down along the foul line. The ball shot by first base on the ground about a foot fair. It continued to hug the foul line and looked to be good for a single, a double at the very best.

The ball was hit so hard that the Red Sox right fielder decided to play the ball on the rebound off the pavillion wall, rather than to try to get in front of it and have the ball shoot by him. However, the ball, instead of rebounding as would be the case 999 times out of 1000, hit the wall, shot about ten feet in the air, cleared the wire screen that is placed in front of the right field bleachers and dropped out of sight in a narrow space between pavilion and bleachers.

Since the ball passed out of playing territory it was ruled a home run. Its freaky feature, is that starting from the bat a ground ball and traveling along the foul line in that manner for a distance of perhaps 270 feet, it ended its journey by a 12-foot leap over the wall, due to a peculiar english it took off the side of the pavilion.

LACROSSE

The lacrosse squad is reminded of Friday night's practice at King Edward Park. Every player in the city is requested to turn out. After the scratch game which Vic Hamilton is trying to arrange for the evening several matters of importance will be discussed. Harry Chapman of Hastings telephoned last night that the Hastings executive had agreed to postponing their game here until Monday, June 25th. This and an invitation game on Dominion Day out of town are two matters for discussion. Special attention will be given to the juniors. Bert Todd and Jack McDonald are expected to be out with the players, and with everybody co-operating this practice should be profitable.

Do you know Baseball?

by Billy Evans

Questions

ONE—What is the shortest possible distance between the home plate and the stands or fence, that makes for a legal home run?

TWO—Can a base runner after reaching first base turn to his left on fair ground and still be exempt from being put out?

THREE—Which runner is out when for some reason they pass each other on the base line?

FOUR—Has any American League club more than two spit-ball pitchers on its staff of twirlers?

FIVE—What is the proper distance between the home plate and the backstop? What happens if such distance is not correct?

Answers

ONE—The distance from the home plate to the fence or stands must be at least 235 feet to constitute a legal home run.

TWO—Base runner after reaching first can turn as he pleases and be exempt from being put out, provided he make no attempt to advance.

FOUR—No American League club has more than one spit-ball pitcher. Only five remain in the American League.

FIVE—The proper distance between home plate and the backstop is 90 feet. When it is less, the base runners are always given the right to advance one base if the ball comes into contact with the stand.

PANCHO VILLA WILL MEET JIMMY WILDE

NEW YORK, June 14 (Associated Press).—Pancho Villa, born Francisco Guilledo, the tiny Filipino who will meet Jinny Wilde the Welshman in a fifteen-round contest at the Polo grounds next Saturday in an attempt to win Wilde's world flyweight title, is one of the greatest little warriors the ring game has known.

The terror of all the youths in his native island home of Iloilo, in the Philipines, Villa was fashioned into a boxer in 1918 by an American patron of the game of fisticuffs. Villa was then 17 years old. He entered the professional game in the Philippines in 1919, and for three years he fought without losing a single contest.

His early opponents were bantams in four and six round bouts. Terrible Pondong, the ugliest and heaviest hitting little man in the islands Stiff Irineo and Battling Balariano, two of the smartest bantams, were unable to defeat Villa. Balaraino tried no less than ten times, and the best he ever got was a draw. George Mendres, the Australian flyweight title-holder, was knocked out by Villa in three rounds in 1921.

Villa has had unusual success in the United States. He knocked out the veteran Johnny Buff in the eleventh round of a terrible mill in Brooklyn last September and won the American flyweight title. But he lost this bit of treasure several months later to Frankie Genaro, New York Italian. Genaro and Villa fought toe to toe for fifteen rounds, and Genaro was awarded the judges' decision. Some newspaper boxing experts declared however, that Villa should have received the verdict.

Villa lost but two contests before coming to the United States, one a decision to Francisco Conception in four rounds, and one a foul to Eddie Moore. Genaro was the only man to draw an official decision over the Filipino in this country.

Gleason Goes From Trouble to Trouble.

CHICAGO, June 13.—Troubles of a major league manager never cease. Just when he seems to have remedied some flaw in his defense another one crops out.

When the Chicago White Sox paid $100,000 for Willie Kamm to play third base it was figured the infield of the club was made. Last year the far corner was the one weak spot on the club.

While Kamm has more than filled the bill at third base, the White Sox infield is far from completed. The coming of Kamm was marked by the erratic showing of Shortstop Ernie Johnson.

While never a brilliant player of stardom caliber, Johnson performed in a consistent manner for the Sox last year, and no concern was felt over that position for the 1923 campaign.

Salary difference this spring caused Johnson to report late. This was a handicap, as was the cold weather of the early spring, to a veteran player like Johnson. As a result he has failed to hit his stride and his showing has been far below the standard he set last year, causing his removal from the lineup.

No club gets very far without a consistent performer at short. Instead of starting with a good inner defense, Manager Gleason found his team shy at the most important position on the infield.

This forced Gleason to use McClellan, originally a third baseman, at short. McClellan has met with varying success, due to the fact that the position is a bit new to him. But he has much ability and the failure of Johnson may give him the big chance.

There is no denying that a weakness at short, coupled with the failure of the pitching staff to come through, has been the cause of the White Sox's slow start.

The turkey was originally so called from the mistaken idea that the bird came from the country of that name.

Spoiling Boxers With Big Purses

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

Tex Rickard is beginning to get a back-fire from the bad habits he gave the big boxers when he took over Madison Square Garden.

His generosity in giving huge purses made all the boxers reappraise themselves and add a couple of ciphers to their old rate.

Rickard complains that he now has to offer a fortune to get second raters in the ring and that the champions will not fight for any amount if they are called upon to risk their titles.

Jess Willard and Luis Firpo both gave Rickard a nice throw-down recently, but from his experience with a certain element of the boxing crowd, he should have expected nothing better.

Rickard put Willard in the way of a lot of money when he staged the Dempsey-Willard fight, but later when Willard was trying to come back for more money Rickard helped him to get around the "age limit" rule of the boxing commission by getting him into a charity show.

Perhaps Rickard though that he might be compensated for his part in arranging the Willard-Johnson fight by getting Willard steamed up into a card for another big fight.

The opportunity indebted to Rickard even more, because Rickard brought him along when all the other promoters were giving the South American the grand go-by. Firpo was brought along to a real money fight with Willard, and then Firpo demanded 40 per cent of the receipts. If Rickard had agreed to his terms he would have had 20 per cent for his end, and it takes about 15 per cent to stage a big match.

Rickard made such a big splurge that he saw his business grow out of Madison Square Garden. With the limited seating capacity in the Garden it became impossible to pay the champions and near-champions the money they wanted and, with competition springing up against him from the baseball parks, Rickard had to give up the Garden and set about to build a big new arena for winter sports. Wise old fellows in the business said that Rickard was making a mistake when he was giving the boxers so much money, and they predicted, make the "eggs" all rich and lose his own shirt.

Some idea of the valuation that boxers are putting on themselves was gotten when Firpo replied to promoters who wanted to match him with Erminio Spalla, the European heavyweight champion, that he would accept the match for $100,000 in American gold."

Firpo's avarice and greed for money are getting him in bad with the New York fans. No one can blame the South American for trying to get all the money he can, but he should not try to squeeze it out of his benefactors.

Jimmy DeForest, who was making a great fighter out of him, has almost given him up as hopeless, and if Firpo doesn't stick with DeForest he never will make the most of the opportunities that are presented for him.

Rickard had ten big championship fights planned for the summer season, and so far he has cinched only one of them. He is despairing of the others.

REJECT WAGE OF $11 DAY

Bricklayers Overwhelmingly Favor $12 a Day—Contractors Accede for Public Good.

NEW YORK, June 14.— Bricklayers solidified their opposition to the $11 a day wage plan proffered as compromise in the strike called May 21 against the Mason Builders' Association when the Williamsburg Local 9 last night followed the lead of Manhattan Local 34 and voted unanimously to reject it. Decision was said to be overwhelming to hold out for $12 for two years for which the strike was ordered.

Bronx Local 37, Brooklyn Local 1 and Queens Local 41 were voting on the question up to a late hour. The Bronx headquarters expressed little doubt its member would fall in line with the Manhattan and Williamsburg men.

The Mason Builders' Association itself, on the other hand, yesterday accepted the $11 proposal. Notification was sent to R. H. Shreve, chairman of the Public Group of the building industry which had initiated the peace proposal, that the employers were prepared to recede to this extent from the previous terms of $10 for three years from Jan. 1. This was contained in a letter sent Mr. Shreve by James Baird, chairman of the Emergency committee of the contractors' body as follows:

"In response to your communication of June 7th, stating that your committee has deemed it wise to ask our favorable consideration of settling the matter of agreement with the bricklayers on the basis outlined in detail in your letter, we beg to report that the Emergency committee of the Mason Builders' Association has carefully considered your recommendation.

"It is the desire of our organization to give first consideration to the interest of the public, which necessarily includes the interest of all engaged in the building industry. Judging from the membership of which your committee is made up, we feel assured that your recommendation represents the judgment of the public in the matter.

"We do not see the problem entirely from the points of view indicated in your communication, but we are willing to accept the recommendation that you make as the unbiased judgment of the diversified interests which make up the membership of your committee. We realize that a rejection of your recommendation will result in further contention and a final settlement will be reached only in a manner that will either at present or in the near future seriously disrupt the building industry; therefore we deem it wise to accept the recommendation suggested by your committee."

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white crepe meteor, with veil and orange blossoms, and shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. The young people were unattended.

Miss Mary Wood played the wedding march, and Miss May Ritchie sang very sweetly during the signing of the register.

A THOUGHT

He that diggeth a pit shall fall into it; and who so breaketh an hedge, a serpent shall bite him.—Eccles. 10:8.

A man has no more right to say an uncivil thing than to act one; no more right to say a rude thing to another than to knock him down. —Johnson.

A Letter From Mr. Burnham

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—If your readers can stand it, I would like to explain what I meant in my reference to Mr. Tooms at Bridgenorth, which you emphasized by putting as head to the report of the meeting, "I don't want to harm him," without his having ample chance to reply. So if your readers, and you will let me, I will state what I said in greater detail.

Mr. Tooms' pamphlet addressed to the electors is, in my opinion, as red a rag as was ever put in circulation, so far as it goes. There are four points to be observed in connection with it:

1. It is addressed to Labor only, and from beginning to end never mentions the poor farmer, and for very good reason, because Mr. Tooms is evidently dissatisfied with the long hours and duty work of the farmer, and, above all, with the capital which the farmer may have amassed. However, there is this to be said for Mr. Tooms, and that is, that he never mentions the farmer at all in the pamphlet.

2. Mr. Tooms says that the "capitalist system" has broken down and that we must have a new order of things. Now capital and capitalists are not the same, but Mr. Tooms makes no distinction. There may be bad capitalists, but there is only good capital. Capital is the ready cash which people have laid by for future use, and I would like to know how much of anything could be built, made or done if there was no money in a man's treasury to pay the workers. So we see that all Socialism means is that the State, that is, the Government, shall own and do everything and be the only capitalist (its capital being amassed from taxes). Then if you didn't happen to please the member for your constituency instead of "laying off" work as you do now, you would get a visit from a policeman and a sentence from the court. You are either to be your own master as at present or to be the slave of the State, and Mr. Tooms is in favor of the rule of the State (so long as he is one of the bosses, I suppose). They tried his idea of capital out in Russia but had to give it up. Of course his little talk has some tears in it — a sob and a sop — that's about all it is. However, his pamphlet is a four-page affair, and he takes himself very seriously. Just think of it. The C.G.E., the Quaker Oats and every bit of work, big or little, and every bit of money (capital) would be in the hands of the Government. Talk about patronage! Good-night!

3. Mr. Tooms has a pretty little string of fish to his credit, with no suckers on it. I'll say that for him, but nothing important. He is willing and courteous. A politician has got to be that or "he'll get beat" like me. It is not that he has not done enough; he has done too much. For example, this pamphlet is too much. Then Mr. Tooms voted to suppress all investigation of the last night party. He shields the blackguards in high places and sits snugly by while some poor devil is sent to gaol for having a drop of whisky in his possession. The spies may have smelt his breath and have got part of the blood-money, or may have framed him. But that's nothing to Tooms, who weeps over the wrongs of the suffering poor, but only in his pamphlet. That was the vilest thing—the great debauch and the suppression of investigation of it that ever took place in this Province. It was surely a cowardly business from beginning to end. And then they try to silence and suppress all reference to it by us by trying to blackmail us by saying that perhaps there were Conservatives at the party! Perhaps Tooms was at the party. How do I know, and if my own grandfather was at that party I'd say, in the name of common decency and of the honor of the old days when men and women were men and women, "Fetch him out, soak him. Let the beasts bear the burden. We have got so low in this Province now that no man is treated as a man but all as puppets of the law." Tooms is a Socialist, and a pretty red one, as his pamphlet shows, and if he resents this remark I'll hire a hall and meet him there and prove it, and I will give him five hours in which to explain himself. But then you will say that I am exaggerating his importance. That may be true. But he is in a position to do a lot of harm, and, like the rest of us, he must be judged accordingly.

4. Mr. Tooms supports and has supported a system of so-called prohibition which enables his government and himself to keep the votes of the grape-growers by letting them sell material for whisky in the form of native wine—a very strong intoxicating beverage. It is flooding the Province. That's Mr. Tooms on the O. T. A., and he dare not deny it. Not a very manly stand, is it?

A vote by a Liberal for Tooms is a vote to put a Progressive party in power in Ontario, and that would be the final blow to the Liberal party at Ottawa, which, though they beat us to a frazzle at the last election, has only a bare majority in the House at Ottawa. Drury tried to absorb the leading Liberals at Toronto, and if he had succeeded, what representation of the Liberal party in Ontario would the Federal Liberal party have? The Liberals must beat Drury or go out of existence at Ottawa. Is that desirable? A regard for my country compels me to say "No." We have had enough nonsense, let us quit it.

J. H. BURNHAM.

CLOSING DAY OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Scores of Presbyterian Commissioners Left For Their Homes This Morning.

PORT ARTHUR, June 14.—(Canadian Press).—It was an attenuated Church Parliament that faced the moderator at the beginning of proceeding on the closing day of the General Assembly. Scores of Commissioners left yesterday and early this morning, and as the Assembly took up the remaining scattered threads of its strenuous task they were speeding east and west to their Dominion-wide destinations.

Dr. Pidgeon of Toronto, presented report of the committee appointed to answer the protest made by the minority against the Assembly's action in determining to go forward to church union.

The report set forth that church is a living organism subject to laws of growth, possesses the right to order its own destinies and practices in accordance with new conditions and opportunities and that the Assembly in its action had proceeded in a constitutional way. Also that the burden of disruption and division must rest not upon the majority going forward to union but upon the dissenting minority.

All of us know what we would do this spring if we could afford it.

EIGHT SLAIN IN BATTLE AT SEA

NEW YORK, June 14.— (Canadian Press.)— Four British sailors and five Chinese passengers missing from the two-masted British schooner Mary Beatrice, which was found drifting off Sandy Hook last night, were killed in a battle of pistols and axes, according to stories told by survivors to immigration officials when the craft was brought into quarantine to-day.

The owner of the vessel, it seems, bargained in Havana with Chinese to land them on United States' soil, but abandoned them and his ship when their food stores ran low eight days ago. The story told to-day in Chinese to an interpreter was of a pitful battle with axes and pistols, marlin pikes and belaying pin. It was precipitated, it was believed, by failure of the skipper to carry out his part of the bargain

Up and down the sleek deck of the trim schooner the fight was waged until her white paint was covered with blood, and four British sailors and five Chinese lay hacked and beaten to death.

The survivors heaved the dead over the side.

THE DIVORCED PEOPLE KEEP OUT OF JAIL

LINCOLN, Neb. June 14.—(United Press.)—If you want to keep out of the Nebraska state penitentiary, get a divorce. At least this is the conclusion that can be gathered from the last statistical report filed by the warden.

Of the 411 persons received by the warden within the year 217 men were single and three of the women were similarly situated. Married men numbered 162 and married women 11, while there were sixteen widowers and two widows received. Not one divorced person was registered.

Six men college graduates and one woman with a diploma were registered. Three high school girls and eighty-five boy graduates were registered, while 259 men and ten women said they never had more than a common school education. Fourteen men and two women had no education at all.

Laborers and farmers contributed the largest representation, 100 of the former and eighty-five soil tillers. Mechanics to the number of thirty five fell into the jaw's clutches, while thirteen chauffeurs registered. Cooks numbered sixteen, porters eleven, waiters eleven, while the others were of varied occupation.

Of the number received 371 were first offenders, twenty-five were gliding behind the prison bars for a second time, thirteen for a third time, and two for a fourth.
